The Renewal a Strain.

Vacation is over. Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic, which may avert much serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

JAXON DEFEATED

In Saturday's Game with Tecumseh

A PITCHER'S BATTLE

Of which Johnson had the better showing.

Saturday a game with the Jaxons, of Jackson, was well played by both teams, their playing being characterized by sharp fielding and a dearth of hits on both sides. Tecumseh making 7 off Mulholland and Jaxon 5 off Johnson.

It was Johnson's last appearance with Tecumseh and he closed his work here in fine style, striking out 14 men. Both pitchers received excellent support, each team making but one error. The Jacksons put up a nice clean game of ball and a double play of a caught fly by Miller in right field and his splendid throw to Zigenbien at 3rd catching Furlong 10 feet from the base was a brilliant one. Wade Jones officiated as umpire in a very acceptable manner.

ALBION EXCURSION

From Tecumseh Labor Day. The Indians crossed bats with the Detroit Wheelman at that place.

TWO FINE GAMES OF BALL

Were played. Morning score 2 and 3, afternoon 4 and 5. Knickerbocker presented with a boquet of flowers from the young ladies of Albion.

The base ball excursion to Albion yesterday passed off nicely. There were not quite enough tickets sold to pay the expenses of the trip but the difference was slight.

The little rain in the morning did no damage to the game and both games were fine, the Detroit boys beating in the morning and the Indians in the afternoon. The features of the game in the morning were pitching of Striker and the work of Knickerbocker. Striker was given an ovation by the grand stand and Knickerbocker was presented with a boquet of flowers from the young ladies of Albion. Gilbert also did fine work in the box in the afternoon. The game was witnessed by 1400 people.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH

Albert Lovender, son of James Lovender,

WAS FOUND DEAD

In Joe Willis's barn near Britton, the body being wrapped in a blanket.

Albert Lovender was found dead in Joe Willis' barn near Britton, Sunday morning, his body being wrapped in a blanket. Joe Willis, L. Dean and Lovender were at Britton Saturday noon, and it is reported they had a consignment of whiskey shipped to them there. The three men started for home in the afternoon, after several scuffles in a buggy, so it is reported, during which Lovender fell out of the vehicle.

Lovender was about 22, and son of a farmer, James Lovender, living on "the prairie" east of Britton village, and skirting Monroe county. The body was somewhat bruised. Three doctors were called. Dr. Loree, one of the three, tells The News that their theory is that the man was dead when he was put in the barn. It took two men to straighten the body out. There were indications, the doctor says, further, of somebody having tried to pour liquor down the man's throat either after insensibility, or death.

The inquest was started at Dundee, Monroe county, Sunday morning and was adjourned to this morning. Sheriff Shepherd has gone down upon a telegraphic request from Prosecutor Thornton Dixon, of Monroe county.—Detroit Evening News.

ROUND ABOUT US.

The marriages are getting a little bit ahead of the divorces in Calhoun county. In August there were forty-four marriage licenses issued, and only ten divorce suits begun. The usual proportion is about three to one.

Frank Moore, the alleged pick-pocket, captured on circus day at Adrian, pleaded not guilty before Justice Treat Thursday afternoon and was bound over to the circuit court for trial. His bail was placed at $600, which he could not furnish, and he is waiting in jail.

A man went with his wife to visit her physician. The doctor placed a thermometer in the woman's mouth. After two or three minutes, just as the physician was about to remove the instrument, the man, who was not used to such a prolonged spell of brilliant silence on the part of his life partner, said: "Doctor, what will you take for that thing."—Ex.

ARE YOU A COMING MOTHER? ARE YOU EXPECTANT?

MOTHER'S FRIEND

makes childbirth easy by preparing the system for parturition and thus shortening labor. The painful ordeal is robbed of its terrors, and the danger lessened to both mother and child; the time of confinement is shortened, the mother rested, and child fully developed, strong and healthy.

Morning sickness, or nausea arising from pregnancy, is prevented by its use.

As pregnancy advances, the breasts enlarge, become swollen and hard. Long before the child is born, they are preparing for the secretion of milk. It is important that they receive early attention. Mother's Friend softens the skin and facilitates the secretion of Life Fluid. Undeveloped breasts, hard-caked shortly after delivery, are the result of non-treatment, and likely to culminate in Mammary Abscess, from which so many suffer excruciating pain and are left with these organs permanently impaired.

Softness, pliability and expansion are given to the muscles and sinews, thus bringing comfort and causing an easy issue of the child. Try it. Of druggists $1.00. Our book "Motherhood" free.

IT'S FOOLISH

To ignore such convincing proof as this Tecumseh citizen gives you here.

You may differ from your neighbors in many important questions of the day. Your opinions may coincide with those of the minority or those of the majority, and still you may be in doubt. But you can hardly be skeptical about the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills when you read such emphatic local endorsement as the following:

Mrs. J. W. Owen, wife of the well known carpenter, living in the southeastern section of Tecumseh, says: "I am very well pleased with Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and they did me a lot of good. I had heart trouble and my kidneys did not perform their proper duties. This condition existed for some time. I tried different remedies which were recommended to me but received little if any benefit from them. I received more permanent relief from their use than from any other medicine I ever used. I am pleased to testify in their value.

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

"What kind of a carpet shall we get for the parson's study?" asked a church committee man of his colleague. "Axminster," was the comprehensive reply.

Diphtheria, sore throat, croup. Instant relief, permanent cure. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. At any drug store.

Curious metamorphosis. — Wonders will never cease. The other day we heard that a horse was turned into a stable! And this is the boasted nineteenth century.

No need to fear sudden attacks of cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea, summer complaint of any sort if you have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in the medicine chest.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS

To Be Established by "Flying Rollers" at Benton Harbor.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 5.—The followers of Benjamin and Mary, known as the "Flying Rollers," or "House of Israel," have again brought themselves into prominence here by declaring that their children shall not attend the regular city public schools, but will be given special instructions in a school of their own, where they will be taught to prepare for the coming of the end of the world in three years, and the other doctrines peculiar to this sect will be brought to the minds of the younger generation.

Another feature of the business methods of this sect is that the members are fast deeding their property to Benjamin and Mary, and almost daily some transfer is recorded which conveys to these people valuable real estate. The latest transaction reported was recorded yesterday, when the fine sixty-acre fruit farm of August Paushke of Twelve Corners was turned over to these leaders, who now hold the papers for some of the finest residences and building lots in this city.

Nerve Saved His Life.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 5.—William Skeffel, a painter from Chicago, had a very close escape from death Friday. He was on a tower of the Adventist tabernacle, seventy feet from the ground, when a scaffold broke. Skeffel grabbed a window sill and hung in midair until rescued. The strain was so great on his fingers that the nails were forced deep into the flesh. His nerve and presence of mind alone saved his life.

"Confessed" While Drunk.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 5.—James McEwan, because of whose confession that Carey Meade and Oscar Johnson were his partners in the attempt to dynamite the home of the latter's father-in-law in Marengo township, those men were placed under arrest, now declares his confession, if made, must have been signed while he was drunk, for he does not remember it.

BOGOTA IS EXCITED

Report That U. S. Would Deal With Panama Stirred 'Em Up.

NEW TREATY MAY BE FORMED

Hay-Herran Treaty a Violation of the Colombian Constitution—Obaldia Panama's New Governor—Hope Given Up in Washington.

Bogota, Sept. 7.—Intense excitement has been produced here by a cablegram reporting the probability of the United States dealing directly with Panama in the canal matter. Senator Obaldia, who has been appointed governor of Panama, left Sunday for his post. He will take with him a canal plan which it is said will satisfy all.

Bogota, Colombia, Tuesday, Sept. 1.—The senate has appointed a commission to prepare a bill authorizing the government to negotiate a canal treaty without violating the constitution, but the government has not presented to congress a message, which is necessary, asking for reforms in the constitution to meet the wishes of the United States regarding tribunals, the sovereign control of the canal strip and the hundred year lease. The general feeling is favorable to a new treaty.

Senor Macaro, the actual president of the senate, expressed his admiration for the noble and sincere policy pursued by the United States and hopes that the canal will be opened by them. He says he regrets that he was obliged to oppose the Hay-Herran treaty as being a violation of the laws of the constitution, but he will work strongly for a canal treaty satisfactory to both countries.

Senator Obaldia has decided to support the canal treaty.

The government insists on congress reconsidering the matter of the Panama canal treaty.

Washington, Sept. 7.—That the United States government has given up hope of favorable action by the Colombian congress on the Panama canal treaty was made plain when a high official of the state department declared that the treaty was practically dead, although the Colombian congress had until the 22d of this month to act upon it. Official advices received here convey the intelligence that the friends of the treaty at Bogota have abandoned their efforts in the interest of ratification, and some of them have departed for their homes.

TWO VERSIONS.

Millionaire's Wife Says Hubby Shot Her—He Says 'Twas Accident.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 7.—Colonel Griffith, a millionaire resident of this city and a member of the board of park commissioners, has been arrested on the charge of assaulting his wife with murderous intent. Mrs. Griffith is in a hospital suffering from the effects of a pistol shot wound in the head and a compound fracture of the shoulder. She was shot last Thursday evening in her room at a Santa Monica hotel, where with her husband and 15-year-old son she had been spending the summer.

In her statement to the district attorney, Mrs. Griffith said her husband shot her after forcing her to answer, at the pistol point, some irrational questions as to her faithfulness and knowledge of an attempt to poison him. When he shot her, she was on her knees. She jumped up and ran to a window, out of which she jumped, falling on a roof some fourteen feet below, fracturing her shoulderblade. Mrs. Griffith wanted a charge of insanity preferred against her husband.

Colonel Griffith insists that his wife was wounded accidentally. He was bending over a trunk, according to his story, when he heard the report of the revolver and turned to see Mrs. Griffith fall to the floor. The weapon, he says, was one of his own, which Mrs. Griffith came across in gathering together their effects for packing. How it was discharged Colonel Griffith does not know, as he asserted that his back was turned. He denied that there was any possible cause for a quarrel between himself and Mrs. Griffith, and declares that reports of his having fired the shot are absolutely unfounded.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

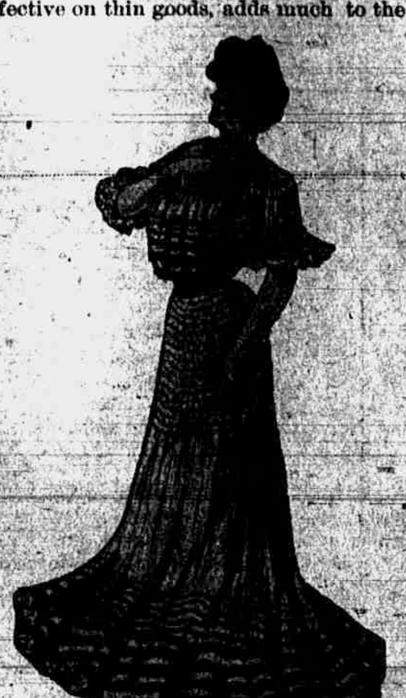
It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

RECEPTION GOWN OF PRIMROSE GAUZE.

A beautiful reception gown is of primrose gauze, cut decollete. A novel bodice trimming consists of graduated bands of black velvet ribbon, which also appear on the elbow sleeves. Shirring, done to deep nip-yoke depth, which is now so popular, being especially effective on thin goods, adds much to the beauty of this gown, which beauty is further augmented by the use of Corticelli sewing silk in the same shade as the goods. The graduated bands of velvet on the skirt, corresponding with those on the waist, complete a most charming creation.



For a bilious attack take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and a quick cure is certain. For sale by all druggists.

Waterproofing Boots at Home.

I have for years used successfully a dressing for leather boots and shoes composed of oil and india rubber, keeping out moisture and uninjurious to the leather applied, leaving same soft and pliable. To prepare same, heat in an iron vessel either fish oil, castor oil or even tallow to about 250 degrees F.; then add, cut into small pieces, vulcanized or raw india rubber about one-fifth of the weight of the oil, gradually stirring same with a wooden spatula until the rubber is completely dissolved in the oil; lastly, add to give it color a small amount of printers' ink. Pour into a suitable vessel and let cool. One or two applications of this are sufficient to thoroughly waterproof a pair of boots or shoes for a season. Boots or shoes thus dressed will take common shoeblacking with the greatest facility.—Scientific American.

ATROCIOUS CRIME.

Brute Admits Assaulting Three-Year-Old-Child.

Cadillac, Mich., Sept. 5.—Details of the most horrible crime ever committed in Wexford county were revealed to the officers Friday by the confession of Seth Shaddock, aged 28, that he had criminally assaulted the 3-year-old daughter of his brother, William Shaddock, whose death Monday, before a doctor could be summoned, caused an investigation which conclusively proved that she had been brutally maltreated. Intense excitement prevails, and it may be necessary to use arms to prevent violence being done the self-convicted brute.

Shaddock has admitted to the officers, by whom he was arrested yesterday after suspicion had been fixed upon him, that he assaulted the child first about ten days ago, and that he had maltreated her twice. Her death is attributed to the injuries inflicted.

The young brute's arraignment is set for today before Justice Haskins.

Balzac and Dumas.

It is said that Balzac detested Dumas. Once he brought to the Siecle the manuscript of a novel, which was to follow "Les Trois Mousquetaires," then being published. He asked to be paid 2½ francs a line. The director of the journal hesitated. "You see, M. Dumas is being paid only 2 francs a line." "If you are giving 2 francs to that negro, I shall get out!" And Balzac stalked off.

Dumas was not ignorant of Balzac's feelings toward him and did not spare him. In the foyer of the Odeon theater Balzac was talking loudly in a group of literary men, "When I have written myself out as a novelist, I shall go to playwriting." "You can begin right away," called out Dumas.

STRUCK BY AUTO

Spectator at Detroit Races Killed By Runaway Machine.

TIRE ON THE THING BURSTED

Was Going at Terrific Speed—Victim Thrown Seventy Feet Through Air—Chauffeur Also Thrown and Seriously Hurt.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 10.—A sharp report of a bursted tire, a wild plunge of an automobile into a fence lined with spectators and a pathetically distorted body, thrown fully seventy feet from the scene of the disaster and lying in the grass with the life blood slowly ebbing away, formed the feature of the closing day of the automobile races Wednesday, transforming the exciting spectacle of a moment before into the direst tragedy.

The catastrophe happened in the final event, a ten-mile open in which Barney Oldfield, the American champion, and Harry Cunningham of Detroit were the only competitors. Oldfield was tearing along at a rate of 1:02 to the mile, hopelessly beaten through two miles lost at the start, but pushing his machine to the utmost in the endeavor to make up the lost ground. He was rounding the turn at the head of the stretch when, with a sharp crack the front tire on the right side of the machine exploded, rendering the big automobile completely helpless.

The wheels took the short arc of the circle and the machine struck the fence at full speed, smashing it into toothpicks and throwing Frank Shearar of 148 Seyburn avenue, Detroit, who stood directly in its path outside the fence, high in the air and fully seventy feet from where he had been standing inflicting injuries from which he died while on the way to the hospital.

Auto Leaped Thirty Feet.

Where the accident occurred the track is banked to a height of about twelve feet. Over the crest of this bank Oldfield's machine leaped, covering fully thirty feet before it struck the ground. Oldfield himself was thrown clear of the wreck, shooting through the air into a tree top and turning over completely, landing on his back. His clothing was torn to tatters, one rib was broken and there are two long, ugly cuts on his back, from gravel which he struck where he fell. The chauffeur, however, pluckily gathered his wits, got to his feet and walked back on the track, where he was welcomed by the other chauffeurs as one brought back from the dead.

His machine, the Winton "Baby Bullet," is a complete wreck, the wheels smashed, the motor a maze of broken wires and twisted metal, and the framework splintered and torn.

Shearer had been standing on the track, leaning against the fence, and received the full force of the impact, being thrown high in the air and down the bank. Both his hips were broken, his legs were nothing but splintered bone and limp flesh, and he had received internal injuries from several broken ribs. During the twenty minutes in which he lived after the accident he bled steadily at the mouth and drew his breath fitfully. He never recovered consciousness.

Not one assessor in the county knows—or admits he knows—where the fault lies.

Cotton Reports Nine Killed In Fight at Beirut.

PREPARED TO LAND FORCES

If Situation Demands It, Cotton Will Do So—Mountains Filled With Refugees—Details of Terrible Massacres In Certain Sections.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The navy department has received the following cablegram from Rear-Admiral Cotton, dated Beirut, Sept. 7:

"Violence and bloodshed between Mohammedans and native Christians occurred at Beirut Sunday. Six Greek Christians, two Mohammedans and one Turkish soldier killed; three Greek Christians, three Mohammedans and three Turkish soldiers wounded seriously. Other murders reported.

"Flag lieutenant and United States consul were present Sunday and Monday in the disturbed quarter and verify details statement. Turkish government willingly afforded facility for their investigation and guard; promise 1,000 more Turkish soldiers. Turkish soldiers present sufficient if properly disposed of to handle situation at Beirut. Well patrolled and all quiet Sunday night and today, Monday. Turkish governor promises to do all in his power to restore authority. Many houses closed and business suspended.

"I have prepared to land force for protection of property of American citizens, if situation demands. Will act with caution. Present trouble due to animosity between inimicals and native Christians and failure to control crimes."

The last portion of Admiral Cotton's cablegram is unintelligible and the cipher experts at the navy department worked all the morning to translate it. Copies of the report were sent at once to the president and to the state department.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 9.—The Macedonian interior organization estimates that 150,000 women, children and old men are hiding in the mountains and forests of Macedonia. The Turks are burning the forests in the districts of Leren and Kostur and killing fugitives who attempt to escape to the plains. The Vlach village of Gopesh, three hours' distant from Monastir, has been burned by the Turks, who are reported to have thrown several of the inhabitants into the fire. The Bashi-Bazouks have destroyed the village of Stoilovo, near Malketernovo.

Thirteen thousand Turkish soldiers are assembled on the frontier at Palanka, Kratovo and Gotschani, and are plundering the surrounding villages. The people have not complained, fearing that they may be murdered.

All reports from the vilayet of Monastir agree in describing the situation as appalling. Between 30,000 and 50,000 Bulgarian inhabitants are believed to have been massacred by the Turks and every Bulgarian village in the vilayet has been destroyed. The refugees in the mountains and forests are dying of starvation by thousands. At present it is impossible to obtain precise figures.

The revolutionary headquarters estimate that 30,000 Bulgarian men, women and children have been killed, while at least the same number of refugees are slowly perishing of hunger. In official circles these figures are regarded as an underestimate, and officials incline to the belief that the number of the massacred exceeds 50,000. The Turks are apparently determined to exterminate the entire Bulgarian population of the vilayet. The actual details of the happenings outside the town are not available. The foreign representatives at Monastir are dependent on information furnished to them from Turkish official sources.

In government circles here the situation is viewed with increasing alarm.

Salonica, Sept. 9.—Twelve battalions of Turkish troops are reported to have surrounded a large revolutionary band near Ostrovo, thirty miles from Monastir. Fighting is proceeding.

The revolutionaries have taken up a position near Lake Aniatove, in the vilayet of Constantinople. Turkish troops are now said to be attacking them.

THE MAGELSSEN ASSAULT.

Egyptian Gazette Gives Details of Attack on Vice-Consul.

Berlin, Sept. 9.—The Egyptian Gazette, published at Alexandria, Egypt, has published details regarding the recent attack on United States Vice-Consul Magelssen. It says Mr. Magelssen was riding home in a hired carriage in the evening, when, on passing a street near the Ras Beirut (a headland about three miles from Beirut, on which stand the buildings of the American mission) he heard sounds of pistol firing. He turned around to see whence the shots came and a bullet whizzed past his face. The vice-consul at once had the carriage stopped and jumped out to discover his assailant, but could see no one.

The following day he went to the government office, where he met the Italian consul and the Austrian consul, who had come to complain about burglaries in their homes. The governor ordered an investigation of the

MORE INDICTMENTS

Federal Grand Jury Returns Seven In Postal Cases.

SIX PERSONS ARE INVOLVED

Names Will Not Be Divulged Until Arrests Are Made—Several Cases Yet Remain—Leopold Stern Located—Beavers Surrenders.

Washington, Sept. 9.—After deliberating for several weeks over a mass of documents submitted by the postoffice inspectors, the federal grand jury in this city Tuesday returned seven indictments in postal cases, involving six different persons. All the indictments were kept off the public record and both the officials of the district attorney's office and of the postoffice department refused to divulge names or details of the indictments until the parties indicted were arrested. The identity of the indicted individuals thus was left a matter of conjecture.

It is expected that arrests will occur today and that the postoffice department will have some announcement to make during the afternoon.

The grand jury's action probably marks the beginning of the end of the investigation that has been in progress since the middle of last March. Voluminous evidence has been laid before the grand jury as the result of the inquiry, and while the present report of the jury disposes of most of the cases, there yet remains several cases to be passed upon. When the latter are disposed of, according to Postmaster-General Payne, the investigation, so far as the work at Washington is concerned, will be at an end for all practical purposes.

Several of the persons indicted live outside of Washington. They will be arrested as soon as bench warrants can be served.

Two other important events occurred Tuesday in the postal inquiry. Leopold Stern, the Baltimore contractor, who disappeared from Baltimore before he could be arrested on an indictment returned July 31 last, was located at Toronto and the long delayed surrender of George W. Beavers, the former head of the salary and allowance division, to the New York authorities, took place. The postal officials have been searching for Stern ever since he disappeared, and finally received word from the Canadian authorities that he is in Toronto. They expressed considerable vexation at the premature publicity of his whereabouts on account of the problem of extradition that now confronts the government and the possibility of his making good his escape now that the information has become public in advance of the readiness of the authorities to effect his arrest. Beavers' arrest created no surprise, for the government all along has kept advised of his whereabouts, despite reports to the contrary.

STOCKHOLDERS MAKE TROUBLE.

Consolidated Lake Superior Company Involved In Litigation.

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—That the Consolidated Lake Superior company, which has extensive interests on the great lakes and in Canada and which is capitalized at more than $100,000,000, will be involved in litigation with some of its stockholders now seems inevitable.

These stockholders, headed by E. Clarence Miller, a banker of this city, want to know the names, subscriptions and details of the $11,000,000 underwriting stock syndicate. They claim that over $7,000,000 of these subscriptions are unpaid. Counsel for the stockholders last week threatened to bring mandamus proceedings and force the company to show its books.

On Saturday an agreement was reached by which counsel for the stockholders were given to understand that the books of the company were open for their inspection. When counsel for the stockholders called at the company's office Tuesday they were told that the books had been removed to Sault Ste. Marie, Canada.

Counsel for complaining stockholders will now begin suit against the company, and if they cannot reach the books through the courts of the United States they declare they will apply to the Canadian courts.

Attempted to Wreck Train.

Stevensville, Mont., Sept. 9.—A bold attempt to hold up the Bitter Root express just east of here Tuesday morning was frustrated by the vigilance of the crew. A pile of ties had been placed on the tracks. The engineer slowed up and backed away as soon as he could. Three men concealed in the bushes jumped out and ran after the train, but soon fell behind. The crew secured arms and returned and threw the ties to one side, after which the express went through unmolested.

Muir, Grand Rapids; W. A. Hall, Detroit; Lt. Wad, St. Clair; J. B. Crown, Ann Arbor, trade interest committee, W. C. Kirchgessner, Grand Rapids; Stanley Parkill, Owosso. A. H. Webster of Cadillac was selected delegate to the national convention, and J. Major Lemon alternate. The next meeting will be held at Grand Rapids.

What Is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in constipation, headache or liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at C. A. CARS MET HEAD-ON Several Persons Hurt In Collision at Three Rivers.

ON LAKE SHORE RAILROAD

Both Engines Demolished—Injured Persons Were Labor Day Excursionists to Kalamazoo—Freight Train Failed to Send Out Signal In Time.

Three Rivers, Mich., Sept. 9.—By a head-on collision between passenger train No. 307, on the Grand Rapids branch of the Lake Shore railroad, and a freight at the foot of the curve and heavy grade a few rods north of the station Tuesday morning, several persons were quite severely injured and both engines were demolished.

The injured were all passengers, the cars being crowded by excursionists returning from the Labor day celebration at Kalamazoo. Those most seriously hurt and placed under the care of the road's resident surgeon, Dr. W. E. Clark, are Miss Annie Huntington, Elkhart, Ind., who was considerably cut and bruised by being thrown against a seat; Rev. R. A. Wright, pastor of the M. E. church of this city, arm badly hurt and shoulder dislocated; Mrs. Samuel Outland, wife of the proprietor of the city bus line, a very heavy lady, who suffered internal injuries by being thrown bodily over several seats; G. C. Bodley of this city, ribs broken and otherwise badly hurt. Despite the nature of their injuries, all will recover.

The engines were so completely locked together by the impact that it took more than an hour to get them apart so that the track could be cleared. The accident resulted from the use of the main track by the freight train, which was unloading some cars on the passenger's time, and it is alleged that a flag was not sent out until too late for the incoming train to stop in time. Engineer Bliss of the passenger made a gallant fight to check his train, but the grade was too steep to bring it to a full stop. However, the railroad men consider that but for his efforts fatalities must have resulted.

This is the only accident of the kind to happen here since the building of the road, many years ago.

Important Railroad Suit.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 9.—A suit in which nearly every railroad corporation in the country is interested will be started in the United States circuit court in this city next Tuesday. It is an action of the Michigan Central railroad to recover from the internal revenue department moneys alleged to have been unlawfully collected from the railroad company for war revenue stamps on duplicate bills of lading. Charles Wright, ex-collector of internal revenue, is named as the defendant, and $10,000 will be the amount asked as damages.

Woman Wants Big Damages.

Leslie, Mich., Sept. 9.—Mrs. Hattie Russell has begun suit for $10,000 damages against Prosecuting Attorney Badgley of Jackson county and Milnor R. Layton of this place. Her husband disappeared last January after having sold a cottage at Pleasant Lake which Mrs. Russell claims as her own, to Layton. In the struggle over possession the woman was placed under arrest, hence the suit.

Pharmacists In Session.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 9.—The twenty-first annual meeting of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical association opened a two-day session here at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in A. O. U. W. hall. The address of welcome was given by City Attorney D. C. Salisbury, the response being given by Stanley Parkill of Owosso. This was followed by an address by the president, D. A. Hagans of Monroe.

Passed Through His Head.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 9.—Fred Scerri, employed in the pulp mill at Brimley, was instantly killed by being hit by a piece of a broken saw, which struck him in the face, passing entirely through his head. After passing through the man's head the piece went at least forty feet farther into the water.

Sought a Watery Grave.

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 9.—Thomas Pretzold, aged 45, committed suicide Tuesday afternoon by jumping off a scow into Muskegon lake at the Ryerson dock. The body was recovered in a few minutes, but all attempts to bring him back to life failed. He leaves a widow and two children.

Swedish Editor Under Arrest.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Sept. 9.—James Enstrom, editor of the Monitor, the Swedish paper here, was arrested by United States Marshal Backus Tuesday charged with sending obscene literature through the mails and taken to Escanaba.

Large Crowd at the Fair.

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 10.—Pontiac tripled its population yesterday, and no less than 20,000 paid entries were counted by the gateman at the state fair. Previous records were discounted. Wednesday was politicians' day. Governor Bliss was expected, but he didn't do what he was expected to do, and stayed at home. United States Senator Alger made good however. He came up with Congressman "Hank" Smith and several lesser lights.

IT'S FOOLISH

To ignore such convincing proof as this Tecumseh citizen gives you here.

You may differ from your neighbors in many important questions of the day. Your opinions may coincide with those of the minority or those of the majority, and still you may be in doubt. But you can hardly be skeptical about the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills when you read such emphatic local endorsement as the following:

Mrs J. W. Owen, wife of the well known carpenter, living in the southeastern section of Tecumseh, says: "I am very well pleased with Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and they did me a lot of good. I had heart trouble and my kidneys did not perform their proper duties. This condition existed for some time. I tried different remedies which were recommended to me but received little if any benefit from them. I received more permanent relief from their use than from any other medicine I ever used. I am pleased to testify in their value.

Hubby No. 1 Still Lives.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 9.—Henson Wethey of Armada has filed suit for divorce from his once better half, who is now the wife of Mark Van Buskirk of this city. Wethey married Viola Watson in Armada in 1898, but they separated by mutual consent. Two years later Mrs. Wethey read of her husband's death in a newspaper, and when Cupid again perched upon her shoulder and she became the wife of Van Buskirk, she really believed Wethey dead. But Wethey returned to life and found his wife wedded to another. He is resigned to his fate, but instead of wandering off to die "a martyr to undying love," sues for a divorce, as a matter of form more than anything else.

Ewing Held For Counterfeiting.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 9.—Harvey Dietelbach, Thomas S. Bausch, Albert A. Ewing, J. W. Ewing, charged with counterfeiting, had an examination Tuesday afternoon before United States Commissioner Jennie Wright Jones. The testimony showed that a man named Munger made counterfeit nickels and slugs to play slot machines, and as he rode a wheel from St. Louis to Indiana, left some of them with Albert A. Ewing, a farmer with whom he boarded near St. Louis, who gave the slugs to the other three. The quartet were arrested Sept. 3. Albert A. Ewing was held under $500 bonds, which he will try to get. The others were discharged.

The Boy Had Grit.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 9.—Bert Trim, the 14-year-old son of Andrew Trim, lost his hand in the gearing of a crane on the Union dock Tuesday afternoon. The boy did not faint, but coolly gave directions as to caring for his hand until he had been taken to Dr. Townsend's office, where it was discovered that in addition to his hand being practically crushed off, his shoulder was also broken in two places. Trim has been taken to the hospital, where he is doing as well as can be expected.

It has long been the standard and main reliance in the the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

KIDNAPED HER CHILD.

Mother Took Her Girl While Father Was Away.

Eaton Rapids, Mich., Sept. 10.—A strange kidnaping, which took place Monday, has just been brought to light, Mae Smith, daughter of D. P. Smith, being the child.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith separated a few years ago and both parties have since married. Smith still lived here, but his former wife moved to Ohio. Smith and his present wife left for Petoskey one week ago on a ten-day excursion, leaving Mae with R. A. Tonkin. While the girl was in school Monday a closed carriage containing Chauncey Walters and wife drove to the school, called for Mae, and after a long conference, promising her several things, enticed her away with them. The woman was the child's mother. The party left for Lansing at 4 p. m. and nothing has been heard from them since.

Smith returned Wednesday and is very much grieved at his daughter's disappearance, yet no blame is laid on anyone.

GRIT IN THE BEARINGS

[illegible] Affects the [illegible] Mechanism.

Grit in the bearings—every engineer knows how important it is to guard against this trouble—to get rid of it, if it comes; so too every one who has to do with machinery of any kind.

The human body is a more marvelous piece of mechanism than any made by hand. Nature does a deal to keep the body in good repair—in good running order. But people make mistakes—some through carelessness, some through ignorance. Nature sometimes needs help.

Uric acid causes Rheumatism—deposited in the muscles and joints, it acts like grit in the bearings—hinders their action, makes pain and trouble. Every sufferer knows how much.

Athlophoros dissolves the Uric acid—aids the body to get rid of it—helps to the restoration of health and strength. It does this with certainty—proven by the experience of many years.

Exchange comfort for pain. If your druggist doesn't keep it send $1 for a bottle to The Athlophoros Co., New Haven, Conn. It will show you how to rid your bearings of the grit.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK and POULTRY MEDICINE

Stock and poultry have few troubles which are not bowel and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is a bowel and liver remedy for stock. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their food. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pound air-tight can of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine. If yours does not, send 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

ROCHELLE, GA., Jan. 30, 1902.
Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is the best I ever tried. Our stock was looking bad when you sent me the medicine and now they are getting so fine. They are looking 20 per cent. better.

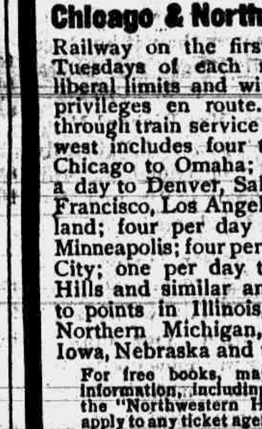
LIFE PLANT
Renews Life.
The Very Best TONIC Ever Discovered.

The blood is a great source of health or disease in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy; if the blood is impure or diseased then there is sickness and disease in the whole system.

Impure blood causes such diseases as Eczema, and Scrofula. LIFE PLANT effects its wonderful cures by acting through the blood. It is impossible for that blood poison, uric acid, or any other blood impurity to exist in the presence of our harmless medicine. The phenomenal success of LIFE PLANT in the many forms of blood diseases, warrants us in stating that it is a positive cure for Eczema and Scrofula. Read what Mr. M. P. Hobbs says of LIFE PLANT:

Wilmot, O., Jan. 9, 1903.
The Life Plant Co., Canton, Ohio.
Gentlemen:


Two years ago I contracted a very aggravated case of Eczema. I tried many kinds of medicine called sure cures, but all failed. I was persuaded by a friend to give LIFE PLANT a trial, and by taking two bottles was cured. To get the real truth of this statement try LIFE PLANT and be convinced.
Yours truly,
M. P. HOBBS.

Better get LIFE PLANT next time. It's a wonder.

BLOWN TO PIECES

Terrific Explosion In the Railroad Yards at West Bay City.

TWO MEN KILLED OUTRIGHT

Others Injured—Thousand Pounds of Dynamite In Box Car Blew Up—Houses in Immediate Vicinity Shattered—Another Man May Die.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 14.—An explosion of dynamite in a West Shore car in the Michigan Central railroad yards in West Bay City at 7:30 Sunday morning killed two men, injured three others more or less seriously and inflicted minor injuries upon a number of persons, chiefly from flying glass and falling plaster. The dead:

CLARENCE D. HOPPER,

ROY BOUCHER, both switchmen in the employ of the Michigan Central.

The injured: Robert [illegible]neer, thrown from seat in cab and cut and bruised; William Noble, fireman, cut and bruised; John Crackle, cut, bruised and hurt internally; may die.

A Michigan Central switch engine was engaged in making up a train at the time of the explosion. It backed down upon several cars on a sidetrack and was preparing to couple on when the explosion came. Flames and smoke shot upwards for fifty feet and a terrific concussion followed. Houses in the immediate vicinity were shattered, windows broken and plastering shaken from walls and ceilings. A number of persons were injured by flying pieces of glass. In Bay City plate glass windows were broken in stores and residences and people thought an earthquake was responsible.

Hopper was standing on a box car, four cars away from the one that exploded. His body was frightfully torn by flying pieces of iron and wood. Boucher was thrown under a car, his head being blown off by the explosion. His body was an unrecognizable mass of flesh when picked up and was placed in a tub and taken to the morgue. He had been married only two weeks. Roblin and Noble were hurried to their homes and their injuries dressed and both were able to be about later in the day. Crackle's injuries are very serious and doctors said his death was probable.

In the car in which the explosion occurred was about 1,000 pounds of dynamite, said to be part of a shipment [illegible] loaded with a consignment of Lee Metford rifles and a quantity of reduced charge shells for indoor rifle practice enroute from the Cheboygan military company to Washington in exchange for the military equipment. The balance of the car was filled with household goods and a large consignment of butter. The car disappeared entirely, only the trucks remaining, and a score or more of other cars, mostly loaded, were destroyed or damaged.

A wrecking crew was set to work immediately and by night nearly every vestige of the explosion's work was removed from the yards. The cause of the explosion is unknown, but it is believed the engine bumped into the train so hard that it set off one of the cartridges, this striking one of the packages of dynamite and producing concussion sufficient to discharge it.

Struck For Fresh Air.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 14.—About sixty girls employed by the Jackson Skirt & Novelty Co. quit work over an unsettled question of fresh air. The factory is a new one, supposed to be a model for light and ventilation. The girls desired that the lower windows, which are of ground glass, be raised to give the room additional ventilation. The foreman claimed the skylights and upper windows admitted enough fresh air. At the noon hour the girls became very busy, and with hammers and other tools found about the factory removed the nails which held the windows and raised them. The employers once more nailed them down and the girls stopped work and the plant was shut down.

In Jail For Fraud.

Lapeer, Mich., Sept. 14.—D. B. Radford, a former traveling salesman for a Chicago wholesale house, is in jail at the instigation of E. J. Ehle, a local clothing merchant. Radford, whom Ehle had known and bought goods of for five years, explained that he was out of funds and expected to get expense draft from the house upon his arrival at Lapeer. Arrangements were later made and a sight draft for $60 was made on the house and indorsed by Ehle. Some days later the house notified Ehle that Radford was not employed by them, and the draft was returned and paid by the Lapeer merchant.

Fear For Corn Crop.

Three Rivers, Mich., Sept. 14.—Rain commenced falling Saturday midnight and has continued with scarcely a moment's letup. Farmers say they have undoubtedly the largest crop of corn in St. Joe county for years, but unless more warm, dry weather comes soon much will never ripen. Hundreds of acres are still soft and as milky as a month ago. The greatest fear is that frost may follow the rain, in which case the damage cannot be estimated.

Phone Rates Raised at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 14.—An announcement was made of an advance in telephone rates at Grand Rapids, to take effect Oct. 1, to the limits prescribed by the ordinance—$24 for residences and [illegible] for business houses.

Terrible Storms Sweep Over the State of Florida.

MEN'S BODIES DRIFT ASHORE

Wind Blew Seventy-five Miles an Hour—Hospitals Unroofed at Tampa—Wires Down, Traffic Impeded and City in Total Darkness.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 14.—Beginning Friday morning on the east coast and Saturday on the west, and lasting twenty-four hours, South Florida has been swept by the strongest hurricane ever known in that part of the state. The wires went down at the beginning and railroad service was delayed. On that account no details reached here until Sunday. Even now they are incomplete.

At Miami the wind attained a velocity of sixty-five miles an hour. The car shed of the East Coast railroad was lifted from its foundations, clear from the cars that were under it, and demolished. Several small boats were sunk in the bay. Passengers on the east coast train, which arrived last night, report that they saw many wrecks along the shore from Miami to Hobes Sound. There is one four-masted and one three-masted schooner and several smaller vessels. Their names are not known. A Standard oil company's steamer with two barges is on the beach near Boynton.

Taking a day in crossing the peninsula, the storm struck Tampa Saturday morning, soon attaining a velocity of seventy miles an hour and raged all day. Several cigar factories were badly damaged at Ybor City and several buildings were unroofed. In Tampa the Hampton block was unroofed and six small dwellings were blown down. No loss of life is reported. The streets are a tangle of wires. Street car lines made no effort to run cars. The wires leading from Tampa in all directions are down and the city was in total darkness last night.

WOULD MURDER HIM.

Chief of Police Tried to Kill Assaulter of His Daughter.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Chief of Police John Maloney made a desperate and almost successful attempt to kill William H. Davey, a prisoner at police headquarters, at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Davey was arrested the night before on a charge of attempted criminal assault on an 11-year-old girl and Saturday morning no less than thirteen other similar complaints were made against him, his victims being girls between 6 and 14 years.

The chief said no one could be blamed for killing Davey, not knowing how soon he was to learn that his 11-year-old daughter had been among the man's victims.

At supper Saturday night Maloney learned from his child of an attempt Davey had made on her and, rushing with the daughter to the station, ordered the prisoner brought out of his cell. When the child identified the man Maloney drew his revolver and was just in the act of firing when Sergt. Lyons pinioned his arms. After a scuffle the chief was overcome.

Special Session In November.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 13.—After mature consideration and consultation in person and by mail with members of both of the senate and house of representatives, President Roosevelt, has abandoned the suggestion that congress be called into extraordinary session in October. The extraordinary session, which he announced many months ago would be held this fall, will be called according to present plans on November 9, which was the date tentatively fixed some time ago. It is expected that the formal call for the session will not be issued until after the president shall have returned to Washington.

Feud War In Pennsylvania.

Connellsville, Pa., Sept. 12.—A bitter family feud between the Turner and Swaney families resulted in the fatal shooting at Haydentown, this county, of William Turner. The residents of the quiet mountain town were awakened at night by the noise of pistol shots and upon investigation they found Turner lying in the road suffering with a mortal wound in the abdomen. The wounded man said James Swaney shot him. It is hard to get further than this towards the bottom of the tragedy, as nearly all in the community are related and are divided on account of the feud, which has existed upwards of half a century. Many tragedies have occurred in the vicinity on account of the feud. Swaney was arrested and denies the charge made by Turner.

U. S. Demand Damages for Burning of Fort Brady.

WATER SUPPLY WAS SHORT

Otherwise Fire Would Have Been Quenched—Investigation of Municipal Affairs May Develop Something Startling.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 12.—City Attorney Given has been served by United States District Attorney Covell with a bill, demanding $68,503 21 to recompense the government for damages sustained by the burning of Fort Brady Jan. 3, 1903. The bill is accompanied by an affidavit setting up the facts of the loss.

The position of the federal government is the alleged existence of a contract between it and the city, in which the latter guaranteed to keep the fort supplied with water at a pressure of 85 to 90 pounds. Complainant claims that on the night of the fire, Jan. 3, 1903, practically no water was to be obtained, and that had there been water the barracks would never have been destroyed.

The bill will be presented to the council next Monday night and disallowed. That will end it as far as the city is concerned until the government commences suit, when the city will fight the case.

If the suit is brought, as it undoubtedly will be, developments of a most interesting sort may result.

At the time of the burning of the barracks the council, expecting a situation of this sort, appointed a committee of investigation to find out where the water went to. The committee investigated the premises of the Northwestern Leather company and found that water was being used. W. L. Murdock, manager for the company, refused to testify before the committee, saying that had he a mind to do so he could tell something sensational with regard to the waste of water. Alderman Moher at the time accused the council in meeting of appointing a committee for the purpose of whitewashing the matter, and stated that when the time came Murdock would tell something to open the eyes of the city.

For years past there has been talk of a grand jury to investigate the conduct of city affairs, and Murdock [illegible] the testimony would [illegible] the city. He did testify before an investigating committee of United States army officers, and will naturally be compelled to do so in the courts if the matter is brought to trial.

The city will doubtless lay the blame for lack of water upon the tannery, and the fight may develop fireworks.

Clings to His Tax Rolls.

Cassopolis, Mich., Sept. 12.—State Tax Commissioner Freeman, with his clerks and stenographer, was at Cassopolis again Friday in relation to Supervisor Kimmerle and the Lagrange township assessment roll. When Freeman was here last week Kimmerle refused to produce the roll or allow it to be taken out of the county. Later he was served with a subpoena signed by Commissioner Dust, requiring him to appear with his roll at the courthouse Friday for inspection. Kimmerle appeared with the roll but declined to surrender the possession of it under the proceedings commenced. After several ineffectual attempts to have the roll surrendered it was agreed that it be returned to the supervisor.

BARBER SHOT AT.

Attempted Assassination of George Herrick of Durand.

Durand, Mich., Sept. 14.—The attempted assault, which occurred here at an early hour Sunday morning, has stirred Durand from center to circumference, and is the sole topic of conversation. George Herrick, Durand's leading barber, has just completed his day's work, shortly after 12 o'clock, and was sitting in one of his chairs for a short rest, when suddenly he was dazed by the report of a revolver. The shot came through the rear window of his shop. He looked in the direction of the report and saw the face of a man at his window. Then came a second shot whizzing past his head.

Men on the street heard the reports and rushed into the shop, and Herrick, who was frightened nearly to death, told them what had happened. He was so scared he could not give a good description of his assailant. Pursuit was begun, but to no avail.

Herrick says that a few minutes after his help had lift the shop a man appeared at the door and asked for a shave. The barber politely told him it was too late. The man then offered him a dollar for a shave, but Herrick said he would not shave him for any amount of money. The man left the door grumbling: "I will get even." It is possible this is the man who did the shooting.

FIVE WERE DROWNED.

Steam Yacht and Naphtha Launch Collided on Pine Lake.

Charlevoix, Mich., Sept. 14.—Five men, all of East Jordan, were drowned in Pine Lake early Saturday evening in a collision between the steam yacht Pilgrim and a naphtha launch. The Pilgrim plies regularly on Pine Lake, between East Jordan and Charlevoix.

That evening about 8 o'clock, when about half a mile from shore, the Pilgrim run down a naphtha launch containing thirteen men returning from a ball game at Harbor Springs.

The occupants of the small boat were thrown into the water, and, although the yacht laid to and began a search for the drowning men, only eight of the thirteen men were saved.

According to a report that reached this city shortly after the disaster the naphtha launch showed no lights until just before it was struck by the Pilgrim.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. THE LIGHT THAT FAILED.

By Rudyard Kipling. . . .

The stupid bewilderment on his face was so intensely comic that both Dick and Torpenhow, still panting and unstrung from a fight for life, had roared with laughter, in which the man seemed as if he would join, but as his lips parted in a sheepish grin the agony of death came upon him, and he pitched grunting at their feet. Dick laughed again, remembering the horror. It seemed so exactly like his own case. "But I have a little more time allowed me," he said. He paced up and down the room, quietly at first, but afterward with the hurried feet of fear. It was as though a black shadow stood at his elbow and urged him to go forward, and there were only weaving circles and floating pin dots before his eyes.

"We must be calm, Binkie; we must be calm." He talked aloud for the sake of distraction. "This isn't nice at all. What shall we do? We must do something. Our time is short. I shouldn't have believed that this morning, but now things are different, Binkie. Where was Moses when the light went out?"

Binkie smiled from ear to ear, as a well bred terrier [illegible] made no suggestion.

"Were there but world enough and time, this coyness, Binkie, were no crime. But at my back I always hear"— He wiped his forehead, which was unpleasantly damp. "What can I do? What can I do? I haven't any notions left, and I can't think connectedly, but I must do something or I shall go off my head."

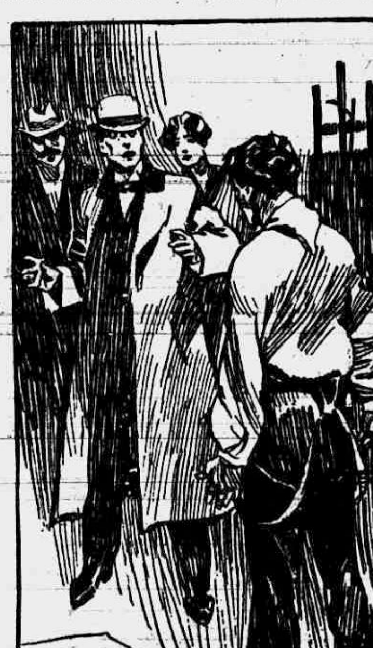
The hurried walk recommenced, Dick stopping every now and again to drag forth long neglected canvases and old note[illegible] for he turned to his work by in[illegible] thing that could not fail. "You won't do, and you won't do," he said at each inspection. "No more soldiers. I couldn't paint 'em. Sudden death comes home too early, and this is battle and murder both for me."

The day was failing, and Dick thought for a moment that the twilight of the blind had come upon him unawares. "Allah Almighty," he cried despairingly, "help me through the time of waiting, and I won't whine when my punishment comes! What can I do now before the light goes?"

There was no answer. Dick waited till he could regain some sort of control over himself. His hands were shaking, and he prided himself on their steadiness; he could feel that his lips were quivering, and the sweat was running down his face. He was lashed by fear, driven forward by the desire to get to work at once and accomplish something, and maddened by the refusal of his brain to do more than repeat the news that he was about to go blind. "It's a humiliating exhibition," he thought, "and I'm glad Torp isn't here to see. The doctor said I was to avoid mental worry. Come here and let me pet you, Binkie."

The little dog yelped because Dick nearly squeezed the bark out of him. Then he heard the man speaking in the twilight, and, doglike, understood that his trouble stood off from him.

"Allah is good, Binkie. Not quite so gentle as we could wish, but we'll discuss that later. I think I see my way to it now. All those studies of Bessie's head were nonsense, and they nearly brought your master into a scrape. I hold the notion now as clear as crystal—'the Melancolia that transcends all wit.' There shall be Maisie in that, and, because I shall never get Maisie; and Bess, of course, because she knows all about Melancolia, though she doesn't know she knows; and there shall be some drawing in it and it shall all end up with a laugh. That's for myself. Shall she giggle or grin? No, she shall laugh right out of the canvas, and every man and woman that ever had a sorrow of their own shall—what is it the poem says?



"Is that you?" said Torpenhow.

"Understand the speech and feel a stir
Of fellowship in all disastrous fight.

'In all disastrous fight?' That's better than painting the thing merely to pique Maisie. I can do it now because I have it inside me. Binkie, I'm going to hold you up by your tail. You're an omen. Come here."

Binkie swung head downward for a moment without speaking.

"Rather like holding a guinea pig. But you're a brave little dog, and you don't yelp when you're maltreated. It is an omen."

Binkie went to his own chair, and as often as he looked saw Dick walking up and down, rubbing his hands and chuckling. That night Dick wrote a letter to Maisie full of the tenderest regard for her health, but saying very little about his own, and dreamed of the Melancolia to be born. Not till morning did he remember that something might happen to him in the future.

He fell to work, whistling softly, and was swallowed up in the clean, clear joy of creation, which does not come to man too often lest he should consider himself the equal of his God and so refuse to die at the appointed time. He forgot Maisie, Torpenhow and Binkie at his feet, but remembered to stir Bessie, who needed very little stirring, into a tremendous rage that he might watch the smoldering lights in her eyes. He threw himself without reservation into his work and did not think of the doom that was to overtake him, for he was possessed with his notion, and the things of the world had no power upon him.

"You're pleased today," said Bessie.

Dick waved his mahlstick in mystic circles and went to the sideboard for a drink. In the evening, when the exultation of the day had died down, he went to the sideboard again, and after some visits became convinced that the eye doctor was a liar, since he still could see everything clearly. He was of opinion that he would even make a home for Maisie, and that whether she liked it or not she should be his wife. The mood passed next morning, but the sideboard and all upon it remained [illegible]

Again he set to work, and his eyes troubled him with spots and dashes and blurs till he had taken counsel with the sideboard, and the Melancolia both on the canvas and in his own mind appeared lovelier than ever. There was a delightful sense of irresponsibility upon him, such as they feel who, walking among their fellow men, know that the death sentence of disease is upon them and, since fear is but waste of the little time left, are riotously happy.

The days passed without event. Bessie arrived punctually always, and, though her voice seemed to Dick to come from a distance, her face was always very near, and the Melancolia began to flame on the canvas in the likeness of a woman who had known all the sorrow in the world and was laughing at it. It was true that the corners of the studio draped themselves in gray film and retired into the darkness, that the spots in his eyes and the pains across his head were very troublesome, and that Maisie's letters were hard to read and harder still to answer.

He could not tell her of his trouble, and he could not laugh at her accounts of her own Melancolia, which was always going to be finished. But the furious days of toil and the night of wild dreams made amends for all, and the sideboard was his best friend on earth. Bessie was singularly dull. She used to shriek with rage when Dick stared at her between half closed eyes. Now she sulked or watched him with disgust, saying very little.

Torpenhow had been absent six weeks. An incoherent note heralded his return. "News! Great news!" he said.

"The Nilghai knows, and so does the Keneu. We're all back on Thursday. Get lunch and clean your accouterments."

Dick showed Bessie the letter, and she abused him for that he had ever sent Torpenhow away and ruined her life.

"Well," said Dick brutally, "you're better as you are instead of making love to some drunken beast in the street." He felt that he had rescued Torpenhow from great temptation.

"I don't know if that's any worse than sitting to a drunken beast in a studio. You haven't been sober for three weeks. You've been soaking the whole time, and yet you pretend you're better than me!"

"What d'you mean?" said Dick.

"Mean! You'll see when Mr. Torpenhow comes back."

It was not long to wait. Torpenhow met Bessie on the staircase without a sign of feeling. He had news that was more to him than many Bessies, and the Keneu and the Nilghai were tramping behind him, calling for Dick.

"Drinking like a fish," Bessie whispered. "He's been at it for nearly a month." She followed the men stealthily to hear judgment done.

They came into the studio rejoicing to be welcomed overeffusively by a drawn, lined, shrunken, haggard wreck—unshaven, blue white about the nostrils, stooping in the shoulders and peering under his eyebrows nervously. The drink had been at work as steadily as Dick.

"Is that you?" said Torpenhow.

"All that's left of me. Sit down. Binkie's quite well, and I've been doing some good work." He reeled where he stood.

"You've done some of the worst work you've ever done in your life. Man alive, you're"—

Torpenhow turned to his companions appealingly, and they left the room to find lunch elsewhere. Then he spoke, but since the reproof of a friend is much too sacred and intimate a thing to be printed, and since Torpenhow used figures and metaphors which were unseemly, and contempt untranslatable, it will never be known what was actually said to Dick, who blinked and winked and picked at his hands. After a time the culprit began to feel the need of a little self respect. He was quite sure that he had not in any way departed from virtue, and there were reasons, too, of which Torpenhow knew nothing. He would explain.

He rose, tried to straighten his shoulders, and spoke to the face he could hardly see.

"You are right," he said. "But I am right too. After you went away I had some trouble with my eyes. So I went to an oculist, and he turned a gasogene—I mean a gas engine—into my eye. That was very long ago. He said, 'Scar on the head—sword cut and optic nerve.' Make a note of that. So I am going blind. I have some work to do before I go blind, and I suppose that I must do it. I cannot see much now, but I can see best when I am drunk. I did not know I was drunk till I was told, but I must go on with my work. If you want to see it, there it is." He pointed to the all but completed Melancolia and looked for applause.

Torpenhow said nothing, and Dick began to whimper feebly for joy at seeing Torpenhow again, for grief at misdeeds, if indeed they were misdeeds, that made Torpenhow remote and unsympathetic, and for childish vanity hurt, since Torpenhow had not given a word of praise to his wonderful picture.

Bessie looked through the keyhole after a long pause and saw the two walking up and down as usual, Torpenhow's hand on Dick's shoulder. Hereat she said something so improper that it shocked even Binkie, who was dribbling patiently on the landing with the hope of seeing his master again.

CHAPTER IX.

The lark will make her hymn to God,
The partridge call her brood,
While I forget the heath I trod,
The fields wherein I stood.
'Tis dule to know not night from morn,
But deeper dule to know
I can but hear the hunter's horn
That once I used to blow.
—The Only Son.

It was the third day after Torpenhow's return, and his heart was heavy.

"Do you mean to tell me that you can't see without whisky? It's generally the other way about."

"Can a drunkard swear on his honor?" said Dick.

"Yes, if he has been as good a man as you."

"Then I give my word of honor," said Dick, speaking hurriedly through parched lips. "Old man, I can hardly see your face now. You've kept me so[illegible]—if I ever was drunk—and I've done no work. Don't keep me back any more. I don't know when my eyes may give out. The spots and dots and the pains and things are crowding worse than ever. I swear I can see all right when I'm—when I'm moderately screwed, as you say. Give me three more sittings from Bessie and all the stuff I want, and the picture will be done. I can't kill myself in three days. It only means a touch of D. T. at the worst."

"If I give you three days more, will you promise me to stop work and—the other thing, whether the picture's finished or not?"

"I can't. You don't know what that picture means to me. But surely you could get the Nilghai to help you, and knock me down and tie me up. I shouldn't fight for the whisky, but I should for the work."

"Go on, then. I give you three days, but you're nearly breaking my heart."

Dick returned to his work, toiling as one possessed. And the yellow devil of whisky stood by him and chased away the spots in his eyes. The Melancolia was nearly finished and was all or nearly all that he hoped she would be. Dick jested with Bessie, who reminded him that he was "a drunken beast." But the reproof did not move him.

"You can't understand, Bess. We are in sight of land now, and soon we shall lie back and think about what we've done. I'll give you three months' pay when the picture's finished, and next time I have any more work in hand—but that doesn't matter. Won't three months' pay make you hate me less?"

"No, it won't! I hate you, and I'll go on hating you. Mr. Torpenhow won't speak to me any more. He's always looking at map things and red backed books."

Bessie did not say that she had again laid siege to Torpenhow or that he had at the end of her passionate pleading picked her up, given her a kiss and put her outside the door with a recommendation not to be a little fool. He spent most of his time in the company of the Nilghai, and their talk was of war in the near future, the hiring of transports and secret preparations among the dockyards. He did not care to see Dick till the picture was finished.

"He's doing first class work," he said to the Nilghai, "and it's quite out of his regular line. But for the matter of that, so's his infernal drinking."

"Never mind. Leave him alone. When he has come to his senses again we'll carry him off from this place and let him breathe clean air. Poor Dick! I don't envy you, Torp, when his eyes fail."

"Yes, it will be a case of 'God help the man who's chained to our Davie.' The worst is that we don't know when it will happen, and I believe the uncertainty and the waiting have sent Dick to the whisky more than anything else."

"How the Arab who cut his head open would grin if he knew!"

"He's at perfect liberty to grin if he can. He's dead. That's poor consolation now."

In the afternoon of the third day Torpenhow heard Dick calling for him. "All finished!" he shouted. "I've done it. Come in! Isn't she a beauty? Isn't she a darling? I've been down to hell to get her, but isn't she worth it?"

Torpenhow looked at the head of a woman and laughed—a full lipped, hollow eyed woman who laughed from out of the canvas as Dick had intended she should.

"Who taught you how to do it?" said Torpenhow. "The touch and notion have nothing to do with your regular work. What a face it is! What eyes and what insolence!" Unconsciously he threw back his head and laughed with her. "She's seen the game played out—I don't think she had a good time of it—and now she doesn't care. Isn't that the idea?"

"Exactly."

"Where did you get the mouth and chin from? They don't belong to Bess."

"They're some one else's. But isn't it good? Isn't it thundering good? Wasn't it worth the whisky? I did it. Alone I did it, and it's the best I can do." He drew his breath sharply and whispered: "Just God! What could I not do ten years hence if I can do this now! By the way, what do you think of it, Bess?"

The girl was biting her lips. She loathed Torpenhow because he had taken no notice of her.

"I think it's just the horridest, beastliest thing I ever saw," she answered, and turned away.

"More than you will be of that way of thinking, young woman. Dick, there's a sort of murderous viperine suggestion in the poise of the head that I don't understand," said Torpenhow.

"That's trick work," said Dick, chuckling with delight at being completely understood. "I couldn't resist one little bit of sheer swagger. It's a French trick, and you wouldn't understand. But it's got at by slewing round the head a trifle and a tiny, tiny foreshortening of one side of the face from the angle of the chin to the top of the left ear. That and deepening the shadow under the lobe of the ear. It was flagrant trick work; but, having the notion fixed, I felt entitled to play with it. Oh, you beauty!"

"Amen! She is a beauty. I can feel it."

"So will every man who has any sorrow of his own," said Dick, slapping his thigh. "He shall see his trouble there, and, by the Lord Harry, just when he's feeling properly sorry for himself he shall throw back his head and laugh, as she is laughing. I've put the life of my heart and the light of my eyes into her, and I don't care what comes. • • • I'm tired—awfully tired. I think I'll get to sleep. Take away the whisky. It has served its turn. Oh, give Bessie thirty-six quid and three over for luck. Cover the picture."

He was asleep in the long chair, his face white and haggard, almost before he had finished the sentence. Bessie tried to take Torpenhow's hand. "Aren't you never going to speak to me any more?" she said, but Torpenhow was looking at Dick.

"What a stock of vanity the man has! I'll take him in hand tomorrow and make much of him. He deserves it.— Eh? What was that, Bess?"

"Nothing. I'll put things tidy here a little, and then I'll go. You couldn't give me that three months' pay now, could you? He said you were to."

Torpenhow gave her a check and went to his own rooms. Bessie faithfully tidied up the studio, set the door ajar for flight, emptied half a bottle of turpentine on a duster and began to scrub the face of the Melancolia viciously. The paint did not smudge quickly enough. She took a palette knife and scraped, following each stroke with the wet duster. In five minutes the picture was a formless, scarred muddle of colors. She threw the paint stained duster into the studio stove, stuck out her tongue at the sleeper and whispered, "Bilked!" as she turned to run down the staircase. She would never see Torpenhow any more, but she had at least done harm to the man who had come between her and her desire and who used to make fun of her. Cashing the check was the very cream of the jest to Bessie. Then the little privateer sailed across the Thames to be swallowed up in the gray wilderness of South-the-water.

Dick slept till late in the evening, when Torpenhow dragged him off to bed. His eyes were as bright as his voice was hoarse. "Let's have another look at the picture," he said as insistently as a child.

"You—go—to—bed," said Torpenhow. "You aren't at all well, though you mayn't know it. You're as jumpy as a cat."

"I reform tomorrow. Good night."

As he passed through the studio Torpenhow lifted the cloth above the picture and almost betrayed himself by outcries: "Wiped out! Scraped out, and turped out! If Dick knows this tonight, he'll go perfectly mad. He's on the verge of the jumps as it is. That's Bess—the little fiend! Only a woman could have done that, with the ink not dry on the cheek too! Dick will be raving mad tomorrow. It was all my fault for trying to help gutter devils. Oh, my poor Dick, the Lord is hitting you very hard!"

It is a curious fact that flies will not pass through a net, even though the meshes be amply large, unless they can see a bright light, as from another window, back of it. It is maintained that in case of a room with but one window, flies would not enter if the window was covered by a net with one inch meshes.

No wonder that time is represented as haggard and worn out. A watch keeps time, the chorist beats time, the clock strikes time, trains run on time, people threaten to do things on time if they get time, at a prize fight they call time, soldiers mark time, criminals serve time, few can spare time and everyone now and then tries to kill time.—Onsted News.

In the Chicago Examiner of Sept. 1st in the society and home page, are hats designed by Miss Killin, one a street hat with brown velvet, another an evening hat with white grebes, and the third a black chiffon evening hat. An exchange observes that a man will run as fast as he can to cross a railroad track in front of a train. Then he will watch it till it goes out of sight then he will walk rapidly away. He seems to be all right and probably is, that is a man. A woman in a street car will open a satchel and take out a purse, take out a dime and close the purse, open the satchel, put in the purse and close the satchel and lock both ends then she will give the dime to the conductor, who will give her a nickle, then she will close the purse, open the satchel and put in the purse, close the satchel and lock both ends. SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

The base ball season just closed has in every way, except financially, been one of the most successful in many years. The team has been stronger than in any previous year, has played better ball, and has as much claim on the State championship, if not more, as any other club. The team has played all the best clubs in the state, winning a majority of the games with some of them and breaking even with others, administering shut-outs to Ionia, Mt. Clemens and Mt. Pleasant. They have played 44 games, winning 32 of them. Below is given a list of the games played, the runs, hits, average, etc.

Gilbert pitched 18 games, won 15, struck out 154 men.

Johnson pitched 13 games, won 8, struck out 95 men.

Harris pitched 6 games, won 3, struck out 55 men.

Striker pitched 4 games, won 3, struck out 43 men.

German pitched 3 games, won 3, struck out 12 men.

Financially the season has not been a successful one. The high class of ball furnished by the association should have had the support of a larger number in attendance, which for the last three weeks has been small. The knockers have done their work well, their averages are not given for want of space.

The players disbanded Saturday evening. Captain Hosmer goes to his home, Auburn, N. Y.; Hubert Hadley, Rochester, Mich., Lloyd Knickerbocker, Albion; Louie Striker to Hastings; Rufus Gilbert to Kalamazoo; John Furlong to Ypsilanti; Marcus Chaffee to Paw Paw; Chas. Beasley joins the Holland team for the balance of the season.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Beasley leads in 2-base hits, home runs and ties, Gilbert in 3-base hits.

Striker leads in sacrifice hits.

Furlong leads in batting, 375, but only with team 14 games played. Beasley has played in every game batting 368.

Knickerbocker leads in stolen bases.

In 44 games played Tecumseh made 89 more runs than their opponents and made 162 more hits than the opposing teams.

"For Mother's Sake."

This great success of a successful authoress is scheduled to play at the New Bradley Sept. 16. The cast is composed of actors well known in the profession; not a stick among them. This is a refreshing innovation when we stop to consider that most companies carry a lot of dead wood and try to make up in numbers what they lack in talent. The play holds a distinguished place among the better class of theater patrons, and the verdict rendered by the public has established its reputation beyond a doubt, the plot is not confused its characters are well discriminated and in the hands of a most capable company.

Like marvelous cures of consumption, coughs colds and grip prove its matchless merit for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at C. A. Wright's drug store.

Michigan Crop Report.

The temperature during August was considerably below the normal while the precipitation was above the normal. All damage to crops resulted from excessive rain rather than from dry weather.

The season has been fairly good for oats. In some localities the harvesting crop was delayed by wet weather and as a result some oats will be damaged. In most places, however, the crop was secured before the continued rains of the latter part of the month.

It is difficult to determine at the present time what the outcome will be in regard to the bean crop. Many fields of beans have been damaged already by wet weather.

The potato crop at the present time promises to be a good one. Some damage has been done on low ground but conditions have been favorable for potatoes on high land. If frost holds off so that they ripen naturally no doubt the crop will be a large one.

The final estimate for wheat will be made in October. The average estimated yield per acre in the southern counties is 16 bushels, in the central and northern counties 15 bushels and in the State 18 bushels.

SECRETS

At the Price of Suffering.

Woman on her way to semi-invalidism caused by pregnancy suffers much pain. Ignorance prompts her to suffer alone in silence and remain in the dark as to the true cause—motherhood.

Mother's Friend takes the doctor's place and she has no cause for an interview. She is her own doctor, and her modesty is protected. Daily application to the breast and abdomen throughout pregnancy will enable her to undergo the period of gestation in a cheerful mood and rest undisturbed.

Mother's Friend

is a liniment for external use only. It would indeed be shameful if the sacrifice of modesty were necessary to the successful issue of healthy children. All women about to become mothers need send only to a drug store and for $1.00 secure the prize childbirth remedy. Healthy babies are the result of useing Mother's Friend. Our book "Motherhood" mailed free.

Doan's Kidney Pills are made for kidneys only.

Are endorsed by Tecumseh people.

Mr. C. Patterson, the well known sexton residing in the south-eastern section of Tecumseh, says: "For over a year I had a soreness and pain in the small of the back at times quite severe more especially if I did a hard day's work or took cold, for it always settled in my kidneys. The kidney secretions were also discolored and irregular and I had all symptoms of aggravated kidney complaint. I heard several people praising Doan's Kidney Pills so concluding to try them I got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and commenced the treatment. I found it just suited my case for it helped me right from the start. It stopped the pain in my back and regulated and cleared up the kidney secretions. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone having any difficulty with their kidneys."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Persons should always dress to suit their figure. A humpbacked lady, for instance, ought to wear a camel's-hair shawl.

Don't delay a minute. Cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand.

Why is a doctor better taken care of than his patients?—Because, when he goes to bed, somebody is sure to rap him up.

A little life may be sacrificed to a sudden attack of croup if you don't have Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil on hand for the emergency.

PROFITS TOTAL $40,000.

Over 65,000 Paid Admissions to the State Fair.

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 12.—Friday was get-away day at the big fair. Incidentally it was Maccabee day. Pontiac bade good-bye to its last big crowd last night and will spend a week getting the kinks out of itself. It was a great record that was made by the Michigan State Agricultural society this year. Not less than 65,000 paid admissions were counted. A total attendance of over 90,000 was registered and the gates closed with the association $40,000 ahead of the business.

The crowd yesterday astonished the management, reaching 18,000 paid admissions onh the final day, an unusual thing. Wednesday was the smasher with its 80,000 paid admissions. When the fair was held at Grand Rapids in 1900 the receipts were $16,000; at Pontiac in 1901 they amounted to $37,000; in 1902, owing to rain, they fell to $20,000, while this year, in spite of the rain and threatening weather, they rose to nearly $45,000.

Fall Wouldn't Accept.

Albion, Mich., Sept. 12.—"There is not one chance in a thousand," said Superintendent of Public Instruction Delos Fall Friday, when told of the report from Grand Rapids that it was the promise that he would be given the place that made him change his vote from the Furniture City to Kalamazoo, "that I would accept the presidency of the new normal school if offered me. Further, no such proposition as that has ever been suggested that I am aware of, and I can only attribute the statement to the disappointment the selection of the present site caused in that city."

For Illegal Fishing.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Sept. 12.—State Game Warden Chapman, Deputy Warden Fisher and County Warden Woods Friday seized 4,000 carp and all the nets and other fishing apparatus of the St. Clair Carp Fishing company and placed under arrest Charles Trost and J. C. Wallert for alleged illegal fishing. The arrests and seizure was made for failure to file the required bond with the state fish commission and getting a permit. The officers claim the company has repeatedly been notified to stop fishing or comply with the laws.

GREEKS LENDING A HAND.

Aiding Bulgarians in Their Fight Against Turks.

Sofia, Sept. 12.—The revolutionary headquarters here has received from Burgas news of fearful atrocities committed by the Turkish and Albanian soldiers in the vilayet of Adrianople. A squadron of Turkish cavalry intercepted and slaughtered fugitives attempting to cross into Bulgaria. Sixty Bulgarians were killed within three kilometres of the frontier.

The whole district of Losengrade is filled with Albanian troops, who are burning villages and massacreing the inhabitants. They have killed 50 persons and have slain 15 others in the village of Kula; 22 old people in the village of Evekieer, 18 families at Taspeta and 20 families at Asmadgik. Eighty families fleeing from various villages toward the frontier have been literally cut to pieces by Turkish soldiers during the last few days. Hundreds of old men, woman and children of the district of Losengrade have crossed the frontier.

A large body of infantry and cavalry, with three mountain batteries, attacked an insurgent band in the mountains above Vasiliko. The insurgents awaited the near approach of the troops and then hurled bombs at them. After two hours' fighting the Turks were forced to retire with the loss of twenty men killed and many wounded. The losses of the insurgent force were slight.

The first indication of the Greeks aiding the Bulgarians against Turkey appears in a circular addressed by the general staff of the Eighth revolutionary district to the Greek towns and villages in the vilayet of Adrianople. It expresses pleasure at hearing that the Greeks desire to join their Bulgarian [illegible] fight for [illegible]erty and invites the Greeks [illegible] delegations to formulate plans for joint action.

Berlin, Sept. 12.—The newspapers here comment on the report from Chicago of the formation of a regiment of Macedonians in the United States. The Tageblatt says: "The Porte will become scared when it hears the news, but the United States should prevent the departure of the regiment. And how will the regiment get into Macedonia? No power will permit the men to pass through its territory, and a landing in Albania is not to be thought of."

Army Officers Sent Up.

Manila, Sept. 12.—Customs Inspector Thomas P. Coates and Lieutenant Osborne, constabulary supply officers, both stationed at San Fernandino, who were arrested recently on the charge of misappropriating government funds, have been tried and convicted. Lieutenant Osborne has been sentenced to ten years' and Inspector Coates to eight years' imprisonment. Dean Tompkins, treasurer of the province of La Union, has also been convicted of forgery, but sentence has been reserved. The minimum penalty for the crime is imprisonment for twelve years.

No More Pennies.

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—No more cents are to be made by the United States mint here for at least a year unless a special order is issued from the United States treasury at Washington, due to the enormous production in the last five years—3,000,000,893 pennies having been shipped from the Philadelphia mint, which is the only one that coins the 1 cent pieces, to various parts of the country. Between July 1, 1902, and June 1, 1903, 89,600,000 cents were coined.

Train Went Through Bridge.

Ardmore, I. T., Sept. 12.—A report from Soper says that a 'Frisco work train went through a bridge near there Thursday. Engineer McClellan, Fireman Miller and Brakeman Hill were killed. Particulars of the wreck can not be learned.

Major Delmar Makes Record.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Major Delmar went a mile at state fair Friday in 2:00¼, breaking the world's record for geldings, made by himself here Tuesday.

Tolstoi's 75th Birthday.—Count Tolstoi spent his 75th birthday Friday in strict privacy among his children at Tula. He was in the best of health. The papers printed glowing eulogies of the count on the occasion of his birthday.

Trolley Cars Collide.—Two interurban cars, loaded with miners returning from work, crashed together west of Brazil, Ind. John Cole had his hand and arm crushed. There were 107 persons on one car. Fully fifty of them were more or less bruised, but none seriously.

Fear For Czar's Life.—The projected visit of the czar to Bucharest to act as godfather at the christening of the infant prince Nicholas, son of the crown prince Ferdinand Victor, has been countermanded because of fear that the Roumanian police would be unable to sufficiently insure the czar's safety.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over 30 years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

Women sometimes feel unworthy of their husbands—in novels.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

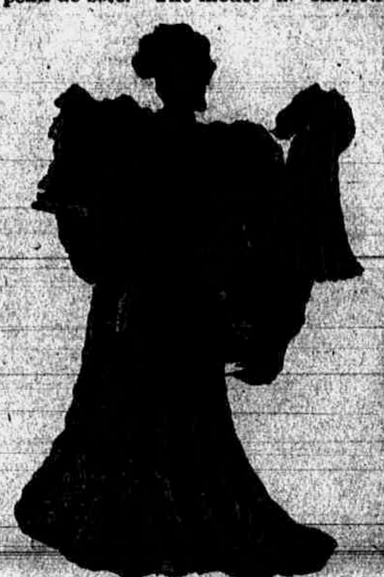
LATEST FASHION NOTES.

CHARMING NEGLIGE OF PEAU DE SOIE.

[illegible] negligee and nothing could be more charming than this creation of peau de soie, trimmed with heavy gemipure lace in the new champagne tint. The front is mousseline de soie, shirred over heavy cords at intervals. The neck is round, not very low. The fronts of the negligee are loose and fall away from the sides where they are tacked at the under arm seams. The plait in the back falls from the neck and is embellished with an elaborated design of lace. The sleeves are finished with a cape-like face at the top and a full mousseline de soie undersleeve ending in a deep cuff of peau de soie. The model is carried out in any of the champagne tints, white, or ciel or pale rose. The best material to use for such a garment is crepe de chine or peau de soie which combined with the use of Corticelli sewing silk will invariably result in a dainty little negligee.



Red is still a favorite color for hats, red tulle hats trimmed with poppies being quite the thing. A black tulle hat, worn well back on the head has for its principal trimming two very large spread white wings. A hat of fancy straw for young girls may be bound with velvet and have a large white pompon on one side. The turban is very popular, the brim often being covered with flowers and sometimes being left plain, or with a stiff wing on the side.

Dragging Pains

2825 Keeley St.,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct., 2, 1902.

I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Maude Bush

Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

STORES BURNTD UP

Fire at Sault Ste. Marie Consumes Entire Business Block.

LOSSES WILL TOTAL $300,000

Flames Originated in Kiosser's Candy Kitchen—H. L. Newton the Principal Loser—Moses & Son's Department Store Consumed.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 16.—An entire block of stores in the heart of the business district was destroyed by fire, which started shortly after midnight this (Wednesday) morning.

The fire originated in Kiosser's candy kitchen, and it was some time before the departments had it under control.

Early estimates of the damage done place the loss at $300,000.

The principal losers are H. L. Newton, who owns most of the buildings destroyed, [illegible] proprietors of the largest department stores in the city.

Big Muskegon Factory Burns.

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 16.—The Crescent Manufacturing company's plant was struck by lightning at 12:30 this morning. The entire plant was destroyed, the loss being about $30,000; insurance unknown. The fire department was unable to cope with the flames. The company manufactures nail kegs and is one of the leading manufacturing institutions of the city. Two hundred and fifty men will be thrown out of employment by destruction of the plant.

Boy May Be Drowned.

South Haven, Mich., Sept. 16.—Fred Whitney, the 16-year-old son of Carl Whitney of South Haven, is missing and is probably drowned. Whitney and several companions went to Chicago Saturday night. Returning, he and three companions took the steamer Kalamazoo in Chicago at 11:30 p. m. Sunday. Whitney is reported as having been seen by various passengers on the boat after leaving Chicago. Two saw Whitney asleep on three chairs on the hurricane deck about 3 a. m. This is the last seen of him.

St. Joe a Fishing Center.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 16.—The season for the local fishermen will begin next Monday morning, and five tugs are in readiness to commence operations. A force of [illegible] men is employed on the St. Joseph docks, this including the crews of the boats. Local fishermen predict a busy season. St. Joseph is now one of the largest fish shipping ports on the lake. Buyers in Chicago informed packers in St. Joseph that more fish were bought in the latter city than any other town in Michigan.

No Race Suicide There.

Boyne, Mich., Sept. 16.—The Boyne schools have opened with the largest attendance ever known. The school census gives 682 pupils of school age, an increase of 107 during the past year. Two new teachers have been added to the corps, making twelve in all. During the past year there have been 125 births in this place. Race suicide is not at all countenanced here, for the parents are admirers of Theodore Roosevelt.

Her Grounds For Divorce.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Carrie Eckenscher, in her suit for a divorce from her husband Charles, testified that on one occasion she entertained a widow at her house who shaved twice a week and that on one occasion her husband did the shaving in the bathroom, and deponent thought it took him longer than it should. The widow's story will be told when she gets on the stand for the defense.

Infant Murdered.

South Rockwood, Mich., Sept. 16.—The body of a male child was found floating in the lake opposite the farm of Hon. John Strong. It was wrapped in newspapers and had evidently been thrown from a steamer running between Detroit and Toledo. The letters H. N. G. S. were printed on a part of a man's nightshirt, which was also wrapped around the little body.

Georgia a Terror.

Albion, Mich., Sept. 16.—Georgia Cawsey, a disorderly child, was, on the recommendation of County Agent Whitney, sentenced by Justice Lane to be sent to the Industrial School for Girls at Adrian to remain until she is 21 years old. A FEARFUL STORM Swept the Atlantic Coast With Direful Results.

SEAMEN LOST THEIR LIVES

Ship Driven on Rocks—Much Damage at Atlantic City—Several Persons Killed in Suburbs of New York.

Delaware Breakwater, Del., Sept. 17.—The southern storm which had been coming up the Atlantic coast for several days, struck the Delaware Capes early this morning with almost cyclonic force, and as a result at least five lives were lost. The storm lasted from 3 a. m. until 7 a. m. The wind reached a maximum velocity of eighty miles an hour and the rain fell in torrents.

The most serious accident reported was that which befel the schooner Hattie A. [illegible]haffy, and four members of the crew were drowned. The Marsh was bound for Philadelphia with a cargo of paving stone. She was caught in the terrific wind storm outside the new stone breakwater. The captain tried to reach the Harbor of Refuge but before he could do so the vessel had to anchor and try to ride the storm.

Her anchors, however, did not hold and the schooner with her dead weight of stone was dashed on the rocks of the Harbor of Refuge. The steam pilot boat Philadelphia went to the rescue, but only succeeded in saving Mate Norman Campbell and one seaman. Captain Muhaffy and the other four sailors were lost in the fury of the lashing waves.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—The tropical storm which struck the coast of the middle Atlantic states early Wednesday morning proved to be of the severest experienced in a long time. It left death and destruction in its trail. Its greatest force was felt at the Delaware Capes and at the lower part of New Jersey coast. Six lives are known to have been lost, and five seamen are missing and believed to have been drowned.

Anglesea, Pa., Sept. 17.—The ocean-going tug Spartan, which was engaged in towing coal barges between Philadelphia and New England ports, foundered during Wednesday's storm on the ocean at the entrance to Delaware bay, and it is feared five of her crew are lost. The other ten members of the crew were rescued off floating wreckage.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 17.—The tropical storm which struck the New Jersey coast early Wednesday morning was one of the severest experienced for a long time. The wind blew with hurricane force and while it lasted kept up a speed of seventy miles an hour. The storm was terrifying to a degree, but the damage was not as great as was at first believed. A conservative guess places the entire damage at $25,000 or $30,000. The telegraph and telephone lines leading out of the city are down, and the fact that the city was cut off from connection with the outside world started wild rumors that the great resort had been entirely swept away.

New York, Sept. 17.—Greater New York and its environs for several miles in all directions were visited Wednesday by the fiercest wind and rain storm known hereabouts in years. The day began with rain, which increased as the wind, blowing from the east, grew stronger, and for two hours, about midday the combined fury of the elements wrought damage on land and water amounting in the aggregate to many thousands of dollars.

Several persons were injured by being blown off fire escapes and wagons, or by being forced against walls by the onslaught of the storm, and not a few of them are in hospitals nursing bruises and cuts, but no deaths have been reported. The gale was especially severe at sea, causing havoc to the shipping down the bay, where many vessels were sunk or wrecked.

Gustav Wickmanof Queens borough was instantly killed during the heavy part of the storm by being struck by a broken trolley wire.

Mrs. Hunder Sonntag of Carlstadt, N. J., while crossing a street i nthat town, was struck by a live trolley wire which had been blown down by the wind. Death occurred instantly.

School Boy Killed.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 17.—Otto Landick, aged 13 years, a pupil at the Corey street Lutheran school in River Rouge, was instantly killed while on his way home from school Wednesday. The boy, with a number of others, was playing on the Michigan Central track and failed to notice a swiftly approaching train, which struck him. His skull was fractured.

Locomotive Exploded.

Galien, Mich., Sept. 17.—The engine drawing the local on the Michigan Central between Michigan City and Niles blew up, seriously injuring the fireman. The engineer escaped unhurt.

PRESIDENT IN THE BLOW.

Was Enroute to New York on Naval Yacht Sylph.

New York, Sept. 17.—President Roosevelt, while en route from Oyster Bay to New York on the naval yacht Sylph Wednesday, passed through a terrifying wind and rain storm, during which the vessel was in imminent danger.

Subsequently he visited the immigration station on Ellis island, New York bay, and made a thorough inspection of the institution. After dining on the Sylph last night he went on the revenue tug Chamberlain to Jersey City, where he boarded a special train on the Pennsylvania railroad, which is to convey him, Governor Murphy of New Jersey, and their invited guests to the battlefield of Antietam.

There today will occur the ceremonies incident to the dedication of the monument erected to the memory of New Jersey soldiers who fell in the civil war.

Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning nearly an hour later than had been arranged, President Roosevelt boarded the Sylph in Oyster Bay. He was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and their son, Kermit, Mrs. Rochardson, a New York friend of Mrs. Roosevelt; Secretary Loeb, Professor Albert Bushellbert of Harvard college, Professor J. E. Moore of Columbia university, C. Grant La Farge of New York and Jacob A. Riis of Richmond Hill, L. I. In addition the guests of the president included members of the executive staff and representatives of the press association.

Less than an hour after the Sylph had entered Long Island Sound she ran into a terrific wind and rain storm. The storm increased in severity rapidly and off Fort Schuyler it developed into a hurricane. The wind blew, according to an estimate made by Lieut. Preston, commander of the Sylph, at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The Sylph, a comparatively small vessel, pitched heavily, and off Willetts Point listed very sharply to starboard. The president and his guests had been forced to go below and beyond the drenching none of them suffered inconvenience.

FAVORS THE CANTEEN.

And General Baldwin Condemns System of Confining Military Convicts.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Brig.-Gen. Frank B. Baldwin, commanding the department of the Colorado, in his annual report urges the re-establishment of the army canteen under proper restrictions and says:

"I have been deeply impressed by the very marked difference in discipline and general contentment among the enlisted men since the abolition of the canteen feature of the post exchange. If men are unable to get a glass of beer in a decent and orderly manner in the garrison they will resort to the vile brothels which cluster around the borders of the reservation where they drink all manner of alcoholic beverages and often sink into debauchery and ruin."

The report says the present system of confining military convicts in post guard houses is demoralizing in many respects, necessitating the placing of recruits confined for military offences with men of long guard-house records and with criminals. For long-term men a return to the military prison at Fort Leavenworth or other similar institution is urged.

Cut Hole Through Roof.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 17.—Robbers entered the Farmers' bank at Rhodes during the night by cutting a hole through the roof. They entered the vault through the top and secured $1,000 in silver that they found outside the safe proper. The latter was [illegible] and the contents exposed but nothing was taken. This is taken to indicate that the robbers were frightened away. They left no clue.

Erwin Arrested.

San Francisco, Sept. 17.—Postal Inspector James W. Erwin, indicted by the federal grand jury at Washington, D. C., for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by the United States marshal. Bail, which has been fixed at $5,000, was promptly furnished.

He Is "Dead Game" Now.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Edward Wright told her husband he "was not game" when he said he would commit suicide because she refused him admision to the house when he returned from a hospital after having been insane from the cigarette habit. This morning she found him dead in the barn.

Robbers Got $5,000.

Gutherie, Ok., Sept. 17.—Six masked men robbed the bank at Douglass, Ok., early in the morning of $5,000. The robbers when they left the bank went to a livery stable, got the cashiers buggy and rode off.

LATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

A Hundred Perished.—A dispatch to the London Daily Mail from Hong Kong announces that during a typhoon the steamer Eonlingwo capsized off Kiwangchauwan and one hundred persons perished.

To Paul Jones' Memory.—Secretary Moody's attention has been called to the fact that no monument marks the grave of John Paul Jones in Paris. In the event that the bones of the distinguished naval hero can be found, Secretary Moody will order a warship to France to bring them home.

Big Suits.—Suits for the recovery of $250,000 were filed in the circuit court at St. Louis against Thomas B. Cleage of the Cleage Commission company by George B. Griswold, representing investors living in California and elsewhere. The purpose of the suit, as stated, is to prove that there never was such a corporation as the Cleage Commission company, but that Thomas B. Cleage fraudulently did business under that name.

More Delay.—Six months' additional delay in the advertising for contracts for the 13,000-ton battleships Idaho and Mississippi now seems inevitable. The board on construction first decided on plans which gave the ships heavy armor and armament at a sacrifice of speed. Rear Admirals Melville and Bradford urged Secretary Moody to hold up the decision of the board on the ground that the navy would be injured by the building of ships of the slow speed proposed in the plans for the Idaho and Mississippi.

Robbers Fooled.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 17.—Burglars blew open the safe in the Essexville postoffice early in the morning, but got nothing. The postmaster had removed the valuables the night before.

Detroit Conference Is In Session at Flint.

BISHOP WALDEN PRESENT

He Opposes Use of Individual Cups at Communion—His Opinion Relative to Appointments—Two Hundred Present.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 17.—Bishop John M. Walden of Cincinnati, presiding officer of the Detroit conference of the M. E. church, now in session in the Court Street M. E. church here, is a quiet, reticent, slow-moving man, but a gentleman with opinions and the will to enforce them.

The bishop when the time came for the communion service put an interdict upon the use of individual cups. This, it appears, is a mooted question among the Methodists, one cup or many. There was [illegible] manifested among the opponents of the single cup when the bishop's opinion and order was made known, as the extensive individual cup outfit provided by the Court Street church was returned to its cupboard.

The bishop has also made known, guardedly, his intended attitude with regard to appointments. This is really the most interesting feature of the conference work, for every town in the eastern half of the lower peninsula and in the upper peninsula is concerned regarding the fate of one or more Methodist preachers. The appointment list is that which places the ministers in the various churches throughout the conference domain.

"Ministers who have been in charge not more than one or two years should expect to remain where they are, unless good reasons are advanced for a change," said the aged bishop to some of the leading men of the conference, and the statement soon became known to all. Thus the belief obtains that there will be fewer changes in the location of the rank and file of the ministers than ever before.

Next in interest to the assignment to charges of rank and file will be the appointment by the bishop of the four presiding elders, who are to take the places of the four retired by reason of full years of service. The bishop makes the reappointments with the advice, if not necessarily the "consent," of his cabinet. The cabinet is the body of elders now in office.

There were present up to last night about 200 delegates, ministers and lay. They do not suffice to crowd the Court Street church, which is a roomy edifice for a town like Flint. More are continually arriving.

Organization was affected Wednesday morning by the re-election of A. R. Johns of Hancock, as secretary; H. A. Field of Milan as statistical secretary, and H. C. Colvin of Clinton as treasurer.

The afternoon session was a service, the feature of which was a sermon by Rev. William C. Clemo, of Ironwood, on missionary work. Another serive was held last evening.

Garnisheed All the Banks.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 17.—Fred Cook, of Fowlerville, a prominent business man and well-known politician in the sixth congressional district, dropped into town Wednesday, and through his attorneys, Carton & Bray, slapped a garnishee on every bank in this city. Cook's object is to tie up the deposit of Frank D. Parker, who is said to have accumulated a fortune of $40,000 through the sale of mining stocks. Cook was an investor in those stocks. There are over fifty other investors living in this city who are watching the proceedings of Cook with a great deal of interest. This bunch of a half hundred has invested in the aggregate upwards of $275,000 in this same stock. The company is the New Century Mining & Investment Co. of Denver, Col.

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 17.—Master John Smith of Chicago, aged 12, clad in knee pants, an inmate of the county jail, charged with larceny, escaped during the night from the women's ward. By removing the steel ceiling he entered the attic of the sheriff's residence, and with a blanket rope lowered himself to the ground.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 17.—The annual reunion of the First Michigan Sharpshooters was held in this city Wednesday, with over 100 in attendance. A banquet was tendered the comrades at noon, followed by a fine program. After election of officers the session closed with a grand campfire.

Sues Grand Trunk For $5,000.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 17.—Mrs. William Simmington of Owosso township has begun a suit for $5,000 against the Grand Trunk railway. She fell from a passenger coach at night, she asserts, and severely injured her foot.

Two Banks Close Their Doors.

Ligonier, Ind., Sept. 17.—The Ellison banks at Topeka and La Grange suspended payment Wednesday. Much excitement was caused in the adjacent farming districts, as many had large deposits in these banks. The estimated deposits of the two institutions are $300,000. No statement has been issued. Both institutions were controlled by Rollin Ellison of La Grange.

THE LIGHT THAT FAILED.

By Rudyard Kipling. . . .

CHAPTER IX.

Dick could not sleep that night, partly for pure joy and partly because the well known Catherine wheels inside his eyes had given place to crackling volcanoes of many colored fires. "Spout away," he said aloud. "I've done my work, and now you can do what you please." He lay still, staring at the ceiling, the long pent up delirium of drink in his veins, his brain on fire with racing thoughts that would not stay to be considered, and his hands crisped and dry.

He had just discovered that he was painting the face of the Melancolia on a revolving dome ribbed with millions of lights, and that all his wondrous thoughts stood embodied hundreds of feet below his tiny swinging plank, shouting together in his honor, when something cracked inside his temples like an overstrained bowstring, the glittering dome broke inward, and he was alone in the thick night.

"I'll go to sleep. The room's very dark. Let's light a lamp and see how the Melancolia looks. There ought to have been a moon."

It was then that Torpenhow heard his name called by a voice that he did not know—in the rattling accents of deadly fear.

"He's looked at the picture," was his first thought as he hurried into the bedroom and found Dick sitting up and beating the air with his hands.

"Torp! Torp! Where are you? For pity's sake, come to me!"

"What's the matter?"

Dick clutched at his shoulder. "Matter! I've been lying here for hours in the dark, and you never heard me. Torp, old man, don't go away. I'm all in the dark. In the dark, I tell you."

Torpenhow held the candle within a foot of Dick's eyes, but there was no light in those eyes. He lighted the gas and Dick heard the flame catch. The grip of his fingers on Torpenhow's shoulder made Torpenhow wince.

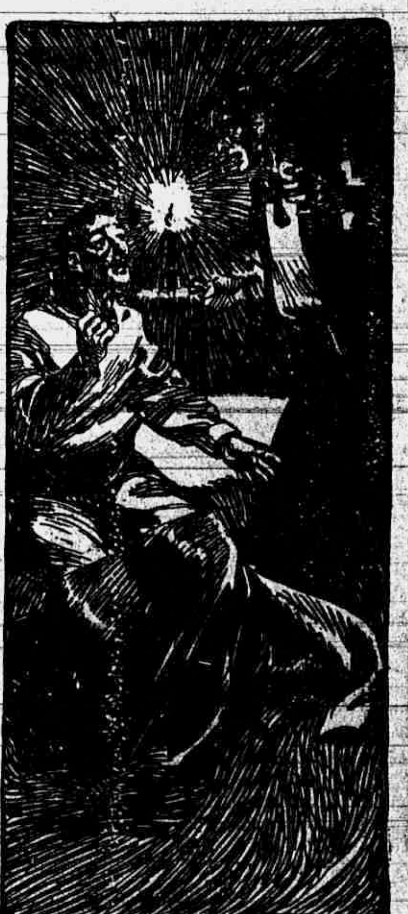
"Don't leave me. You wouldn't leave me alone now, would you? I can't see. D'you understand? It's black—quite black, and I feel as if I was falling through it all."

"Steady does it." Torpenhow put his arm round Dick and instinctively began to rock him gently to and fro.

"That's good. Now don't talk. If I keep very quiet for awhile this darkness will lift. It seems just on the point of breaking. H'sh!" Dick knit his brows and stared desperately in front of him. The night air was chilling Torpenhow's toes.

"Can you stay like that a minute?" he said. "I'll get my dressing gown and some slippers."

Dick clutched the bedhead with both hands and waited for the darkness to clear away. "What a time you've been!" he cried when Torpenhow returned. "It's as black as ever. And what are you banging about in the doorway?"



There was no light in those eyes.

"Long chair—horse blanket—pillow. Going to sleep by you. Lie down now, you'll be better in the morning."

"I shan't!" The voice rose to a wail. "My God, I'm blind! I'm blind, and the darkness will never go away." He made as if to leap from the bed, but Torpenhow's arms were around him, and Torpenhow's chin was on his shoulder, and his breath was squeezed out of him. He could only gasp, "Blind!" and wriggle feebly.

"Steady, Dickie, steady!" said the deep voice in his ear, and the grip tightened. "Bite on the bullet, old man, and don't let them think you're afraid." The grip could draw no closer. Both men were breathing heavily. Dick threw his head from side to side and groaned.

"Let me go!" he panted. "You're cracking my ribs. We—we mustn't let them think we're afraid, must we—all the powers of darkness and that lot?"

"Lie down. It's all over now."

"Yes," said Dick obediently. "But would you mind letting me hold your hand? I feel as if I wanted something to hold on to. One drops through the dark so."

Torpenhow thrust out a large and hairy paw from the long chair. Dick clutched it tightly and in half an hour had fallen asleep. Torpenhow withdrew his hand and, stooping over Dick, kissed him lightly on the forehead, as men do sometimes kiss a wounded comrade in the hour of death, to ease his departure.

In the gray dawn Torpenhow heard Dick talking to himself. He was adrift on the shoreless tides of delirium, speaking very quietly:

"It's a pity—a great pity. But it's helped, and it must be eaten, Master George. Sufficient unto the day is the blindness thereof, and, further, putting aside all Melancolias and false humors, it is of obvious notoriety—such as mine was—that the queen can do no wrong. Torp doesn't know that. I'll tell him when we're a little further into the desert. What a bungle those boatmen are making of the steamer ropes! They'll have that four inch hawser chafed through in a minute. I told you so! There she goes! White foam on green water, and the steamer slewing round. How good that looks! I'll sketch it. No, I can't. I'm afflicted with ophthalmia. That was one of the ten plagues of Egypt, and it extends up the Nile in the shape of cataract. Ha! That's a joke, Torp. Laugh, you graven image, and stand clear of the hawser. * * * It'll knock you into the water and make your dress all dirty, Maisie, dear."

"Oh!" said Torpenhow. "This happened before. That night on the river."

"She'll be sure to say it's my fault if you get muddy, and you're quite near enough to the breakwater. Maisie, that's not fair. Ah, I knew you'd miss! Low and to the left, dear. But you've no conviction. Everything in the world except conviction. Don't be angry, darling. I'd cut my hand off if it would give you anything more than obstinacy. My right hand, if it would serve."

"Now, we mustn't listen. Here's an island shouting across seas of misunderstanding with a vengeance. But it's shouting truth, I fancy," said Torpenhow.

The babble continued. It all bore upon Maisie. Sometimes Dick lectured at length on his craft, then he cursed himself for his folly in being enslaved. He pleaded to Maisie for a kiss—only one kiss—before she went away. He called to her to come back from Vitry-sur-Marne, if she would, but through all his ravings he bade heaven and earth witness that the queen could do no wrong.

Torpenhow listened attentively and learned every detail of Dick's life that had been hidden from him. For three days Dick raved through his past, and then slept a natural sleep. "What a strain he has been running under, poor chap!" said Torpenhow. "Dick, of all men, handing himself over like a dog! And I was lecturing him on arrogance! I ought to have known that it was no use to judge a man. But I did it. What a demon that girl must be! Dick's given her his life—confound him!—and she's given him one kiss apparently."

"Torp," said Dick from the bed, "go out for a walk. You've been here too long. I'll get up. Hi! This is annoying. I can't dress myself. Oh, it's too absurd!"

Torpenhow helped him into his clothes and led him to the big chair in the studio. He sat quietly waiting under strained nerves for the darkness to lift. It did not lift that day or the next. Dick adventured on a voyage round the walls. He hit his shins against the stove, and this suggested to him that it would be better to crawl on all fours, one hand in front of him, Torpenhow found him on the floor.

"I'm trying to get the geography of my new possessions," said he. "D'you remember that nigger you gouged in the square? Pity you didn't keep the odd eye. It would have been useful. Any letters for me? Give me all the ones in fat, gray envelopes with a sort of crown thing outside. They are of no importance."

Torpenhow gave him a letter with a black M on the envelope flap. Dick put it into his pocket. There was nothing in it that Torpenhow might not have read, but it belonged to himself and to Maisie, who would never belong to him.

"When she finds that I don't write, she'll stop writing. It's better so. I couldn't be any use to her now," Dick argued, and the tempter suggested that he should make known his condition. Every nerve in him revolted. "I have fallen low enough already. I'm not going to beg for pity. Besides, it would be cruel to her."

He strove to put Maisie out of his thoughts, but the blind have many opportunities for thinking, and as the tides of his strength came back to him in the long, employless days of dead darkness, Dick's soul was troubled to the core. Another letter and another came from Maisie. Then there was silence, and Dick sat by the window with the pulse of summer in the air and pictured her being won by another man stronger than himself.

His imagination, the keener for the dark background it worked against, spared him no single detail that might send him raging up and down the studio to stumble over the stove that seemed to be in four places at once. Worst of all, tobacco would not taste in the dark. The arrogance of the man had disappeared, and in its place was settled despair that Torpenhow knew and blind passion that Dick confided to his pillows at night. The intervals between paroxysms were filled with intolerable wailing and the weight of intolerable darkness.

"Come out into the park," said Torpenhow. "You haven't stirred out since the beginning of things."

"What's the use? There's no movement in the dark, and besides"—he paused irresolutely at the head of the stairs—"something will run over me."

"Not if I'm with you. Proceed gingerly."

The roar of the streets filled Dick with nervous terror, and he clung to Torpenhow's arm. "Fancy having to feel for a gutter with your foot!" he said petulantly as he turned into the park. "Let's curse God and die."

"Sentries are forbidden to pay unauthorized compliments. By Jove, there are the guards!"

Dick's figure straightened. "Let's get near 'em. Let's go in and look. Let's get on the grass and run. I can smell the trees."

"Mind the low railing. That's all right." Torpenhow kicked out a tuft of grass with his heel. "Smell that," he said. "Isn't it good?" Dick snuffed luxuriously. "Now pick up your feet and run." They approached as near to the regiment as was possible. The clank of bayonets being unfixed made Dick's nostrils quiver.

"Let's get nearer. They're in column, aren't they?"

"Yes. How did you know?"

"Felt it. Oh, my men! My beautiful men!" He edged forward as though he could see. "I could draw those chaps once. Who'll draw 'em now?"

"They'll move off in a minute. Don't jump when the band begins."

"Huh! I'm not a new charger. It's the silences that hurt. Nearer, Torp! Nearer! Oh, my God, what wouldn't I give to see 'em for a minute—one-half minute!"

He could hear the armed life almost within reach of him, could hear the slings tighten across the bandsman's chest as he heaved the big drum from the ground.

"Sticks crossed above his head," whispered Torpenhow.

"I know! I know! Who should know if I don't? H'sh!"

The drumsticks fell with a boom, and the men swung forward to the crash of the band. Dick felt the wind of the massed movement in his face, heard the maddening tramp of feet and the friction of the pouches on the belts. The big drum pounded out the tune. It was a music hall refrain that made a perfect quickstep:

He must be a man of decent height,
He must be a man of weight,
He must come home on a Saturday night
In a thoroughly sober state,
He must know how to love me,
And he must know how to kiss,
And if he's enough to keep us both
I can't refuse him bliss.

"What's the matter?" said Torpenhow as he saw Dick's head fall when the last of the regiment had departed.

"Nothing. I feel a little bit out of the running, that's all. Torp, take me back. Why did you bring me out?"

Dragged-Down Feeling

In the loins.

Nervousness, unrefreshing sleep, despondency.

It is time you were doing something.

The kidneys were anciently called the reins—in your case they are holding the reins and driving you into serious trouble.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Acts with the most direct, beneficial effect on the kidneys. It contains the best and safest substances for correcting and toning these organs.

Victim of Misfortune.

Berville, Mich., Sept. 17.—The large barn of B. F. Loomis, living southeast of this place, was struck by lightning, and burned, with twenty tons of hay and forty-five acres of oats. One misfortune after another has followed Mr. Loomis during the past few years. One of his eyes became diseased and he finally lost it; a fine new house which he had just completed and was about to move into was burned; his bright 17-year-old son accidently shot himself, from the effects of which he died a few months ago in the Pontiac insane asylum; his wife was stricken with paralysis and his only daughter broke her arm.

Wants Decree Set Aside.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Marie Frieseke, who was an inmate of the Pontiac asylum at the time a divorce was granted her husband, H. C. Frieseke, the wealthy brick manufacturer, has filed a petition in circuit court asking that the decree be set aside. The claim is set up in her behalf that the divorce, which was granted several months ago on the ground of cruelty, was secured through means that afforded her no opportunity to contest it.

INTERESTING DECISION.

Niles Judge Declares Horse Deal Is Not Gambling.

Niles, Mich., Sept. 17.—A case of great interest to sportsmen generally has just been decided by Circuit Judge Coolidge. This is the case wherein John Madden, a well-known Kentucky horseman, sued Frank Starkweather et al. of Niles for $1,310 alleged to be the balance due on the purchase price of "Nyx" and "Herodes," two running horses that have cut something of a figure on the turf during the last two seasons.

When the purchase was made in February, 1901, $400 was paid on each horse and $600 was to be paid when each horse won its second race, which they did in August, 1901. The defense was based on the ground that the contracts of sale were gambling contracts, amounting to nothing more than bets or wagers.

The judge holds that the contracts were not wagers or bets, as both the buyers and the sellers were interested in having the horses win, and the buyers did not lose on account of the horses winning, hence judgment was rendered in favor of Madden for the full amount.

An Arabian Story.

An Arab and his wife were constantly quarreling, and the wife always went straightway to her father and made complaint. One day the Arab boxed the ears of his better half, whereupon she went again to her father and related her grievance, demanding revenge. The father, a wise old sheik, shook his head, and, after long reflection, boxed his daughter's ears and said; "Now thou art avenged. Thy husband has boxed the ears of my daughter, and I have boxed the ears of his wife!"—Lustige Blatter.

He Merely Made It.

"My boy doesn't seem to have got along here very well," said the office boy's father.

"Well, to be perfectly frank with you," replied the employer, "I must say no."

"Ah! What's his trouble?"

"He hasn't any trouble; it's the rest of us who have had that."—Chicago Tribune.

Parrots.

A dealer in birds in sober and serious Manhattan advertises that he has in stock a "large variety of semireligious parrots, the most profane one only $200." That's an odd way of appealing to public patronage. If the most profane parrot is held for sale at $200, what would be the price of a parrakeet that could only say "Good gracious?"

Plenty of Time.

Bacon—Burglars entered the first floor of our house and took nearly everything we had while my wife was upstairs putting on her hat to go out.

Egbert—They took quite a good deal, did they?

"Oh, yes. It must have taken them several hours."—Yonkers Statesman.

Fiction's Fiction.

"Have you read Wrighter's new work of fiction?"

"Not exactly."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, I've only read the advance notices, but I suppose there is really more fiction in them than there is in the book itself."—Baltimore Herald.

Definite Description.

"Johnny, it isn't tobacco sauce, it is tabasco. Now, don't let me hear you calling it wrong again."

"No, mamma."

Two hours later at dinner—"Mamma, I want some of that—that—that redheaded sauce that makes you mad."—Washington Times.

SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

YOU MAY SING

IF WELL AND HAPPY

If you feel the throb of pure blood in your veins and the thrill of life in your body you are fit for anything; you can laugh and sing, you are in condition for work or play and you will enjoy life.

PURE BLOOD MEANS LIFE

If you do not feel right, if you are troubled with a gloomy feeling, with tired and nervous spells, look out for the following symptoms:

Foul Breath, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Sallow Skin, Pimples and Blotches, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Pains in the Side, Lame Back, Pains Under Right Shoulder, Dizzy Spells, Nervousness, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Pains.

These signs show that your kidneys and liver are out of order, and if they are they will not carry off the impurities and you will feel bad and are liable to have a spell of sickness. Better attend to it at once.

KINYON'S BLOOD AND KIDNEY REMEDY

WILL SET YOU RIGHT

Mrs. Balch of Mishawaka, Ind., says: "I was very sick for over two months, troubled with gall stones and general kidney trouble, at times I screamed so with pain that people could hear me a block away. I had a number of doctors and they could do nothing for me. I kept getting worse, could not rest or sleep. In desperation I used Kinyon's Blood and Kidney Remedy. I took $2.00 worth and got well. For the last year I have enjoyed good health."

DOVE-AUSTIN

Miss Alma Dove and Lavern Austin

WERE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

At 6:30 Wednesday Morning. They left on the early train for Buffalo.

Miss Alma Dove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Dove, and Lavern Austin were quietly married at 6:30 Wednesday morning at the Presbyterian parsonage, in the presence of only a few near relatives. Rev. W. F. Jones performed the ceremony.

Mr. Austin has been for a number of years a capable and faithful employe at H. Brewer & Co's. foundry and his bride, Miss Dove, has been a very efficient clerk and assistant at Hiens' bakery and is a very estimable young lady.

They left on the early morning train for Buffalo and Niagara Falls, where they will spend a week with relatives, after which they will be at home to their friends in the Mills house on Maiden Lane.

"Down by the Sea." Guaranteed Attraction.

In these days when everyone is bemoaning the degeneracy of the drama it is intensely interesting and refreshing to sit for three hours and thoroughly enjoy a clean, wholesome play like "Down by the Sea," which is announced for a special engagement Friday evening, Sept. 25. For the past eight years this play scored one of the most pronounced successes in England and was unanimously endorsed as the most pow[illegible] days of "The Silver King." As to plot and story it is complete and the situations and climaxes are thrilling and interesting. Its characters are original creations and the play throughout is refined and free from stage exaggeration so common in most melodramatic productions of the present day. The company presenting "Down by the Sea" is far above the ordinary in quality and size. The scenic effects are elaborate and beautiful and the production is one of the most expensive of its kind on tour.

The Coliseum Gardens.

There are few people who go to Chicago nowadays who do not visit that eight wonder of the amusement world—the Coliseum Gardens. Situated almost in the center of the business district, so that it is within a few minutes' ride of any railway station, there is no reason why this splendid amusement enterprise should not be seen by everybody.

Although the great Coliseum, the largest building of its kind in the world, was intended principally for winter shows, it has been transformed into a veritable summer garden, which pictures the summer scenes in Venice of long ago. Great ropes of flowers hang from the leaf-hidden girders, small electric lights of every color glisten from the foliage, and as one watches the constantly changing views, as the incandescent lamps send their shimmer over the people, the music of Thomas Preston Brooke and the Chicago Marine Band is borne to the ear on the gentle breeze.

Fearless and Independent.

The Chicago Record-Herald is a conspicuous example of the success with which the public rewards fearless non-partisanship in the columns of a great metropolitan daily paper. It is an independent newspaper, in which men and measures are invariably viewed wholly from the standpoint of the public good and not from that of the interests of any particular political party. It is the very reverse of neutral—fearless and outspoken on all the great questions of the day, but presenting its editorial opinion upon independent judgment and entirely regardless of political affiliations. Partisanship is barred as strictly from the news columns as from the editorial page. All political news is given without partisan coloring, thus enabling the reader to form correct conclusions for himself. In the ordinary partisan newspaper political news is usually colored to such an extent as to make it difficult if not impossible for the reader to secure a sound basis for intelligent judgment.

SUDDEN SUMMONS

The community was shocked this morning to hear of the death of who Expired at seven o'clock of heart trouble.

The whole community was shocked this morning to hear of the death of Thomas Adamson, who passed away of heart failure at seven o'clock. He has been ill of fever and away from his business for about two weeks, was much better yesterday and around home all day, went to bed as usual last evening, was no worse during the night, but this morning the end came and he suddenly passed away with hardly a struggle. He leaves a wife and one son to mourn his loss, but no other relatives.

He has been a Tecumseh well to do business man for thirty years. A sketch of his life will appear in the HERALD of next Tuesday.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Episcopal church, Rev. O. C. Kemp officiating.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Sept. 18, 1903.

The past week has been one of intense excitement in the postoffice investigation. Early in the week the District of Columbia grand jury returned a number of indictments but the names of the persons indicated were concealed for several days and [illegible] When the announcement finally came it was found that six new indictments had been returned against August W. Machen, a new one against George Beavers and that in addition James W. Erwin, an assistant superintendent of free delivery for the territory west of Rocky Mountains, George Huntington and Isaac McGeihn of the Columbia Supply Company of New York and Dr. Eugene Scheble of Toledo, has been indicted on various counts.

The entire story told by the indictments reveals another link in the long chain of evidence which has won for August Machen the title "Prince of Grafters" for each indictment was occasioned by some fraudulent scheme into which he had entered and whereby persons selling supplies to the postoffice department had been made to pay him tribute. Since 1893, every mail box in the United States has paid its share of tribute to Machen, as has every package mail box, the little device with which mail boxes are attached to lamp posts every carrier's satchel, the strap on every satchel, the leather case in which carriers are supposed to carry their registered mail, the indicators on all mail boxes west of the Rockies and which show when the next collection will be made, and the end is not yet for there are still a dozen cases before the jury, and indictments even more sensational than those thus far rendered are promised for this week.

And still another postoffice incident has attracted wide attention. Postmaster General Payne has removed Miss Hulda Todd, a Delaware postmaster, and replaced her with a henchman of Allee, the Addicks Senator. This action has called down upon the luckless postmaster general even severer condemnation than did his flippant treatment of the Tulloch charges and the editors of metropolitan newspapers, regardless of party fealty, have outvied each other in their drastic criticism of Mr. Payne and his policy. To make matters worse, Mr. Payne gave out an interview in which he said that he had removed Miss Todd because she was "politically and personally obnoxious to Allee" and later another in which he said that the president was party to an agreement whereby the federal patronage of Delaware should be devided between the Addicks and anti-Addicks senators. And yet, he who sees Postmaster General Payne at close range cannot but pity the frail official whose every move of late seems to have been a mistake and whose ambition to be a Cabinet officer gives promise of bringing him woe instead of honor, of blasting his hopes and more than likely his health.

Whatever may have been thought of the policy of sending the European squadron to Beirut, there can be no denial of the fact that it has had a markedly beneficial effect on the Sultan and that it has materially increased the respect with which the representations of the American Minister at Constantinople are received. There occurred last week at Beirut a riot in which eight persons, four of them Christians, were killed. Immediately Minister Leishman demanded the removal of the governor who was hostile to the Christians and his demand has been promptly granted while it is announced that the Governor of Damascus, a man of known liberal views, will succeed him. Other demands which the United States has long urged against the Sublime Porte seem likely to receive recognition at this time that this country has determined to push them and it is regarded as more than possible that the Turkish representative at Washington will be raised to the rank of Ambassador which will enable this country to carry out its long cherished desire of making its representative at Constantinople an ambassador also.

The first autocar ever built for the American army has just been completed and if it meets with the expectations of its designers it will be sent to Fort Leavenworth for a test in actual field service. This car is a travelling repair shop, equipped with every tool likely to be needed on a long march and designed to enable the immediate repair of any arms transport wagon, cannon or other part of the march equipment, should such become injured at a point inaccessible to blacksmith shops, wheelwrights, etc. In his last general report General Miles recommended the use of automobiles for the transportation of troops but there are few army officers who believe that the automobile has arrived at a state of perfection or economical production which warrants any extensive equipment of that character.

School has begun and the HERALD scribe resumes his "grinds" once more.

And now the members of the Eighth grade may be heard chanting softly their "Mica, Mica" with a dreamy expression on their face as they discourse on the Latin language.

Arthur Mitchell will no longer grace Miss Hurrey's room with his presence. Still we have no doubt that the room will continue to be "painted red" as 'tis still occupied by John Scarlett, Will Lambkin and [illegible]

Vigorous Old Age

Paine's Celery Compound makes the old feel young, and cures their ills. It has added years of health and enjoyment to many a life. Use this great medicine regularly, and its invigorating powers will fill your declining years with health, strength, and happiness. Read what George F. Morse, 67 years old, writes:—

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.,

Gentlemen:—Just a word in favor of Paine's Celery Compound, hoping it may catch the eye of some afflicted person, and they may receive the same satisfactory benefit. Some 15 years ago I had a combination of malaria, chills and fever, and grip, which continued for a year or more; meantime I lost in weight about 60 pounds, trying different medicines and doctors with unsatisfactory results. Paine's Celery Compound was recommended, and, after using a little I began to improve, gaining about a pound a week. In a year I had regained 50 pounds of the lost weight and good health, and have been a well man ever since. Yours truly, GEORGE F. MORSE.

THE PERFECT WAY.

Scores of Tecumseh citizens have learned it.

If you suffer from backache

There is only one way to cure it.

The perfect way is to cure the kidneys.

A bad back means sick kidneys.

Neglect it, urinary troubles follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills are made for kidneys only.

Are endorsed by Tecumseh people.

Mr. C. Patterson, the well known sexton residing in the south-eastern section of Tecumseh, says: "For over a year I had a soreness and pain in the small of the back at times quite severe more especially if I did a hard day's work or took cold, for it always settled in my kidneys. The kidney secretions were also discolored and irregular and I had all symptoms of aggravated kidney complaint. I heard several people praising Doan's Kidney Pills so concluding to try them I got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and commenced the treatment. I found it just suited my case for it helped me right from the start. It stopped the pain in my back and regulated and cleared up the kidney secretions. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone having any difficulty with their kidneys."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Persons shoul[illegible]ess to su their figure. A humpbacked lady, for instance, ought to wear a camel's-hair shawl.

Don't delay a minute. Cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand.

Why is a doctor better taken care of than his patients?—Because, when he goes to bed, somebody is sure to rap him up.

A little life may be sacrificed to a sudden attack of croup if you don't have Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil on hand for the emergency.

Detroit Grand Jury Wins Point Against John Archer.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 16.—John Archer, the Detroit contractor, will either have to take his books before the grand jury, plead his constitutional privilege, or go to jail for contempt of court. In an opinion written by Justice Montgomery and handed down late Tuesday afternoon, the supreme court denies the application for the discharge of Archer on habeas corpus and remands the petitioner to the custody of the sheriff. After reciting the proceedings which resulted in Archer's refusal to produce his books, the court says:

"It is urged that the proceedings are irregular and invalid for the reason that the report of the grand jury divulged the nature of the proceedings before them, and that public policy does not admit of the grand jury stating such facts publicly, and spreading them upon records. * * * We take occasion to say that we do not think the rule of public policy prohibiting a disclosure by a grand juror is to be construed as to block the wheels of justice and bar the grand jury from compelling, through the instrumentality of the court, a recalcitrant witness from obeying the mandates of the court. The grand jury is an arm of the court, but it is without power to enforce its own process by its own mandate."

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 16.—Reinforced by a supreme court decision of unusual significance, the grand jury will today continue its interrupted inquisition, and armed with a peremptory order from Lansing Prosecutor Hunt will proceed to see what is in John Archer's bo[illegible]me to jail for love of his books and now their leaves must be fingered by the rude hands of the grand jury.

The news that the supreme court had upheld the decision of Judge Donovan, ordering Archer to produce his books, was received last evening by the interested people as being of more than ordinary import. No parallel case had been tried in any state in the Union, and the whole progress of the grand jury investigation hinged upon the result.

The decision means much to the jury. Not Archer's case alone depended upon the outcome of the suit. Several other avenues of information will now be opened up and fortified by this order the grand jury will likely continue the taking of evidence. It may be that the jury will sit until November and that matters of more moment to public than has yet materialized will be disclosed. It is believed that Archer's reasons for withholding the information to be gained from his books were of such deep importance to other parties that, now that the jig is up the grand jury will shortly be in possession of evidence of more value than the composite result of their three months' labor.

Federation of Labor.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 16.—The Michigan Federation of Labor opened its convention here Tuesday with a fair attendance of delegates. In the afternoon President Boyd delivered his annual address. He predicted that the country was in the shadow of another industrial depression and the labor unions would have to stand closer together. The real business will begin today. One of the important items of business to come up is a strong protest against the making of prison-made cigars at Marquette, and some bill will be framed for the legislature to tackle at its next session.

Fair Is Drawing Well.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 16.—Though heavy rains gave the West Michigan fair an additional wetting Tuesday, the second day was favorable, with about 7,000 in attendance and all the attractions running. The exhibits of live stock and farm implements were large and attracted much attention. The fruit exhibit is not up to the standard, owing to light crop, and was not completed until yesterday afternoon, when the Agricultural college and Oceana county exhibits arrived.

Fright Resulted in Death.

Lapeer, Mich., Sept. 16.—The most terrific electric storm that has ever visited this section struck Lapeer at 2 o'clock in the morning. For half an hour the heavens were one continuous blaze of light, while the thunder vibrations shook the city. Mrs. Mary Stier, a widow, who lives with her children, was so frightened that she died. She descended the stairs from her sleeping rooms on the second floor, and just after announcing to the household that she was very much frightened she expired.

Cement City, Mich., Sept. 17.—Samuel Toots, a brakeman on the Cincinnati Northern, was fatally injured while making a "flying switch." He was on the car being shunted, which was derailed because the switch was imperfectly set. When he saw the danger he jumped, but too late, and was caught, his leg being broken and hip dislocated. His injuries were not supposed to be fatal, but he died. His home was in Waldron.

I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

LIFE PLANT
Renews Life.
The Very Best TONIC Ever Discovered.
The kidneys are the blood filters intended to remove the waste, and most of these diseases result from overtaxing them with excessive waste. The most frequent cause of kidney trouble is indigestion. LIFE PLANT aids digestion, relieving the kidneys from the very start. Kidney diseases cause more deaths than any other human affliction. They are usually painless at first, the only warnings are shown in the urine, being cloudy or of high color. It is by neglecting these symptoms that kidney diseases are allowed to progress. An improper treatment is worse than none. LIFE PLANT is the only sure cure for kidney trouble.

THEY FIND FAULT

President Taken to Task by Chicago Federation of Labor.

SEND HIM LETTER OF ADVICE

Disclaim Any Wish to Attack Him, Blame For His Attitude Being Placed on Certain Ones of His Advisors.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt Sunday was voted by the Chicago Federation of Labor a 9,000-word letter of advice, in which fault is found with the president's attitude on the question of open shops. The letter was prompted by the decision of President Roosevelt in the Miller case, in which the president said that Miller or other men must not be discharged from the government printing office on account of non-membership in a union.

"Deliciously unaware of the hypocrisy of world of finance," "honest and humane, [illegible]" some of the clauses used to describe the president in the long letter of the open shop committee.

Its opening paragraphs contained a definite disclaimer of any wish to attack Mr. Roosevelt, the blame for the chief executive's attitude in the Miller affair being placed on "a coterie of well-known interests which are constantly on guard around the White House." The president was told that he fell into error in his view of the question "because of that impetuosity for which we love you." A copy of the communication will be forwarded to Oyster Bay at once under date of Labor day, Sept. 7.

The reading of the letter before the Federation meeting Sunday occupied over an hour and excited applause from the crowd of delegates.

President Ignores the Threats.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt has acknowledged the receipt of the set of unfriendly and defiant resolutions adopted by the Washington Central Labor union in a formal letter addressed to the secretary of that organization. Word comes from Oyster Bay, which is in line with the belief that was generally entertained here before, that the president will not vouchsafe any other answer to the resolutions antagonistic to his administration. The chief executive believes that the best thing to do under the circumstances will be to ignore the whole proceeding. To take cognizance of it by defending himself would be beneath the dignity of the president.

SENATOR ALLEGED BRIBER.

George Greene Indicted by the Federal Grand Jury.

Washington, Sept. 21.—State Senator George Greene of New York, for bribing; George W. Beavers, for accepting bribes from State Senator Green of New York.

George W. Beavers and State Senator Greene, for conspiracy to defraud the United States.

These are the principal charges in the indictment found on Thursday last by the Washington grand jury against the already much indicted George W. Beavers, former chief of the salary and allowance division of the postoffice department, and State Senator George W. Greene of New York.

The indictment charges that Senator Greene paid to Beaver nearly $2,000 on four purchases of clocks in December, 1901, and in January, April and October, 1902. This shows purchases from the International Time Recording company, aggregating about $20,000, as the indictment charges that Beavers was to receive 10 per cent of the purchasing company.

It is said here the evidence is documetary. At the department the assertion is made that it is a clear case, as checks were used for the payment.

Pius Breaks Ancient Customs.

Rome, Sept. 21.—The pope's democracy has been unshaken by his residence at the Vatican. Innumerable innovations at the Vatican show the independence of the new pontiff and his love of a simple, unostentatious life. His holiness insists on walking unassisted in the gardens, not using the sedan chir, and audiences are to be had for the asking. Pius dines alone rarely. Recently the chamberlain hinted at the ancient custom of dining alone. Pius replied: "It is not meet for men to dine alone. Please order four plates laid for dinner, as my secretaries are invited. Pius has shattered another ancient tradition by insisting on his two sisters dining with him.

Poor Lot of Filipinos.

San Francisco, Sept. 21.—Thirty-one Filipinos who arrived here last Thursday on the transport Sherman, on their way to St. Louis, where they were to be employed in the construction of the Philippine houses and other buildings at the exposition, are detained on board the transport by the immigration authorities because they are apparently liable to become public charges. Although armed with letters of identification from Manila, the thirty-one Filipinos are all in poor financial straits and appear poorly equipped to continue on their journey to St. Louis.

The Weather.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Forecast for Tuesday:

Ohio—Fair; variable winds.

Lower Michigan—Fair; fresh west winds.

Upper Michigan—Fair; fresh west winds.

Rumored That He May Return to the Soo.

GOES BACK FOR A VISIT

Brought Capitalists to Inspect Lake Superior Company's Tied-Up Properties—Clergue a Much-Liked Man in Soo Cities.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 21.—Francis H. Clergue, who is responsible for the existence of the big plants of the Consolidated Lake Superior company here at the Soo, has been in the city a couple of days, accompanied by a party of capitalists, who are looking over the properties of the company. Rumor has it that the men headed by Clergue contemplate buying the property and calling the new company "The F. H. Clergue Co." No one, however, has confirmed the rumor.

It is certain that the men with Mr. Clergue are more than ordinarily wealthy and that they are taking a great interest in the properties here, but Mr. Clergue refused to make any statement whatever on the subject. When seen he would only say in answer to any and all questions:

"I have been away. I have just returned and I know nothing of the situation."

He would neither admit nor deny that the men with him have any particular interest in the property at the Soo, nor would he admit or deny that he had any designs upon the company.

It is well known to all who are in any way familiar with the growth of the Consolidated that it has been Clergue's design, night and day, and his all-absorbing interest to build up here on the banks of the St. Marys the greatest property in the country. His development of the big power canal on the Mich[illegible] the river, after many failures of other men, was his greatest triumph and one in which he took an especial pride. It is also known that Mr. Clergue felt keenly his deposition from the head of the company, and that it seemed to him and to many others like a case of rank ingratitude. That it may be his desire to once more gain control of the company is not at all unreasonable, and if it is to be he who is to pull the company and the two cities out of the mire in which they now are, the people of the two Soos will rejoice, for Clergue always was and is today the idol of every heart who has watched the growth of his enterprises and the two cities which have been given life because of them.

While it is not possible to prove any of the rumors, they at least have set the cities all agog with excitement.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 21.—The closing down of the various industries of the Consolidated Lake Superior company ahs proved a paralyzing blow to the Canadian Soo and is seriously felt on this side of the river by the merchants and a large number who were employed across the river, forming a portion of the 3,500 men thrown out of employment without notice and in many instances without pay. It is estimated that the daily pay roll of the various industries amounted to from $6,500 to $7,000 a day.

Best Season Ever Known.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 21.—In spite of the cold and rainy weather throughout the state, this season has been one of the best ever known to farmers in this vicinity. Even the berry crop, which has been lighter than any other, was a profitable one, and a commission man declares that never, since he has been in the fruit belt, has he seen such heavy shipments of peaches.

Five Elders Ordained.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 21.—The Detroit conference Sunday devoted the time to services of a purely religious nature. The principal service of the day was the ordination of five elders and fourteen deacons in the afternoon. The names of the ordained elders are: John H. Delacy, Erwin King, Frank Nichols, Frank N. Miner and James O. White.

Niles Entertained Big Crowd.

Niles, Mich., Sept. 21.—Six thousand Indiana people came to Niles Sunday over the South Bend-Niles interurban railway. Such a crowd was never before seen on the streets of Niles on a Sunday, and the inhabitants are of the opinion that the new electric line is going to be a good thing for the town.

OUTLOOK STILL GOOD ONE.

Crops Damaged, Says Bradstreet, But No Shortage Indicated.

New York, Sept. 19.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: Conditions still display irregularity, but except where crop and weather developments have been distinctively unfavorable, the tendency is still to take a favorable view of the general outlook for fall and winter trade. Heavy rains and killing frosts northwest and in portions of the west and drought, followed by unseasonably cool and destructive wind and rain storms along the Atlantic coast, have tended to retard expansion in fall trade in wide sections of country.

All sections, however, have not been affected alike, the northwest returning relatively the poorest reports as to current distributive trade, while the southwest and Pacific coast and some some sections of the south give excellent reports of business already booked or in prospect.

The outlook for average crops is still a good one. Nothing in the nature of actual shortages, such as occurred in 1901, is indicated.

A feature of the week in New England has been the [illegible] of a large [illegible] of cotton mills. Complaint of unsatisfactory conditions as regards prices, however, still comes from that section.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending Sept. 17 aggregate 1,909,083 bu, against 3,045,040 bu last week, 5,435,323 bu. this week last year, 3,840,574 bu. in 1901, and 3,535,857 bu. in 1900.

For eleven weeks of the cereal year they aggregate 33,164,251 bu., against 53,952,067 bu. in 1902, 69,656,753 bu. in 1901, and 35,500,858 bu. in 1900.

Corn exports for the week aggregate 787,167 bu., against 844,818 bu. last week, 49,508 bu. a year ago, 611,258 bu. in 1901, and 2,134,305 bu. in 1900. For eleven weeks of the present cereal year they aggregate 10,826,021 bu., against 916,875 bu. in 1902, 10,688,986 bu. in 1901, and 86,176,947 bu. in 1900.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending with Sept. 17 number 170, against 165 last week, 182 in the like week of 1902, 158 in 1901, 183 in 1900 and 147 in 1899.

In Canada failures for the week number 19, against 12 last week and 18 in this week a year ago.

The Kaiser in Vienna.

Vienna, Sept. 19.—Emperor William arrived here Friday from Bellye, Hungary, in the vicinity of which place he has been stag hunting with Archduke Frederick. Emperor Francis Joseph, wearing the uniform of a German field marshal, met Emperor William at the railroad station. The German emperor worse the uniform of an Austrian cavalry general. The monarchs cordially kissed each other three times and then shook hands warmly. After an inspection of the guard of honor the emperors drove through the crowded and decorated streets to the Hofburg.

Not a Murderer.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 19.—A coroner's jury has found that Charles Boynton, an advertising manager, died of morphine administered by himself Harry Carter Irwin, a newspaper reporter, who had been held pending the inquest, made a statement in which he said that Boynton was suffering from alcoholism and asked for morphine to steady his nerves. Irwin gave Boynton three half-grain doses of morphine and the man never recovered consciousness. Irwin was exonerated by the coroner's jury.

Lipton Is Improving.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—The condition of Sir Thomas Lipton was pronounced by his physicians to be entirely satisfactory, and it is believed that all danger has passed, though the doctors say that it will be several days before they will be able to make that statement with entire confidence. "We see no reason," said Dr. Thomas last night, "why Sir Thomas should not mend rapidly. All of the dangerous symptoms have subsided to almost nothing."

Killed on Railroad Crossing.

Blissfield, Mich., Sept. 21.—Nelson Day, a farmer, 65 years of age, residing a mile north of the village, drove to the village Saturday night accompanied by Mrs. Fred Swingham, an elderly neighbor lady, aged 70 years. Driving into West Blissfield at the David Carpenter crossing of the Lake Shore railroad they did not see the approaching fast mail. The buggy was caught at the rear wheels and was completely demolished. Mrs. Swingham was thrown over the fence and killed instantly. Her companion suffered a broken shoulder and it is feared was injured internally.

What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in constipation, headache or liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at C. A. Wright's drug store.

ALL FAVOR SWEET NOW.

Detroiters Were Willing to Accept Ninde For Elder.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 19.—The laymen of the Detroit district, in the effort to cut the Gordian knot created by the contest for presiding elder for their district, Friday noon caucused and by unanimous vote asked the bishop to appoint Rev. E. S. Ninde of Ann Arbor. Dr. Ninde last evening informed the lay delegates that he could not accept appointment as presiding elder. The delegates then convened and threw their support to Dr. Sweet, the choice of the ministers. A committee was appointed and acquainted the bishop with this action. The latter is non-committal.

Following is the list of chosen delegates from the Detroit conference to the general conference of the M. E. church to be held in Los Angeles next may:

PREFERRED DEATH.

Express Messenger, Accused of Theft, Shot Himself.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 19.—Fearing the disgrace of being sent to jail, even on suspicion, W. N. Leonard, messenger on the Bay City-Grand Rapids division of the Pere Marquette, shot himself through the head about 5 o'clock Friday morning. Leonard was charged with the stealing of $300 from the company shortly after he arrived in the city late Thursday night, with the money in question in his charge.

He had deposited with John Corcoran, the night man at the American Express company, his packages, including a pack of bills amounting to $300. The nightman left shortly after, leaving Leonard in the office. Upon his return he noticed that the $300, which he had left on the safe instead of in it, as required, had disappeared. Police Captain Wyman and agent of the company Hughes were summoned and a hasty search was made of the building. In the basement and hidden in a closet they found $210 in bills. A search of Leonard's clothing revealed $91 55, $90 of it in bills. Leonard stoutly denied any knowledge of the crime.

When informed that he was to be taken into custody, Leonard asked to be permitted to go to the employes' chests and take some personal effects with him. While bending over the trunk and apparently fumbling for something, he straightened suddenly and before the officers, scarcely three feet away, could prevent, he sent a bullet into his temple. Leonard retained partial consciousness and was removed to Mercy hospital. He expresses no regret as to his action, saying that his only motive was the decade of imprisonment and suspicion. He stoutly maintained that he was innocent.

TRIED TO KILL HER.

Nurse at Battle Creek Attacked by Her Husband.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 19.—Charles A. Rollins, gambler and barber, is locked up and in solitary confinement at the city bastile to answer a charge of attempt to murder his wife, Maude Rollins, a highly-respected nurse here.

Rollins made a brutal assault upon his wife Friday afternoon, she being at the time taking care of an aged woman, who is on her deathbed. The wife grappled with the brute, who drew a revolver from his hip pocket and pulled the trigger. Mrs. Rollins, with rare presence of mind, shoved her right thumb under the raised hammer, thus saving her life. She then screamed for help, and M. H. Starr responded and assisted her to disarm Rollins. The police were notified and soon had him jailed.

Mrs. Rollins had previously left her husband because he drank.

River Out of Its Banks.

Portage, Wis., Sept. 21.—The Wisconsin river reached a stage of 12.3 feet at the government lock at noon Sunday, when the city levee on the west side of the river broke and the entire distance between the Wisconsin river bridge and the Baraboo river, covering a space of six miles, is one sea of water. Seven hundred feet of newly built, city levee was washed away. Farm residences in the district are entirely surrounded. Hundreds of acres of potatoes, corn and millet are ruined.

Lion Bit His Hand Off.

East St. Louis, Ill., Sept. 21.—During the performance of a street carnival company an angry lion sprang upon Keeper Ricardo, who was in the cage, and tore off his right hand. Only the prompt work of attendants, who beat off the lion and dragged Ricardo from the cage, saved the keeper's life. The lion has killed three keepers.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

CHAPTER X.

There were three friends that buried the fourth,
The mold in his mouth and the dust in his eyes,
And they went south and east and north;
The strong man fights, but the sick man dies.

There were three friends that spoke of the dead.
The strong man fights, but the sick man dies.
"And would he were here with us now," they said, —Ballad.

THE Nilghai was angry with Torpenhow. Dick had been sent to bed—blind men are ever under the orders of those who can see—and since he had returned from the park had fluently cursed Torpenhow because he was alive, and all the world because it was alive and could see, while he, Dick, was dead in the death of the blind, who at the best are only burdens upon their associates. Torpenhow had said something about a Mrs. Gummidge, and Dick had retired in a black fury to handle and rehandle three unopened letters from Maisie.

The Nilghai, fat, burly and aggressive, was in Torpenhow's rooms. Be[illegible] Keneu, the Great War Eagle, and between them lay a large map embellished with black and white headed pins.

"I was wrong about the Balkans," said the Nilghai. "But I'm not wrong about this business. The whole of our work in the southern Sudan must be done over again. The public doesn't care, of course, but the government does, and they are making their arrangements quietly. You know that as well as I do."

"I remember how the people cursed us when our troops withdrew from Omdurman. It was bound to crop up sooner or later. But I can't go," said Torpenhow. He pointed through the open door. It was a hot night. "Can you blame me?"

The Keneu purred above his pipe like a large and very happy cat.

"Don't blame you in the least. It's uncommonly good of you, and all the rest of it, but every man, even you, Torp, must consider his work. I know it sounds brutal, but Dick's out of the race—down, expended, finished, done for. He has a little money of his own. He won't starve, and you can't pull out of your slide for his sake. Think of your own reputation."

"Dick's was five times bigger than mine and yours put together."

"That was because he signed his name to everything he did. It's all ended now. You must hold yourself in readiness to move out. You can command your own prices, and you do better work than any three of us."

"Don't tell me how tempting it is. I'll stay here to look after Dick for awhile. He's as cheerful as a bear with a sore head, but I think he likes to have me about him."

The Nilghai said something uncomplimentary on soft headed fools who throw away their careers for other fools. Torpenhow flushed angrily. The constant strain of attendance on Dick had worn his nerves thin.

"There remains a third fate," said the Keneu thoughtfully. "Consider this and be not larger fools than is necessary. Dick is, or rather was, an able-bodied man of moderate attractions and a certain amount of audacity."

"Oho!" said the Nilghai, who remembered an affair at Cairo. "I begin to see. Torp, I'm sorry."

Torpenhow nodded forgiveness. "You were more sorry when he cut you out, though. Go on, Keneu."

"I've often thought when I've seen men die out in the desert that if the news could be sent through the world and the means of transport were quick enough there would be one woman at least at each man's bedside."

"There would be some mighty quaint revelations. Let us be grateful things are as they are," said the Nilghai.

"Let us rather reverently consider whether Torp's three cornered ministrations are exactly what Dick needs just now. What do you think yourself, Torp?"

"I know they aren't. But what can I do?"

"Lay the matter before the board. We are all Dick's friends here. You've been most in his life."

"But I picked it up when he was off his head."

"The greater chance of its being true. I thought we should arrive. Who is she?"

Then Torpenhow told a tale in plain words as a special correspondent who knows how to make a verbal precis should tell it. The men listened without interruption.

"Is it possible that a man can come back across the years to his calf love?" said the Keneu. "Is it possible?"

"I give the facts. He says nothing about it now, but he sits fumbling three letters from her when he thinks I am not looking. What am I to do?"

"Speak to him," said the Nilghai.

"Oh, yes. Write to her—I don't know her full name, remember—and ask her to accept him out of pity. I believe you once told Dick you were sorry for him, Nilghai. You remember what happened, eh? Go into the bedroom and suggest full confession and an appeal to this Maisie girl, whoever she is. I honestly believe he'd try to kill you, and the blindness has made him rather muscular."

"Torpenhow's course is perfectly clear," said the Keneu. "He will go to Vitry-sur-Marne, which is on the Bezieres-Landes railway—single track from Tourgas. The Prussians shelled it out in '70 because there was a poplar on the top of a hill 1,800 yards from the church spire. There's a squadron of cavalry quartered there, or ought to be. Where this studio Torp spoke about may be I cannot tell. That is Torp's business. I have given him his route. He will dispassionately explain the situation to the girl, and she will come back to Dick, the more especially because, to use Dick's words, 'there is nothing but her obstinacy to keep them apart.'"

"And they have £420 a year between 'em. Dick never lost his head for figures even in his delirium. You haven't the shadow of an excuse for not going," said the Nilghai.

Torpenhow looked very uncomfortable. "But it's absurd and impossible. I can't drag her back by the hair."

"Our business—the business for which we draw our money—is to do absurd and impossible things, generally with no reason whatever except to amuse the public. Here we have a reason. The rest doesn't matter. I shall share these rooms with the Nilghai until Torpenhow returns. There will be a batch of unbridled 'specials' coming to town in a little while, and these will serve as their headquarters. Another reason for sending Torpenhow away. Thus Providence helps those who help others, and"—here the Keneu abandoned his measured speech—"we can't have you tied by the leg to Dick when the trouble begins. It's your only chance of getting away, and Dick will be grateful."

"He will, worse luck. I can but go and try. I can't conceive a woman in her senses refusing Dick."

"Talk that out with the girl. I have seen you wheedle an angry Madieh woman into giving you dates. This won't be a tithe as difficult. You had better not be here tomorrow afternoon, because the Nilghai and I will be in possession. It is an order. Obey."

"Dick," said Torpenhow next morning, "can I do anything for you?"

"No. Leave me alone. How often must I remind [illegible]"

"Nothing I could go for to fetch for to carry for to bring?"

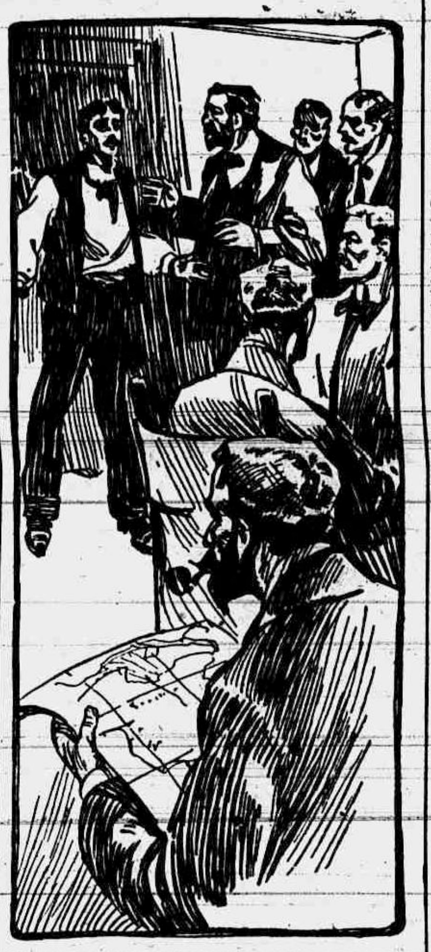
"No. Take those infernal creaking boots of yours away."

"Poor chap!" said Torpenhow to himself. "I must have been sitting on his nerves lately. He wants a lighter step." Then aloud: "Very well. Since you're so independent, I'm going off for four or five days. Say goodby at least. The housekeeper will look after you, and Keneu has my rooms."

Dick's face fell. "You won't be longer than a week at the outside? I know I'm touched in the temper, but I can't get on without you."

"Can't you? You'll have to do without me in a little time, and you'll be glad I'm gone."

Dick felt his way back to the big chair and wondered what these things might mean. He did not wish to be tended by the housekeeper, and yet Torpenhow's constant tenderness jarred on him. He did not exactly know what he wanted. The darkness would not lift, and Maisie's unopened letters felt worn and old from much handling. He could never read them for himself as long as life endured, but Maisie might have sent him some fresh ones to play with.



"Where's the trouble?"

The Nilghai entered with a gift, a piece of red modeling wax. He fancied that Dick might find interest in using his hands. Dick poked and patted the stuff for a few minutes, and, "Is it like anything in the world?" he said drearily. "Take it away. I may get the touch of the blind in fifty years. Do you know where Torpenhow has gone?"

The Nilghai knew nothing. "We're staying in his rooms till he comes. Can we do anything for you?"

"I'd like to be left alone, please. Don't think I'm ungrateful. But I'm best alone."

The Nilghai chuckled, and Dick resumed his drowsy brooding and sullen rebellion against fate. He had long since ceased to think about the work he had done in the old days, and the desire to do more work had departed from him. He was exceedingly sorry for himself, and the completeness of his tender grief soothed him.

But his soul and his body cried for Maisie—Maisie, who would understand. His mind pointed out that Maisie, having her own work to do, would not care. His experience had taught him that when money was exhausted women went away, and that when a man was knocked out of the race the others trampled on him. "Then at the least," said Dick in reply, "she could use me as I used Binat, for some sort of study. I wouldn't ask more than to be near her again, even though I knew another man was making love to her. Ugh, what a dog I am!"

A voice on the staircase began to sing joyfully:

"When we go, go, go away from here,
Our creditors will weep and they will wail,
Our absence much regretting when they find that we've been getting Out of England by next Tuesday's Indian mail."

Following the trampling of feet, slamming of Torpenhow's door and the sound of voices in strenuous debate, some one squeaked: "And see, you good fellows, I have found a new water bottle—first class patent—eh, how you say? Open himself inside out."

Dick sprang to his feet. He knew the voice well. "That's Cassavetti come back from the continent. Now I know why Torp went away. There's a row somewhere, and—I'm out of it!"

The Nilghai commanded silence in vain. "That's for my sake," Dick said bitterly. "The birds are getting ready to fly, and they wouldn't tell me. I can hear Morten-Sutherland and Mackaye. Half the war correspondents in London are there—and I'm out of it."

He stumbled across the landing and plunged into Torpenhow's room. He could feel that it was full of men. "Where's the trouble?" said he. "In the Balkans at last? Why didn't some one tell me?"

"We thought you wouldn't be interested," said the Nilghai shamefacedly. "It's in the Sudan, as usual."

"You lucky dogs! Let me sit here while you talk. I shan't be a skeleton at the feast. Cassavetti, where are you? Your English is as bad as ever."

Dick was led to a chair. He heard the rustle of the maps, and the talk swept forward, carrying him with it. Everybody spoke at once, discussing press censorships, railway routes, transport, water supply, the capacities of generals—these in languages which wou[illegible] horrified a trusting public—ranting, asserting, denouncing and laughing at the top of their voices.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial.

It causes bunches in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." MRS. K. T. SNYDER, Troy, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills will rid you of it, radically and permanently, as they have rid thousands.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Sept. 21, 1903.

The latest developments in the case of Miss Todd, who was removed from office to oblige Senator Allee of Delaware, have made the affair more than ever one of national interest. As a result of her dismissal it has been discovered that fourth class postmasters have been included within the protection of the civil service laws. This was effected, unknown to the public and the press, by a rule signed by the President on March 20 and which went into effect on April 15. This regulation does not extend to fourth class postmasters what is known as the "merit system," that is, no examination is required of them and the President is still at liberty to appoint whom he chooses to a fourth class office or to remove such employe for any reason save two. He cannot remove them because of their political or religious affiliations. That is positively forbidden by the second paragraph of the first clause of the civil service rules. That rule applies to the case of Miss Todd and it will be impossible to justify her removal under the law unless the President sees fit to repeal his last civil service regulation.

It is now claimed by the spoilsmen that the extension of the civil service regulations to include fourth class postmasters was an error and made inadvertently, but there is no ground for the claim. The law was clearly framed by the civil service commissioners and signed by the President with that very end in view. Nor is there the slightest reason to believe that the President will repeal the regulation. The most creditable part of Mr. Roosevelt's official record is that which shows him to be an ardent advocate of civil service reform and a sworn enemy of the spoils system. When he signed this regulation he was but adding another page to the story of his promotion of this phase of federal reform and it is too much to expect that, even to protect a member of his cabinet, he will at this late day do anything to stultify his record.

Three more indictments have been returned by the District of Columbia grand jury, two against George W. Beavers, former superintendent of salaries and allowances, and the other is believed to be against a prominent New York politician, a man who is reputed to be a close friend of the President. Another announcement which will doubtless prove a relief to the public is to the effect that the Post office investigation will be practically concluded Oct 5 and that Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow's report will be placed in the hands of the President during October. The only reason for using the word "practically" is that there will always remain a possibility of running across some new clue which may require following up, and that the prospective trials may develope new evidence of official wrong doing in the Post office Department. Although the cunning with which Beavers managed to cover his tracks for a time baffled the postal inspectors they have now gained an insight to his corrupt practices and it is believed that before they complete their work evidence will have been produced which will reveal the fact that his malfeasance has cost the government nearly as much as has that of August W. Machen, $250,000. Roughly speaking these two will be found to have mulct the government of $500,000. The maladministration of the legal division of the Post office Department did not, as a rule, entail direct loss to the Department, the sufferers being that portion of the deluded public which permitted itself to be defrauded by the fraudulent concerns which, in violation of all law, were allowed undisturbed use of the mails.

So diverse have been the reports of the fortunes of the Panama Canal treaty that now no conversative correspondent dares make a prediction as to its future but it is interesting to note that there are some indications that it has taken a new lease of life. Several reports have been received recently at the State Department regarding the status of the treaty and these have not been made public, but it has leaked out that officials of the department have some reason for believing that the extravagent demands which have been made by Columbian statemen were not put forth in earnest, but rather with a view of finally receding from their position to securing minor concessions, which they appear to really regard as imperative. It is intimated that these minor demands might be granted without jeopardizing the future of treaty, although it is appreciated that, in view of the influence and opposition of the transcontinental railroads it would be exceedingly difficult to secure its ratification by the United States Senate even with slight and comparatively inconsequential changes.

General Fred Grant has made a report to the War Department in which he, after affirming that he is himself a total abstainer from all kinds of liquor makes an earnest plea for the re-establishment of the army canteen. "The abolition of the canteen feature of the post-exchange," he says, "however radical and positive be the objections to the light beverages formerly served therein, I may say, although a total abstainer myself, is regarded by me as a vital misfortune to the military service." General Grant ascribes many of the desertions and the lack of discipline in his department to the anticanteen legislation which forces the men into disreputable places in order to find even the milder liquors. General Frank Baldwin, only a few days ago filed his report on the Department of the Colorado in which his conclusions in this regard agreed in every particular with those of General Grant.

By the time a man realizes that he is a fool it is usually too late to realize on his realization

They opened in Boston, then played New York, Camden, N. J., Pittsburg and Wheeling. They play Tecumseh and Coldwater to fill in two open nights and then go to Toledo, Springfield, Cincinnati and Chicago. Even then we had to pay them a large cash guarantee to get them. If you appreciate the risk we run in securing such a company, please help us to get a full house.
ARTHUR BRADLEY, Mgr.

Nelson Day, a farmer about 65 years old living near Blissfield, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Swingham, age past 70, met with a horrible accident near Blissfield at the crossing known as David Carpenter crossing, Saturday morning. Just as they were crossing the Lake Shore track at the crossing the fast mail came along going east. The couple did not see the train and the locomotive, which was going at a very high rate speed, caught the buggy at the rear wheels and utterly demolished it. Mrs. Swingham was thrown over the fence and instantly killed. Mr. Day received a broken shoulder and was injured internally. There seems to be no excuse for the accident except the carelessness of the driver.

Just received.

Yesterday Wm Gaston & Son received a line of goods suitable for gifts for gold and silver weddings. In all different prices, so no matter what you desire call before making purchases.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Of Mr. and Mrs. George Teachout

WAS CELEBRATED

Saturday at their home in Brownville.

Saturday, Sept. 19, 1903, at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. George Teachout in Tecumseh, occurred the 50th anniversary of their marriage, which was duly celebrated by the attendance of about 60 relatives and old time friends.

The house was beautifully decorated throughout with goldenrod, marigold and ivy. The many beautiful presents received show the esteem and love in which they are held.

After an elaborate three course dinner they were called to order by Henry J. Sweet and a short biography of their life was read; also a few remarks from F. D. Teachout, of Adrian. After several fine selections on the piano by Mrs. C. J. Neely, of Brooklyn, the company dispersed after singing, "Sweet By and Bye" and "God be with you till we meet again", wishing them many happy returns of the day.

Mr. George Teachout was born in Manchester, Ontario county, N. Y., Jan. 29, 1833. Miss Nettie Teachout was born in Manchester, Ontario, county, N. Y., Oct. 22, 1836. They were united in marriage Sept. 19, 1853, at Palmyra, Wayne county, N. Y. The December following they moved to Cambridge, Mich., and after living there two years they moved to Rome, Mich. During the next 37 years sever [illegible] Ransom, Cambridge, Brooklyn and Adrian. Eleven years ago they moved to Tecumseh and have resided here since. To them were born two children, Mrs. O. F. Cole of Onsted, and Mrs. Fred Aldrich of Tecumseh. They have three grandchildren and one great grandson.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Neely, Mr. and Mrs. Cland Teachout, Mrs. Chas. Teachout, of Brooklyn; F. D. Teachout, W. Teachout, Mrs. Joseph Baker, of Adrian; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hopkins of Rome; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Benis, of Dover; G. W. Teachout, Eugene Teachout and wife. Lou Teachout and wife. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. "Down by the Sea."

Phil Hunt, who has established himself as a successful manager through his connection with numerous big attractions, will present, the very successful play "Down by the Sea" at the New Bradley Sept. 25th. Mr. Hunt possesses a knack requisite to a successful manager, that of knowing a good play when he sees i.

"Down by the Sea" in its original form was produced in England, where it had a successful run of eight years. The play was a truthful representation of coast life in England, but was considered unsuitable for representation in this country, by American managers, owing to its local color. Here, Manager Hunt displayed his shrewdness and keen foresight by purchasing the American rights. Taking the manuscript in hand, with the aid of a 'Red, White and Blue pencil, he had it Amercianized by a well known dramatist, into a New England play, and so successfully did he transpose England to America, that when the piece received its initial production in Boston, the critics hailed it as "one of the best of American plays dealing with life along the sea coast."

"Down by the Sea" with a company of skillful players, among which is a clever child actress, and gorgeous stage settings, will be seen here for one night only and should not be missed by lovers of pure, wholesome drama.

James Jackson.

James Jackson was born in Delaware county, N. Y., May 16, 1816, and died in Delta, Ohio, Sept. 13, 1903 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Libbie Higley. He came to Ohio with his parents when four years of age and settled in Cleveland. In 1835 they came to Michigan and settled on a farm in Ridgeway township. In 1836 he was married to Miss Adelia Palmer. She lived but one year and in 1839 Mr. Jackson was married to Catherine J. Dean. To this union were born nine children, six of whom are living.

The mother departed this life Nov. 8, 1891, aged 73 years. Since then Mr. Jackson spent the greater part of his time among his children to whom he was greatly endeared. For several months past he has suffered with a painful disease, yet suffered patiently.

Mr. Jackson was well and favorably known in Tecumseh, made but few intimates wherever he was, still has many warm friends who bereave the loss together with the family.

FIRE

Was discovered this morning about one o'clock in

MILLER'S SLAUGHTER HOUSE

Loss estimated over $1000. No insurance.

About one o'clock this morning fire was discovered in Miller's slaughter house just east of town by Nightwatch L. L. Bates. A fire alarm was turned in and the fire department were soon on hand. The last hydrant at the east end of town is at Hayden's mill and after a trial the department found out that the hose was not long enough to reach the blaze of the fire, so they simply waited there and let the building burn down. It was a total loss, the building and contents amounted to over $1000. $200 in hides and tallow.

Mr. Miller said that he and his men were down at the slaughter house yesterday afternoon trying out tallow and at this time, 8 o'clock, the last fire was in the building. Mr. Miller was down there again at 6 o'clock and there was then no fire. The rate of insurance was so high that he thought it best to carry his own loss. This was one of the best equipped slaughter houses in the country, almost entirely built of cement and Mr. Miller cannot understand how the fire could occur.

ROUND ABOUT US.

The Lenawee county fair opened at Adrian Monday and will continue up to and including Friday, Sept 25th.

John Onsted planted seven hills of Yellow Scallop squash this spring and to the number of this vegetable which these are producing there seems to be no end. One single stalk brought to this office contained 25 perfect squash. —Onsted News.

Two young men went outside the corporation limits on Saturday evening for the avowed purpose of punching each other's head. A lumber wagon load of spectators went along to see the "set to" but the belligerents were seperated before either were badly hurt. A dice game is said to have caused the differences.—Brooklyn Exponent.

The examination of Wm E. Baldwin was concluded Thursday afternoon in the jury room at the court house, and he was bound over to the October term of circuit court for trial, which opens October 12th. His bail was fixed at $2-000, in default of which he must remain in jail. The examination did not require many witnesses. He was taken back to jail by Acting Marshall McRoberts.—Adrian Times.

Prof. Pennington was down from Palmyra Monday after school; he states that the school there opened Monday with an attendance of 12 girls and 22 boys. This condition is peculiar to Palmyra but may be soon changed, the Prof. and Mrs Pennington themselves taking the lead, by importing into the community a 10 lb. girl who arrived last Sunday, week.—Blissfield Advance.

Mark Mills of Macon, is getting to be a regular Bill Cody as a marksman. Last Friday at Hoxie's landing, Wamplers Lake, occurred a shooting contest for a trophy cup, and Mark won by 25 straights. He has made a score of 81 without a miss. In fact he has been getting along without a "Miss" already too many years. A Miss is about the only thing he seems to miss, and a Miss seems to miss the Mark.—Adrian Press.

Mrs. N. G. VanDeventer, a prominent Chicago woman, is at the Hotel Cadillac, on her way home from a tour of China. This society woman says that she will never again contribute a penny to a missionary fund for the reason, she says, that the missionaries in China are the fattest and best fed men she ever met, and that they lead a life of indolent pleasure.—Detroit News.

The ground for the Globe fence factory will be staked out on the Higly flats some time within the next week, and work on the factory will begin as soon as the plans and specifications are finished and have been approved by the Globe company. It is expected that the factory will be completed by the first of January and that the company will be making shipments of its product from this city within the next four months. —Hudson Gazette.

The grocers and butchers of Ann Arbor have organized themselves into an association for protection against delinquent debtors and deadbeats. The names of all persons classed as such are to be sent in by the different dealers and put in book form. This will be completed in about two weeks. The association has every firm enlisted toward its support. The people will now have to pay for what they get or go without.

Miss Blanche Young has accepted a call to the Universalist church Tecumseh, as its permanent pastor. She is said to be a profound scholar, a deep thinker, a logical debator, an eloquent speaker and a fervent Christian. There are more people to the square inch in Tecumseh, who will be benefitted if Universalism is true, than in any community of its size in the United States. Tecumseh is not a large place, but it has people to burn, if the orthodox doctrine of other creeds is correct as to Hades.—Adrian Press.

A newspaper is a pretty good index of a village. That is recognized everywhere. If the paper has a healthy appearance the village is generally set down as healthy. Thousands of people see the paper representative of the village that have never seen the town and form their good opinions. The value of these opinions cannot be measured.

Several convicts at the Jackson prison are getting into the magazine business. Irving Latimer, the famous matricide, is one of the leaders of the enterprise. The plan is to sell subscriptions to periodicals to the Jackson public and with the profits secure for the prisoners a better class of literature. The very best literature is now [illegible] what Latimer and the others desire is the best of heavy reading and they have arranged with the prison distributor of mails. Already the convicts have secured the agency of one of the largest distributing houses in the country. A man who would kill his mother needs the best possible literature.—Adrian Times.

We have just been discounting the experience of the editor of the Arizona Kicker right here in The Standard sanctum. Matt Hauser was down and stopped his paper Wednesday and claimed he was maliciously libeled, because we said gooseberry rules governed in the recent unpleasantness down at the stock yards when he was lambasted over the head with a pitchfork. Still, however, we insist on the gooseberry rules but are willing to retract our statement about whiffletrees used. Matt explained [illegible] ous language [illegible] fork was all that was necessary. He also said there were four other disgruntled persons in town who intended to stop their paper and if they want to settle same as Mat did, on a cash basis, we hope they will be in soon. But how helpless is the man who has no paper to stop.—Chelsea Standard.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator for young girls on the threshold of womanhood is invaluable. When they become pale and languid, the eyes dull, aching head, feet and hands cold, appetite gone or abnormal, obstructed periods and painful menses, and their systems generally run down, they need a tonic, building up and their blood cleansed.
Bradfield's Female Regulator for women is particularly valuable and useful owing to its tonic properties and as a regulator of the menstrual flows. Painful, obstructed and suppressed menstruation is permanently relieved and all diseases peculiar to her genital organs are cured by it.
Regulator clears the complexion, brightens the eye, sharpens the appetite, removes muddy and blotched conditions of the skin and cures sick headache at once.

TO BE DEPENDED ON

Because It Is the experience of a Tecumseh citizen and can readily be investigated.

A stranger lost in a large city would place far more dependence on the directions given him by a local resident than the guidance of another stranger like himself. This is a natural consequence of experience; it's like a ship in a strange port—a trusty pilot familiar with the harbor is always called upon to bring her safely to her moorings. So it is with endorsement; we doubt the sayings of people living at distant points because we can't investigate, but the public expression of local citizens can be depended on, for 'tis an easy matter to prove it. Evidence like the following is beyond dispute.

Postmaster J. W. Wightman, well known to every reader of this statement, says: "I have no hesitation in endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills procured at C. A. Wright's drug store. They have been used in my family and the most satisfactory results followed the treatment. They proved to be a remedy of merit. You can use my name to that effect if you think proper."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Postmaster Palmer
of So. Glen Falls, N. Y., describes a condition which thousands of men and women find identical with theirs. Read what he says, and note the similarity of your own case. Write to him, enclosing stamped addressed envelope for reply, and get a personal corroboration of what is here given. He says regarding

L. D. Palmer.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure:
"I suffered agonizing pain in the left breast and between my shoulders from heart trouble. My heart would palpitate, flutter, then skip beats, until I could no longer lie in bed. Night after night I walked the floor, for to lie down would have meant sudden death. My condition seemed almost hopeless when I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, but it helped me from the first. Later I took Dr. Miles' Nervine with the Heart Cure and the effect was astonishing. I earnestly implore similar sufferers to give these remedies a trial."
Sold by all Druggists on guarantee.

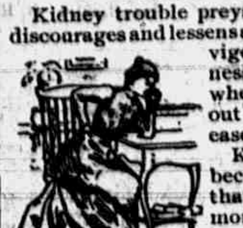
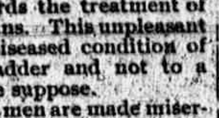
Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.



Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.
Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.
Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.



Home of Swamp-Root.

An Irish editor says he can see no earthly reason why women should not be allowed to become medical men.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over 30 years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

LIFE PLANT
Renews Life.
The Very Best TONIC Ever Discovered.
The blood is a great source of health or disease in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy; if the blood is impure or diseased then there is sickness and disease in the whole system.
Impure blood causes such diseases as Eczema, and Scrofula. LIFE PLANT effects its wonderful cures by acting through the blood. It is impossible for that blood poison, uric acid, or any other blood impurity to exist in the presence of our harmless medicine. The phenomenal success of LIFE PLANT in the many forms of blood diseases, warrants us in stating that it is a positive cure for Eczema and Scrofula. Read what Mr. M. P. Hobbs says of LIFE PLANT:
Wilmot, O., Jan. 9, 1903.
The Life Plant Co., Canton, Ohio.

Gentlemen:
Two years ago I contracted a very aggravated case of Eczema. I tried many kinds of medicine called sure cures, but all failed. I was persuaded by a friend to give LIFE PLANT a trial, and by taking two bottles was cured. To get the real truth of this statement try LIFE PLANT and be convinced.
Yours truly,
M. P. HOBBS.
Better get LIFE PLANT next time. It's a wonder.

COLOMBIA FAILED

Did Not Take Favorable Action on Canal Treaty.

ROOSEVELT'S MOVE NEXT

Can Choose Nicaraguan Route or Let Matters Drift—Officials Anxiously Awaited News—Colombia Anxious to Keep Alive Negotiations.

Washington, Sept. 23.—When the state department closed Tuesday at 4 o'clock it was agreed that the Panama canal treaty was dead, although eight hours yet remained within which the Columbian congress might take affirmative actions upon it. Nothing, however, had been received during the day either from Minister Beaupre at Bogota or from Mr. Herran, the Colombian charge here, which gave the slightest hope of a favorable issue.

A report is current here that the Colombian congress, in secret session, has clothed President Marroquin with full power to negotiate a treaty. If this report should turn out to be true President Marroquin, who is counted a friend of the treaty, could proceed untrammelled by the fear of future reckoning with his congress.

In any event President Roosevelt must now take the next step. He can elect to proceed under the Spooner act and take up the Nicaragua route or he can allow matters to drift for the present in the hope that a way may yet be found to straighten out the present difficulties in the path of the Panama route.

Contrary to his custom during the summer, Acting Secretary Adee of the state department remained in the city last night in order to be on hand to act promptly on any information which might come from Mr. Beaupre regarding [illegible] at Bogota. Up to half-past 9 o'clock, however, nothing had been received. Dr. Herran, the Colombian charge, also waited anxiously for news from his government, but likewise was disappointed. Colombia, it is known, is anxious to keep alive the canal negotiations. What form her new proposition with that object in view will take is not known in Washington.

FOUND ON THE TRACK.

Believed Cleveland Girl Committed Suicide in Front of a Train.

Cleveland, Sept. 23.—Despondent and disheartened over conditions, some of which may never be known, Miss Olive Rayl, sister of Dr. W. L. Rayl of Glenville, whose body was found badly crushed and severed into several pieces on the Lake Shore tracks in Gordon park early Tuesday, threw herself in front of a passing train or lay down on the tracks to await death. This is the opinion of the police after a day spent by the entire detective force in attempting to unravel the uncertainties which surround the terrible death of the young woman.

Miss Rayl came to this city from Wellsville, O., some time ago to take up the work of nursing with her brother, who is a physician, and entered a training school for nurses almost immediately upon her arrival. The only cause for self-destruction, if the death of the young woman proves to be such, is a disappointment in a love affair at Wellsville.

The badly mutilated body of Miss Rayl was found Tuesday lying across the Lake Shore railway track at the entrance of Gordon park. The throat of the dead girl was discolored as though she had been choked. Her body had been most terribly mangled by a train. The body was cut completely in twain across the chest, while the limbs wer broken and crushed.

Boy Met Gastly Death.

New York, Sept. 23.—Willie Schlieken, a boy of 13, who lived at 1 Oak street, tripped on the edge of the roof while flying a kite and fell backward over the edge. He landed squarely on one of the sharp iron rods of the Oak street police station fence. The rod penetrated his brain, and his neck and back were broken. Death was instantaneous. The boy's mother, who was sitting just beside the spot where he fell, fainted and is now in a critical condition from shock.

Robbed the Gallows.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 23.—The governor in council has commuted to imprisonment for life the sentence of death of Joseph Carver of Charlottetown, P. E. I., who was to have been hanged on Oct. 1. Carver's crime was a most cold-blooded one. At midnight he came twice to the house of Alexander Stewart, whose servant he was threatening to shoot if he did not get some clothes. The second time Stewart followed him to the barn and Carver turned and shot him dead.

Girls Foreswear Courting.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 23.—The girls of the high school have formed a club known as the "Tanglefoots," any member of which found "keepin' company" with any young man will be expelled. The club is yet young and the boys predict an early failure, as they claim most of the members are quite susceptible.

USING HIS POWERS

King Edward Discreet in Selection of His Cabinet.

THE REAL CABINET-MAKER

Hopes to Remedy Scandals in Army Administration—Will Permit Lord Lansdowne to Continue as War Secretary.

London, Sept. 24.—The political crisis has taken on a phase which lends to the present situation an historical and constitutional importance of almost unprecedented interest. The king has interfered, not unconstitutionally or beyond the powers vested in the crown, but in the exercise of his prerogatives to an extent never dreamed of in the Victorian era.

Premier Balfour's continued presence at Balmoral has given rise to much surmise and comment, but the Associated Press is able to state definitely that is is due to the king's determination not to assent to the formation of a new cabinet until thoroughly satisfied that its personnel and combination is such as to ensure the efficient carrying on of the affairs of the empire pending the resumption of parliament.

For years previous cabinets were formed or ministerial vacancies filled with the mere presentation to the sovereign of the names of the new ministers. King Edward has done away with this tradition.

To such an extent in King Edward holding his power of veto in reserve that now he is almost regarded by the inner circles as more the cabinet-maker than Mr. Balfour himself. That steps be taken to remedy the scandals in the army administration, revealed by the report of the South African commission, and insisting that the new cabinet shall be one adapted to deal with that question are what he desires.

After the long conversations he has had at Balmoral with military authorities, the king is said to have expressed the opinion that Lord Lansdowne's record as war secretary was due more to the badness of the system then in vogue than to any defect in Lord Lansdowne's own judgment, and after a minute explanation of the circumstances he is understood to have consented to his lordship continuing as foreign minister.

Dealing with the surmise upon some of the foregoing points, the Morning Advertiser says: "The king has in this national emergency decided to play the part of a ruler instead of being content with that of a figurehead."

CORN OUTLOOK.

Crop Will Be Late and Light, Says Secretary Wilson.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Secretary Wilson of the agricultural department returned to Washington last night from Ogden, Utah, where he delivered a speech before the irrigation congress. His journey took him through the heart of the corn belt and last night he said:

"The corn crop, owing to the peculiarity of the season, was late and light. Heavy floods destroyed it on bottom lands to a great extent. Continued rains throughout June and July saturated the level lands and retarded the growth of corn. The frost has injured in streaks. Through central Iowa perhaps one-quarter of the crop has been touched by the freeze, but what has not been affected by frost is ripening rapidly with this fine weather. Iowa, for instance, will not have as many bushels as last year, but will produce more No. 2 corn than last year. There will be plenty of corn in the country because feeding was very extensive last year, as the corn was of such a character that it had to be fed. Feeding last year was unprofitable. Very many feeders lost money, therefore they will feed less this year.

"A very heavy hay crop was secured this season and pastures have been and still are in excellent condition.

"As to wheat, threshing has been delayed by rainy weather. If the present good weather continues, it will progress rapidly."

Conference Delegates Arriving.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 23.—Ministers belonging to the Michigan conference of the Methodist church are arriving. About 300 were in the city when the first meeting was opened last night in the form of a reception at the First M. E. church, with Presiding Elder P. J. Maveety, of the Albion district, as leader. Ex-Mayor A. J. Weatherway, Deacon G. W. Austin and Rev. R. E. McDuff delivered addresses of welcome, and the responses were by Rev. D. F. Barnes of Charlotte and Rev. W. L. Laufman of Traverse City.

Michigan Postmasters.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Postmasters appointed Tuesday: Allenville, Mackinac county, Albert Eckert, vice Andrew Langstaff, resigned; Baldwin, Lake county, Willis L. Messenger, vice Emery C. Herendeen, resigned. Jerome A. Bridges has been appointed rural carrier to fill a vacancy at Rochester, and Lena M. Bridges, substitute.

Another Convict Paroled.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 23.—Governor Bliss has paroled Albert Jesse Beck, sent from Clinton county in January, 1899, to Ionia prison for seven years for indecent liberties.

Train Was Held Up.

Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 23.—A report reached here last night that train No. 41 on the Burlington had been held up near Amazonia, Mo., by four masked men. The baggage and express cars were cut from the main portion of the train and run about a mile up the track, where the express safe was blown up, but it is not thought much that was valuable was found. The message states that the passengers on the train were not molested.

NOW FEELS LIKE A NEW MAN

Could Not Endure Life He Was Leading in Mexico—Feels Hard Against White—Judge Was Severe in Pronouncing Sentence.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 24.—Colonel Eli R. Sutton at 6 o'clock last night, after having been in conference three and one-half hours with Circuit Judge Wiest, paid the penalty decreed by the court for his participation with General "Will" White, General A. F. Marsh and others in the state military board conspiracy during the Spanish-American war period to defraud the state out of $50,000 in the military clothing deal. It was the same charge upon which he was acquitted by a jury in June, 1900, but which acquittal he, six hours before [illegible] sentence, waived in open court.

The sentence was that he pay a fine of $2,000 or stand committed to the county jail for two years. He handed the money to the clerk of the court within half an hour after sentence was pronounced. Then, with Professor Curtis, who is a friend of his wife's family in Sodus, N. Y., and who arrived here in the morning with him, he left the courtroom, went to a hotel and got his baggage and took a train to his father-in-law's home at Sodus, where his wife and child are.

Sutton's Trying Day.

Just before leaving the court Sutton said:

"It has been a trying day for me, and I'm glad it's over. I feel now like a new man, but a poor one. I am $2,000 worse off than nothing, but I will try to redeem myself. As to what I will do, I do not know yet.

"The life I was leading in Mexico was more than I cared to endure. An unmarried man might be reconciled to it, but not a man with a family and that family in the United States.

"I go from here without hard feelings against a single person except Will White. He lied in many ways about me." (It was Will White who said Sutton was the head of the military board conspiracy.)

In pronouncing sentence Judge Wiest said in part:

"You thwarted public justice. You are yet to answer to the charge of perjury, and except for your voluntary waiver of the previous acquittal justice would have to be contented with that prosecution.

"Yet you have come back to that court wherein there is recorded a lie that you are innocent, and have returned to justice the unworthy garment of immunity stolen by perjury, that its records may be purged of this infamous prostitution and your shoulders no longer galled by a cloak so heavy to carry, yet so thin as to leave bare to the world all of your wickedness.

"You are yet a young man. You have family ties. Probably no man of your generation had greater advantages than you have had. You have received from the people of this state military honor and high civil honors. You have held almost the power of a political dictator in Michigan, but you sacrificed all, everything, when you entered into this deliberate scheme to plunder the state of Michigan."

Blew Postoffice Safe Open.

Brown City, Mich., Sept. 24.—Burglars forced the side entrance to the postoffice here early in the morning, between 2 and 4 o'clock, knocked off the dial plate and blew the safe door into a dozen pieces by the use of nitroglycerine. Forty dollars in money order funds were taken and also $1.25 in change from the till. In their haste to escape the gang overlooked another drawer containing $65. Several hundred dollars in stamps also escaped their notice.

Militia Men in Trouble.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 24.—Some of the members of Company I of this city are between the devil and the deep sea. Captain Petrie has received orders to be ready to move his men Sept. 30 for the national camp in Kentucky. It is reported that seven of them have been notified by their employers that if they go they will lose their positions.

Village Nearly Wiped Out.

Mellex, Wis., Sept. 24.—Incendiaries started a fire which nearly wiped out the village of Morse, in Ashland county, early Wednesday morning and caused a loss of $300,000, partially covered by insurance. The saw mill and store of T. R. Chase were destroyed, together with six million feet of lumber. The fire also burned several small buildings in the vicinity. One man was injured. The blaze started in the lumber yard, and from all that the authorities can learn was the work of a former employe of the mill, who was recently discharged. The man has disappeared.

Crushed Beneath a Train.

Elmira, O., Sept. 24.—Peter Merritt somewhat the worse for liquor, at the Wauseon fair, said he would beat his friends home and attempted to board a freight train as it was passing. He fell under the cars and one leg below the hip, the other below the knee, were cut off, and the half of one arm was mashed lengthwise. He lived but about an hour.

What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in constipation, headache or liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at C. A. Wright's drug store.

IN NEED OF HELP.

Danish West India Inhabitants Reported Starving.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., Sept. 24.—The Gazette of the British island of St. Kitts says:

"The moment for the helping hand of the government to be extended cannot be much longer delayed if the laboring population of the islands of St Kitts and Nevis are to be kept from starvation. An appalling condition of poverty exists. The estates have been compelled to lessen their expenses owing to the long drouth, and able-bodied men and women are hardly earning enough to supply their daily wants."

The Times of the British island of St. Vincent blames the government for the misery prevailing since the volcanic eruption in that island, adding that starvation and diseases are killing many persons and that a large number are half naked and homeless. Laborers of both sexes sleep in sheds and tattered tents erected a year ago, "harbors of disease and immorality and a disgrace to the colony."

Broke World's Racing Record.

New York, Sept. 24.—Prince Alert, the pacing hero of a hundred races and the champion of a score of half-mile tracks, went against the world's pacing record of 1:59, held by Dan Patch, and beat it most decisively at the Empire City track Wednesday. Pacing like a perfect piece of machinery, Prince Alert shot away to the quarter pole in :29 1-2, as he got into the back stretch he increased his speed and was at the half in :58. He flashed by the three-quarter pole in 1:26¼ and without any urging came on with almost superb burst of speed, crossing the line in 1:57.

New Deal in United States Bonds.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Secretary Shaw authorizes the statement that, owing to the scarcity of 2 per cent bonds, both for circulation and as security for government deposits, he will refunding operations to the extent of $20,000,000 in accordance with the previous circular. Of the total issue [illegible] bonds the treasurer already holds for circulation and for deposits $480,000,000. Secretary Shaw also authorizes the statement that he will redeem the 5 per sent bonds maturing Feb. 1, 1904, paying interest on maturity.

New York, Sept. 24.—The formal circular of Speyer & Co., announcing the sale, was given out Wednesday. The securities of the subsidiary companies held by the Consolidated Lake Superior company, with various notes made by the subsidiary companies in course of the advancement of moneys on the loan of Speyer & Co., these notes indorsed by the Consolidated company, are to be sold at public auction on Oct. 1, at 161 Broadway, N. Y.

The terms of the sale are that the securities, etc., must be bid for and purchased in one parcel, and Speyer & Co. reserve the right to bid in the properties offered for sale.

Striking Scholars Return.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—The strike at the Cass school is over. When the bell began ringing at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, and while the janitor was raising the American flag, a compact little crowd of twenty-two A eighth graders, headed by President Lennox, walked slowly down from Cass park, marched into the school and took their accustomed places. It was a sorrowful little crowd, and keen disappointment was marked on every face. The immediate cause of their surrender was the riot last night, which they felt had injured their cause.

Crushed in an Elevator.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—By stepping too close to the doorless aperture of an elevator cage in the Chamber of Commerce, an unidentified man was instantly killed shortly after 5 o'clock last night. The elevator was descending at the time and had just left the second story, being in charge of Elevatorman Henry Tracy. Mr. Tracy had his back to the passenger at the time and is unable to explain why the man should have made the misstep. The body was found to be practically in a pulp. One side of the man's head was completely torn away and the major part of his large bones crushed. The right leg was almost severed above the ankle.

Gross Irregularities.

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 24.—The report of the expert auditors who have examined the city records was made public Wednesday and surprised people by bringing to light evidence of wholesale negligence, disregard of business principles and other alleged irregularities. Auditors Gleason and Parks have worked three months in examining the records and find many important documents missing. It is alleged that Former City Clerk Leland Townsend accepted water taxes, then credited smaller amounts on the books and that thousands of dollars which should have been in the city treasury are not accounted for. The treasurer's books are said to be in good condition.

Had No Faith in Banks.

Albion, Mich., Sept. 24.—James W. Peabody, an Albion pioneer, died Wednesday at the age of 74 years, after an illness of about a year. When about 21 years old Mr. Peabody went to California, driving clear through and remaining there four years. He then returned to Albion with a bride and considerable wealth. Since his return, over forty years ago, he has given his entire attention to the care of the small fortune. He had no faith in banks and is said to have always kept his money in hiding.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

THE LIGHT THAT FAILED.

By Rudyard Kipling. . . .

There was the glorious certainty of war in the Sudan at any moment. The Nilghai said so, and it was well to be in readiness. The Keneu had telegraphed to Cairo for horses, Cassavetti had stolen a perfectly inaccurate list of troops that would be ordered forward and was reading it amid profane interruptions, and the Keneu introduced to Dick some man unknown who would be employed as war artist by the Central Southern syndicate. "It's his first outing," said the Keneu. "Give him some tips—about riding camels."

"Oh, those comels!" groaned Cassavetti. "I shall learn to ride him again, and now I am so much all soft! Listen, you good fellows, I know your military arrangement very well. There will go the Royal Argalshire Sutherlanders. So it was read to me upon best authority."

A roar of laughter interrupted him.

"Sit down," said the Nilghai. "The lists aren't even made out in the war office."

"Will there be any force at Suakin?" said a voice.

Then the outcries redoubled and grew mixed, thus: "How many Egyptian troops will they use?" "God help the fellaheen!" "There's a railway in Plumstead marshes doing duty as a fives court." "We shall have the Suakin-Berber line built at last." "Canadian voyagers are too careful. Give me a half drunk Krooman in a whaleboat." "Who commands the desert column?" "No, they never blew up the big rock in the Ghizeh bend. We shall have to be hauled up, as usual." "Somebody tell me if there's an Indian contingent, or I'll break everybody's head!" "Don't tear the map in two!" "It's a war of occupation, I tell you, to connect with the African companies in the south." "There's Guinea worm in most of the wells on that route." Then the Nilghai, despairing of peace, bellowed like a foghorn and beat upon the table with both hands.

"But what becomes of Torpenhow?" said Dick in the silence that followed.

"Torp's in abeyance just now. He's off lovemaking somewhere, I suppose," said the Nilghai.

"He said he was going to stay at home," said the Keneu.

"Is he?" said Dick, with an oath. "He won't. I'm not much good now, but if you and the Nilghai hold him down I'll engage to trample on him till he sees reason. He stay behind indeed! He's the best of you all. There 'll be some tough work by Omdurman. We shall come there to stay this time. But I forgot. I wish I were going with you."

"So do we all, Dickie," said the Keneu.

"And I most of all," said the new artist of the Central Southern syndicate. "Could you tell me"—

"I'll give you one piece of advice," Dick answered, moving toward the door. "If you happen to be cut over the head in a scrimmage, don't guard. Tell the man to go on cutting. You'll find it cheapest in the end. Thanks for letting me look in."

"There's grit in Dick," said the Nilghai an hour later when the room was emptied of all save the Keneu.

"It was the sacred call of the war trumpet. Did you notice how he answered to it? Poor fellow! Let's look at him," said the Keneu.

The excitement of the talk had died away. Dick was sitting by the studio table with his head on his arms when the men came in. He did not change his position.

"It hurts," he moaned. "God forgive me, but it hurts cruelly, and yet, y' know, the world has a knack of spinning round all by itself. Shall I see Torp before he goes?"

"Oh, yes! You'll see him," said the Nilghai.

CHAPTER XI.

But I shall not understand,
  Shall not see the face of my love,
  Shall not know her for whom I strove,
Till she reach me forth her hand,
  Saying, "Who but I have the right?"
  And out of a troubled night
Shall draw me safe to the land.
—The Widower.

"MAISIE, come to bed."

"It's so hot I can't sleep. Don't worry."

Maisie put her elbows on the window sill and looked at the moonlight on the straight, poplar flanked road. Summer had come upon Vitry-sur-Marne and parched it to the bone. The grass was dry burned in the meadows, the clay by the bank of the river was caked to brick, the roadside flowers were long since dead and the roses in the garden hung withered on their stalks. The heat in the little low bedroom under the eaves was almost intolerable. The very moonlight on the wall of Kami's studio across the road seemed to make the night hotter, and the shadow of the big bell handle by the closed gate cast a bar of inky black that caught Maisie's eye and annoyed her.

"Horrid thing! It should be all white," she murmured. "And the gate isn't in the middle of the wall, either. I never noticed that before."

Maisie was hard to please at that hour. First, the heat of the past few weeks had worn her down; secondly, her work and particularly the study of a female head intended to represent the Melancolia and not finished in time for the salon was unsatisfactory; thirdly, Kami had said as much two days before; fourthly, but so completely fourthly that it was hardly worth thinking about, Dick, her property, had not written to her for more than six weeks. She was angry with the heat, with Kami and with her work, but she was exceedingly angry with Dick.

She had written to him three times, each time proposing a fresh treatment of her Melancolia. Dick had taken no notice of these communications. She had resolved to write no more. When she returned to England in the autumn—for her pride's sake she could not return earlier—she would speak to him. She missed the Sunday afternoon conferences more than she cared to admit. All that Kami said was, "Continuez, mademoiselle, continuez toujours," and he had been repeating his wearisome counsel through the hot summer, exactly like a cicala—an old gray cicala in a black alpaca coat, white trousers and a huge felt hat.

But Dick had tramped masterfully up and down her little studio north of the cool green London park and had said things ten times worse than "continues" before he snatched the brush out of her hand and showed her where her error lay. His last letter, Maisie remembered, contained some trivial advice about not sketching in the sun or drinking water at wayside farmhouses, and he had said that not once, but three times, as if he did not know that Maisie could take care of herself.

But what was he doing that he could not trouble to write? A murmur of voices in the road made her lean from the window. A cavalryman of the little garrison in the town was talking to Kami's cook. The moonlight glittered on the scabbard of his saber, which he was holding in his hand lest it should clank inopportunely. The cook's cap cast deep shadows on her face, which was close to the conscript's. He slid his arm round her waist, and there followed the sound of a kiss.

"Faugh!" said Maisie, stepping back.

"What's that?" said the red haired girl, who was tossing uneasily outside her bed.

"Only a conscript kissing the cook," said Maisie. "They've gone away now." She leaned out of the window again and put a shawl over her nightgown to guard against chills. There was a very small night breeze abroad, and a sun baked rose below nodded its head as one who knew unutterable secrets. Was it possible that Dick should turn his thoughts from her work and his own and descend to the degradation of Suzanne and the conscript? He could not. The rose nodded its head and one leaf therewith. It looked like a naughty little devil scratching its ear. Dick could not, "because," thought Maisie, "he is mine—mine—mine. He said he was. I'm sure I don't care what he does. It will only spoil his work if he does, and it will spoil mine too."

The rose continued to nod in the futile way peculiar to flowers. There was no earthly reason why Dick should not disport himself as he chose, except that he was called by Providence, which was Maisie, to assist Maisie in her work. And her work was the preparation of pictures that went sometimes to English provincial exhibitions, as the notices in the scrapbook proved, and were invariably rejected by the salon when Kami was plagued into allowing her to send them up. Her work in the future, it seemed, would be the preparation of pictures on exactly similar lines which would be rejected in exactly the same way.

The red haired girl thrashed distressfully across the sheets. "It's too hot to sleep," she moaned, and the interruption jarred.

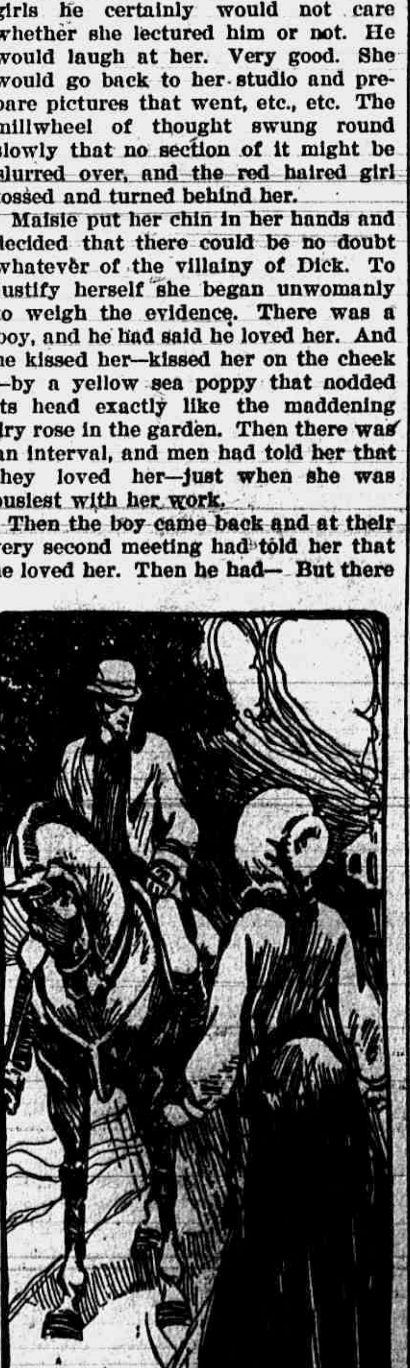
Exactly the same way. Then she would divide her years between the little studio in England and Kami's big studio at Vitry-sur-Marne. No, she would go to another master, who should force her into the success that was her right if patient toil and desperate endeavor gave one a right to anything. Dick had told her that he had worked ten years to understand his craft. She had worked ten years, and ten years were nothing.

Dick had said that ten years were nothing—but that was in regard to herself only. He had said—this very man who could not find time to write—that he would wait ten years for her and that she was bound to come back to him sooner or later. He had said this in the absurd letter about sunstroke and diphtheria, and then he had stopped writing. He was wandering up and down moonlit streets, kissing cooks.

She would like to lecture him now—not in her nightgown, of course, but properly dressed—severely and from a height. Yet if he was kissing other girls he certainly would not care whether she lectured him or not. He would laugh at her. Very good. She would go back to her studio and prepare pictures that went, etc., etc. The millwheel of thought swung round slowly that no section of it might be slurred over, and the red haired girl tossed and turned behind her.

Maisie put her chin in her hands and decided that there could be no doubt whatever of the villainy of Dick. To justify herself she began unwomanly to weigh the evidence. There was a boy, and he had said he loved her. And he kissed her—kissed her on the cheek—by a yellow sea poppy that nodded its head exactly like the maddening dry rose in the garden. Then there was an interval, and men had told her that they loved her—just when she was busiest with her work.

Then the boy came back and at their very second meeting had told her that he loved her. Then he had— But there was no end to the things he had done. He had given her his time and his powers. He had spoken to her of art, housekeeping, technique, teacups, the abuse of pickles as a stimulant—that was rude—sable hairbrushes—he had given her the best in her stock—she used them daily; he had given her advice that she profited by, and now and again—a look. Such a look. The look of a beaten hound waiting for the word to crawl to his mistress' feet.



"Blind!" said Maisie stupidly.

In return she had given him nothing whatever except—here she brushed her mouth against the openwork sleeve of her nightgown—the privilege of kissing her once, and on the mouth too. Disgraceful! Was that not enough, and more than enough? And if it was not, had he not canceled the debt by not writing and—probably kissing other girls?

"Maisie, you'll catch a chill. Do go and lie down," said the wearied voice of her companion. "I can't sleep a wink with you at the window."

Maisie shrugged her shoulders and did not answer. She was reflecting on the meanness of Dick and other meannesses with which he had nothing to do. The remorseless moonlight would not let her sleep. It lay on the skylight of the studio across the road in cold silver, and she stared at it intently, and her thoughts began to slide one into the other.

The shadow of the big bell handle in the wall grew short, lengthened again and faded out as the moon went down behind the pasture, and a hare came limping home across the road. Then the dawn wind washed through the upland grasses and brought coolness with it, and the cattle lowed by the drought shrunk river. Maisie's head fell forward on the window sill, and the tangle of black hair covered the arms.

"Maisie, wake up. You'll catch a chill."

"Yes, dear; yes, dear." She staggered to her bed like a wearied child, and as she buried her face in the pillows she muttered: "I think—I think— But he ought to have written."

Day brought the routine of the studio, the smell of paint and turpentine and the monotonous wisdom of Kami, who was a leaden artist, but a golden teacher if the pupil were only in sympathy with him. Maisie was not in sympathy that day, and she waited impatiently for the end of the work. She knew when it was coming, for Kami would gather his black alpaca coat into a bunch behind him and, with faded blue eyes that saw neither pupils nor canvas, look back into the past to recall the history of one Binat.

"You have all done not so badly," he would say. "But you shall remember that it is not enough to have the method and the art and the power, nor even that which is touch, but you shall have also the conviction that nails the work to the wall. Of the so many I have taught"—here the students would begin to unfix drawing pins or get their tubes together—"the very so many that I have taught, the best was Binat. All that comes of the study and the work, and the knowledge was to him even when he came. After he left me he should have done all that could be done with the color, the form and the knowledge. Only he had not the conviction. So today I hear no more of Binat, the best of my pupils, and that is long ago. So today, too, you will be glad to hear no more of me. Continuez, mesdemoiselles, and, above all, with conviction."

He went into the garden to smoke and mourn over the lost Binat as the pupils dispersed to their several cottages or loitered in the studio to make plans for the cool of the afternoon.

Maisie looked at her very unhappy Melancolia, restrained a desire to grimace before it and was hurrying across the road to write a letter to Dick when she was aware of a large man on a white troop horse. How Torpenhow had managed in the course of twenty hours to find his way to the hearts of the cavalry officers in quarters at Vitry-sur-Marne, to discuss with them the certainty of a glorious revanche for France, to reduce the colonel to tears of pure affability and to borrow the best horse in the squadron for the journey to Kami's studio is a mystery that only special correspondents can unravel.

"I beg your pardon," said he. "It seems an absurd question to ask, but the fact is that I don't know her by any other name. Is there any young lady here that is called Maisie?"

"I am Maisie," was the answer from the depths of a great sun hat.

"I ought to introduce myself," he said as the horse capered in the blinding white dust. "My name is Torpenhow. Dick Heldar is my best friend, and—and—the fact is that he has gone blind."

"Blind!" said Maisie stupidly. "He can't be blind."

"He has been stone blind for nearly two months."

Maisie lifted up her face and it was pearly white. "No! No! Not blind! I won't have him blind!"

"Would you care to see for yourself?" said Torpenhow.

"Now—at once?"

"Oh, no! The Paris train doesn't go through this place till 8 tonight. There will be ample time."

"Did Mr. Heldar send you to me?"

"Certainly not. Dick wouldn't do that sort of thing. He's sitting in his studio turning over some letters that he can't read because he's blind."

There was a sound of choking from the sun hat. Maisie bowed her head and went into the cottage, where the red haired girl was on a sofa complaining of a headache.

"Dick's blind," said Maisie, taking her breath quickly as she steadied herself against a chair back. "My Dick's blind!"

"What?" The girl was on the sofa no longer.

"A man has come from England to tell me. He hasn't written to me for six weeks."

"Are you going to him?"

"I must think."

"Think! I should go back to London and see him, and I should kiss his eyes and kiss them and kiss them until they got well again! If you don't go I shall. Oh, what am I talking about? You wicked little idiot! Go to him at once. Go!"

Torpenhow's neck was blistering, but he preserved a smile of infinite patience as Maisie appeared bareheaded in the sunshine.

"I am coming," said she, her eyes on the ground.

"You will be at Vitry station, then, at 7 this evening." This was an order delivered by one who was used to being obeyed. Maisie said nothing, but she felt grateful that there was no chance of disputing with this big man who took everything for granted and managed a squealing horse with one hand. She returned to the red haired girl, who was weeping bitterly, and between tears, kisses—very few of those—menthol, packing, and an interview with Kami, the sultry afternoon wore away. Thought might come afterward. Her present duty was to go to Dick—Dick, who owned the wondrous friend and sat in the dark playing with her unopened letters.

"But what will you do?" she said to her companion.

"I? Oh, I shall stay here and—finish your Melancolia," she said, smiling pitifully. "Write to me afterward."

That night there ran a legend through Vitry-sur-Marne of a mad Englishman, doubtless suffering from sunstroke, who had drunk all the officers of the garrison under the table, had borrowed a horse from the lines and had then and there eloped after the English custom with one of those more than mad English girls who drew pictures down there under the care of that good M. Kami.

"They are very droll," said Suzanne to the conscript in the moonlight by the studio wall. "She walked always with those big eyes that saw nothing, and yet she kisses me on both cheeks as though she were my sister, and gives me—see—10 francs."

The conscript levied a contribution on both gifts, for he prided himself on being a good soldier.

Torpenhow spoke very little to Maisie during the journey to Calais, but he was very careful to attend to all her wants, to get her a compartment entirely to herself and to leave her alone. He was amazed at the ease with which the matter had been accomplished.

"The safest thing would be to let her think things out. By Dick's showing—when he was off his head—she must have ordered him about very thoroughly. Wonder how she likes being under orders."

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. B. HICKMAN, W. Chester, Pa.

MICHIGAN CONFERENCE.

Opens With a Lord's Supper, Conducted by Bishop Foss.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 24.—The Lord's supper was the opening feature of the Michigan conference of the M. E. church in this city Wednesday morning. It was conducted by Bishop Foss. The bishop, in concluding the service, gave an address upon the welfare of the church, declaring that methodism was prosperous.

Rev. E. A. Armstrong of Cadillac and Rev. G. S. Robinson of Quincy are the secretaries of the conference; Rev. W. F. Kendrick, treasurer; Rev. J. R. Wooten, press secretary.

The presiding elders made their reports, and Dr. Graham, who retires from the Grand Rapids district, was presented with a handsome chair by the ministers of the district.

The case of Rev. J. F. Orwick, the former chaplain of the state prison, who was dismissed upon serious charges, found to be insane and sent to the Kalamazoo asylum, but is now out and cured, was brought up in the morning and was referred to the committee on conference relations. The matter of C. M. Welch of Nashville was also referred to this committee. To a special committee of inquiry was referred the case of Rev. Charles Ottan of Saranac.

There was a large attendance at the anniversary meeting of the Woman's Foreign Mission society at 2:30. Mrs. H. J. Felker presided. Rev. J. F. Goucher, D. D., president of the Baltimore Woman's college, gave a stirring address on the conditions prevailing in foreign fields.

Mrs. Hathaway of Grand Rapids presided at the woman's home missionary service.

The Lion of St. Mark.

The symbol of the Venetian republic—the famous lion of St. Mark—is made of bronze. There is a tradition among the Venetian people that its eyes are diamonds. They are really white, agates, faceted. Its mane is most elaborately wrought, and its retracted, gaping mouth and its fierce mustaches give it an oriental aspect.

The creature as it now stands belongs to many different epochs, varying from some date previous to our era down to this century. It is conjectured that it may have originally formed a part of the decoration of some Assyrian palace. St. Mark's lion it certainly was not originally, for it was made to stand level upon the ground and had to be raised up in front to allow the evangel to be slipped under its fore paws.

Ancient Legal Statute.

The provision of the Virginia code exempting from service on the grand jury the owner or occupier of a grist mill, says Law Notes, is an interesting example of a law which has been allowed to remain on the statute book long after its usefulness and the condition that called it into being have ceased to exist. When the statute was passed, serious inconvenience to the citizens of the surrounding country might have arisen as a result of summoning a mill owner from his work, but the mill owner is no longer so important a member of the community.

The Habit of Decision.

The great thing in all education is to make our nervous system our ally instead of our enemy. It is to fund and capitalize our acquisitions and live at ease upon the interest of the fund. For this we must make automatic and habitual as early as possible as many useful actions as we can and guard against the growing into ways that are likely to be disadvantageous to us as we should guard against the plague. The more of the details of our daily life we can hand over to the effortless custody of automatonism the more of our higher powers of mind will be set free for their own proper work. There is no more miserable human being than one in whom nothing is habitual but indecision and for whom the drinking of every cup, the time of rising and going to bed every day and the beginning of every bit of work are subjects of express volitional deliberation. Full half the time of such a man goes to the deciding or regretting of matters which ought to be so ingrained in him as practically not to exist for his consciousness at all. If there be such daily duties yet not ingrained in any one of my readers, let him begin this very hour to set the matter right.—From "Psychology," by Professor William James.

FOUL BREATH?

DID YOU EVER MEET A PERSON WITH A FOUL BREATH?

and have them get close to you while relating some good joke? and although you wanted to escape the breath, you could not?

THE CAUSE

is is a disordered stomach and a general bad condition of the blood, possibly a torpid liver was the primary cause. Would you not advise them to do something to get rid

OF THAT BREATH?

Reader, if you are one of those unfortunates with a foul breath, why do you not take action? why do you not see that your stomach is put in order? There is no excuse for it when there is a remedy at hand.

Kinyon's Blood and Kidney Remedy

Strengthens the kidneys, enabling these important organs to carry off the impurities. Regulates the liver so that it may aid in the digestive operation and keep the bowels active. Tones up the stomach and enables it to properly digest the food so that the body may be nourished and become strong. With these organs all active and strong the system becomes cleansed and the foul breath will leave as if by magic. Do not delay. Act at once.

He came to Tecumseh from Chicago in 1869, shortly after went into business and has conducted a pleasant and profitable business here for 30 years. For 10 years he was in business with his brother, George, who died seven years ago and since his death as before, the business was run under the name of Adamson Brothers.

Thomas Adamson was a practical watchmaker and for some of the time after the death of his brother did his own work, but he was always an industrious, honest man, always prompt to pay his obligations. Kept at all times a neat and up-to-date store, attended strictly to his own affairs and although peculiar in his particular way, was always successful, a good neighbor and well liked by his friends and he had many. His first thought was always his wife and son, George, who survive him.

THE LATE THOMAS ADAMSON.

Two men were never more attached to each other than he and his brother, George, and his death will be sadly felt by his wife, son and only sister, Mrs. M. A. J. Morton, of Chicago.

He was a member of K. of P. and Rathbone Sisters lodges and an attendant of the Episcopal church. His funeral was conducted from the Episcopal church Sunday at 2:30 p. m

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral were Mrs. Will Hall, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Heesen, of Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. C. Nyland and daughter, Mrs. Dena Terbeck, of Cleveland.

LITERARY NOTES.

Lippincott's Magazine for October has secured a remarkably readable complete novel called "An Heir to Millions." It is by Frederic Reddale, the author of that earlier success in Lippincott's, "The Other Man," and it is even more original in plot than that exciting tale. The "Heir" is a young clerk upon whom the bolt of wealth falls out of the blue, but by a very logical process, and the effect of this sudden promotion on his character and on his love-match is a study that makes a story to remember.

Mr. John Burroughs is to contribute to The Century for 1904 a number of articles on "Current Misconceptions in Natural History" giving his views as to what he believes to be errors of observation, record or deduction on the part of contemporary writers on nature subjects. The echoes of Mr. Burrough's article on a similar topic which appeared in the Atlantic last spring are still reverberating and in this series Mr. Burroughs will take up the subject more fully, publishing his opinions as to instinct, the alleged teaching of young animals by their parents, the play of animals and kindred themes.

An excellent account is given in the October McClure's of an engineering project second only in magnitude and importance to the Isthmian Canal; to wit, the stupendous undertaking of the Dutch Government to drain the larger part of the Zuyder Zee, convert the rest of it into a great fresh-water lake, and reclaim from the sea a piece of land equal to one-fourteenth the present area of Holland. Though the work, which has hardly begun, will extend over some thirty-three years, each stage of it has been plotted and the cost estimated by the Dutch engineers, with the utmost exactness and thoroughness; all of which is most interestingly set forth by the writer of the article.

The editors of the Atlantic Monthly were fortunate when they secured for their magazine the reminiscent papers by Sir Leslie Stephen, which begin auspiciously in the September number. With characteristic modesty Sir Leslie entitles his reminiscences Some Early Impressions, but they are of much more importance than might at first appear from so casual a title. It is announced that later papers in the series will deal with Sir Leslie's experiences in journalism and in editing, and with other matters which are sure to furnish reading as instructive as delightful.

The consumptive, whether his disease is in the throat or lungs, must have rest at night, and be free from the spasm of dry and racking cough in the morning. The diseased parts want rest, healing and soothing treatment, and the patient needs fresh air, good food, etc. German Syrup will give free and easy expectoration in the morning with speedy and permanent relief. A WORD TO FARM TOILERS.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Home Friend of the Farmer and His Family.

After the labors and toils of the summer time, and harvesting of crops in the early autumn, many of our farmers, their wives, daughters, and sons, find themselves in a condition of health demanding careful attention if suffering is to be avoided later on. Many experience kidney trouble in some form; with some the liver is torpid; there is biliousness, nausea, and vomiting, with loss of appetite and depression of spirits. Thousands who have been exposed to cold, damp winds and rains while toiling in the harvest fields, now feel the twinges of terrible rheumatism; others run down by worry, overwork, and irregular dieting, are tormented with the pangs of dyspepsia.

To the thousands of run down, sickly, and half dead men and women in farm homes we recommend with all honesty and confidence the worker's friend, Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that can quickly and fully restore strength to the weak body and vigor to the muscles. Paine's Celery Compound tones the stomach; it removes poisonous acids from the blood which cause rheumatism; it feeds the weak and diseased nerves and banishes neuralgic tortures; it purifies the blood and gives true vitality and life. The use of Paine's Celery Compound in autumn means the establishing of a perfect physical vigor to withstand the rigors of a severe winter.

TO BE DEPENDED ON

Because it is the experience of a Tecumseh citizen and can readily be investigated.

A stranger lost in a large city would place far more dependence on the directions given him by a local resident than the guidance of another stranger like himself. This is a natural consequence of experience; it's like a ship in a strange port—a trusty pilot familiar with the harbor is always called upon to bring her safely to her moorings. So it is with endorsement; we doubt the sayings of people living at distant points because we can't investigate them, but the public expression of local citizens can be depended on, for 'tis an easy matter to prove it. Evidence like the following is beyond dispute.

Postmaster J. W. Wightman, well known to every reader of this statement, says: "I have no hesitation in endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills procured at C. A. Wright's drug store. They have been used in my family and the most satisfactory results followed the treatment. They proved to be a remedy of merit. You can use my name to that effect if you think proper."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

The feminine idea of a popular woman is one who has lots of interesting secrets to tell.

Don't let the little ones suffer from eczema or other torturing skin diseases. No need for it. Doan's Ointment cures. Can't harm the most delicate skin. At any drug store, 50 cents.

Women would soon tire of men if men were as good as they think men should be.

For forty years Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been curing summer complaint, dysentery, diarrhoea, bloody flux, pain in the stomach, and it has never yet failed to do everything claimed for it.

An Irish editor says he can see no earthly reason why women should not be allowed to become medical men.

For a bilious attack take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and a quick cure is certain. For sale by all druggists.

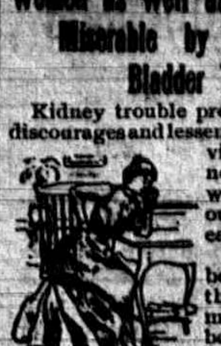
Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.



Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Tragedy at Bessemer.

Bessemer, Mich., Sept. 24.—Annie Wozenak, age 24, was shot twice and instantly killed by Ed. Mileski in front of her mother's home, opposite the Northwestern depot. Anna had been visiting her sister at Ironwood and came home on the evening train. Mileski was with her, and it is said they quarreled on the train. She went around by a water tank to cut across the street unobserved to her mother's house. Mileski headed her off and fired two shots in quick succession. She fell on her mother's doorstep and he then turned the revolver on himself, the bullet entering the stomach. Mileski then ran to the prostrate girl and fell over her. The girl is dead but Mileski still lives, though recovery is doubtful.

NO WEATHER BUREAU

Rheumatics Can Tell by Their Aches When a Storm is Coming.

Rheumatics save barometers, but it is like sticking knives into them when change of weather comes.

When nature waves her danger flag it is an acute evidence of the disease and a cry for help. She cannot free herself from this Uric acid, but convulsively tries to throw it off as the stomach tries to eject a poison.

If you do not help nature you will have to suffer. You have suffered. There's no need. Athlophoros can stop the pain and free you from this weather-vane trick. Athlophoros acts directly on the Uric acid like a May day on an ice field—it will drive your Rheumatism away, no matter what kind of Rheumatism or Neuralgia you may have. Sciatica and Lumbago both come from Uric acid and will respond quickly to the action of Athlophoros—it will soothe and quiet you—you can prove it easily. If your druggist doesn't keep it send $1 to The Athlophoros Co., New Haven, Conn. It is pleasant to know help is so near. You will find it still pleasanter to be without aches and pains.

A FIENDISH DEED

Robbers Exploded Dynamite Under Wagon Containing Two Men.

IN ORDER TO ROB THEM

Victims Carried $3,600, Which Fiends Secured—Money Was to Be Paid Employes in Factory—Posse in Pursuit of Alleged Robbers.

Washington, Pa., Sept. 26.—One of the most fiendish and bloodthirsty murders and robbery in the history of Washington county occurred Friday afternoon on the Middletown road, about fifteen miles from here. Samuel T. Ferguson of the Ferguson Construction company of Pittsburg was instantly killed and his secretary, C. L. Martin of Cincinnati, was fatally injured.

The two men were driving along the road in a buggy carrying $3,600 in cash with which to pay off some of their men employed on construction work along the line of the Wabash railroad when suddenly an explosion of dynamite in the roadway literally tore the rig to pieces, killed Ferguson outright and threw Martin 200 feet and tearing his left arm almost from the socket.

It has been learned that two men, supposed to be Poles, placed the dynamite in the road for the purpose of killing Paymaster Ferguson and had arranged to explode it by means of an electric battery. The satchel containing the money is missing.

Two suspects are under arrest in the camp of the construction company near the village, but the farmers of the section who are scouring the country for traces of the murderers believe they have one of them at bay in an abandoned coal mine about a mile and a half northeast of West Middletown.

So quickly was everything accomplished that the men who are implicated got away with their booty before they could be overtaken, although the county authorities believe that if the right men are not those under arrest they will have little difficulty in taking them.

CHINESE EXCITED.

Chinese Reformer Leung Kai Cheu Arrives in 'Frisco.

San Francisco, Sept 26.—The Chinese population of this city was greatly excited Friday over the arrival of Leung Kai Cheu, vice-president of the Chinese Empire Reform association. He favors the cause of the young emperor, and the empress dowager is said to have offered a sum equivalent to $100,000 for his arrest.

Fully 10,000 of the Chinese in California belong to the reform party, and though Leung is closely watched by a bodyguard, he has no fear of being deprived of his liberty. He was escorted from the ferry landing to Chinatown by a procession headed by a brass band. In line were fifty hacks filled with Chinese merchants and men of prominence in the colony. After a reception at the headquarters of the reform association Leung was given a banquet.

Polar Region Void of Life.

New York, Sept. 26.—The steamer America, which is bearing the Ziegler polar expedition northward, encountered unusual Arctic conditions during the month of July, according to a letter just received here by William Ziegler from Anthony Fiala, who is in command. The letter was written in the Barentz sea on July 20 and was brought south by a sealer which the America met by happy chance. Immense quantities of ice were encountered, there was a strange absence of animal life, and many dead birds were seen upon the cakes of floating ice. It is thought that there must have been some unusual disturbance of nature in that part of the polar region to account for these conditions, and the report of Mr. Fiala will be of special interest to scientists who study polar life.

Curtis Jett Sentenced.

Cynthiana, Ky., Sept. 26.—Curtiss Jett was brought into court Friday when Judge Osborne decreed that he be hanged "between sunrise and sunset Dec. 18, for killing James Cockrill at Jackson, Ky., July 21, 1902." Judge Blanton, attorney for Jett, replied: "Well, Judge, there will be many sunrises and sunsets before he has been hanged." Jett himself said to the court: "There are people in this county who will be grieved if I am not hung. But, judge, I do not think you would be grieved, as you have given me a fair trial in this case." Judge Blanton filed papers giving his grounds for a new trial preparatory to carrying the case to the court of appeals at Frankfort.

To Advance Freight Rates.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—The Record-Herald says: A movement is on foot by the railroads of the entire country to bring about a general advance in freight rates, the general reason assigned being the big increase in the wages of all classes of labor and in the price of all material used by the railroads. A similar advance was made one year ago for the same reasons and went into effect Jan. 1 last.

SIX MEN INDICTED

Detroit's Grand Jury Issues Grist of Indictments.

EX-COM. MORELAND HARD HIT

He Was Five Times Indicted—Arrested and Gave Bail—Penalties Range From Three to Ten Years in a State Prison.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 26.—Six men stand charged with serious crimes as the outcome of the Wayne county grand jury investigation. The fruit of the jury's labors was the finding of six indictments, containing fourteen separate charges, involving four former city employes and two men whose dealings were with the city. Five distinct charges were included in the warrant on which Sheriff Dickson arrested DeWitt H. Moreland, former commissioner of public works, and brought him to answer guilty or not guilty before the presiding judge of the circuit court. Men who were his henchmen found themselves involved in the meshes of the net. The complete list is as follows:

D. W. H. Moreland, former commissioner of public works; John Hock, street-sweeping contractor; Herman Wartell, former pay-roll clerk of the board of works; John Jefferson White, former public works office employe; Henry Merdian, contractor, and Robert Conway, manager for Meridan.

Former Commissioner Moreland was charged with appropriating to T. J. Kennedy, on Nov. 5, 1902, 1,735 feet of cedar worth $800; with conspiring to defraud the city of $1,000 in each of three particular counts on March 15, 1902; with appropriating to the Merdian company sand valued at $500 on Oct. 14, 1902; with appropriating to Archer and Hock stone valued at $400 on March 25, 1903, and with illegally acquiring $1,000 in two separate counts on March 15, 1902.

A maximum penalty of ten years in a state prison is provided for the offenses charged, excepting that of conspiracy, the others facing a possible penalty of three years for conspiracy to defraud.

Moreland and Hock were arrested on the order of Judge Donovan. Hock appeared at 4 p. m. and Moreland at 6 p. m. The former gave bail in two sureties of $6,600 each and Hock in two sureties for $3,600 each. Both were released at 7 p. m.

Sheriff Dickson failed to arrest Wartell, White, Conway and Merdian. White, Conway and Wartell are expected to appear today. Merdian is too ill to be brought into court. Hock and Moreland are under bonds to appear Nov. 1 in the recorder's court. The grand jury adjourned until today, but no further indictments are expected.

The indictments of these men occasioned no surprise. The names of Moreland, Hock, White, Wartell, Conday and Merdian might have been counted off on the fingers a month ago, and the fact that the accused were surrounded by bondsmen when the ax fell indicated a similar forethought on the part of the indicted.

Three Hurt in Runaway.

Ionia, Mich., Sept. 26.—An appalling accident occurred here at noon Friday, when Mrs. W. K. Clute, wife of Prosecuting Attorney Clute, her son Donald, and a neighbor, Miss Marie Leiter, were run away with. Donald sustained a bad concussion, and it is feared there is a fracture at the base of the brain. He was hurled against a telephone pole just outside the city on State street, then against a boulder. Mrs. Clute was also fearfully bruised, her neck and wrist sprained and her face peeled of skin. Miss Leiter's nose was badly broken and crushed and almost her entire body bruised.

Indians to Chicago.

Hartford, Mich., Sept. 26.—E. H. Engle of Hartford, a time-honored attorney of the Pottawatomie Indians of Indiana and Michigan, will take to Chicago as guests of the city seventy-five Ottawas, Chippewas and Pottawatomies of Michigan today to attend the centennial celebration of that city. Old Fort Dearborn is to be rebuilt in Lincoln park and around it are to be, wigwamed in native dress, over 1,000 redmen, so as to appear as near as possible to 1803.

Never Rode by Boat or Rail.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Hugh Foster, aged 80, is dead at Sugar island, where she has lived since 1856. Although so many vessels passed her home, she never rode on a steamer or in a railroad car. Her husband, who is 90, was brought from Scotland over sixty years ago and married her on the shore of Hudson's bay, where he worked for the Hudson Bay company until 1856, when they came to the Soo overland on foot.

Body Found in River.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 26.—The body of an unknown man was found floating in the River Rouge at Delray. The dead man was apparently between 35 and 40 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, and weighed about 145 pounds. The body was dressed in light trousers and dark coat, with no vest. In one of the pockets was found a woman's handkerchief, with the initial "W" worked on it.

Keeping Tab on Tommy.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 28.—Since the attempt made by half a dozen prisoners last Monday night to dig their way out of the county jail, Sheriff Rust has been keeping a close watch on his unwilling guests. This vigilance has been exercised with especial reference to Tommy Nesbitt, who is regarded as the most designing and resourceful of the inmates of the jail, and last night it resulted in the disclosure of several 32-caliber cartridges on the person of that individual. A search was made for the revolver, which Nesbitt was supposed to have secreted somewhere about his cell, but without success.

Of the crew of sixteen men, including mail carriers, on the train nine were killed and seven injured.

The dead are: Engineer J. A. Brodie of Placerville, Va.; Fireman Clarence White, Conductor Tom Blair of Cetral, N. C., and Mail Clerks J. L. Thompson of Washington, D. C.; W. T. Chambers of Midland, Va.; D. T. Flory of Nokesville, Va.; P. N. Ardanwright, Mount Clinton, Va.; a flagman and a brakeman, whose names are not known.

The injured: Mail Clerks Louis W. Spiers, Manassas, Va.; Frank E. Brooks, Charlottesville, Va.; Percival Indenmauer, Washington; Charles E. Reames, Culpeper, Va.; Jennings J. Dunlap, Washington; M. C. Maupin, Charlottesville, and J. Harrison Thompson, St. Luke, Va.

All the injured men are seriously hurt and have been taken to the hospital in Danville.

The trestle where the accident occurred is 500 feet long and is located on a sharp curve. Engineer Brodie was a new man on that division of the Southern, and it is said he came to the curve at a very high rate of speed.

The engine had gone only about fifty feet on the trestle when it sprang from the track, carrying with it four mail cars and an express car. The trestle, a wooden structure, also gave way for a space of fifty feet.

Several thousand people were soon at the scene of the wreck. No one on any of the cars had made an effort to jump, and the bodies of all those killed were found in the wreckage of the different cars to which they belonged.

All unofficial opinions that have been ascertained agree in giving only one cause of the wreck—the high speed of the train on the sharp curve. Train No. 97 was running about an hour behind time. It is thought that the engineer, being unfamiliar with the road, did not take into consideration the danger of coming on the curve with such great velocity.

Condemned Man Confessed Murder.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 28.—Peter Lenousky, who is doomed to die on the gallows on Tuesday morning in this cit yfor the murder of Anthony Sennek, who was beaten to death with a hatchet in the Exeter mine April 19, 1902, has made a confession, admitting that he struck the blow which killed Sennek. In his confession he said: "Yes, I struck the blow that killed Sennek. Victor Zarambo, who is now in the penitentiary for the same crime, was with me. I had a small ax and struck Sennek one blow on the head from behind with the blunt end of the ax and he fell down. I struck him three times after he was down. I am not sorry that I killed Sennek, but I would not do it again. Victor Zarambo was behind me when I struck the blow, but Zarambo did not strike him." Robbery was the motive. Sennek was supposed to carry a large amount of money on his person, but his murderers obtained only a few cents.

A Terrible Quarrel.

Bedford, Ind., Sept. 28.—Charles Cain of Oolitic, Ind., a small town near here, was killed and Frank Dorsey, proprietor of a restaurant, was probably fatally stabbed in the latter's restaurant Sunday afternoon during a fight between six young men who had driven here from Oolitic and who, it is claimed, were using profane language and acting in an objectionable manner. Dorsey endeavored to eject them and was stabbed several times in the back. As Dorsey fell he fired, the bullet striking Cain in the mouth and killing him instantly. Arrests were made.

Dowie to Invade New York.

New York, Sept. 28.—The very smallest detail of the invasion of New York by the "Prophet Elijah," as John Alexander Dowie styles himself, is said to have been completed. He has rented Madison Square Garden for two weeks beginning with Oct. 18. He has the entire garden, including the arena, concert hall and the restaurant. He has paid $1,000 a day in advance. There he will hold revival meetings. The special trains that are to bring the Dowie pilgrims here have been engaged.

Prominent Owosso Man Dies.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 28.—Word was received here of the death, at New Haven, Conn., of David M. Estey of this city, founder of the furniture factories here bearing his name. His demise was due to a general breaking down in health, to recover from which he had gone east with him family.

Electrocuted in His House.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 28.—Loren T. Wilmer was electrocuted at his home in this city Sunday. While searching in the cellar for the cause of trouble with the electric light wires, he received a shock of 2,000 volts. He was instantly killed.

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Insurance Companies Wanted to Cancel Policies—No Destitution and Employment Agents Offer Work to All Who Want It.

New York, Sept. 28.—The following dispatch has been received by the Associated Press from William Coyne, assistant to the president of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, and W. H. Plummer, mayor of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.:

"Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 27.
"The Associated Press, New York:

"Insurance companies are threatening to cancel, in some cases all, in others half, of their policies on the works of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, and the business houses and private dwellings of the citizens because of reports in newspapers of disorder, violence, etc., occurring in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. This is to inform all the newspapers that there is not, nor has there been, a more orderly town in Canada or the United States than the Soo for the past thirty days. There has been no disorder, no trouble or lawlessness of any description, nor is there likely to be. Statements to the contrary are unjust to the authorities and citizens of the Soo and an insult to the quiet, law-abiding Canadian citizens and small per centage of foreigners who go to make up the complement of men employed by the company in its mines and works. There are no cases of destitution. The company and the town are feeding the ex-employes who cannot be paid for the day or two at most that elapses after they arrive at the Soo before they leave for other parts to take empoyment with other interests.

"The town is full of employment agents, offering free transportation and good wages to all the men, and they are moving away in large numbers promptly after their arrival, entirely satisfied to leave the matter of their back pay to their friends or attorneys. The company is giving them all good and sufficient evidence of its indebtedness to them, and they are either leaving their claims with friends for collection or taking them with them, trusting the near future to see them paid in full. The attorney-general of Canada has been asked to take cognizance of the situation and to prepare to take action against any newspaper that has, or does, publish untruthful information regarding the situation at the Soo, and if insurance policies are cancelled by reason of exaggerated reports and fire losses occur, an attempt will be made to collect the amount of losses from the newspaper at fault. (Signed)

Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—P. F. Rothermel, Jr., Samuel M. Clements, Jr., and Joseph D. Junkin, attorneys for certain stockholders of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, have left here for New Haven, Conn. They will make application in the courts in that city today for the appointment of a receiver for the Consolidated Lake Superior company, the holding corporation.

Plotted to Kill Monarchs.

London, Sept. 28.—A special dispatch from Genoa says the police there have arrested an anarchist named Berteloni, who is accused of complicity in a plot to kill King Alfonso. A rumor is current in the inner circles of foreign anarchists in London that a plot has been formed to assassinate the sultan of Turkey, which is expected to culminate today. No reliance can be placed upon this report, however, as the anarchists here are merely inspired by advices from the continent which, it is believed, are more likely than not purely visionary.

Worked Behind Closed Doors.

Washington, Sept. 28. — Professor Langley's airship scientists changed the scene of their endeavor Sunday, when the entire force of experts put in a hard day's work in the shops of the Smithsonian institute in this city. The nature of the work could not be learned, as it was carried on behind locked doors and barred windows. Saturday afternoon the scientists brought to Washington from Widewater an important portion of the Manly motor and it is supposed repairs will be made on it today.

Building Fell and Man Killed.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—A. Petro, a workman, was killed and seventeen others injured by the collapse of a portion of an unfinished building at the plant of the Western Electric company, at the intersection of Twenty-second street and the Belt Line railroad. Of the injured, Barney Krageri and August Schwan are seriously hurt and may die. The others will recover. The accident was caused by the breaking of the trusses which supported the steel girders.

Counterfeiters' Den Broken Up.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 28.—Secret service detectives have accomplished the capture of the most important counterfeiting outfit of recent years at Koss, near here. All the implements were seized, about $500 in bogus coin taken and the leader put under arrest. The gang had been in business for at least two years and carried on an extensive business, shipping their product all over the country in packages labeled "iron."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. THE LIGHT THAT FAILED.

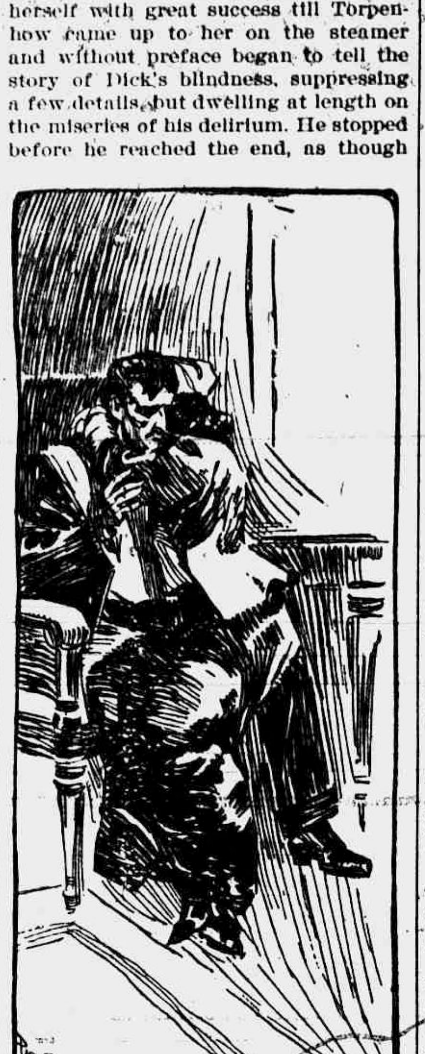
CHAPTER XI.

Maisie never told. She sat in the empty compartment, often with her eyes shut that she might realize the sensation of blindness. It was an order that she should return to London swiftly and she found herself at last almost beginning to enjoy the situation. This was better than looking after trunks and a red haired friend who never seemed to take any interest in her surroundings. But there seemed to be a feeling in the air that she, Maisie, of all people, was in disgrace.

Therefore she justified her conduct to herself with great success till Torpenhow came up to her on the steamer and without preface began to tell the story of Dick's blindness, suppressing a few details, but dwelling at length on the miseries of his delirium. He stopped before he reached the end, as though he had lost interest in the subject, and went forward to smoke. Maisie was furious with him and with herself.



Maisie was in Dick's arms crying as though her heart would burst.

She was hurried on from Dover to London almost before she could ask for breakfast, and—she was past any feeling of indignation now—was bidden curtly to wait in a hall at the foot of some lead covered stairs while Torpenhow went up to make inquiries. Again the knowledge that she was being treated like a naughty little girl made her pale cheeks flame. It was all Dick's fault for being so stupid as to go blind.

Torpenhow led her up to a shut door which he opened very softly. Dick was sitting by the window with his chin on his chest. There were three envelopes in his hand and he turned them over and over. The big man who gave orders was no longer by her side and the studio door snapped behind her.

Dick thrust the letters into his pocket as he heard the sound. "Hello, Torp! Is that you? I've been so lonely."

His voice had taken the peculiar flatness of the blind. Maisie pressed herself up into a corner of the room. Her heart was beating furiously, and she put one hand on her breast to keep it quiet. Dick was staring directly at her, and she realized for the first time that he was blind. Shutting her eyes in a railway carriage to open them when she pleased was child's play. This man was blind, though his eyes were wide open.

"Torp, is that you? They said you were coming." Dick looked puzzled and a little irritated at the silence.

"No; it's only me," was the answer, in a strained little whisper. Maisie could hardly move her lips.

"H'm!" said Dick composedly, without moving. "This is a new phenomenon. Darkness I'm getting used to, but I object to hearing voices."

Was he mad, then, as well as blind, that he talked to himself? Maisie's heart beat more wildly, and she breathed in gasps. Dick rose and began to feel his way across the room, touching each table and chair as he passed. Once he caught his foot on a rug and swore, dropping on his knees to feel what the obstruction might be.

Maisie remembered him walking in the park as though all the earth belonged to him, tramping up and down her studio two months ago and flying up the gangway of the channel steamer. The beating of her heart was making her sick, and Dick was coming nearer, guided by the sound of her breathing. She put out a hand mechanically to ward him off or to draw him to herself, she did not know which. It touched his chest, and he stepped back as though he had been shot.

"It's Maisie!" said he, with a dry sob. "What are you doing here?"

"I came—I came—to see you—please!"

Dick's lips closed firmly.

"Won't you sit down, then? You see, I've had some bother with my eyes, and"—

"I know, I know. Why didn't you tell me?"

"I couldn't write."

"You might have told Mr. Torpenhow."

"What has he to do with my affairs?"

"He—he brought me from Vitry-sur-Marne. He thought I ought to see you."

"Why, what has happened? Can I do anything for you. No, I can't. I forgot."

"Oh, Dick, I'm so sorry! I've come to tell you, and— Let me take you back to your chair."

"Don't! I'm not a child. You only do that out of pity. I never meant to tell you anything about it. I'm no good now. I'm down and done for. Let me alone!"

He groped back to his chair, his chest laboring as he sat down. Maisie was afraid no more.

"I shan't!" she said, sitting on the arm of the chair. "You belong now, Dickie, and I've come up all the way—and—and—" Here tears began, with unromantic sniveling and mopping of the cheeks. He was trembling under the touch of her hand on his shoulder, but his face was turned away from her. "Dick, you aren't going to be selfish now I've come back? I'm so sorry! Oh, I'm so sorry!"

"I knew that was all. Won't you leave me alone? I shall have to suffer for this afterward."

"You won't!" She bent down and whispered in his ear. When the fountains of the great deep are broken up, there follow rain and miracles. "Yes, I do," she said, flushing crimson. "My darling, I do. I don't care. You can sulk as much as you like and I won't be angry. I've been a villain—a wicked little villain. Shall I go down on my knees and tell you so? Don't be stupid, Dickie. It's no use pretending. You know you care for me."

"I do! God knows I do!"

"What nonsense, then, pretending to be selfish!" The voice grew unsteady. "D'you remember the Dover boat? Take that, then, and be sensible. Oh, help me, Dick!" she whispered. "I can't make love all by myself."

The unspoken argument clinched all, and Maisie was in Dick's arms crying as though her heart would burst.

"Hush, dear, hush. Why, what's the use of worrying? It's all right now," said Dick, stroking the head on his shoulder.

"We did belong, Dick, didn't we? It was my fault—all my fault," Maisie whimpered, her face hidden.

"I like that fault. Be more faultsome."

"'Course you did." She laughed through her tears. "I—I had to do all the—all the lovemaking. It was horrible!"

"It was only me, what did it matter? If it had been a strange man you might have objected. And then, again, you took me on my blind side."

"That's an ugly word, and you aren't going to use it any more."

"But it's true, dear. I'd give everything except you to see your face again. But I'm blind."

Maisie thought for a minute till love gave her pure reason. "That's nonsense too. Listen, stupid. You said ten years were nothing. And they weren't. We belonged just the same. Now do you remember out on the flats with the pistol when my hair got into your eyes?" Dick caught the click of hairpins, and Maisie's long locks fell about his face. "You couldn't see now if you tried ever so. Let's pretend it's only my wig in your eyes for just a little longer—for fifty or sixty years. Fifty's five times less important than ten. Can't you see that, darling?" She shook her head to increase both the darkness and the understanding.

"I see," said Dick very contentedly. "Oh, it's good to have you back again, Maisie!"

"It's gooder to be back, bad boy."

And they argued that point gravely with interruptions, and they discussed ways and means also with interruptions, and they took no count of time till Maisie said, "I haven't any clothes. I haven't eaten anything for years. I haven't anywhere to live except in the little house, and the caretaker there will be out, and I must go and be a party."

"What's that, dear?"

"There was a man once," said Maisie, a hairpin between her teeth, "who was always trying to drag me to a registrar's office to be married. He told me that one or other of the parties must always give a notice to the registrar. I shall buy a thick veil and be that party. Isn't it nice to know we've only ourselves to think of?"

"I remember that man," said Dick. "I feel that I ought to be that party."

"Never mind. Afterward you shall beat me. I think it would do me good. I wants to be beaten. Oh, Dick, I've been such a bad, double bad villain. A villain with a Melancolia."

"By Jove! That reminds me of something I'd completely forgotten. I did a Melancolia before I went"—

"Ah, no; not that word!"

"Began to see, then. She's up in a corner somewhere, and I thought a good deal of her at one time. What do you think?"

The voice was the voice of the man who had told her the tale of his doings in the park, what time he looked to kick the world before him.

"Is it the veiled canvas on the easel?" asked Maisie.

"Yes. Well"—

She was looking at a formless, scarred blur of paint. Somebody had used the palette knife with deadly skill. It was a cruel, wicked wrong, and she could not understand it. But for Dick's sake she must make no sign. Her eyes were very dim, and her voice choked with the hard held tears as she made answer, still gazing on the wreck:

"Oh, Dick, it is good!"

Dick heard the sob and took it for tribute. "I thought you'd like it," he said, smiling at her across the room. And she would have given the world to cry, but she came back to his arms instead to bid him goodby for a little while.

"Dick," she said when the long farewell was ended, "do you imagine when a woman loves a man that she cares for his work? She loves him for himself—self—self. Now I must fly, and—please may I sing on the staircase going down?"

There was very little thought of song in Maisie's heart when she went out unless it were the old rhyme, "Lord ha' mercy on me, this is none of I!" She wanted to sit down and be quiet—very quiet—in her half dismantled house. Torpenhow did not appear, and the staircases were empty of life. "That's nice of him," said Maisie, and fled in a cab to astonish the caretaker across the park.

"Halloo!" said Torpenhow, entering the studio after Dick had enjoyed two blissful hours of thought. "I'm back. Are you feeling any better?"

"Torp, I don't know what to say. Come here," Dick coughed huskily.

"What's the need for saying anything? Get up and tramp."

They walked up and down as of custom, Torpenhow's hand on Dick's shoulder.

"How in the world did you find it all out?" said Dick, beaming.

"You shouldn't go off your head if you want to keep secrets, Dickie. It was absolutely impertinent on my part, but if you'd seen me rocketing about on a half trained French troop horse under a blazing sun you'd have laughed. There's going to be a charivari in my rooms tonight. Seven other devils"—

"I know—the row in the southern Sudan. I surprised their councils the other day, and it made me unhappy. Have you fixed your flint to go? Who do you work for?"

"Haven't signed any contracts yet. I wanted to see how your business would turn out."

"Would you have stayed with me then if—things had gone wrong?"

"Don't ask me too much. I'm only a man."

"You've tried to be an angel very successfully."

"Oh, ye-es! Well, do you attend the function tonight? We shall be half screwed before the morning. All the men believe the war's a certainty."

"Of course I'll come. I haven't turned my back on the old life yet."

That night there was tumult on the stairs. The correspondents poured in from the theater, dinner and music hall to Torpenhow's room that they might discuss their plan of campaign in the event of the certainty of military operations being a certainty. Torpenhow, the Keneu and the Nilghai had bidden all the men they had worked with to the orgy, and Mr. Beeton, the housekeeper, declared that never in his checkered experience had he seen quite such a fancy lot of gentlemen. They waked the chambers with shoutings and song, and the elder men were quite as bad as the younger. For the chances of war were in front of them, and all knew what those meant.

When the clamor was at its height Dick entered with his great happiness upon his face. The room was heavy with tobacco smoke and the fume of strong drinks, and the men were settled in unpicturesque attitudes on chair, sofa and table. There was a general shout.

"Poor, secondhand gladiators!" he said with pretended scorn. "You only exist to describe who will die on the sands out there. Half of you will be dead this time next year. The Sudan kills specials."

"Ave, imperator, te morituri salutant!" said the Keneu. "Get into a chair, and don't moralize. The public wants us as much as we want you."

"By the way, what does the dear public say about me?"

"One paper said six weeks ago that it deeply regretted to hear you weren't quite well. The rest have forgotten by this time," said the Nilghai.

"Sweet creatures! They naturally would. Give me a drink." And by the instinct of association he began to hum the terrible "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Man after man caught it up—it was a tune they knew well—till the windows shook to the clang, the Nilghai's deep voice leading:

"Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord;
He is trampling out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored;
He hath loosed the fateful lightning of his terrible swift sword—
His truth is marching on."

"How does the next verse go?" said the Keneu. And they swept off again, beating time on the table:

"He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat;
He is sifting out the hearts of men before his judgment seat;
Oh, be swift, my soul, to meet him, be jubilant, my feet!
Our God is marching on."

Then Cassavetti, very proud of his knowledge:

"In the beauty of the lilies"—

"Hold on!" said Torpenhow. "We've nothing to do with that. It belongs to another man."

"No," said Dick to himself under his breath, "the other man belongs."

THE END.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic.

"I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

EMIL WALTZ IN JAIL.

Alleged Murderer of Little Alphonse Wilmes of Detroit Is Caught.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—The leaden heels of justice have at last overtaken Emil Waltz, the man who is suspected of the atrocious murder of Alphonse Wilmes nearly six weeks ago. The crime is still fresh in the public memory. The discovery of the violated body of the child, the intense excitement which spread all over the state, the arrest of suspicious tramps, the fastening of suspicion upon Emil Waltz and the offering of $1,000 reward by the county were, a month ago, the topics of the hour. Sunday Waltz was brought secretly to the city from Toledo and is now locked up at the central station. The police are elated.

To the Toledo police belongs the credit for the arrest, to them he denied all knowledge of the crime and stating he had not been in Detroit since five weeks ago last Tuesday. The Detroit police, knowing well the dogged persistence of justice, never lost confidence in the belief that Waltz would eventually be traced down and their faith is rewarded.

Superintendent Downey feels certain of Waltz's conviction for the murder The chain of evidence has gained strength in the weeks of silence.

FIRE AT SAGINAW.

Entire East Sidt Threatened—Three Concerns Burned Out.

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 28.—At 10 o'clock Sunday morning fire was discovered in the storage warehouse of the Bartlett Foundry Co., on South Tilden street, and in a few minutes the mammoth building, a wooden structure 50 by 245 feet, four stories high, was a mass of flames. A heavy west wind was blowing and for a time the entire east side was threatened with destruction.

Before much headway had been gained by the firemen the flames had spread to the shops of the Christie Buggy company, across the street, L. Clinkofstine's junk and scrap iron establishment and the foundry of the Bartletts, all of which were entirely destroyed. It was at the last point the chief fight was made and all of the firm's valuable patterns were destroyed.

ROUND ABOUT US.

Dennis Donahue, section foreman on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern road at Jonesville, was almost instantly killed there Friday by a freight engine. He leaves a widow and three children.—Ex.

Lawyers O'Mealy and Bird of Adrian were in town last Saturday looking over the condition of side walks. A damage suit is soon to be brought against the township for injury received by Mrs. C. DesErmia last spring when she fell on the walks breaking her shoulder.—Onsted News.

An exchange thus toasts the "kicker:" "Here's to the kicker, the faint hearted kicker, the kicker so helpless and blue, who always is crying and never is trying some good for his town to do. No use to correct him nor need we expect him to get to the front like a man: for while others rustle, he'll sit down and hustle objections to raise to each plan."

Mrs. Bridget Johnson appeared before the council Monday night and stated that the water stood continually in the cellar of her residence on West Adrian Street; she averred that after a visit to that cellar she was compelled to bathe herself with kerosene "to make the blood circulate." The solons at once got down to business and took measures to find and remove the obstructions in that drain.—Blissfield Advance.

Invitations have been printed at this office for the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Roger's marriage. The gathering will occur on Monday, Sept. 28 and only about 50 of those immediately concerned will be invited. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were married in 1853. Fifty years of peaceful married life such as this venerable couple have lived is deserving of notice by its unusualness.—Blissfield News.

L. G. Packer and Miss Evelyn Hackman of Burr Oak, were married Tuesday at the bride's home in that city. They came to Adrian on the afternoon train and were met there by Floyd Williams and brought to this place, going immediately to the home recently fitted up for them. Numerous signs on the house the next morning acquainted his friends with the facts. The Local joins his many friends with best wishes.—Clinton Local.

Frank Dunham and Mrs. Wm. Dunn who have been living together in Adrian as man and wife and have raised a family of children, were discovered last week not to be man and wife by the testimony of Dunham who was on trial charged with threatening his family. The trouble began on account of some property the woman had and had deeded to Dunham so that her own husband could not trace her. It seems she wanted the property deeded back to her and this seems to have raised the rumpus. They ought to be made to migrate to Utah.—Ex.

THE FAMOUS OPTICIAN of Detroit,

The eye, when properly cared for affords the keenest delight because of the pleasures we are able to enjoy through its medium. When not cared for and its warnings are unheeded, it becomes an instrument of torture. Headaches, eye pains, burning, itching sensation, strained vision, nervous troubles and many bodily ills are the results accruing from over worked eyes, eyes that need help. My examination reveals all hidden troubles, and it is my province to fit the right glasses to any and all defects of vision. SATISFACTION GUARANTEED BY

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Sept. 28, 1903.

The President has returned to the White House, cabinet officials are coming back from their country homes and members of Congress are once more seen on the streets of Washington, which have resumed their customary lively appearance, after the quiet of the summer months. Both the President and Mrs. Roosevelt are looking well. That cannot be denied, although more must not be said as it seriously annoys Mr. Roosevelt to be told that he is stout. He indignantly denies the charge that he is growing stouter. "It is perfectly preposterous to say that I weigh 220 pounds," he said recently, to a friend at Oyster Bay. "I weigh nothing of the kind, I never weighed over 208 in my life and I weigh only 196 today." He maintains, moreover that he does not need to take exercise to keep down his weight but that he has been riding hard every day and chopping wood for an hour each day merely to keep himself in "good condition." With the President there returned to Washington all the members of the White House family save Theodore, Jr. and Kermit, who have already begun the school year at Groton.

Representative Cannon, the prospective Speaker of the House, has been in Washington for some days house hunting and has finally rented a handsome residence on Vermont Avenue which was, until recently, occupied by the Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Sanger. For many years Mr. Cannon has lived, during the sessions of Congress, at a modest hostelry where entertaining was impossible, but from the fact that he has taken a house it is believed that he expects to entertain hereafter as becomes the Speaker of the House. His home will be presided over by Miss Cannon assisted by her sister, Mrs LeFuere, who will spend the season in Washington. Other members of Congress are here making arrangements for their stay in Washington while still others have telegraphed for accommodations at the various hotels or have engaged houses and apartments by correspondence. A number of senators and representatives will arrive in Washington this week, some of whom will remain for the convening of the special session which will occur on November 9.

One of the busiest men in the national capital these days is Elliot Woods, superintendent of the capitol. Mr. Woods has received instructions to have the capitol in readiness for the special session on November 9. Workmen are busily engaged in both Senate and House, polishing the handsome mahogany desks, retouching the woodwork and walls and holystoning and oiling the floors, preparatory to laying the handsome velvet carpets with which both chambers are furnished. The green and gold carpet which was purchased for the Senate last year will be relaid but the House is to have a new one. Rocherman, an understudy of the late Brumidi, the artist whose work adorns the rotunda of the capitol, has spent the greater part of the summer in frescoing the Speaker's lobby, which is now more ornate than ever. Mr. Woods in order to accommodate the new Congress has placed 400 desks in the chamber, the actual number needed being but 385, and the extra 15 being added to preserve the symetry of the arrangement. A new steam table has been constructed in the Senate restaurant and everywhere about the capitol there is an appearance of bustle and anticipation. The proprietor of the Senate and House restaurants is in some doubt as to his profits this year. They have been unusually handsome in the past but a goodly share of them has accrued from the sale of liquor. By a provision in the Immigration bill passed at the last session no more liquor can be sold in the capitol and this source of revenue will be cut off.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rogers celebrated their

GOLDEN WEDDING

At their home in Onsted yesterday. Fifty guests were entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Rogers celebrated their golden wedding at their home in Onsted yesterday. Fifty years ago Sept. 28, 1853, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were united in marriage at the bride's home, Lundys Lane, Erie County, N. Y.

Soon after their marriage they came to Michigan and located at Springville in Cambridge Township, where they lived until 1868 except two years which they spent in Iowa. During this time Mr. Rogers worked at his trade as a blacksmith. In 1868 they moved on a farm ten miles west of Tecumseh where they have lived for 35 years until a few months ago, when they moved to their present home in Onsted.

They raised a family of five children, three sons and two daughters, Ira J. Rogers, Bert E. Rogers, Cecil E. Rogers, Mrs. J H. Smith and Mrs. H. S. Waring, all of whom are living and married and with their husbands and wives were present yesterday at the golden wedding. Others present were Miss Lena Smith, Miss Lelia Rogers, Miss Thelma Rogers, Linn G. Rogers, Roger and Lester Waring, grandchildren; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rogers, Mrs. E. S. Tate, of Clinton; Joel Rogers, of Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Galloway, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Galloway, of Adrian: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Alderdyce, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Groger, Thos. Alderdyce, of Cambridge; and Mrs. Sylvia Rogers, of Buffalo, N. Y.; who was present at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers in 1853 and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Chaucey Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. J B. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Lee.

The day was a beautiful one and all that could be desired. The home was nicely decorated in white and gold for the occasion. At one o'clock the guests were served with a golden wedding dinner. Many handsome and valuable presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and many kind words spoken.

Mention was made that during the 50 years of married life of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and their raising a family of five children all of whom are married and of the eight grandchildren only one death has occurred that of one grandchild.

Some time was spent in songs and speaking and the following poem, furnished by Mrs. Sylvia Rogers, was read. At a late hour in the afternoon the friends departed expressing their willingness to be present at the diamond wedding in 1928.

The golden hopes of life's young days,
The golden dreams and fancies
That strewed the future's golden paths
With amaranths and pansies,
The golden hour when love was breathed
And loving hearts were plighted,
The hour more golden yet, when love
Two loving hearts united.
The golden years that lay beyond
Their golden raptures shedding,
All their golden glories blend
To form this golden wedding.
From youth to age this wedded pair
Have journeyed on together
Not always gentle was the wind,
Not always bland the weather
Yet few and light have been their cares
And light and few their crosses,
And God has shown his pitying face
Amid their griefs and losses.
O, sore the travel and the toil
To reach the roseate present,
Had not affection cheered the way
And made the journey pleasant.
What if the cheek has lost its bloom,
The eye its golden lustre
What if the locks are thinned and bleached
Which on the temples cluster
Still hope is fresh and hearts are young
And love is unabated,
And men and angels hail, tonight,
The married and the mated.
The loveliest thing on earth is Love,
The loveliest and the purest;
The dearest thing on earth is Love,
The dearest and the surest;
And not alone is heavenly sweet
The honey of its kisses
The very tears of Love are sweet,
Its very pangs are blisses,
And they who love with love the best,
The fondest and the strongest,
Love with the loveliest love of all,
And they who love the longest.
Ah! Love's dear veterans well deserve
Our greetings and our praises,
Since, where we looked for winter's snows
They point to Spring's sweet daises;
Since when the sea is smooth and fair,
Or black the tide is flowing,
Through all the voyage of the years
They keep their fond hearts glowing;
Since, though the frame may show the trace
Of many a blight and fever,
The teeming vineyards of the soul
Are fresh and green as ever;
Since, through the long sweet married days
Their faith and fervor proving,
They make a noble thing of life,
A god-like thing of loving.
O, happy, true and honored pair!
O, ever leal and loyal!
We pay you willing court tonight,
For love has made you royal!
All gentle thoughts and hopes are yours,
All wishes sweet and tender
What richer tributes can we bring,
What worthier homage render?
God's cherubs still your steps attend,
His peace your fond hearts strengthen.
As o'er the sky above your heads
The evening shadows lengthen;
And when the night comes on, at last,
And brings its welcome slumber,
Sweet angels, from the wondrous host
Which none may name or number,
Shall lead your still united souls
Through shining arch and portal
To gardens fair and pastures green,
Where love shall be immortal.

A Reading man want to the fair at Montpelier, and on his way home when crossing a bridge the horse broke through and dropped out of sight. It was thought the horse was dead, but when the harness was removed he jumped up and went home, leaving the buggy and passengers to look out for themselves.—Hudson Post.

LENAWEE COUNTY FAIR

Which was held at Adrian last week

WAS A GRAND SUCCESS

About 4000 people visited the grounds Thursday.

The Lenawee County Fair this year although pronounced a great success in every way, seemed a little short on Tecumseh exhibits and long on Ohio patrons. In looking the entire length of the cattle and sheep stalls one did not find a single pen which could be claimed for our own town while there were fine displays from outside the county and state.

The sheep and swine exhibit were unusually large. Inquiries among the horses showed that Dell Cairns exhibited gentleman's driving horses, but other Tecumseh horsemen were conspicious by their absence.

The poultry display was unusually fine, the exhibit entirely filling the building intended for it and running over into an improvised chicken house near by. In this department Mrs. A. K. Waldron took two blue cards and one red one on White Plymouth Rocks, and James Waldron two first premiums on Buff Leghorns and one first on Buff Cochins & Bantams. An interesting feature in this building was an incubator from the Rose lodge poultry yards, owned by Gertrude Roath and Mrs. M. J. Pierce of Adrian, which was filled with three days old brown Leghorn chicks. The poultry exhibitors hope next year to have a larger building in which to make their display of fowls.

B. I. Laing in the fruit department was authority for the statement that the apple and grape crop this year was not quite up to the usual standard. Mr. Laing was an exhibitor of grapes, plums and pear and took his share of blue cards.

Miles Baldwin, our veteran exhibitor, scored a triumph for Tecumseh township in securing the special prize of $10 offered for the greatest variety of corn grown in any township. Mr. Baldwin canvassed the town and found 25 varieties and won the premium. He was also awarded fourth premium on his collection of vegetables and first and second on celery, carrots and beets, also a first on Maiden Blush apples.

The display of cut flowers was fine, particularly the astors and dahlias. Smith, the florist, made a good exhibit of ferns of some new varities.

The Grange building was a place that attracted crowds all day. Seven Granges are chosen each year to compete for the $40 prize offered for the most attractive booth and this year there were many unique features in the different booths. The Medina Grange showed among the fruits and flowers a ring of immortelles woven in form of a hoe, spade and rake. A feature of Lime Creek display was a cheese, some honey and a portierre made of alternate bits of cornstalk and bucke[illegible] fashion of a [illegible] curtain. Deerfield showed a model road. Morenci, the Grange goat made of immortelles. Victorsville gave something newer than the goat in a portierre of ropes of dried apples, not dried apples cut in quarters as our grandmothers used to do, but chopped into small fragments and strung and then knotted into drapery that resembled chenille ropes. The effect was new and pleasing. The names found over the Grange booths were not always those given in the county atlas and were consequently confusing. A spinning wheel of immortelles was an artistic feature of a section marked "Sugartown" and we were afterward told that a school district in or near Morenci delights in this saccharine appellation. But no one seemed able to enlighten us in regard to the precise location of "Bean Creek Valley."

There was a fine bunch of fresh ripe strawberries here and the scenic effect of a wall draping made of wheat straw, evergreen and grasses, was very artistic so we pursued our inquiries in regard to the location of this epitome of the Garden of Eden and an old pioneer who "came in an early day" volunteered the answer to our question and set it to music of his own:

"There is a place called Bean Creek,
Where I have never bean
The people say it does exceed
All they have ever seen.
For you plant a ten-penny nail by night,
And by the break of day
The same will be a crowbar
In Michigan so gay."

So we came to the conclusion that it must be an agricultural district and afterward located it in Rollin township.

In the fancy work department the Misses Williamson were awarded premiums on some pillows, but other Tecumseh exhibitors were absent. The articles in this and the domestic arts were fine and made up in quality what they may have lacked in quantity.

In the fine art department the spaces were well filled, one side being given to amateur and the other to professional workers. There was some good pyrography from the Valley school and some from other sources and this year there were three exhibits of tapestry painting which is new to the fair.

In the educational department there was a showing of kindergarten work and also of map drawing and of drawing from objects that was very creditable and speaks encouragingly of the art education of the future.

Taking it altogether it is really what it has always claimed to be the "Greatest Fair on Earth" still all great things can be improved and if we might be allowed to suggest from this distance some changes which would add to the pleasure and comfort of exhibitors and visitors we would say treat the artist exhibitors with as much consideration as you do exhibitors of swine and poultry and set only expert judges to pass upon the merit of a picture.

It some times takes longer to paint a good picture than to raise a trio of prize chickens or fat a prize hog, and the artist is entitled to as much consideration as the poultry man. Let an artist judge the pictures and a poultry man judge the chickens, do not change them about. It would be unjust and fatal to both.

Then let some one who is accustomed to attend such things run the turn-stile at the gate, instead of volunteer farmers. It some times took as long to get in as it did to eat your dinner after you were safely inside. Such delays are unnecessary at the "Greatest Fair on Earth" and these suggestions for their improvement are entirely gratis.

Alton Kelley, a little boy of Richards street, was taken down with diphtheria last week, and as on Monday Leon Flowe was taken with the same disease, the board of health thought it advisable to close the schools, which they did Monday noon. As no new cases have developed the schools will probably open Monday.—Milan Leader.

If you want a tropical plant to grace your window collection, cut the top off a pineapple and put in a jar of water and place in a sunny window. In about four weeks a mass of roots will start. Then put in rich, sandy soil and give it an abundance of sunshine and water, and it will grow right along and form a pretty plant, as well as a novelty.—Ex.

Fred Ellis had a flattering offer from the Babcock & Wilcox people to go with them and erect boilers same as Mr. Spaulding did here, but on thinking the matter over, he very sensibly decided to remain where he is sure to be appreciated. He remembered how the village officers raised his wages once without his asking, and at the time he was laid up with a broken hip they again showed their appreciation by paying his regular salary and expenses. He is just the man for the place; he runs the plant as carefully as if he owned it. Its a good job for him and the people are satisfied; that makes it binding on both sides.—Clinton Local.

While out driving Saturday, O. R. Pierce met with an accident that has kept him laid up at his home since Monday. One of the buggy thills broke and the horse becoming frightened started to run. Mr. Pierce turned the animal out to the side of the road and run the buggy into a tree. The horse stopped short and began to kick, striking Mr. Pierce on the left leg before he could get out of the buggy. The horse's hoof cut a deep gash in the flesh and the leg was so badly swollen and the wound so painful by Monday, that Dr. Eaton, the attending physician, advised Mr. Pierce to remain in the house for a few days and give the laceration a chance to heal. The horse didn't get a chance to do much running and the only damage done to the rig was the broken thill.—Hudson Gazette.

A WAY OPEN.

Many a Tecumseh knows it well.

There is a way open to convince the greatest skeptic. Scores of Tecumseh people have made it possible. The public statement of their experience is proof the like of which has never been produced before in Tecumseh. Read this case of it given by a citizen:

Vet. O. Austin, who lives with his son, in the northeast section of Tecumseh, says: "I am more than thankful that Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice for they did me a great deal of good, in fact they stopped a dull aching pain in my back which had annoyed me for years, and also rendered the action of the kidney secretions normal which at times were too frequent and highly colored. I tried a number of so called kidney cures but I did not receive any benefit before I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills and I knew people who had used them so I went to C. A. Wright's drug store and got them. To say I entertain a very favorable opinion of them as a kidney medicine is putting it in mild terms. They are all and more than they are represented to be."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over 30 years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

Sent Prisoner by Express.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—The distinction of being the first prisoner ever sent by express, and half-way across the continent at that, undoubtedly belongs to Floyd T. Ferris, who arrived here Saturday by American Express from Columbus, Neb., enroute to Lynn, where he is wanted for the larceny of $250 from the company which transported him. Ferris was willing to return east, so word was sent that it would not be necessary to send an officer after him. He was accordingly entered upon the regular way bill as "one man" consigned to "Police, Lynn." He was placed in the express car with the messenger as guard.

"I am an old soldier," writes Mr. Geo. Watson, of Newton, Ia., "and I have been a great sufferer from nervousness, vertigo and spinal trouble. Have spent considerable money for medicine and doctors, but with little benefit. I was so bad my mind showed signs of weakness. I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine, and I know it saved my life."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.
How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.
What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.
You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

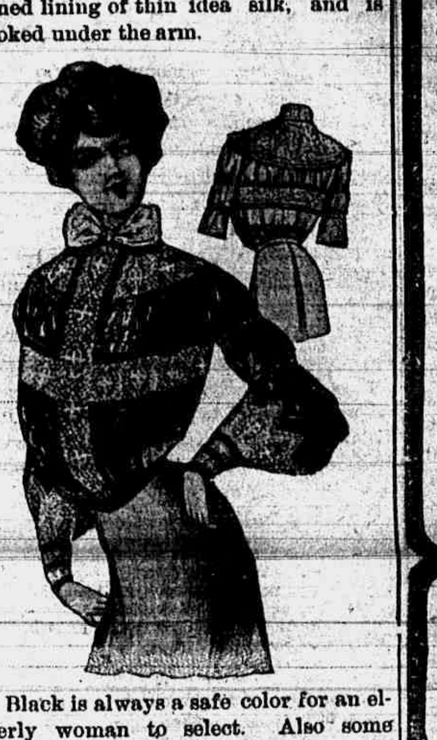
LATEST FASHION NOTES.

A PRETTY TAFFETA WAIST.

Separate waists are always in demand and this pretty bodice is handsomely trimmed with point de Venise lace, and black velvet ribbon. The yoke is of lace, and extending down the entire front is a broad lace band, which runs around the waist just under the arms, and also just above the waist line. These bands of lace are very effectively finished with narrow black velvet ribbon three rows of which also appear on the cuffs. The sleeves may be made elbow length with the deep cuff used, same as the cut. Corticelli sewing silk is generally used on a waist of this kind, which is made over an unboned lining of thin idea silk, and is hooked under the arm.



Black is always a safe color for an elderly woman to select. Also some shades in gun-metal and deep purple are very becoming to women with grey hair. These may be trimmed with white facings, the jackets often showing a jabot in front, which gives a soft full effect Crepe de Chine is also much used and is deservedly popular. A grey crepe de Chine trimmed with black, or white trimmings, is most charming for an elderly woman, the white softening the severity of the dead black.

GENERAL RISING

Insurgents In Eastern Macedonia Proclaim It.

REVOLUTIONISTS HOPEFUL

Anxious to Stir Up War Feeling Among Bulgarian Troops—Town of Razlog Is Burning—Artillery Plainly Heard.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 30.—A telegram received here from the camp of General Zontcheff, the commander-in-chief of the Macedonian insurgents at Razlog (fifty-five miles from Sofia), announces that a general rising was proclaimed Sept. 27 in the districts of Razlog, Nevrokop, Demirhissar, Melnik and Seres and that all the insurgent bands in eastern Macedonia had received direct orders to begin operations.

The chief hope of the revolutionary organization now centres in the outbreak in eastern Macedonia, which is expected to assume considerable proportions, as the leaders there are all officers of the Bulgarian reserve. This, the sympathizers with the Macedonian cause hope, will arouse a war feeling in the Bulgarian army and force the government to espouse the Macedonian cause.

A dispatch from Rilo Monastery says the town of Razlog has been in flames since Sunday night.

The insurgents are attacking Butchevo and severe fighting is reported to be going on between the insurgent bands and the Turkish troops. The sound of artillery is plainly heard at Rilo.

IN HOT PURSUIT

Officers Running Down Suspected Murderer of J. H. Bradley.

A CRIME AT MEMPHIS

Farmer's Body Laid on Floor of His Burning Barn — Ex-Convict Layham Is Charged With the Deed—He Has Taken to the Woods.

Memphis, Mich., Oct. 1.—Murder is scented in the mysterious burning of the barn and body of L. H. Bradley, a prominent farmer and justice of the peace of Wales township, Tuesday night. He had spent the evening in this village, returning home about 11 o'clock and drove directly to the barn to put out his horse. Fifteen minutes later the family noticed the barn on fire. The barn doors were all closed and Mr. Bradley's body was found about ten feet from the doors, but was nearly consumed before it could be taken out. As Bradley had no lantern and was not smoking, the neighbors are ready to believe that he was murdered and the barn fired to hide the crime. The prosecuting attorney and coroner are investigating.

The authorities of the village also sent for Under Sheriff J. J. Davidson of Port Huron, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Charles Cantine of Wales who began a systematic investigation of the case, but no evidence of murder could be found on the terribly charred body. Guy Layham, an ex-convict, is however, suspected of committing the horrible deed.

Was Afaird of Layham.

How the rumor started that Bradley came to his death at the hands of Guy Layham is not known. It probably started through the fear expressed by Bradley during life that he was afraid that Layham would do him injury through revenge. Some ten years ago Guy Layham, who was then about 25 years old, and who lived about four miles northwest of the Bradley farm, near Goodells, or Wales Center, was employed by Bradley as a farm hand. Shortly after leaving Bradley's employment the employer charged him with stealing a harness and swore out a warrant for his arrest.

Before he was approached for this offense he was arrested on the charge of stealing wheat from the barn of Thomas Ryan, in the same general neighborhood. This crime was brought home to him and he was sentenced to the Jackson prison for three years. While being taken to the prison he swore that he would be revenged on both Ryan and Bradley, as he blamed Bradley for being too active in assisting at the conviction. As soon as Layham's term of imprisonment expired he returned to his old haunts and set fire to Ryan's farmhouse. For this crime he was given a sentence of seven years at Jackson.

This sentence, with the good time off, expired about two or three months ago, but it is but recently that Layham appeared in the neighborhood. It was after his reappearance that Bradley frequently remarked that Layham's presence made him nervous.

Pursuing the Suspect.

Search for Layham, though not resulting in his capture, has brought conviction that he is fleeing from the officers.

He was seen two miles east of the crime, making across country for a piece of timber near the Grand Trunk railroad. A search through the woods by the officers was a fruitless one

Again later in the day he was seen by two women making his way toward Lenox on the Grand Trunk track. The under sheriff had the train flagged and left on it for Lenox, expecting, with the assistance of the officer of that village, to capture the suspect.

The inquest over the remains will be held today and the funeral Friday.

Lenox, Mich., Oct. 1.—Under Sheriff Bradley of Port Huron arrived here last evening in the course of the search of Guy Layham. He and Deputy Sheriff Cantine have followed the trail of Layham along the Grand Trunk track from Hickey station, but lost it in the country some distance from this place. It is believed that Layham took to the woods.

Wants Them Ousted.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 1.—Proceedings against two big corporations, the National Biscuit company of New Jersey and the American Radiator company of Chicago, to revoke their right to continue business in Michigan, were begun today by Attorney-General Blair. In the reports which they are required to make to the secretary of state, these companies refuse to give the list of stockholders and their residences. Judge Wiest has granted an order requiring the companies to show cause before Oct. 26 why they should not be enjoined from doing business in the state.

Killed In Battle Creek.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 1.—Herbert Keedwell, a marine fireman, who came here twenty days ago from Detroit to work for the Grand Trunk, was decapitated Wednesday. Keedwell was working on the track when a light engine backed over him. His head was picked up ten feet from the body.

Stole 2,000 Pounds of Butter.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Oct. 1.—The Chesterfield creamery was again broken into at night and 2,000 pounds of butter secured by the thieves. They first stole the creamery team and wagon and hauled the load away in it.

Three Section Men Killed.

TEN TRAIN VICTIMS

Two Horrible Accidents Cost That Many Lives.

SCORE OR MORE INJURED

Engine Crashed Into Street Car in Chicago—Party of Persons in Philadelphia Suburb Run Down by Train.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Five persons were killed and a score of others were injured in a collision between the Wisconsin Central limited passenger train which leaves here at 6 o'clock, and a Forty-third avenue street car at Fifty-second avenue last night. The street car was crowded with passengers returning from the Harlem race track, and every man in the car was injured. The motorman had received the signal to cross and had just reached the center of the tracks when the passenger train crashed into his car. None of the passengers had time to escape.

The dead: William Griffin, Kansas City; F. Roberts, Joseph Butler, colored; J. Williams, jockey; unidentified man.

The blame for the accident is laid by Motorman Kilroy on the wet rails of the track. He saw the danger in time to avoid it and applied the brakes, but the car slid along the track with locked wheels. The passenger train, which was running at a high rate of speed, struck the street car near the center, cutting it squarely in two.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 1.—A merry party, composed of about a dozen persons were run down by a passenger train last night at Sharon Hill, seven miles south of this city on the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington railroad, killing five and injuring three others.

The dead: David Farran, Sr., aged 60 years, of Sharon Hill; David Farran, Jr., aged 12 years; A. N. Farran, James Brown, aged 25 years, of Philadelphia; Jane Clark of Philadelphia.

The accident occurred in front of the Sharon Hill station while the party was waiting for a train. There had been a family reunion at the Farran home, and several members of the Farran family had accompanied the guests to the station. The Lamokin accommodation, for which the party was waiting, usually passes the station on the fourth track. This was known to some of the party, and when the train was heard coming in the dis[illegible] everyone passed over to the third, or freight, track. Before anyone could give a warning the accommodation train came rapidly down the third track and ploughed into the group.

The engineer tried to stop his train before it struck the party, but he was unable to do so until it had ran several hundred feet past the station.

GOVERNMENT FINANCES.

Treasurer Roberts Issues Important Statement.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Ellis H. Roberts, treasurer of the United States, has submitted to Secretary Shaw his report on the condition of the treasury June 30, 1903, and its operations during the past fiscal year. The total net revenue for the year were $560,396,674, an increase of $38,988,439 over the year preceding, and the total expenditures $506,099,007, an increase of $35,782,034. The surplus was $54,297,667, as compared with $91,287,375 in 1902. In the receipts there was an increase of upwards of $80,000,000 from customs and a falling off of over $41,000,000 from internal revenue, the latter being the result of legislation enacted with that object.

On the side of the expenditures there was an increase in every important account except pensions and interest, in which there were slight savings. The expenditures for the two military departments, which together amounted to $191,237,554, forming by far the heaviest outlay for any single purpose, were upward of $21,000,000 greater than the year before. The aggregate income including, beside the revenues, the receipts from bonds, notes and coin in certificates, was $1,211,394,097, and the aggregate outgo $122,547,665.

Society Girl Drowned Herself.

Santa Cruz, Cal., Oct. 1.—The body of Bertha Page, a young society woman who disappeared from San Jose three weeks ago, was discovered floating in the bay here today. It was about half a mile from the cliff where her jacket and gloves were recently found, giving rise to the belief that she had jumped into the sea.

Sues Her Mother-In-Law.

Adrian, Mich., Oct. 1.—Mrs. Emma Betts has brought suit against Mrs. Elisabeth Betts, her mother-in-law, for $5,000 personal damages. The complaint says that her husband, George Betts, went to the home of his mother, and when she followed him and asked him to go home the mother ordered her out of the house, followed her to the street and assaulted her. In the fight she alleges her husband held her hands and his mother beat her so severely she required a physician.

Talk of Food Companies Combine.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 1.—Rumors of a big food trust, to include the Force Food Co. of Buffalo; the Malta Vita Co. of Battle Creek and Toronto; the Maple-Flake Co. of Battle Creek and Buffalo, and the Cero-Fruto Co. of Battle Creek are afloat here. The Postum Cereal Co., the largest in this city and the world, is not considered in the trust movement.

Broke into his House.

S. Le Quinn of Cavendish, Vt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of Chronic Constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested and now he's entirely cured. They're guaranteed to cure, at C. A. Wright's drug store.

QUIET AGAIN AT SOO.

No More Free Meals and Men Are Seeking Employment.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 1.—When the first train load of woodsmen from up the line of the Algoma Central railroad reached town last night they found the ex-employes of the Consolidated who had been fed and lodged by company for the last three days dispersed by soldiery, a big armed guard on duty at the depot and a rain storm prevailing. There were 250 of them, guarded by fifteen regulars under command of a sergeant. An agent of the company had accompanied the soldiers, and on the train distributed to the woodsmen tickets for lodging and breakfast.

The men left the train and went down town quietly. Agents for mines and camps at once began engaging them for work at distant camps. There are 400 to come in today.

The bars have again been opened and some are drinking heavily, but there is no serious trouble.

Several arrests were made Wednesday for disorderly conduct, which as the town is still under martial law is technically charged as rioting and inciting to riot.

The examination of the twelve imprisoned rioters has been set for October 5.

No more free meals are to be served by the company. The men are seeking employment in new fields.

OFF FOR CAMP.

Many Companies Depart From Detroit For West Point, Ky.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 1.—Wednesday was one of the liveliest days in local military circles the city has witnessed since the soldier boys were leaving for the front during the strenuous days of the Spanish-American war.

When the many companies, including the Detroit militia and others from different parts of the state, formed at the Light Gutrd armory and marched out to Fort street and down to the Union station their admirers were lined up by the hundred along the way.

The first battalion, including Companies A, B, C and H of Detroit left headquarters about 3 o'clock and took the train an hour later. The third, including Companies E. F, G and K, also of Detroit, left later in the evening, as did also the second, which included Company M of Port Huron, I of Ann Arbor and L of Ypsilanti, picking up Company D at Monroe. Other companies came in from Flint, Cheboygan, Alpena and other points in the state late in the evening, the last train leaving about 10:30. They will reach West Point, Ky., some time today and will immediately pitch camp and get ready for business.

MASSACRED

Population of Razlog Butchered by Turkish Soldiery.

Sofia, Oct. 1.—A dispatch from the Rila monastery gives a report that the whole population of the district of Razlog has been massacred or has fled. Three thousand women and children fugitives from the Turkish soldiery have arrived at Rila. Many villages around Razlog are said to be burning. The town itself is surrounded with tents occupied by the Turkish troops, who avoid fighting and, according to the dispatch, attack only innocent people.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 1.—Dr. Wilson W. Stroup, aged 54 years, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver at his home in this city. Dr. Stroup was to have been arraigned in court on a serious charge. Worry over this charge is believed to have caused him to take his life.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—A fresh decree of Emperor William is in preparation, forbidding the ill-treatment of recruits. Public feeling on the subject is rising on account of the numerous instances of such abuses which have been reported during the last fortnight.

Raised Price of Bread.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 30.—All of the bakers of Bay City have raised the price of bread to 4 cents a loaf to dealers for straight pound loaves and resolved to discontinue making pound and a half loaves for 3½ cents. Heretofore consumers have bought both at 5 cents, according to where they traded. Now the bread-eater will have to be content with the smaller loaf, which will cost 5 cents straight.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

German Syrup.

We want to impress on our readers that Boschee's German Syrug is positively the only preparation on the market to-day that does relieve and cure consumption. It contains the specifics, such as pure tar, extracts of gums, etc., which have been so highly endorsed for the cure of coughs, colds and consumption by the great medical congresses. The consumptive, whether his disease is in the throat or lungs, must have rest at night, and be free from the spasm of dry and racking cough in the morning. The diseased parts want rest, healing and soothing treatment, and the patient needs fresh air, good food, etc. German Syrup will give free and easy expectoration in the morning with speedy and permanent relief. RUSSIA'S EVACUATION.

Much Concern in China as to What Will Take Place.

Pekin, Oct. 1.—Attention here is concentrated on Oct. 8, the date fixed by Russia for her evacuation of Mukden and New Chwang. Russia's action in fulfilling or ignoring her agreement to evacuate will be the chief factor, it is considered, in determining her relations with Japan.

Prince Ching, the president of the foreign board, assures the foreign ministers that he is continuing to resist the Russian proposals. Prince Ching told M. Lessar, the Russian minister, that Russia should carry out her agreement first, and then the other concessions she requires in Manchuria will be discussed. The Chinese papers assert that M. Lessar is pressing for Russian control of the customs and mining rights in Manchuria, in addition to the proposals embodied in the last Russian evacuation scheme.

Uchida Yasuya, the Japanese minister, is opposing the Russian demands, Sir E. M. Satow, the British minister, and United States Minister Conger have limited their representations to friendly advice. Uchida is negotiating for the inclusion of the opening of Mukden, Tatungkao and Antung in the Japanese commercial treaty.

PARKS BLEEDS THEM.

Waves His Magic Wand and Gets $1,000 Voted to His Use.

Kansas City, Oct. 1.—Samuel Parks, walking delegate from New York, Wednesday waved his magic wand over the delegates to the annual convention of the International Association of Bridge & Structural Ironworkers and brought peace and harmony out of conditions that seemed only to portend strife and a split that might have meant a disruption of the organization. Before the convention convened the followers of President Buchanan intimated strongly that they would withdraw if money were voted to local No. 2 of New York. Later, after Parks had addressed the delegates, they voted $1,000 on a loan from the organization. Practically no opposition to the appropriation was displayed.

Mr. Parks evidently had reconsidered his plan to ask the convention to vote an assessment of one dollar against each of the 80,000 members throughout the country, and heriled the statement that he would finally ask that each member of the association donate a day's salary, which would aggregate close to $500,000.

After the convention Mr. Parks said of its action: "I guess I'm doing pretty well. I seem to be in the running yet."

Another victory in a way for the New York leader was the action of the convention in voting almost unanimously to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor. President Buchanan, who voted against the affiliation at the Boston convention two years ago, briefly addressed the convention in favor of it. He had favored such action in his annual report.

Want Him Paroled.

Manistique, Mich., Sept. 30.—An effort is being made to secure the parole of John Gonyea, who last July was sentenced to a term of years in the Marquette prison for killing an 11-year-old boy. Gonyea's case is a pitiable one. He is nearly 73 years old and in poor health. Last April, having been annoyed by a number of boys who were throwing tin cans at his door, he got his gun, went out in the yard and blazed away. The bullet struck and killed a young lad named Lundvall. The petition asking parole is being largely signed.

Drink Lots of Booze.

Escanaba, Mich., Sept. 30.—The city of Escanaba is considered the banner community of the north country, from a liquor traffic standpoint. The population is 10,000, yet there are 100 saloons, two breweries and two wholesale liquor houses, aside from the drug stores and a number of other stands. This is an average of one licensed bar for every thiry or forty men, still the dealers report business good.

Killed While Rescuing Cow.

Millington, Mich., Sept. 30.—Leon Clough, the 6-yera-old son of Charles B. Clough, of this place, was driving the family cow home from pasture when a Michigan Central train came along. The cow was upon the track and in his anxiety to save the animal little Leon was himself run over and killed. The cow was unhurt.

LARGEST EVER MADE.

State Tax Levy Amounts to Over $4,000,000 This Year.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 1.—Auditor General Powers sent out to the several counties of the state Wednesday the annual apportionment of state taxes to be assessed on the December tax rolls.

The levy is the largest ever made in the state, it being $4,003,024 62, as compared with $3,835,844 97 in 1901 and $3,725,875 01 in 1899. The apportionment contains about fifty different items, and the work of preparing it has been no trifling task.

Terrible Experience in Sewer.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 1.—Frank Drummond, a laborer in a sewer construction gang, had a terrible underground experience that will keep him in a hospital for some time. Drummond was sent into a sewer with a lantern to get some tools. He suddenly smelled gas and started to run to the nearest opening, but the gas overtook him, and his lamp exploded it. The man's face was horribly burned and the flesh from one hand blown off to the bone, while he suffers much from the shock. Workmen dragged him to the surface and took him home.

IN THE PALM OF HIS HAND

By EUGENIE UHLRICH

Copyright, 1903, by McClure's Newspaper Syndicate

MISS GERVAISE PLYMPTON had one hobby—chiromancy. She spent all her spare time investigating its mysteries. It was even said that her chief reason for entering the hospital training school was the opportunity it offered to feel the pulse and incidentally glance at palms of the hands of the patients. Out of it all she had drawn confirmation for certain palmist theories and amended others by a few rules of her own which she contemplated publishing—by and by.

There is a popular superstition that young house doctors and nurses always fall in love with each other. But Miss Plympton was saved from this extravagance of emotions by her discovery that all her contemporary doctors had forbidding lines. In the hand of one she discovered unmistakable evidence of mental aberration, in another signs of a violent temper, and still another was hopelessly stingy. The owner of the latter, however, persisted in liking her in spite of all her snubs. So it came about that when he established a successful practice in a little town near the city it was she for whom he sent when he had a difficult case.

One stifling summer day she received a telegram from him:

Come at once. Only girl in family has typhoid. Family lost their heads. Cook gone.

It was not clear from the telegram which was worse, the typhoid or the desertion of the cook. But Miss Plympton concluded that she would risk impression in the latter's place and went down on the next train.

The doctor met her and drove her to the Macdonald house. There for two days and nights she saw and heard nothing but her patient. Then Mrs. Macdonald recovered sufficiently from her exhaustion to take her turn at the nursing again. Miss Plympton slipped out on the veranda for a breath of fresh air to soothe her nerves before going to bed.

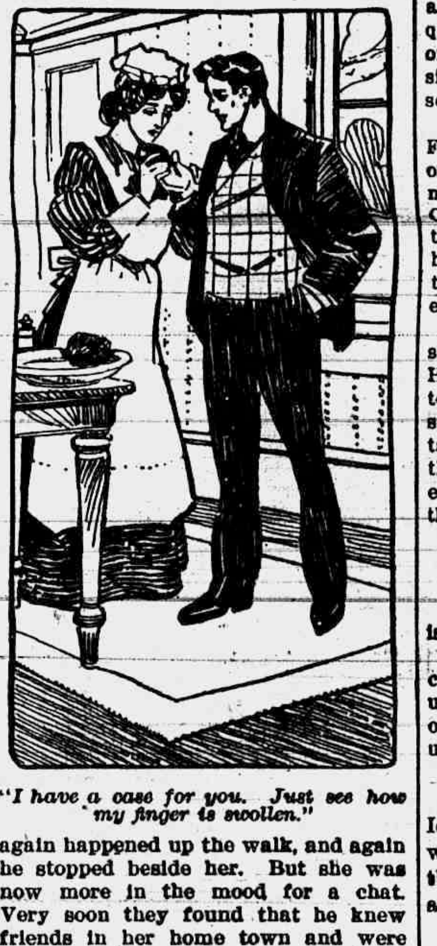
A tall young man came up the path. Seeing her, he stopped.

"Miss Plympton, I believe. I am your patient's oldest brother. Mother tells me that Mary is better, thanks to you. Why, when she is well again we five boys will be ready to canonize you." He laughed and sat down beside her.

Miss Plympton tried to smile, but the domination of sleep was upon her, and she gazed at him with vague, heavy eyes.

"Pardon me, you are very tired," he said hastily. As she said "Good night" and crept away to bed she still remembered the consideration in his tone.

The next evening when she went out on the veranda Robert Macdonald again happened up the walk, and again he stopped beside her. But she was now more in the mood for a chat. Very soon they found that he knew friends in her home town and were friends by proxy.



"I have a case for you. Just see how my finger is swollen."

When Mary grew still better, Miss Plympton and Robert ventured on little walks. When the invalid was sitting up, Robert took her nurse driving. The days were passing very pleasantly for Miss Plympton, so pleasantly that she seemed to have forgotten her hobby. Perhaps she dreaded to introduce into these peaceful tete-a-tetes the discussion which an exposition of her theories always seemed fated to arouse. Indeed, she seemed almost fearful of glancing at Robert's palms and loath to read the story they might tell.

When he came to her one evening holding out his hand with an exaggerated air of affliction, she saw that her duty could no longer be evaded.

"I have a case for you, Miss Plympton. Just see how my finger is swollen. I cut it yesterday morning on the edge of a sheet of paper."

"You have infected it. It needs to be laid open and drained." In a moment she was busy getting together gauze, water and scalpel. When she was through and had put the last touches on the neat bandage, he noticed that she was silent and pale. He thought it was because she minded the bit of blood.

"I ought to have gone down to Dr. Buckley," he said apologetically, "and not asked you to bother over this when you were tired out."

She shook her head smilingly.

Just the same, when she reached her own room she threw herself down on the bed and cried and cried. She was learning how much she cared for Robert, learning it when she must never think of him again. Was it not all there in the lines of his well kept hand—insanity and violent death? It was kind of the gods to forewarn her, but at first the kindness seemed hard.

The next evening she did not go out on the veranda, and so for many evenings. When Robert urged her to come for a walk, she said she was too tired. Instead she fell into the habit of taking lonely little walks in the morning, just for exercise.

She went down to the drugstore one day to fill a prescription for Mary. In a cage in one corner was a monkey whose only diversion seemed to be the teasing of a frolicsome fox terrier. The monkey would stretch out a hand and pull the terrier's ear, then scramble up and listen to the dog's snappy bark with the caricature of a laugh on his impish face.

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Sufferers dread to move, especially after sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in wet weather.

"It has been a long time since we have been without Hood's Sarsaparilla. My father thinks he could not do without it. He has been troubled with rheumatism since he was a boy, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine he can take that will enable him to take his place in the field." MISS ADA DOTY, Sidney, Iowa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove the cause of rheumatism—no outward application can. Take them.

From force of habit Miss Plympton watched his little yellowish pink palm. It was a perfect hand. The heart line, the head line, the mounts, had the stamp of an admirable hand. That monkey, according to her science, should live long, marry happily and have all the catalogue of virtues.

Miss Plympton watched in fascinated horror. Then the light of a great relief overspread her face. Finally she laughed long and heartily, but the druggist was surprised to detect a touch of hysteria in her laugh. The life of a nurse is hard on the nerves, he reflected.

That evening Miss Plympton came down on the veranda, and Robert was delighted to find that the hauteur of the last days had melted as if by magic. They talked long and late, and the moonlight disclosed happiness in two faces.

Robert Macdonald never understood his wife's fancy for the drugstore monkey. When it died shortly, the druggist declared that she had killed it with sweets, but Mrs. Macdonald only saw in the beast's death the last providential argument against her palmistic aberrations.

ARE STAR WITNESSES.

State Tax Commission to Testify in the Railroad Fight.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 30.—The star witnesses in the suit which the railroads are prosecuting against the state to set aside the assessment of their properties are the members of the state tax commission.

The taking of testimony in the big railroad case was commenced here Tuesday afternoon before Clerk C. L. Fitch of the United States district court at Grand Rapids, and a stenographer.

Benton Hanchett of Saginaw is the dean of the legal array assembled to take the testimony for the railroads. He is supported by Henry Russell and O. E. Butterfield for the Michigan Central, Alex. C. Angell of the Lake Shore and F. W. Stevens of the Pere Marquette. The state's case is in the hands of Attorney-General Blair, who is assisted by Congressman Charles Townsend and Roger Wyckes.

The first witness in the case was Fred M. Twiss, who has had charge of the field men sent out by the commission to obtain values of property. Clerk Twiss was a good witness for the railroads, as he was compelled in his view of the matter to substantiate their charge that the general properties are grossly undervalued.

Tax Commissioner Dust was on the stand the remainder of the afternoon. He asserted that, according to the determination of the commission, the statement made in the certificate attached to the original assessment of the railroads that the general properties of the state are assessed at less than cash value was correct.

The Eucalyptus Tree.

The great value of the eucalyptus tree lies in its remarkably quick growth from the seed to the full sized tree. Travelers in Australia have brought back accounts of enormous native specimens. There was a record of one prostrate ancient forest giant of the blue gum variety measuring, with allowance for the lost top, 550 feet. Such a giant would have overtopped the tallest of California's living sequoias. There are more than 150 kinds of eucalyptus which resemble each other, though differing widely in size, height, general outline and in appearance of leaf and bark. This tree is planted for forest cover for naked hillsides as windbreaks and hedges. The timber is valuable, the wood and leaves make excellent fuel, and from the latter is made a drug extensively employed in medicine and surgery. The blossoms supply honey supposed to possess specially hygienic properties.

M. F. STEIN

THE FAMOUS OPTICIAN of Detroit,

The eye, when properly cared for affords the keenest delight because of the pleasures we are able to enjoy through its medium. When not cared for and its warnings are unheeded, it becomes an instrument of torture. Headaches, eye pains, burning, itching sensation, strained vision, nervous troubles and many bodily ills are the results accruing from over worked eyes, eyes that need help. My examination reveals all hidden troubles, and it is my province to fit the right glasses to any and all defects of vision.

I know it for it has helped me out many a time." Sold by all druggists.

Our dear little Frances
Is talking with death.
Gently He woos her
With Jesus to stay
His arm as beneath her
He bears her away.
Music comes floating
From heaven's high dome,
Angels are chanting
Their sweet welcome home.
Come stricken mother
Come to the bed
Gaze on the sleeper,
Our darling is dead.
Smooth the bright ringlets,
Close the mild eyes
Our sweet morning flower
Was claimed for the skies.
Bear her out softly,
This treasure of ours,
Let her l st sleep be
'Mid fragrant flowers.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Critic's series of papers on "College Professors who are Men of Letters" is resumed in the October issue, as befits the beginning of the academic year. Mr. George S. Hellman writes with sympathy and first-hand knowledge of those Columbia professors who have contributed to belles-letters or fiction, and his short sketches of Professors Woodberry, Matthews, Peck, Sherman and their associates are accompanied by numerous portraits which add a note of actuality to the letter-press.

The October Atlantic contains among other papers two articles, of marked value and National importance: Representative McCall contributes to the Atlantic a political article, The power of the Senate,—meaning its usurpations,—taking for his text the startling valedictory words of Speaker, to be, Cannon at the close of the last session. He arraigns the undemocratic characteristics of the Senate and forecasts a conflict to come between the houses, which he predicts will be decided in favor of those great principles of popular Government which underlie the American Commonwealth.

Do you know Mme. Qui Vive?

Probably you do, for Mme. Qui Vive has a national reputation as an inspiring friend of every woman with a beauty woe. Her "Woman Beautiful" department in the daily and Sunday issues of The Chicago Record-Herald is a perennial source of joyous helpfulness to woman kind. Her instructions on complexion ills are interlarded here and there with snappy little epigrams as "cheerers." The weapons she suggests to beauty seekers for the complete annihilation of beauty grievances do not include artificial methods — "factory" frizzes, rouge and other horrors being barred. She gives instructions on correct breathing, what to eat, how to bathe—in brief, how to become a healthy, wholesome woman. No wonder she is popularly known to many thousands of women.

KIES-DIDRIKSEN

Miss Vesta Kies of Elkhart, Ind., and Peter Hans Didikersen of Chicago

WERE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Tuesday, Sept. 29. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kies and was formerly a resident of this place.

Among the first of the elaborate fall weddings was that of Miss Vesta M. Kies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kies, to Mr. Hans Peter Didriksen of Chicago, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents last evening. At 6 o'clock the stringed orchestra composed of Messrs. Charles Longacre, Otto Winterhoff and Frank Skinner began the Lohengrin wedding march while the bridal party descended the stairs and passed into the parlor. Rev. William Galpin, in full vestments, came first, followed by Mr. Didriksen and his best man, Mr. Thomas Bullock of Chicago. The maid of honor, Miss Edna Kies, then came, followed by the bride and her father. The members of the party took their places in front of a bank of palms in the large bay window, and with a great canopy of wild smilax overhead, where the full ring ceremony of the Episcopal church was performed in the presence of 85 guests.

The bride's gown was an elaborate embroidered lace over white silk and she carried bride's roses and maiden hair fern, while Miss Edna wore green silk mull with trimmings of lace, and carried pink roses. The house was very charmingly decorated with flowers and palms. In the reception hall, where the orchestra was seated, the decorations were in autumn foliage. The parlor and library were very elaborately decorated with wild smilax, the ceiling in the parlor being almost hidden by it. White astors were the flowers used in the parlor. The mantel in the library was banked with palms and ferns, with great clusters of bright scarlet salvia among them.

The dining room was entirely in pink and white, the chandelier being covered with smilax, which fell to the table over an immense bouquet of pink and white carnations. Over the table were great festoons of smilax, while at each corner were cut glass candelabras with pink silk shades. After the congratulations a two-course lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Didriksen left on the 8:20 o'clock train for New York city, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they go to Chicago to make their home. They were accompanied to the train by a bevy of young people, who showered them with rice. From the depot the young people went to the Century club where an informal dance was held.

The presents received were very beautiful, among them being a large assortment of solid silver, cut glass and hand painted china.

Those present from out of town were Mrs. Willard Light and Mr. Thomas Bullock of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. T. D. McKinney of Detroit; Mrs. Alonzo Clark and Mrs. George A. Kies of Clinton, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman, Miss Freeman, Miss Margaret Freeman and Mrs. M. A. Freeman of Tecumseh, Mich.; Mrs. C. F. Field and daughter, of Hastings; Miss Mary Cornell and Mr. Herbert Adams of Goshen; and Miss Helen Poole of Fayette, Ohio.

Mrs. Didriksen has been one of Elkhart's leading society girls and has many friends who wish her and her husband much happiness and success.—Elkhart Daily Truth.

Osteopathy.

Osteopathy is a complete system of drugless therapeutics based upon the removal of the physical cause of disease by manipulation. All other scientific methods of physiological therapeutics are also used as indicated, but the chief treatment is corrective—the reduction of the lesion, which the osteopath tries to find as the primary cause of the condition presented. Osteopathy is, then, simply applied anatomy and physiology—the osteopath is an expert anatomist and physiologist—not simply a text book expert but a practical expert.

The osteopath treats the cause; the medical practitioner too often treats the symptom—the osteopath therefore claims that his results are more often permanent as the removal of the cause has a greater effect upon a disease than the overcoming of its symptoms. Among the complaints successfully treated are heart and lung diseases, nervous prostration, sciatica, lumbago, all forms of neuralgia and paralysis, asthma, catarrh, incipient consumption, spinal curvature, constipation, atrophied limbs, liver and stomach troubles, rheumatism, female troubles, piles, Goitre, eye and ear effections. The Lake Shore railroad company is experimenting with a few cement ties laid at Lenawee Junction, the curve being selected as the best point for testing their endurance under hard usage. They have been in service several months and show no cracks or other effects of use. The tie is not entirely of cement, being strengthened with a tie-length section of "T rail" which was dumped reverse side up into the plastic cement the wide, flat surface of the rail bottom affording sufficient breadth for a practical running rail rest, and giving to the composite tie much the appearance of wood covered with plate iron. The embedded T rail affords a strong, unyielding backbone for the cement body, forming a cross tie that is seemingly indestructible.—Detroit Tribune.

A Woman's Wealth.

Paine's Celery Compound

GIVES VIGOR AND STRENGTH TO DEBILITATED AND RUN DOWN WOMEN.

It is maintained by many distinguished writers that the greatness of a nation depends much upon the physical condition of its women. The general conditions which contribute to health and long life, are those which do not imply a rapid and unequal exhaustion of those powers by which life is maintained. While we assert that the women of our land stand peerless for beauty and the virtues that make them lovable, we cannot hide the fact that there are thousands in our midst who, owing to overwork, worry, household cares, and an unequal exhaustion of life power, have become weak, nervous, sleepless, and debilitated.

We bring to the attention of all weary, despondent, hopeless, and sickly women earth's great rescuer and health builder, Paine's Celery Compound. Thousands of healthy women around us owe their present vigor, activity, and robustness to Paine's Celery Compound. Mrs. Stephen Smith, St. Paul, Minn., tells how she was snatched from the grave; she says:—

"I had a bad attack of la grippe this spring and was at death's door, and no one ever expected me to recover. I was so weak that as soon as they brought me out of one faint I was in another. I could not take any nourishment, and doctors' medicines did me no good. A friend advised my husband to get me a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, which he did, but had no faith in it. The second day after taking the Compound, I began to get real hungry and took an interest in things. I had everything that money and loving care could supply, and with that and Paine's Celery Compound, I am now doing my own work, while three months ago I was almost in the grave. I know that I owe my health and strength to Paine's Celery Compound, and shall always recommend it."

A WAY OPEN.

Many a Tecumseh knows it well.

There is a way open to convince the greatest skeptic. Scores of Tecumseh people have made it possible. The public statement of their experience is proof the like of which has never been produced before in Tecumseh. Read this case of it given by a citizen:

Vet. O. Austin, who lives with his son, in the northeast section of Tecumseh, says: "I am more than thankful that Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice for they did me a great deal of good, in fact they stopped a dull aching pain in my back which had annoyed me for years, and also rendered the action of the kidney secretions normal which at times were too frequent and highly colored. I tried a number of so called kidney cures but I did not receive any benefit before I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills and I knew people who had used them so I went to C. A. Wright's drug store and got them. To say I entertain a very favorable opinion of them as a kidney medicine is putting it in mild terms. They are all and more than they are represented to be."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

Home of Swamp-Root.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Never Ask Advice.

PORTLAND, MAINE, Oct. 17, 1902.
I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

LIFE PLANT
Renews Life.
The Very Best TONIC Ever Discovered.
The blood is a great source of health or disease in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy; if the blood is impure or diseased then there is sickness and disease in the whole system.
Impure blood causes such diseases as Eczema, and Scrofula. LIFE PLANT effects its wonderful cures by acting through the blood. It is impossible for that blood poison, uric acid, or any other blood impurity to exist in the presence of our harmless medicine. The phenomenal success of LIFE PLANT in the many forms of blood diseases, warrants us in stating that it is a positive cure for Eczema and Scrofula. Read what Mr. M. P. Hobbs says of LIFE PLANT:

Gentlemen: Two years ago I contracted a very aggravated case of Eczema. I tried many kinds of medicine called sure cures, but all failed. I was persuaded by a friend to give LIFE PLANT a trial and by taking two bottles was cured. To get the real truth of this statement try LIFE PLANT and be convinced.

ALASKAN PROBLEM

Senator Dillingham Declares It Is a Great One.

A COUNTRY OF RESOURCES

Discusses Situation With President—Advocates Legislation For Building of Roadways—Would Open Way to Immense Copper Deposits.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Senator Dillingham of Vermont, chairman of the sub-committee of the senate committee on territories, which on recommendation of the president, made a thorough investigation of Alaskan affairs during the past summer, had a half hour's conference with President Roosevelt Friday. Beside Senator Dillingham the members of the subcommittee were Senators Burnham of New Hampshire; Nelson of Minnesota, and Patterson of Colorado. The committee spent several weeks in Alaska, studying the situation with a view to suggesting legislation for the advancement of the interests of the territory.

Senator Dillingham indicated to the president that the problem is a great one. Alaska contains almost as much territory as is included in that part of the United States east of the Mississippi river. The question of transportation, therefore, is the most serious problem needing solution. The people, Senator Dillingham said, desired particularly the construction of wagon roads.

As the territory is a source of revenue to this government, he is of opinion that the building of reasonably good roadways can be provided for by legislation. One highway, especially, from Valdez to Eagle City, a distance of about 500 miles, would open up a rich country, and its construction he believed would develop that section in a remarkable way. The people believed, he added, that the immense copper deposits north of Valdez would be exploited if this road were built and would be naturally followed by private capital to construct railroads. At present there are no railroads in the territory.

The sub-committee considered the whole Alaskan situation carefully and gathered a vast amount of information, which will be incorporated in a report to be submitted to the senate soon after congress convenes. It is expected that the report of the committee will form the basis of some important legislation in the interest of the Alaskan territory.

AID NEGROES IN AMERICA.

Colored Organization Plans to Raise $200,000,000.

New York, Oct. 3.—The Commercial American Negro national convention, which opened Thursday in Brooklyn, closed last night. It was decided to name the new organization which had been effected the American Negro Co-operative and Industrial association. The convention decided to raise a fund of $200,000,000 to aid negroes in this country. On the suggestion of the committee, it was declared that the 10,000,000 negroes in the United States might be taxed 41 cents a month, which would create a fund of $50,000,000 in one year, or $200,000,000 in four years.

The interest on this sum at 4 per cent, $8,000,000 a year, could be used for the establishment of factories, banking institutions, the purchase of valuable stocks and the organization of other business enterprises for the benefit of the race.

A national board of supervisors, one to be chosen from each state and to have control and distribution of the fund, was arvised.

Alleged Scandal in Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 3.—A bungling forgery in claims presented to the state auditor for payment of witnesses in the recent trial of Caleb Powers at Georgetown has been unearthed by Auditor Coulter. Recently Attorney J. Tevis Cobb of Richmond presented a number of these claims to the amount of $2,766. An inspection developed the fact that but $1,050 was due the claimant. The claims were purchased for Attorney Cobb by W. H. Coulton, one of the commonwealth witnesses in the Powers case. Cobb will be the loser by the forgery. Mr. Cobb will prosecute the forger.

Won't Pay Foreign Claims.

Bogota, Colombia, Oct. 1.—The senate has approved a bill declaring that the nation is not responsible for the damages caused to foreigners by the rebels during the last revolution, but that it will pay for the injuries caused by the government troops with funds derived from 8 per cent of the customs receipts. The bill further authorizes the governor of Panama to ascertain the genuineness of the claims presented by foreigners on the isthmus.

"Most Peaceful In History."

Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mineworkers, returned to headquarters Friday. "The coal mining situation in this country, in our organisation, at least, is the most peaceful in its history," said he. "Not in many years have three months passed with fewer disagreements and strikes. There are no strikes in any field that is organized."

New Cabinet Formed In Servia.

TWELVE DROWNED

Steamer E. L. Hackley Sank In Lake Michigan.

STRUCK BY A HEAVY GALE

Seven Survivors Drifted All Night In Green Bay—Rescued by Steamer Sheboygan—Search Continues For Any Who May Have Escaped.

Marinette, Wis., Oct. 5.—During a squall Saturday night on Lake Michigan the steamer J. H. Hackley capsized and twelve persons were drowned. The Goodrich line steamer Sheboygan rescued the other seven persons on board the Hackley, after they had drifted all night in Green bay, clinging to bits of wreckage, and brought them to Fish Creek Sunday.

The Hackley was struck by a squall when off Green Island, seven miles from this port. The upper works of the vessel were blown away and the boat then turned over and went down in deep water.

THE DROWNED.

GEORGE LECLAIR, Jr., Jackson Port, Wis.

JOSEPH VOROUS, captain of the Hackley, Fish Creek.

EDNA BARRINGER, Fish Creek.

LAWRENCE BARRINGER, Fish Creek.

HENRY ROBBITOR, Fish Creek.

OARL KELKY, Fish Creek.

MISS FRANCES VINCENT, Egg Harbor, Wis.

Miss Vincent's sister, Egg Harbor.

FREEMAN THORP, Fish Creek.

NELS NELSON, Sturgeon Bay.

N. FITZGIBBONS, Jackson Port.

—— TRUCHLY, cook.

The rescued: Frank Blakefield, purser, Fish Creek; Orrin Rollin, engineer, Fish Creek; Milton Hansen, Fish Creek; Blaine McSweeney, Fish Creek; two men of Ellison Bay, Wis.

As the Hackley went to the bottom those who would and could seized on floating pieces of wreckage, while the women and three or four of the men, failing to find any object to which to cling, sank in the sea.

The waves were rolling hight and several of those who at first saved themselves from immediate death lost strength and sank. It was not until 7 o'clock Sunday morning that the steamer Sheboygan sighted the helpless survivors and effected their rescue.

The Sheboygan ran into Fish Creek when hope of rescuing other persons seemed improbable. The rescued persons were so exhausted from their struggle against drowning that they were unable for some time to tell anything about the wreck.

The persons saved by the Sheboygan say that with the crashing away of the upper work all persons aboard the Hackley ran on deck. Hasty preparations for a plunge into the water were begun, but before any plans could be carried out the boat listed, turned over and went down like a rock.

Search is still being made for any person who may have escaped death and for the bodies of those who were drowned.

DEATHS OF A DAY.

Five Notables Pass Away During Hours of Sunday.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Mestayer, known professionally as Theresa Vaughn, died Sunday at Worcester insane asylum of paresis. She was a member of the Ott family, famous in theatrical circles.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The Rev. Francis Bloodgood Hall, for thirty-nine years pastor of the Peristrome Presbyterian church of this city, and probably the most widely known clergyman in northern New York, died at his residence in this city Sunday of bronchitis, aged 76 years.

Montrose, Pa., Oct. 5.—Chief Justice J. Brewster McCollum of the supreme court of Pennsylvania died at his home here about midnight Saturday, after an illness of about two years.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 5.—Colonel Leonidas William Spratt, one of the surviving members of the South Carolina secession convention, died here Sunday, aged 85. He was editor of the Southern Standard, which was established in Charleston, S. C., in 1853.

Livingston, Mont., Oct. 5.—Brig.-Gen. William H. Carlin, U. S. A., retired, died on an eastbound Northern Pacific train Sunday, while coming over the mountains, just west of this city. General Carlin was about 75 years old and served with distinction throughout the civil war.

Saved From Niagara's Brink.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 3.—John Phillips, 55 years old, a saloonkeeper at Leicestershire, attempted suicide by throwing himself over Niagara Falls Sunday. He is now under arrest. Phillips waded into the rapids. The water was above his knees when he slipped and fell, and his body was swept toward the brink, 150 feet distant. A man named Arnold, a friend of Phillips, crawled out as far as he could on this log and when Phillips was swept inshore by the eddy he managed to catch his clothing. A living chain was formed and Arnold and his burden were drawn to shore.

Bumper Corn Crop.

Coldwater, Mich., Oct. 5.—The holding off of the frosts, generally in evidence before Oct. 1, has given late corn a chance to mature, and the farmers are jubilant at the prospect, as one of the largest crops ever raised in the county is now in the shock or packed in silos.

Gets Big Damages.

Paw Paw, Mich., Oct. 5.—Last fall William Culver had both feet cut off under the cars at this place. He sued the South Haven & Eastern and was given a verdict for $10,000. This was set aside and a new trial ordered, which has just been finished. He recovered $15,000, a raise of $5,000.

SAYRE UNDER FIRE

Attorney-General's Cross Questioning too Much for Him.

HE MADE LOW ESTIMATES

On Railroad Values—"Never Will Do It Again"—Poor Witness For Railroads—Blair Intimates There Was a Plot.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 3.—Two state officials, whom Attorney-General Blair had branded as traitors, have been passed through the fire, and the unique spectacle was Friday afforded of one official quailing under the lash of the attorney-general and confessing that "he never would do it again."

State Tax Commissioner Ira T. Sayre, the Bliss appointee No. 1, who signed an affidavit for Attorney Butterfield of the Michigan Central, and now accepts his fee as a witness for the railroads as against the state, made a clean breast of it Friday in reply to the hot cross-examination of Attorney-General Blair, before the United States district court, in the hearing on the Michigan Central suit to set aside the state assessment.

The suit involves directly railway taxes to the amount of $600,000, and indirectly the constitutionality of the law repealing the Michigan Central charter and the many millions of taxes thus included.

Tax Commissioner Sayre was the important witness for the railroad, and by his testimony, including the notorious affidavit signed in duplicate by himself and Commissioner Freeman, the Michigan Central is attempting to prove that the general assessments throughout the state are below cash value, and consequently the Michigan Central was forced to pay a higher percentage, being assessed at cash value. Sayre made the significant admission that he had made the lowest estimate on Michigan Central values.

In refutation of the contention of the railroads, Attorney-General Blair is showing that aside from the debated point whether the supervisors have foisted low assessments upon the state, under the law, to accept these official returns as the official basis for finding the percentage of railway tax and that it devolves upon the Michigan Central to show, not that the assessments were low, but that they were fraudulently low. And on this point the testimony of the day lingered.

Tax Commissioner Sayre attempted to show, as did Freeman on the previous day, that the supervisors admitted that township assessments were below actual valuation. Impaled on the points of Blair's invective, Sayre squirmed and hedged, admitting on vital points his ignorance, and referring with feeling to his consultation with State Railroad Commissioner "Tip" Atwood on matters of conscience.

Blair Hints at Plot.

A dastardly plot was hinted at by Blair. By his adroit questions the insinuation came clear and unequivocal that a scheme had been hatched among the Michigan Central's state officials to fix the assessment of railroad property at just such a figure as the railroads desired. Sayre admitted conversations that looked ill in this connection. It was a bad two hours of it he had.

Blair declared that his attitude had only been strengthened by the testimony of the two indelectable officials, and that he declared them traitors to the state.

Tons of Earth Fell on Him.

Millington, Mich., Oct. 3.—George Hale, while at work in a sewer seven feet deep, was very seriously injured Friday afternoon by a cave-in. He was buried under fully two tons of earth. By hurried work he was taken out alive. His collarbone was broken and the doctors think he is injured internally, his recovery being very doubtful.

New Course at U. of M.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 3.—One of the new courses of the University of Michigan that has heretofore been overlooked is one on the biological department, which will be known as field ecology. This course is to be a study of local fauna, and is intended as a preparation to the study of the relationship of animals to their natural environment.

Seeking a Settlement.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 5.—It is understood that the representatives of the Fidelity & Deposit Co., now in the city in conference with the canal commission and city officials, will make a proposition, if the city will guarantee an additional sum, to take up the contract of the Cuyahoga Contracting company and complete the canal from Lake Huron to Black river. It is not probable the city will do this. So far about $50,000 has been expended and all the city has to show is a large ditch filled with stagnant water.

Mason Woman Took Morphine.

Mason, Mich., Oct. 5.—Miss Carrie Bassett, a maiden lady, 34 years of age, committed suicide Sunday afternoon by taking morphine tablets. It is thought she was insane. Miss Bassett's father and mother died when she was a small girl, and she and a foolish brother have resided in this city nearly all of their lives, making their homes with a great aunt, Miss Panelia Seeley, a maiden lady.

MARCHED IN RAIN

Michigan Troops Ordered Off On Tramp.

BEGINNING OF WAR GAME

Few Visitors in Camp Sunday—Religious Services Held—Farmers Well Paid For Permitting Troops to Tramp Down Crops—No Whisky.

Camp Young, Howard, Ky., Oct. 5.—At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon thirty-six companies of the Michigan brigade, comprising the First, Second and Third regiments, marched out of camp with twenty-four hours' rations, under command of General McGurrin, with orders for a nine-mile hike south on the Louisville and Nashville turnpike, and then camp for the night. It had been a fine day up to that hour, but before they reached the point designated for the bivouac a heavy rain began, which lasted long enough to soak everything out of doors.

The men had to pitch their pup tents, which are four feet wide and three high, and two men to a tent, on a water-soaked field, and sleep with a single blanket for under and over. It was sure-enough wartime marching, and too it was a sure-enough wartime experience when they had to coax fire to burn wet twigs and scraps of wood so they could make coffee.

Why they have been sent there was not known in the bridge except in a general way, that there would be things doing on a large scale later, and they would be in it.

Sunday in Camp.

The day was quite unlike Sundays in state camps. There were comparatively few visitors. While visitors are not discouraged, there are no accommodations for them or free things to eat and drink.

Religious services were held by each of the three brigade chaplains, Fr. Kelly and Revs. Smith and Hanks, in the Knights of Columbus tent.

The health of the camp continues very good among the Michigan troops and there has been no grumbling worth mentioning.

Colonels Waite, Norrington and Hatch arrived Sunday and captured the tent that had been pitched for Governor Bliss, who says he is not well enough to be here today. All the colonels and military board officers will start this morning after the brigade and witness the operations, which will be between two large bodies, including the Michigan and Indiana brigades, and maybe some others from the "brown" army.

The 28,000 acres comprising the camp and the reservation for maneuvers isn't by any means sparsely settled. A great deal of it is old cultivated farms, but corn is about the only crop not yet harvested. Yet the farmers are not only reconciled to having the troops tramping across their fields and tearing holes in the fences—everything here is barbed wire—but they are really happy. The war department is paying them five cents an acre for use of the land for three weeks, though it also agrees to pay all damages that shall hereafter be assessed by a committee of three. Even every broken barbed wire strand will be made good, as well as every pilfered apple tree.

Why the farmers are happy, though, is because they hear that if this, the first joint mobilization of regulars and militia under the army bill passed by congress last winter, brings the valuable results anticipated to the service, the government will within the next few years buy outright the entire 28,000 acres.

No Booze For Soldiers.

It is a time honored custom to associate Kentucky closer to whisky and whisky drinkers than almost any other state, yet it is an actual fact that there are more than twice as many local option counties in this state than in Michigan, and drug store saloons aren't a bit conspicuous in the Kentucky local option towns. The two counties in which Camp Young is located—Hardin and Bullitt—are local option, and you can't buy booze for love or money here.

The nearest place to camp where you can buy anything stronger than tame cider is Louisville, twenty-one miles away. That is too far for even a veteran booze-fighting soldier to hike. They can't steal out of camp, for the railroad won't carry them, money or no money, unless they have a written leave of absence, and those are not granted. The result is that, with approximately 133,000 officers and men in Camp Young, it is a model of sobriety.

Little Hope of Entire Recovery.

Baltimore, Oct. 5.—The physicians and surgeons who have for several weeks been in attendance upon Archbishop Kain of St. Louis, a patient at St. Agnes sanitarium, this city, held two consultations Sunday. At the close of the last one, late in the day, they reported that while Manager Kain was much improved, his condition does not warrant the hope that he will entirely recover from the ailments from which he is suffering. Consultations of the five specialists and house physicians will be held today.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollors for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Confessions of a Priest.

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from Yellow Jaundice. I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for Liver and Kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guarateed by C. A. Wright. Only 50c.

German Syrup.

We want to impress on our readers that Boschee's German Syrug is positively the only preparation on the market to-day that does relieve and cure consumption. It contains the specifics, such as pure tar, extracts of gums, etc., which have been so highly endorsed for the cure of coughs, colds and consumption by the great medical congresses. The consumptive, whether his disease is in the throat or lungs, must have rest at night, and be free from the spasm of dry and racking cough in the morning. The diseased parts want rest, healing and soothing treatment, and the patient needs fresh air, good food, etc. German Syrup will give free and easy expectoration in the morning with speedy and permanent relief. Small bottles, 25 cents; regular size, containing four times as much, 75 cents. At all druggists. G. G. GREEN, Woodbury, N. J.

MORE CARDINALS

In the Next Conclave From America, Gibbons Predicts.

HE DESCRIBES THE CONCLAVE

Words of Praise For the New Pope—Pays Tribute to Leo's Memory—Services In Honor of Pius Held in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Oct. 5.—Special services were held at the Baltimore Cathedral Sunday in honor of the election of Pius X. Cardinal Gibbons preached the sermon at high mass and was attentively listened to by a congregation that filled the edifice. In addition to being the first sermon delivered at the cathedral by Cardinal Gibbons for three months, it had been announced that he would speak of the conclave which elevated the new pontiff and speak of general conditions at the Vatican. His eminence spoke in part as follows:

"This is the first time in the history of the Christian religion that the United States, or any of this western hemisphere, was ever associated with the other nations of Christendom in selecting a successor to the Chair of Peter.

"I would not at all be surprised if in the next conclave the Catholic church of the United States will be represented by several members of the sacred college, so that the number of cardinals from our country may be commensurate with population.

"In the judgments of mankind, the cardinals of the church are acknowledged to be generally men of a high order of intelligence, of great discretion, of large experience, and of integrity of character. In these respects I believe they are not surpassed, if they are equalled, by any deliberative body in the whole world.

"The cardinals, however, are not angels, but men, subject to the usual infirmities and ambitions of flesh and blood.

Fairness and Impartiality.

"I was present at the conclave and took part in its proceedings and, without revealing its secrets, I can most positively assure you and the American people that the election of the pope was conducted with the utmost fairness and impartiality. Never did a prisoner make greater efforts to escape from his confinement than did Cardinal Sarto to escape from the yoke of the papacy. With his divine Master he exclaimed: 'Father, if it be possible, let this chalice pass from me. Nevertheless, not my will, but Thine be done.'

"Pius X. is in his sixty-ninth year. He is of the same age that Leo XIII. had attained when he ascended the papal chair.

"The virtues of humility, sincerity, candor and benevolence are stamped on his features. I can characterize him in one sentence by saying that 'he is a man of God and a man of the people.' Pius X. is the two hundred and sixty-fourth pope who, under Christ, has been called to rule the church of God.

"The influence of the papacy is more far-reaching than that of any earthly ruler. Kings and emperors and civil magistrates exact external compliance with the laws of the land. They cannot control the sanctuary of the heart. The sovereign pontiff, though he has no army to enforce his commands, makes and interprets laws which binds the consciences of men. The papacy has contributed more than any civil government to the intellectual progress of mankind.

"Among the pontiffs who have sat in the chair of Peter for the last three centuries, Leo XIII. stands pre-eminent. He has indelibly stamped the impress of his name and genius on the civilized world. While living he was everywhere honored, because his words were a tower of strength in the cause of Christianity and stable government.

"What a commentary is all this on the vanity of human glory! How eloquently it proclaims the truth that God alone is great, and that no honor can satisfy man's ambition but that which is eternal."

Lad Was Cut In Two.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 3.—While playing with two companions a small boy was crushed to death Friday afternoon at the Fourteenth avenue crossing of the Grand Trunk railroad. The lad was "hitching" a ride, lost his hold and fell under the train wheels. His body was cut in two.

He Got It.

"You have a lovely hand," remarked the youth as he grasped the fair maiden's hash mixer.

"Do you really think so?" she queried in a tone that was calculated to push him over the hurdle.

"That's why," answered the unsuspecting victim of circumstances, "I admire a beautiful hand, but mine is apt to be mistaken for a ham. I wish I had one like yours."

"Then," suggested the willing maid, "why not pull yourself together and ask for it?"

P. S.—They are now selecting the furniture.

No Ennui There.

"No; we're never troubled with ennui out at my house. Our minds are always occupied."

"In what way?"

"Well, I'm trying to guess what my wife will say to me when I get home, and she's trying to guess what new excuse I'll have for being late."—Chicago Post.

Origin of the Cat.

In Arabian legends the cat is traced back as far as Noah and the ark. It is one of the animals that came off the ark, but did not go on. When the other creatures entered for safety during the time when "the doors of heaven were to be opened and the fountains of the deep turned loose," there was no cat among them. Puss' origin is accounted for in this way:

During the time the ark was floating about over the tall mountains mice and rats became an intolerable nuisance to the people on the great vessel, and they complained to Noah that everything was being literally devoured by the pesky vermin. That august personage forthwith called the male lion to his side and began to stroke his back, whereupon the great beast sneezed and, lo, a full sized cat was blown from his nostrils!

NEW SHORT STORIES

Not a Rainy Night Actor.

A group of professional people, among whom was Thomas Q. Seabrooke, were discussing Miss Frances Rawle Pemberton's performance of "Camille" and her consequent engagement with Joseph Jefferson for next season.

"There is always some risk in engaging persons unfamiliar with the exigencies of an actor's life," remarked Seabrooke. "Perhaps you have heard of the experience of Phelps, the eminent English tragedian. He engaged a young man from the ranks of society and gave him a not important but really very necessary part in the production. When the curtain went up, he had not shown up, and the performance was spoiled with a poorly rehearsed understudy. Next morning the young man came around to the theater smiling.

"'Where were you last night, sir?' roared Phelps.

"'Gracious, my good sir,' replied the society recruit, 'you surely did not expect me to come out in such weather as we had last night? Why, it was raining cats and dogs.'"

Senator Dietrich's Clock.

Senator Dietrich of Nebraska was at breakfast in the Shoreham cafe with a party of friends.

"What time is it?" asked one of the party. Apparently nobody had a watch, and a motion was made to call a waiter. "Don't do that," said Senator Dietrich. Then he reached down in his coat pocket and lugged out a big nickel fifty-nine cent alarm clock. He looked at it and said, "Quarter past 9," stowed the clock away and went on eating.

"For heaven's sake, Dietrich," said one of his friends, "do you always carry that alarm clock in your pocket?"

"Always," replied Dietrich. "You see it's this way: I have so many engagements that I am likely to forget some of them. So when I start out in the morning I give the alarm a few twists, fix it to go off at ten minutes before the time of my first engagement and put it in my pocket. At ten minutes before I should leave the senate the clock goes off for a few rings, and I remember what I have to do. Then I set it for the next engagement, and so on through the day. Great scheme, I tell you!"—Washington Post.

"QUARTER PAST NINE."

Wanamaker on Honeymoon Trips.

John Wanamaker returned from a visit to the far east last spring and has been giving interesting opinions upon the subject of honeymoons. In an address on "India," delivered in Philadelphia early in June, he said: "This is the month when marriage appears to be in the very air. Let me tell you, then, where to go for an ideal wedding trip. India first. Stay there three months. Spend the next two months in Burma, Siam and Java. Then cross over into the land of blossoms and babies—Japan. In that way you will have given your wife a chance to get acquainted with you, while you have stood before backgrounds absolutely the most alluring in the world. If she is ever to learn to admire you, it will be under these conditions."

Then there was a moment's pause. Then the great merchant, realizing perhaps how useless was such advice to the average young man, smiled as he continued, "There is a possible objection to all of this in that such a trip would cost a good deal of money, so if you feel that you cannot afford it perhaps you had better decide to spend Sunday at Niagara."—Baltimore Morning Herald.

He Didn't Mean It.

Representative F. H. Gillett of Massachusetts was presiding over the committee of the whole house one day, and the congressmen were unusually turbulent and unruly. The speakers could not make themselves heard, and Mr. Gillett used the gavel until his arm ached. Finally he said, "The members must sit down in the aisles."

Immediately the house burst into a roar of laughter. Mr. Gillett could not understand what had caused the merriment and finally called Champ Clark, who happened near the speaker's desk, to come up and explain what was the matter.

"Why, you told the members to sit down in the aisles," said Clark, "and you are a near neighbor of Boston. You'll not be able to appear in Massachusetts society for two years at least."

"Oh, I see!" said Mr. Gillett seriously. "What I intended to say was that the members in the aisles should take their seats."

High Standard of Pride.

"Proud!" exclaimed the observant person. "Well, I should say so! He's as proud as a country boy writing his first letter on hotel stationery."—Los Angeles Herald.

Parching May Flies.

On the banks of the Elbe a curious sight may frequently be seen. Men and women come there in the evening and light fires, near which they carefully spread spacious cloths. In a few minutes swarms of May flies, those delicate little creatures whose earthly life lasts only for a few hours, hover around the fires, and speedily hundreds—nay, thousands—of them are burned and fall on the cloths.

After a sufficient supply of flies has been gathered in this way the fires are extinguished, and the cloths are carefully raised from the ground and taken home. On the following morning they are placed in a garden on a sunny spot, the result being that the bodies of the flies become thoroughly parched. The flies are then ready for the market and are sold for a few cents a quart to dealers in birds, who say that there is no better food for nightingales, robins and other feathered pets. Only the bodies are used for this purpose, and therefore before they are sent to market the utmost pains are taken to see that all the wings have been removed.

Itching Skin

Distress by day and night—

That's the complaint of those who are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum—and outward applications do not cure. They can't.

The source of the trouble is in the blood—make that pure and this scaling, burning, itching skin disease will disappear.

"I was taken with an itching on my arms which proved very disagreeable. I concluded it was salt rheum and bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two days after I began taking it I felt better and it was not long before I was cured. Have never had any skin disease since." MRS. IDA E. WARD, Cove Point, Md.

The Banks of Newfoundland.

The finest codfish in the world are caught on the banks of Newfoundland. These banks have no connection with the shores of the islands, from which indeed the nearest is almost 100 miles distant. They are really great rocky heights rising from the bottom of the sea. The great bank measures 540 miles from north to south, and from east to west it measures in places 300 miles. On this bank the depth of water varies from 50 to 300 feet, but the depth around it is from 10,000 to 150,000 feet.

The fishing grounds—or "cod meadows," as they are called—do not cover the whole bank, but are about 200 miles long by 67 broad. Though these have been fished for 400 years the cod are as plentiful as ever. To the east of the great bank lies the outer or false bank, where the sea is from 300 to 600 feet deep. The cod caught on the banks are finer and larger than the fish taken off the Labrador coast. This is supposed to be due to the fact that they have reached the age of four years and upward, at which age their habits lead them to feed on the banks in preference to the shore, where the younger fish remain all the year.

Curry.

Curry is native to India. It is a concourse of atoms, not fortuitous, but as a marvelous result of the Hindoo subtlety, judgment and taste, as Nirvana and the transmigration of souls are of the subtlety, philosophy and attractiveness of the Buddhistic belief. Curry is a vegetable; rather curry is vegetables. It is anise, coriander, cumin, mustard, poppy seeds, allspice, almonds, asafetida, ghee, cardamom seeds, chili berries, cinnamon, cloves, cocoanut, cocoanut milk, oil, curds, fenugreek seeds, an Indian nut I can't spell, garlic, onion, ginger, lime juice, vinegar, mace, mangoes, nutmeg, pepper, saffron, salt, tamarinds and turmeric.

These are all pounded together, dried in an oven or in the sun. When bottled, it is the powder which comes to us as Indian curry. Now, is it not worth admiring the wit and skill that have brought together such a number of ingredients and out of them have evolved an article so entirely different from each and in which there is not one elementary trace?—Harper's.

ROUND ABOUT US.

An exchange speaks of a game of "gossip" which is having quite a run in some localities in the east. It is played with photographs. They are shuffled and dealt out like cards, everyone in the party receiving a photograph. It is then the play to tell every mean thing that can be thought of about the party photographed. We know of localities where the game has been played for years without photographs.

An English bishop owned a portable bathtub, which he failed on one occasion to take with him on a pastoral visitation. When he returned he found the housemaid had used the beloved tub. Calling her into his study, he said kindly but firmly: "Mary, I do not so much mind you using my tub, but what I object to is that you should do behind my back what you will not do before my face.—Ex.

The doom of the rural mail carrier is sounded by an item that is going the rounds—a wonderful new machine has been invented. It will deliver the mail to the farmers, throw kisses at the girls along the way, cuss the fellows who do not give the road, read the postal cards, keep posted on the market and bring packages from town. All the farmers have to do is to think right hard about what he wants and this machine will deliver it. Such rot would give a man the tree toads.—Brooklyn Exponent.

A Hudson township man took down his trusty hammerless shotgun the other day, and went into the back yard to kill a foul. The contents of one barrel sufficed for the hen and he was entering the kitchen when the other barrel was accidently discharged. A woman's scream from the other side of the smoke convinced the man that murder had been done, and he rushed into the yard speechless with excitement. A later investigation revealed that the charge had narrowly missed his wife's head and torn down a quarter section of plastering.—Hudson Post.

Vassar claims, according to the Times to have a girl (?) that used to boast that she was kissed by President Grant when she was a baby, but now she declares it was President Hayes who kissed her. In a few years we suppose she will be claiming that President Roosevelt kissed her when she was a mere child. Poor girl, who has had presidents and no doubt others kiss her and still remains single. Her case is one to be pitied, still everyone knows Vassar is a slow town.—Ex.

While a Reese business man was waiting at Denmark Junction for a train home a few evenings ago he went out of the depot to "see the cars"; a through train went whirling by on the M. C. track. The momentum of the train took his derby with it and for all we know it is still going. The borrowed cap disguised the said business man on his way home so his acquaintances did not recognize him, much to the amusement of his wife who was accompanying him. We'll not mention names this time.—Reese Review.

A girl in this town had a proposal of marriage Sunday night and asked a week to consider it before filing her answer. She then organized herself into an investigating committee and commenced taking testimony from the married women of her acquaintance. The first one she visited used to be a belle, and the most admired girl in the town before she was married six years ago. The cross-examination brought out the fact that she had three children, did all her own work, including washing and ironing, and hadn't been down town in four weeks, and that her husband hadn't given her but $2 since she was married, and that he had borrowed and forgot to pay back $10 which her brother gave her once as a Christmas present. He bought him a overcoat with the money while she wore the same plush coat that she wore when he was courting her. Another woman whom she visited quit teaching school three years ago to marry "the handsomest and best dressed man in town" and she is now supporting him. A third didn't dare say her soul was her own when her husband was around, though she used to write some lovely essays when she was in the school on the "Emancipations of Women," and the fourth she visited was divorced. After visiting them and summing up the evidence, she went home and wrote to the young man. She will be married next month.—Minneapolis Kas. Messenger.

A Chicago man has observed that "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. A skunk-farmer, Lewis Deuel, has died in Australia at the age of 94, leaving a fortune of $3,500,000. He was a native of Granville, N. Smarting under the cruel comment of her friends, he left Granville, vowing that Miss DeLong would rue the day of her refusal. Manchester Enterprise: The efforts of Manchester people to secure an electric line from Saline here, is shared by Mr. Butler, of the Toledo Portland Cement company, who says that he will do all in his power to help the scheme along. Why would it not be a good plan to build a line from Adrian to a line by way of Manchester, using the five miles of the cement company's right of way? The line would pass through a well populated country and with the new cement plant here, Manchester will have a population that will be good patrons of an electric line between Ann Arbor, Adrian and Toledo.

Y. M. C. A. Convention to be held here Oct. 25 and 26.

Recognizing the importance of organized work for young men and approving of the method adopted by the Young Men's Christian Association, we hereby extend a call to all those in Lenawee county who are interested to assemble in convention at Tecumseh, October 25 and 26, 1903 to discuss plans for organizing and extending this work among the 12,000 young men in the country and small towns of Lenawee county.

Signed, W. A. FROST, L. G. NORTH, F. J. TEMPLE, J. N. SATTERTHWAITE, C. A. SLAYTON, Tecumseh; W. S. KIMBALL, Clinton; J. M. TRIGGS, E. B. ROVICK, Morenci; A. D. ELLIS, Blissfield; G. J. PERKINS, ORIN HOWES, Hudson.

The above call is issued because of the need for an aggressive campaign against the forces that are undermining the character of many young men in the smaller towns and country districts. The field to be covered is all of Lenawee county except Adrian which already has an association employing a secretary.

An attractive program is being prepared and it is requested that everyone who believes in the church will cooperate in advertising the convention and securing representative delegates from all parts of the country.

He decided, it being chilly, that he would put on his overcoat, which he had carried down on his arm. PRESIDENT'S DAY.

Yesterday afternoon at one o'clock

THE MONDAY CLUB

Opened their Year's Work with a Luncheon and Toasts.

The Monday Club opened their club year by giving a one o'clock luncheon at their club rooms yesterday afternoon. It was a very pleasant affair at which about a hundred club women were present. Twenty small tables were laid for eighty people and the room made bright with scarlet salvia and smilax, the whole color scheme being in red and green, the astral colors for October.

The committee of ladies, who arranged the entertainment and assisted in the serving, were Mrs. Shull, Mrs. Look, Mrs. Root, Mrs. Albert, Mrs. Lynne Butrick, Mrs. G. R. Gillespie, Mrs. Clarence Holdridge, Mrs. H. E. Stout, Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. North, Mrs. Henry McClure, Mrs. Albert Waring, Mrs. E. C. Brown, Mrs. Howland, Misses Florence Brewer, Viola Shull, Lizzie Smith, Florence Huey, Bertha Smeltzer and Madge Haley.

The club ladies and their guests were seated at tables which represented the months in which they were born and each given a horoscope decorated with the astral colors and Zodaical sign for their natal month. A four course luncheon was served during which the Young Ladies' orchestra played several pieces for the enjoyment of all.

After the serving was done, Mrs. Howland acting as toastmistress, proposed a toast to "The Monday Club" which was responded to by Mrs. C. A. Wright, the club's first president, who gave a brief resume of the ground over which the club had travelled as a study class in its ten years of work, and expressed the wish that this study and association of ten years might have its influence upon the lives of those about us.

Different types of women were toasted, Mrs. Albert responding very happily to "The Professional Woman," who has gained for herself a place among women of which all other women may be proud, and advanced the idea that woman's sympathy for woman was divine and a thing to be cultivated.

"Theodore Roosevelt's Type of Woman" was given by Mrs. J. F. Hicks, who had very encouraging and helpful words to say for the home-makers of the land, the women whose homes and families hold a usurping place in their time and attention.

Mrs. J. Crosby responded to "The Artistic Woman" whose whole time is spent in the ornamentation of the house interior, whose impossible pictures and incongruous and cumbersome fancy work make life burdensome for the average man and yet are her best expression of her idea of art. Mrs. Crosby looked at the subject from an artistic standpoint and delivered a graceful tribute to woman's love for the beautiful.

"The Superstitious Woman" was the type that Mrs. T. C. Harris was called upon to defend and the task was well performed, showing that signs and omens do certainly, in a greater or less degree, influence us all. That the bright afternoon of the first of a month, in the "new of the moon", in the first of a club year were happy and auspicious omens for the Monday Club whose helpful influences were to increase and whose work is the broadening and uplifting of ourselves, of each other, and of that part of the world with which we come in contact.

These types of women were supposed to have been what they are because they were born under the influence of different signs of the Zodiac, and the ladies seated at the tables which represented the different signs were called upon to stand up and read the general characteristics of their cult for the amusement of the assembly.

It was generally voted by all to be an interesting and unique affair and the committee wish to thank Mrs. Look for the use of her studio and Dr. Frost and the librarian for the use of their rooms to assist the ladies in carrying out their plans.

A Kick.

"We are inclined to kick" exclaims Editor Stearns of Adrian. This is something so unusual in that gentleman that the Tribune yields some of its valuable space to his reasons. He says:

The law of 1890 provides a rate of pension, and it runs from $6 to $12 per month for disability to do manual labor.

We applied for pension under that law.

So did Gov. Bliss.

We hold no office.

Bliss is "in it" all the time.

We are without any bank account.

Bliss is worth a million.

We get $6 per month.

Bliss gets $12.

We can do no more manual labor than he can. We have just as much rheumatism, just as much age, just as much physical debility as has the governor, when it comes to earning a living by hard work of any kind.

Now why should he get double the pension awarded?

It is said he is lame from injuries received while riding a horse at the blow out in Washington a couple years ago.

Well, we were not able to get onto a horse, or even go to Washington.

Bliss says he was never examined.

Great Caesar, and here the pension board made us climb stairs, take off our clothes, pounded our breast, pinched our muscles, listened to our heart beats, smelled our breath, examined our false teeth, bent us over a chair, gouged us in the ribs, walked us around the office on a double quick, pumped our arms, made us kick at a mark, and did a lot of other things "too numerous too mention," and Bliss was never looked at.

Now this is downright favoritism, and we demand justice.

We want equality, impartiality.

Either Bliss has too much pension or we have too little. We are inclined to think he has none too much.

Let the pension commissioner give us a new rating. Physically, we are both manual labor wrecks. Mentally—well, we are not. Bliss can speak for himself. But we want that other $6 a month, or we will kick mighty hard.—Detroit Tribune.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Oct. 5, 1903.

First of the important matters to receive the President's attention on his return to the capitol, was the Miller controversy. His decision in this case is being discussed with great interest by the laboring men and the politicians. On Tuesday he held a two hour conference with a committee of the American Federation of Labor. The eight hour bill, an anti-injunction bill, and other important questions were discussed, the President promising to give labor matters his most careful attention. The Miller question was also mentioned but in this matter the President already made up his mind and as the labor leaders left the White House a statement was issued setting forth the President's views on a subject which has occupied the attention of union labor for several months. The President said that Foreman Miller could not be dismissed on the charges made by the Book-binders' Union and that there could be no discrimination in government employ between union and non-union labor. He argued that he could no more consider the fact that a man was a member of a union than that he was white or colored, Protestant or Catholic, Jew or Gentile. The labor leaders could hardly conceal their disappointment at this ultimatum out they are very guarded in their criticisms of President Roosevelt. The day following the conference they issued a statement "To Organized Labor of America." It said in part, "In view of the publicity given this subject (the Miller case) the Executive council of the American Federation of Labor takes this opportunity to say that the trade union movement stands for strictly union shops, experience having proved that where the "open shop" system has been tried reduction in wages and profits has ensued, with general disaster to the industry practising that system, and therefore declares that the best interests of the labor movement calls for the employment of union workers." It will be seen that while the statement is very conservative and fails to criticise directly the course of the President. It nevertheless declares that union labor stands by the principle of no "open shops." The question will doubtless be discussed at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which meets in Boston on November 8. Many politicians believe that the question of "open shop" in government employ will be a factor in the coming presidential campaign.

Washington has been saddened by the news of the death of Sir Michael Herbert, the British embassador to the United States, who succumbed to consumption last Wednesday in Switzerland, where he had gone in hope of recovering his health. But a short time ago he expressed his intention of returning to Washington in September. Sir Herbert was only 46 years of age, which is very young for the important post with which he was intrusted. Although he was ambassador in Washington but a few months he settled with Mr. Herbert Bowen the difficulties arising from the attack of the allies Venezuela and also negotiated with Secretary Hay the treaty under which the Alaskan Boundary Commission is now sitting in London. He had served in Washington twice before, married an an American, and was a personal friend of President Roosevelt whom he had known for many years. His successor has not yet been appointed.

Robert P. Skinner, our consul general in Marseilles, France, is now in Washington completing arrangements for his trip into Abyssinia, where he is going for the purpose of inviting King Menelik to visit the St. Louis Exposition and to make a commercial agreement with the United States. Mr. Skinner has been presented to President Roosevelt who takes a great interest in the expedition and who will send a message of friendship to the negro ruler. An American warship will take Mr. Skinner to the nearest port and a body of United States marines will escort him on his journey to the capitol of Abyssinia. The European press insists that this is the first step for an American invasion of Africa but it forgets that one third of the goods that are imported into Abyssinia come from the United States and that it is but natural that we should establish diplomatic and consular relations with the buyers of our products. More than $5,000,000 of cotton goods are sent from this country each year to the subjects of King Menelik. In return for these and other goods we get ivory, hides, carpet wools, and other raw materials. Consul Skinner will reach his destination some time in November and he hopes to increase greatly the volume of our trade with this distant and strange country.

Pure food laws passed by the last Congress are being rigidly enforced by the Department of Agriculture, much to the confusion of New York merchants. All imported foods have been subjected to a careful examination by the department's experts and in many cases adverse reports have been made. This has called forth many protests from the importers and Dr. H. W. Wiley, the government's chief chemist has gone to New York to straighten matters out. These protests were expected and are regarded as the natural outcome of an impartial enforcement of the law. When the importers once realize that the Department is in earnest, there will be fewer attempts to bring adulterated foods into the country and the pure food laws will have beneficial results. Secretary Wilson intends also to issue an official certificate of purity for American goods which are exported, and this will make the foreign inspection of these goods a mere formality.

Saves Two from Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by C. A. Wright. Miss Edith May Elliott and John H. Mead

WERE QUIETLY MARRIED

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott at six o'clock Saturday evening.

A very quiet home wedding occurred Saturday evening at six o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott, when the marriage of their oldest daughter, Miss Edith May, to John H. Mead, of Bay City, was solemnized. Only a few relatives were present but they rejoice in the happiness of the young couple. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. F. Jones. Miss Ina Blesing and James Mead, brother of the groom, were maid of honor and best man, and the group made a picture as the bride and groom plighted their vows.

The bride is a lady who has always resided in Tecumseh and is well and favorably known here. The groom has been for some time employed as bookkeeper at the Lenawee lumber office and has made many friends during his stay here. The happy couple left yesterday on the 9:14 Lake Shore train amid showers of rice for Bay City, where Mr. Mead will keep books for C. C. Barker Lumber Co.

The bride received many beautiful presents among which was $200 from her parents.

Last week a box of candy arrived at the City bakery and after the sweet stuff had been removed the young woman employed in the kitchen picked up the excelsior which had been packed around the smaller boxes and threw it in the stove. Next day the proprietor happened to think that a gold watch was to have been sent along as a premium, but no one had seen it. The excelsior, the hired girl and the missing watch all popped into his mind at the same time and a look at the inside of the stove disclosed the charred remains of the watch, which had been accidently dumped in with the excelsior.—Portland Review.

BEAUTY TRIUMPHS,

'Tis a Priceless Treasure.

Beauty is woman's greatest charm. The world adores beautiful women. A pretty woman dreads maternity for fear of losing this power. What can be done to perpetuate the race and keep women beautiful? There is a balm used by cultured and uncultured women in the crisis. Husbands should investigate this remedy in order to reassure their wives as to the ease with which children can be born and beauty of form and figure retained.

Mother's Friend is the name by which this preparation is known. It diminishes the pain allied to motherhood. Used throughout pregnancy it relieves morning sickness, cures sore breasts, makes elastic all tendons called upon to hold the expanding burden. Muscles soften and relax under its influence and the patient anticipates favorably the issue, in the comfort thus bestowed.

Mother's Friend is a liniment for external application. It is gently rubbed over the parts so severely taxed, and being absorbed lubricates all the muscles.

Druggists sell it for $1 per bottle. You may have our book "Motherhood" free.

Some Tecumseh Residents have learned how to keep it away.

Your back may not ache very long,
But the ache will return shortly,
Comes oftener—stays longer,
Unless the kidneys are relieved.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Tecumseh people endorse them.

Mr. Henry Keyser, retired farmer and capitalist, residence in the southwestern section of Tecumseh, says: "I am thoroughly convinced of the superior merits of this popular remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. They deserve naught save the highest praise. Before going to C. A. Wright's drug store for a box I had a dull aching pain in my back which had annoyed me for some time and the secretions from the kidneys were unnatural and irregular. To say that I was surprised at the effect is putting it very mildly. In a very short time the trouble disappeared. I never knew a medicine that worked so quickly and satisfactorily."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

SWEET REVENGE.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 5.—Detroit just toyed with the Ionias Sunday and could have shut out the Independents had they wished to rub it in, but the humiliating defeat of midsummer was wiped out.

Thomas, Ionia's pitcher, worked hard, but Detroit found him easy and not only hit him often but hard. Score: Detroit, 14; Ionia, 3. Batteries: Kitson and Buelow; Thomas and Barber.

Schwab Disappointed Them.

Baltimore, Oct. 5.—Much disappointment was expressed at the failure of Charles M. During the day the visiting delegates to the convention visited the various Protestant churches of the city in squads.

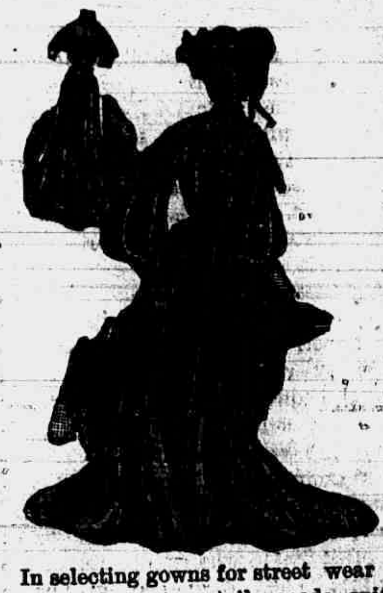
LATEST FASHION NOTES.

GOWN OF NEW THIN CHIFFON VELVET.

A handsome gown is developed of the new thin chiffon velvet. This is elaborately trimmed with crepe de Chine hand-embroidered with Corticelli filo silk. Embroidery an costumes is daily growing in popularity. The crepe de Chine extends out over the shoulder, giving the broad, sloping effect. Bands of the crepe de Chine are inset on the bodice, sleeves and skirt, reaching on the latter down to the flounce, which also is embroidered to correspond with the waist. The sleeves are very full just below the elbow, with deeps cuffs, also hand embroidered.



In selecting gowns for street wear it is well to have two tailor-made suits. One of these should be very plain, with sometimes two skirts, one short and one long. On a more elaborate suit may be passementeries, cordings, stitchings, and facings of white or color, also gold or silver buttons. All of these various forms of trimmings seem to be growing in popularity.

Acquitted of Murder.

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 5.—Frank Bardwell, charged with murdering Mrs. Ethel Hodge, his sister-in-law, at a dance at Arbeiter hall April 19, was acquitted on Saturday evening. The trial consumed ten days and is without a parallel in local courts for fierce and vindictive fighting. Over a dozen witnesses were impeached and the attorneys threatened by the court with confinement in jail. The defendant's plucky wife fell in a faint in her husband's arms when the verdict was announced and his attorneys, Brakie J. Orr of this city and Eugene Snow of Saginaw, broke down and cried like babies, while a score of women wept. Marshall Hodge, husband of the dead woman, will not be tried for murder, but probably on a charge of assault with intent, as he shot Leonard Roth, a constable, through the foot.

"Jack the Hugger" Spotted.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 5.—"Jack the Hugger," who terrified young ladies who were walking alone in the Sixth ward evenings about two years ago by his gross insults, is almost positively known now. A few evenings ago a man who answers the description of the fellow who escaped traps set for him for weeks during the winter months of 1901, accosted a lady in the usual manner of "Jack the Hugger," and he was recognized. He begged for mercy and the lady, not wishing the notoriety of a court proceeding, has dropped the matter upon the fellow signing a confession in her case and upon written promise never to repeat the insults to any one again.

To Employ Extra Deputies.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 3.—During the last week of October and the first of November, according to the monthly report of the state game warden, an extra force of deputies will be employed to prevent the killing of deer before the season opens. The record for September was thirty arrests and twenty-six convictions.

Never Ask Advice.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

NO GRAND REVIEW

Bad Weather Interferes With Program at Camp Young.

HEAVY GALE RAISED HAVOC

Big Assembly Tent Blown to Pieces—Three Thousand Michigan Men in Camp—Few in Hospitals — State Pays Part of Salaries.

Camp Young, Howard, Ky., Oct. 8.—By order of General Bates, the grand division review, which was to have been held Wednesday afternoon, was called off, and in all probability it will not be held at all. Bad weather prevented carrying out the day's program.

It had been proposed to have the regulars of all arms and organized militia reviewed on the great parade ground. Besides General Bates, the governors of Kentucky and Indiana were to have witnessed the spectacle. Every arm of the service is represented in the force of 10,000 men here, and every preparation had been made for the review.

Tuesday night was an anxious one for all the tent-dwellers. After a perfect evening the conditions changed and a gale commenced blowing which threatened to root up the camp bodily. The big general assembly tent, where the officers of divisions gather for lectures and discussion was entirely wrecked. There was not a little consternation in the row of tents occupied by the staff officers, but luckily none of the tents that the various generals put up before the troops arrived collapsed.

Muster-In of Militia.

The first duty in the Michigan camp was for the mustering in of the militia. Captain E. W. Evans of the regular army, assisted by a number of other line officers, conducting it. Adjt.-Gen. George H. Brown, Quartermaster General James H. Kidd, Brig.-Gen. W. T. McGurrin and staff officers. Assistant Adjt.-Gen. George H. Turner, Assistant Quartermaster-General S. H. Avery, Colonel Jared A. Munroe an William A. Waite of the governor' staff assisted in the examination, representing the state of Michigan. The pay rolls show that the state has sent over 3,000 men to camp.

The officers get regular army pay, according to their rank, from the national government, while the enlisted men get the same pay as regulars, but have their pay made up to $2 a day by the state, with 75 cents commutation for rations.

A remarkable small hospital list is reported by Lieut.-Col. Lawrence D. Knowles. In spite of the marches and privations of the soldiers during their two days in the field, in rain and mud, there are no really serious cases of illness in the entire brigade.

By a change in the military program, the troops are to tackle the final and hardest problem of all today. Instead of the exercise in army marching, which was planned, the Brown and Blue armies will engage in mock combat in the hills. It has not yet been announced which regiments will compose the different armies.

Saturday noon is the time set by the army officials for the militia to break camp and the national guardsmen to get away.

Cost of the Encampment.

It is costing the war department only about 25 cents a day to feed the national guard men in Camp Young. The state has in years past allowed the men 75 cents a day for rations, and this year it will pay them the difference between the cost of the government ration and 75 cents, which will go into the company treasuries. The pay at state encampments has been $1 25. The government is paying them for this encampment at the rate of $13 a month for private soldiers, as in the case of rations the state will pay the difference, which amounts to approximately 75 cents, and this, too, will go into company treasuries.

Complainant Was Drunk.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 8.—The case of Edward Morey, charged with holding up Thomas Monaghan at Whitmore Lake Aug. 5 and stealing a watch and money, took a funny turn in the circuit court Wednesday. The complainant appeared so drunk that Judge Kinne ordered him taken to jail. Whereupon Morey pleaded guilty to simple larceny and was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

Died of Broken Heart.

Rogers City, Mich., Oct. 8.—To grief at the untimely death by drowning of her brothers, two Roger City merchants, William and Edward Nelson, is ascribed the death of Mrs. Milk at Onaway. When the finding of the latter's body last week shattered every hope that they might have escaped death, she gave up. Soon after her first child was prematurely born. The mother lingered, but in spite of the fact that nothing in her accouchment warranted fear of a fatal result, she sank until the end. The physicians declare she died literally of a broken heart. She was the only girl in the family.

Dynamite Used at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 8.—An attempt was made at an early hour Wednesday morning by some person or persons believed to be among the dissatisfied employes of the Consolidated companies to blow up a portion of the Algoma Central track near the brick plant. The attempt was partially successful, at least, for some feet of track was destroyed, but not so much that it could not be repaired with little trouble. Dynamite was used.

IT FAILED TO FLY

Langley's Areodrome Dropped Into the Potomac.

WRECKED WHEN TAKEN OUT

Professor Manley Went Down With It —He Issues Statement, Saying His Confidence In Future Success Is Unchanged.

Widewater, Va., Oct. 8.—The sixty-foot steel built flying machine, the climax of years of exhaustive study in the efforts of Professor Samuel P. Langley, secretary of the Simpsonian Institute, to solve the problem of aerial flight in midair, was launched Wednesday and the experiment, carefully planned and delayed for months, proved a complete failure. The immense airship sped rapidly along its seventy-foot track, was carried by its own momentum for 100 yards and then fell gradually into the Potomac river, whence it emerged a total wreck.

Professor Charles M. Manley, who has been Professor Langley's chief assistant in the work preliminary to th attempted flight, made the ascent the aerodrome and escaped wi oy ducking. At no time was ther semblance of flight. An officia ate- ment made after the test admi that the experiment who unsucc al, but asserted confidence in th ultimate success of the invention.

Langley Wasn't P ent.

The launching took ce at 12:15 o'clock from the supe ructure of the houseboat moored the Potomac river, two miles fr this place. Secretary Langley, o has visited the scene of the t but infrequently since the hous oat carrying his device and his sistants was taken to Widewater, d not witness the failure of his achine yesterday, but remained Washington, where he awaited ne result.

When all was ready Professor Manley took his place in the navigator's car, which was situated close to the gasoline motor. He started the motor, which worked well, the revolutions reaching 1200 a minute. The big machine moved easily along the seventy-foot track, in the launching apparatus, and took the air fairly well. A five-mile breeze was blowing and for a moment the machine stood up well, but its failure was immediately apparent. It turned gradually downward. The decline was so positive that Professor Manley saw at a glance that but few stop watch he wore on his left knee would be recorded before both he and the scientific ship would be floundering in the waters of the Potomac. The machine disappeared beneath the waves, but only momentarily. The five conical shaped floats which had been distributed about the machine to avert its sinking performed their functions well, and the bridges of the machine almost immediately reappeared above the water. It was a moment of anxiety for the safety of the navigator, but fears were instantly relieved as his head emerged above the surface. He had sustained no injury. His face reflected his disappointment at the result. An hour later Professor Manley gave out the following statement to the newspapermen:

Prof. Manley's Statement.

"It must be understood that the test today was entirely an experiment and the first of its kind ever made. The experiment was unsuccessful. The balancing up, on which depend the success of the flight, was based upon the tests of the models and proved to be incorrect, but only an actual trial of the full-sized machine itself could determine this. My confidence in future success of the work is unchanged. I can give you no other information."

As the disabled machine was lifted on the derricks from the water the complete disaster was evident. The big broad wings, which had extended 12 by 22 feet, were hanging limp beside the frame, the rudder was a wreck, the wire framework a tangled mass and the main body of the 1200-pound machine was badly damaged though not beyond repair.

Child Drowned in Cistern.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 7.—While Mrs. Frank Rice was dressing her hair Tuesday her little baby, a boy of 15 months, escaped her notice, walked out of the house and fell into a cistern, the cover of which was loosely placed. As soon as she missed the child Mrs. Rice made a search of the premises, her first impulse being to look into the cistern, where she found the baby. A doctor was immediately summoned, but he pronounced the child beyond resuscitation.

CESSION OF SOVEREIGNTY

Makes Canal Treaty Unconstitutional, Says Colombian Minister.

Bogota, Colombia, Monday, Oct. 5, via Buenaventura, Oct. 8.—Senator Rivas Groot, who was commissioned to report on the canal treaty, says his report is ready and will be presented to the senate tomorrow, in secret session, he desiring first to know what impression it makes on the senate Senator Groot believes the present treaty is unconstitutional, because of the cession of sovereignty; but he thinks the treaty could have been negotiated with slight modifications. He repeats the communications made to United States Minister Beaupre, saying that the Colombian government would not accept the modifications and had decided on their rejection.

The senator thinks the existing laws on the subject are not sufficient unless the constitution is amended.

Senator Groot, in his report, says he anxiously wishes the canal to be built, but in harmony with the actual constitution of Colombia. He adds that the proposed changes in the constitution would meet with invincible resistance.

AUT RUCK TREE

S Glazier Lost Control of His Machine.

OMAN'S DEATH THE RESULT

Was Speeding on Detroit Boulevard —Darkness Prevented Jog in Road Being Seen—Mrs. Mudge of Albion Killed.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 7.—Rushing over the curb of the Eastern Boulevard, where it intersects with McDougall and Hendrie avenues, an automobile operated by State Senator Frank P. Glazier of Chelsea, Mich., at 7 o'clock last evening threw five occupants out and so seriously injured one, Mrs. Lucy T. Mudge of Albion, Mich., that she died a short time afterwards at Grace hospital. The others were not seriously hurt and repaired to their homes in a carriage.

About 5 o'clock last evening a party of five left the Blodgett terrace, at 296 Jefferson avenue, for an automobile ride. It was composed of Senator Glazier, Mrs. Lucy T. Mudge, who came to Detroit Tuesday morning; Mrs. Adella A. Comstock, an aunt of the senator, and Misses Winnilee and Vera Comstock.

For nearly two hours the auto toured about the city, visiting points of interest. Along the northern section of the Boulevard the machine sped and turned southward with it on a line with McDougall avenue. It was traveling at a high rate of speed when it approached that point where the Boulevard turns abruptly eastward at Hendrie avenue. It was getting dark and there was difficulty in seeing any great distance ahead.

Suddenly Glazier saw the turn in the roadway ahead. Being a somewhat inexperienced operator, he failed to make the curve in safety. The machine became unmanageable and made a dash for the curb. Crashing up over it, the automobile ploughed ahead and finally crashed up against a tree.

All Were Thrown Out.

The five occupants were thrown high into the air. Mrs. Mudge was found in an unconscious condition a number of feet away, while the others, who were badly shaken up, were distributed about the vicinity.

Dr. J. H. Neary was summoned by a pedestrian, who witnessed the accident. He found that Mrs. Mudge's skull was fractured near the base. As she was still breathing, the physician decided to send her to Grace hospital. into the institution she expired. A postmortem examination will be held.

Mrs. Mudge was born and raised in Albion, Mich. Her husband, an electrician, died several years ago, leaving her well-to-do. She is survived by one child, a son of 16 years of age. Relatives will be here from Albion today to take the body back to that place.

State Senator Glazier is a man with a senate record. He is also a candidate for state treasurer.

Had a Fight With an Eagle.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Oct. 8.—A large golden brown eagle attacked Andrew Larson near Beechwood, in this county, the other day. A terrible struggle lasting fully twenty minutes ensued, when Larson was finally victorious. The bird measured seven feet four inches from tip to tip. When its claws were spread they measured eight inches; it weighed 12½ pounds and was thirty-three inches high.

Battle Creek Taxes Boosted.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 8.—Battle Creek has received her assessment rolls, recently gobbled up by the state tax commission, and finds that the city's assessed valuation has received a million dollar boost. The taxpayers considered $9,523,260 too high, despite the city's unusual development, but the commission nearly paralyzed them when it raised the sum to $10,563,705.

Drowned While Joking.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 8.—Hugh McElgun, a clerk in the employ of the Morgan Lumber company at Blind River, was drowned by falling off a tug at that place. After he had fallen overboard he swam along, calling to the men on board and joking while they made ready to throw a rope to him, and no one had any fear of his drowning, for he was a very strong swimmer, but before the rope could be thrown to him he took cramps and sank very suddenly. The body was recovered some time afterward.

Largest Attendance In History.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 8.—In spite of the fact that the dental, medical and pharmacal departments are smaller than in former years because of the increased work recently added, the total registration at the U. of M. this year will be the largest in its history. Secretary Wade estimated the total attendance for the year at 4,068 students. This is the first time Michigan has broken into the 4,000 class. The law, engineering and literary departments show increases over last year.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 8.—Convict John Harney was brought here from Jackson Wednesday to attend the funeral of his mother, after which he was taken back to the penitentiary by a deputy sheriff. Harney was a member of a tough gang here some years ago and was sent up for burglary.

Ran a Ten Penny Nail Through His Hand.

While opening a box, J. C. Mount of Three Mile Bay, N. Y. ran a ten penny nail through the fleshy part of his hand. "I thought at once of all the pain and soreness this would cause me, he says, and immediately applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and occasionally afterwards. To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed". For sale by all druggists.

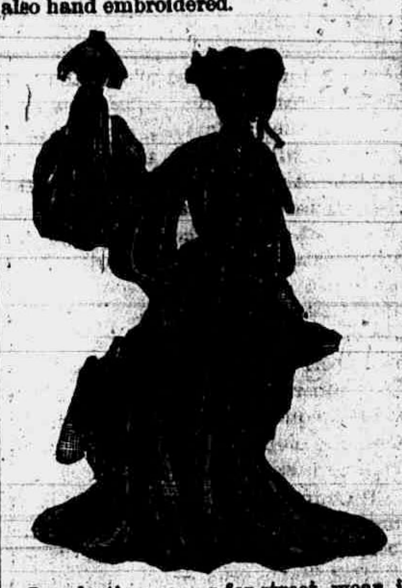
LATEST FASHION NOTES.

GOWN OF NEW THIN CHIFFON VELVET.

A handsome gown is developed of the new thin chiffon velvet. This is elaborately trimmed with crepe de Chine hand-embroidered with Corticelli filo silk. Embroidery an costumes is daily growing in popularity. The crepe de Chine extends out over the shoulder, giving the broad, sloping effect. Bands of the crepe de Chine are inset on the bodice, sleeves and skirt, reaching on the latter down to the flounce, which also is embroidered to correspond with the waist. The sleeves are very full just below the elbow, with deeps cuffs, also hand embroidered.



In selecting gowns for street wear it is well to have two tailor-made suits. One of these should be very plain, with sometimes two skirts, one short and one long. On a more elaborate suit may be passementeries, cordings, stitchings, and facings of white or color, also gold or silver buttons. All of these various forms of trimmings seem to be growing in popularity.

Acquitted of Murder.

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 5.—Frank Bardwell, charged with murdering Mrs. Ethel Hodge, his sister-in-law, at a dance at Arbeiter hall April 19, was acquitted on Saturday evening. The trial consumed ten days and is without a parallel in local courts for fierce and vindictive fighting. Over a dozen witnesses were impeached and the attorneys threatened by the court with confinement in jail. The defendant's plucky wife fell in a faint in her husband's arms when the verdict was announced and his attorneys, Brakie J. Orr of this city and Eugene Snow of Saginaw, broke down and cried like babies, while a score of women wept. Marshall Hodge, husband of the dead woman, will not be tried for murder, but probably on a charge of assault with intent, as he shot Leonard Roth, a constable, through the foot.

"Jack the Hugger" Spotted.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 5.—"Jack the Hugger," who terrified young ladies who were walking alone in the Sixth ward evenings, about two years ago by his gross insults, is almost positively known now. A few evenings ago a man who answers the description of the fellow who escaped traps set for him for weeks during the winter months of 1901, accosted a lady in the usual manner of "Jack the Hugger," and he was recognised. He begged for mercy and the lady, not wishing the notoriety of a court proceeding, has dropped the matter upon the fellow signing a confession in her case and upon written promise never to repeat the insults to any one again.

To Employ Extra Deputies.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 3.—During the last week of October and the first of November, according to the monthly report of the state game warden, an extra force of deputies will be employed to prevent the killing of deer before the season opens. The record for September was thirty arrests and twenty-six convictions.

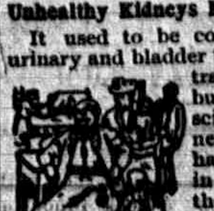
Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.



It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

NO GRAND REVIEW

Bad Weather Interferes With Program at Camp Young.

HEAVY GALE RAISED HAVOC

Big Assembly Tent Blown to Pieces—Three Thousand Michigan Men in Camp—Few in Hospitals — State Pays Part of Salaries.

Camp Young, Howard, Ky., Oct. 8.—By order of General Bates, the grand division review, which was to have been held Wednesday afternoon, was called off, and in all probability it will not be held at all. Bad weather prevented carrying out the day's program.

It had been proposed to have the regulars of all arms and organized militia reviewed on the great parade ground. Besides General Bates, the governors of Kentucky and Indiana were to have witnessed the spectacle. Every arm of the service is represented in the force of 10,000 men here, and every preparation had been made for the review.

Tuesday night was an anxious one for all the tent-dwellers. After a perfect evening the conditions changed and a gale commenced blowing which threatened to root up the camp bodily. The big general assembly tent, where the officers of divisions gather for lectures and discussion was entirely wrecked. There was not a little consternation in the row of tents occupied by the staff officers, but luckily none of the tents that the various generals put up before the troops arrived collapsed.

Muster-in of Militia.

The first duty in the Michigan camp was for the mustering in of the militia. Captain E. W. Evans of the regular army, assisted by a number of other line officers, conducting it. Adjt.-Gen. George H. Brown, Quartermaster General James H. Kidd, Brig.-Gen. W. T. McGurrin and staff officers. Assistant Adjt.-Gen. George H. Turner, Assistant Quartermaster-General S. H. Avery, Colonel Jared A. Munroe and William A. Waite of the governor's staff assisted in the examination, representing the state of Michigan. The pay rolls show that the state has sent over 3,000 men to camp.

The officers get regular army pay, according to their rank, from the national government, while the enlisted men get the same pay as regulars, but have their pay made up to $2 a day by the state, with 75 cents commutation for rations.

Small Hospital List.

A remarkable small hospital list is reported by Lieut.-Col. Lawrence D. Knowles. In spite of the marches and privations of the soldiers during their two days in the field, in rain and mud, there are no really serious cases of illness in the entire brigade.

By a change in the military program, the troops are to tackle the final and hardest problem of all today. Instead of the exercise in army marching, which was planned, the Brown and Blue armies will engage in mock combat in the hills. It has not yet been announced which regiments will compose the different armies.

Saturday noon is the time set by the army officials for the militia to break camp and the national guardsmen to get away.

Cost of the Encampment.

It is costing the war department only about 25 cents a day to feed the national guard men in Camp Young. The state has in years past allowed the men 75 cents a day for rations, and this year it will pay them the difference between the cost of the government ration and 75 cents, which will go into the company treasuries. The pay at state encampments has been $1 25. The government is paying them for this encampment at the rate of $13 a month for private soldiers, as in the case of rations the state will pay the difference, which amounts to approximately 75 cents, and this, too, will go into company treasuries.

Complainant Was Drunk.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 8.—The case of Edward Morey, charged with holding up Thomas Monaghan at Whitmore Lake Aug. 5 and stealing a watch and money, took a funny turn in the circuit court Wednesday. The complainant appeared so drunk that Judge Kinne ordered him taken to jail. Whereupon Morey pleaded guilty to simple larceny and was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

Died of Broken Heart.

Rogers City, Mich., Oct. 8.—To grief at the untimely death by drowning of her brothers, two Roger City merchants, William and Edward Nelson, is ascribed the death of Mrs. Milk at Onaway. When the finding of the latter's body last week shattered every hope that they might have escaped death, she gave up. Soon after her first child was prematurely born. The mother lingered, but in spite of the fact that nothing in her accouchment warranted fear of a fatal result, she sank until the end. The physicians declare she died literally of a broken heart. She was the only girl in the family.

Dynamite Used at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 8.—An attempt was made at an early hour Wednesday morning by some person or persons believed to be among the dissatisfied employes of the Consolidated companies to blow up a portion of the Algoma Central track near the brick plant. The attempt was partially successful, at least, for some feet of track was destroyed, but not so much that it could not be repaired with little trouble. Dynamite was used.

IT FAILED TO FLY

Langley's Areodrome Dropped Into the Potomac.

WRECKED WHEN TAKEN OUT

Professor Manley Went Down With It—He Issues Statement, Saying His Confidence In Future Success Is Unchanged.

Widewater, Va., Oct. 8.—The sixty-foot steel built flying machine, the climax of years of exhaustive study in the efforts of Professor Samuel F. Langley, secretary of the Simpsonian Institute, to solve the problem of aerial flight in midair, was launched Wednesday and the experiment, carefully planned and delayed for months, proved a complete failure. The immense airship sped rapidly along its seventy-foot track, was carried by its own momentum for 100 yards and then fell gradually into the Potomac river, whence it emerged a total wreck.

Professor Charles M. Manley, who has been Professor Langley's chief assistant in the work preliminary to the attempted flight, made the ascent in the aerodrome and escaped with a ducking. At no time was there any semblance of flight. An official statement made after the test admitted that the experiment who unsuccessful, but asserted confidence in the ultimate success of the invention.

Langley Wasn't Present.

The launching took place at 12:15 o'clock from the superstructure of the houseboat moored in the Potomac river, two miles from this place. Secretary Langley, who has visited the scene of the test but infrequently since the houseboat carrying his device and his assistants was taken to Widewater, did not witness the failure of his machine yesterday, but remained in Washington, where he awaited the result.

When all was ready Professor Manley took his place in the navigator's car, which was situated close to the gasoline motor. He started the motor, which worked well, the revolutions reaching 1200 a minute. The big machine moved easily along the seventy-foot track, in the launching apparatus, and took the air fairly well. A five-mile breeze was blowing and for a moment the machine stood up well, but its failure was immediately apparent. It turned gradually downward. The decline was so positive that Professor Manley saw at a glance that but few movements of the second hand of the stop watch he wore on his left knee would be recorded before both he and the scientific ship would be floundering in the waters of the Potomac. The machine disappeared beneath the waves, but only momentarily. The five conical shaped floats which had been distributed about the machine to avert its sinking performed their functions well, and the bridges of the machine almost immediately reappeared above the water. It was a moment of anxiety for the safety of the navigator, but fears were instantly relieved as his head emerged above the surface. He had sustained no injury. His face reflected his disappointment at the result. An hour later Professor Manley gave out the following statement to the newspapermen:

Prof. Manley's Statement.

"It must be understood that the test today was entirely an experiment and the first of its kind ever made. The experiment was unsuccessful. The balancing up, on which depend the success of the flight, was based upon the tests of the models and proved to be incorrect, but only an actual trial of the full-sized machine itself could determine this. My confidence in future success of the work is unchanged. I can give you no other information."

As the disabled machine was lifted on the derricks from the water the complete disaster was evident. The big broad wings, which had extended 12 by 22 feet, were hanging limp beside the frame, the rudder was a wreck, the wire framework a tangled mass and the main body of the 1200-pound machine was badly damaged though not beyond repair.

Child Drowned In Cistern.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 7.—While Mrs. Frank Rice was dressing her hair Tuesday her little baby, a boy of 15 months, escaped her notice, walked out of the house and fell into a cistern, the cover of which was loosely placed. As soon as she missed the child Mrs. Rice made a search of the premises, her first impulse being to look into the cistern, where she found the baby. A doctor was immediately summoned, but he pronounced the child beyond resuscitation.

Hasn't Lost a Case.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 7.—Assistant Professor T. B. Cooley has made public a report of the Pasteur institute at the University of Michigan, which was opened here last spring. Thirty-five patients have been treated at the institution and not one case has been lost. All but one of the patients were residents of the state. The authorities are receiving many congratulations on the success of the undertaking.

Guilty of Theft.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 7.—Charles O. Frank, a well known deputy customs collector and a prominent young man of this city, was arrested Tuesday afternoon on a charge of robbing the till in Weyers' grocery store, the arrest causing a sensation because of his prominence. The town of Aliceville, which has 200 inhabitants, was practically demolished. The extent of the storm was not learned until late yesterday. The list of casualties may yet be incomplete.

CESSION OF SOVEREIGNTY

Makes Canal Treaty Unconstitutional, Says Colombian Minister.

Bogota, Colombia, Monday, Oct. 5, via Buenaventura, Oct. 8.—Senator Rivas Groot, who was commissioned to report on the canal treaty, says his report is ready and will be presented to the senate tomorrow, in secret session, he desiring first to know what impression it makes on the senate. Senator Groot believes the present treaty is unconstitutional, because of the cession of sovereignty; but he thinks the treaty could have been negotiated with slight modifications. He repeats the communications made to United States Minister Beaupre, saying that the Colombian government would not accept the modifications and had decided on their rejection.

The senator thinks the existing laws on the subject are not sufficient unless the constitution is amended.

Senator Groot, in his report, says he anxiously wishes the canal to be built, but in harmony with the actual constitution of Colombia. He adds that the proposed changes in the constitution would meet with invincible resistance.

Killed Policeman While Drunk.

Pueblo, Col., Oct. 8.—While crazed from the influence of liquor, Dr. C. O. Rice, one of the most prominent physicians in the city, last night shot and almost instantly killed Police Officer Martz, while the latter was trying to arrest him in the Palace drug store in the Central block. The tragedy occurred after the frenzied physician had driven everyone from the store by flourishing his revolver and threatening to kill anyone who came within pistol range.

Heinz with a younger brother, who was also fearfully punished, lived with the tutor in a secluded house. A medical board has decided that Dippold is sane. He alleges that he whipped the boys on the authority of their parents.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 8.—At a sanitarium at Wernersville, near here, Wednesday J. H. Newman, aged 38, of Denver, Col., an agent of the New York Life Insurance company, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. A cause assigned for the act was fear of losing his position.

AUTO STRUCK TREE

Senator Glazier Lost Control of His Machine.

WOMAN'S DEATH THE RESULT

Was Speeding on Detroit Boulevard—Darkness Prevented Jog In Road Being Seen—Mrs. Mudge of Albion Killed.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 7.—Rushing over the curb of the Eastern Boulevard, where it intersects with McDougall and Hendrie avenues, an automobile operated by State Senator Frank P. Glazier of Chelsea, Mich., at 7 o'clock last evening threw five occupants out and so seriously injured one, Mrs. Lucy T. Mudge of Albion, Mich., that she died a short time afterwards at Grace hospital. The others were not seriously hurt and repaired to their homes in a carriage.

About 6 o'clock last evening a party of five left the Blodgett terrace, at 296 Jefferson avenue, for an automobile ride. It was composed of Senator Glazier, Mrs. Lucy T. Mudge, who came to Detroit Tuesday morning; Mrs. Adella A. Comstock, an aunt of the senator, and Misses Winnilee and Vera Comstock.

For nearly two hours the auto toured about the city, visiting points of interest. Along the northern section of the Boulevard the machine sped and turned southward with it on a line with McDougall avenue. It was traveling at a high rate of speed when it approached that point where the Boulevard turns abruptly eastward at Hendrie avenue. It was getting dark and there was difficulty in seeing any great distance ahead.

Suddenly Glazier saw the turn in the roadway ahead. Being a somewhat inexperienced operator, he failed to make the curve in safety. The machine became unmanageable and made a dash for the curb. Crashing up over it, the automobile ploughed ahead and finally crashed up against a tree.

All Were Thrown Out.

The five occupants were thrown high into the air. Mrs. Mudge was found in an unconscious condition a number of feet away, while the others, who were badly shaken up, were distributed about the vicinity.

Dr. J. H. Neary was summoned by a pedestrian, who witnessed the accident. He found that Mrs. Mudge's skull was fractured near the base. As she was still breathing, the physician decided to send her to Grace hospital. Just after the lady had been carried into the institution she expired. A postmortem examination will be held.

Mrs. Mudge was born and raised in Albion, Mich. Her husband, an electrician, died several years ago, leaving her well-to-do. She is survived by one child, a son of 16 years of age. Relatives will be here from Albion today to take the body back to that place.

State Senator Glazier is a man with a senate record. He is also a candidate for state treasurer.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Oct. 8.—A large golden brown eagle attacked Andrew Larson near Beechwood, in this county, the other day. A terrible struggle lasting fully twenty minutes ensued, when Larson was finally victorious. The bird measured seven feet four inches from tip to tip. When its claws were spread they measured eight inches; it weighed 12½ pounds and was thirty-three inches high.

Battle Creek Taxes Boosted.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 8.—Battle Creek has received her assessment rolls, recently gobbled up by the state tax commission, and finds that the city's assessed valuation has received a million dollar boost. The taxpayers considered $9,523,260 too high, despite the city's unusual development, but the commission nearly paralyzed them when it raised the sum to $10,563,705.

Drowned While Joking.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 8.—Hugh McElgun, a clerk in the employ of the Morgan Lumber company at Blind River, was drowned by falling off a tug at that place. After he had fallen overboard he swam along, calling to the men on board and joking while they made ready to throw a rope to him, and no one had any fear of his drowning, for he was a very strong swimmer, but before the rope could be thrown to him he took cramps and sank very suddenly. The body was recovered some time afterward.

Largest Attendance In History.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 8.—In spite of the fact that the dental, medical and pharmacal departments are smaller than in former years because of the increased work recently added, the total registration at the U. of M. this year will be the largest in its history. Secretary Wade estimated the total attendance for the year at 4,068 students. This is the first time Michigan has broken into the 4,000 class. The law, engineering and literary departments show increases over last year.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Confessions of a Priest.

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from Yellow Jaundice. I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for Liver and Kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guarateed by C. A. Wright. Only 50c.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. CHINESE BECOME SLAVES.

Celestials Pay Dear to Enter This Country.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 8.—Charles Thomas, tourist agent of the Pullman Car company, and John Mullen, the conductor, arrested Tuesday by Deputy Customs Officer Buzzell and Special Officer Bailey on a charge of smuggling, were discharged Wednesday by United States Commissioner Harris, but W. N. Crawford, the porter arrested at the same time, has been held.

Mullen stated that he was entirely ignorant of the fact that there was a Chinaman or whisky aboard. He came on the car at Montreal, and this was his first trip this way.

The smuggling act which was nipped in the bud is a new scheme in bringing Chinamen into the country. As high at $1,000 each is paid, and it 's stated in custom house circles that there are companies of Chinamen in the United States who put up the money. The fellow who is smuggled in works for the company until the amount and interest is paid back, being practically a slave.

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning it is extremely hazardous to neglect, so important is a healthy action of these organs.

They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

"I had pains in my back, could not sleep and when I got up in the morning felt worse than the night before. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and now I can sleep and get up feeling rested and able to do my work. I attribute my cure entirely to Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. J. N. PERRY, care H. S. Copeland, Pike Road, Ala.

WOMAN AND FASHION

Low Necked Waists.

Summer waists are receiving a great deal of attention just now. There are so many pretty fabrics and modes of making them up that one has no trouble at all in her selections. The real problem lies in the collar. It is almost impossible to wear the stiff, high stocks in hot weather. If one does wear them, it is with great discomfort. The soft lawn ties are pretty when fresh, but they soon wrinkle on the neck and have absolutely no chic. The easiest way out of it if one has a neck at all presentable is to cut the neck round or slightly square and finish it with a band of trimming, lace or embroidery. The waist shown is finished in that fashion. It is of very fine grass linen in the natural shade. This is tucked also on front and sleeves and is trimmed with embroidery the same shade as the waist. This bodice opens in front to admit a full blouse of rose pink mousseline. This same model could be prettily carried out in delicate china silk of white or some pale shade, made over a single chiffon lining of some harmonious color, giving an opalescent or even a rainbow effect. White lace would be used for trimming in such a case.—New York Mail and Express.

The Coiffure.

The coiffure worn low down in the nape of the neck suits lots of women and is apt to impart an air of simplicity and youth distinctly pleasing. But not a few of us vary the fashion of our hair with a reckless indifference to the fashion of our hats, and the result is an unsightly gap in the back view, says the New York Mail and Express. Even the most bewitching Parisian confection that ever crowned the head of pretty woman may prove unbecoming if donned with a careless disregard of the mode of coiffure that its design demands. Some women seem to use only their front glass and leave the back view to take care of itself.

A Charming Costume.

The gown illustrated is of light brown etamine, simply but attractively made and trimmed with narrow darker brown velvet ribbon. The skirt is made wide and flowing at the foot by fan plaitings of the material, headed by strappings of the ribbon, while the bodice is box plaited, with strappings between, and shows a pointed yoke, laced with the ribbon. Taffeta matching the ribbon in tone is used for the belt and collar band. The sleeves are full, with silk cuffs and frills.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Hats For Girls.

Little girls' hats are always the prettiest creations of the milliner. Such fanciful combinations of colors, twisting of ribbons and turns of brim, such exquisite knots and bows can only be worn over a fair young face which responds readily to the reflection of the romantic style above it.

The flats of Tuscan straw, with their moderately high crowns and full wide brims, are the favorites for general wear. They are not all expensive and can be made in every artistic form at moderate price.

The Plea That Failed.

"Well," said one undergraduate to another, "did your father send you that extra remittance that you asked for?"

"Not any. He gave me the marble heart."

"So you asked for rocks and got a stone, eh?"

Detroit Tribune: An incident on the last day of the Lenawee county fair raises the question whether a shooting gallery is a proper thing to have around in a crowd of people. Mr A. Sigler, in charge of a display in Fruit hall, while showing off the merits of his grape felt a stinging sensation in the shoulder, and was not sure that a wasp or hornet, tempted by the fruit, had not made an error and "got next" to him. Investigation disclosed a hole in his overcoat and also in his under coat and it was found that a bullet had passed through both, stopping at his vest. Near by was a shooting gallery where two young men, getting into a controversy scuffled for possession of a gun which was discharged. The lead passed through the side of the gallery and was well flattened when found, either from contact with the gallery wall or the shoulder blade of Sigler who is a big, well seasoned man.

THREE FIRES

In Tecumseh and Vicinity YESTERDAY.

Damage in all Three Covered by Insurance.

Chief Crosby claims that if there is one fire in Tecumseh there must be three in succession, or, in other words, that the other two must come in a short time.

Yesterday the whole three practically came in one day. At 11 o'clock the department was called to the residence of Mrs. Caroline Guinn on west Patterson street, where a gasoline stove had exploded and made quite a little blaze in the kitchen. The fire was extinguished in about twenty minutes, in fact, before the department reached the place. The damage was about $20.

Last night about 10 o'clock, as Leon Temple and Henry Smith were coming up town they discovered a blaze in the Brewer foundry boiler room. They turned in an alarm immediately and in no time at all the department was on hand.

By the heroic efforts of the department the fire was confined to that part of the building about the boiler room. It was no doubt caused by a smoldering spark which must have been alive since some time in the afternoon as at that time Wm. Gray announced that he smelled smoke about the building. A thorough search was then made but no trace of fire could be found. The loss is about $125, fully covered by insurance.

About one o'clock this morning fire broke out in the farm buildings of David McWilliams who resides four miles northeast of Tecumseh, destroying the barn and contents, which consisted of hay, grain, surrey, farm tools and 100 chickens. The barn and contents were insured for $900. Mr. McWilliams is a prosperous farmer, but the loss will come heavier on him as it was nearly a new barn and wiped entirely from the face of the earth.

Mrs. Palmer C. Temple.

Death has called from our midst our mother. One by one they are called back to their old home to sleep.

Hattie M. Smith was born in Georgetown March 10, 1837. She was united in marriage, to Palmer C. Temple in November, 1855, at Manchester, N. Y. They came to Tecumseh the same month and made this village their home until a few late years that were spent in Chicago.

Two daughters and four sons were born to them: Lela, Nellie, Arthur, Fred, Frank and Charles. Only the four sons survive her.

Anchored at last! Where the morning's bright sunlight
Kisses the tresses that have whitened by time.
Mother, we miss thee. Thy place, it is vacant.
Hush! we won't wake thee from slumbers so sweet.

In the Review of Reviews for October are two articles on the problem of the country school which deserve special attention. Professor Hays, of the University of Minnesota, writes on "Our Farmer Youth and the Public Schools," showing what is being done in many parts of the country, through school consolidation and the development of agricultural high schools, to give the country boy and girl the advantages of a connected, well-adjusted and rational system of public instruction, while Superintendent Kern, of Rockford, Ill., in a brief illustrated article, gives the results of practical efforts among farmer boys in his country in the direction of interesting the boys in the business of farming and in teaching them the things worth knowing in their rural environment.

FOURTEEN YEARS.

Tuesday Afternoon at the Home of Mrs. B. Hurrey,

THE RESEARCH CIRCLE

Entered on the Work of their Fourteenth Year by a Social Afternoon.

The Research Circle is now entering its fourteenth year, which promises to be a success judging from the program to be presented and the presence of sixteen new members at the first meeting. Mrs. Burridge was the founder of the Research Circle, and it is a great deal due to her efforts and devotion that the club has reached such a high standing.

Tuesday afternoon, October 6th, the members of the club were entertained by the officers at the home of Mrs. Brazilla Hurrey, the president. The ladies entered a contest which proved their skill in art and embroidery, also called forth a flow of wit. Refreshments were then passed, and the serving of fresh strawberries was a surprise and delight to all.

All members of federated clubs are permitted to visit the Research Circle, and the program for the following week will be printed in these columns every Friday, so that those who wish may attend. Meetings are held Tuesdays at 2 o'clock (standard time) at the club room.

Program for October 13th:

Roll call, summer memories.

Our Relation with the Leading Foreign Powers at the Present Time—Miss Carrie Sawyer.

Description of Yellowstone Park—Mrs. Burridge.

Glimpses of Life in the United States.

Uncle Zed's Dog.

Richard Harding Davison, editor and proprietor of the Croix County Chronicle, was poring over a list of delinquent subscribers and wondering if the ghost could possibly have spirit enough to walk Saturday night, when "Uncle" Zed Hopkins came in.

It was plain to be seen that "Uncle" Zed was mad. He seated himself in the spare sanctum chair, set his doughty elm cane upright between his knees, built a "meeting-house" of his fingers and began deliberately:

"Editor Davison, I've took th' Chronicle nigh onto ten year, an' I ain't ast many favors of ye, but I've come now to have ye wallop those Higginses that killed my dog Shep!"

At this juncture "Uncle" Zed wiped his eyes on a red bandana handkerchief which he then wound round one hand and continued:

"I don't allow to have no trouble with m' neighbors, but—"

"Wait a minute," said Editor Richard Harding Davison, reaching for his pencil and pad. "Wait a minute, 'Uncle' Zed."

"Now I'll read as I write and when you don't like it you say so."

"All right, Mr. Davison," piously assented "Uncle" Zed with due appreciation and gratification in his modulated voice.

"Some low down miscreant," read the editor, scribbling, "whose heart is about the size of a flea and whose head must be shaped like a tack, atrociously, maliciously and with malice aforethought, shot that fine, big family dog—"

"Uncle" Zed's face fell and his lips quivered as he interrupted:

"His name was 'Shep,'" Mr. Davison, "'Shep' was his name."

"All right—that fine, big, family dog Shep, owned by "Uncle" Zed Hopkins, Saturday night. A man that would shoot a dog like Shep is the greenest scum of the earth and hanging is too good for him!"

"How's that, 'Uncle' Zed?"

"Good, mighty good!" testified the patriarch, rubbing his hands gleefully and squirming in the creaking chair, "but ain't ye goin' to mention no names?"

"Why, yes, I might, Mr. Hopkins; that is if you desire it!"

"Well, I ain't insistin' none, but I've took yer paper a long time, Mr. Davison, a long time!"

"'It is our painful duty in this connection,'" resumed the editor, "'to announce we have among us a family so lost to common decency and the mandates of society, as to kill an innocent and unassuming dog—'"

"By jingo, that's great," interposed "Uncle" Zed with joy in his voice; that'll make 'em cringe some, I guess. Go ahead, editor, go ahead!"

"'As to kill an innocent and unassuming dog, and, to make a long story short, the name is Higgins'"

"Uncle" Zed brought his cane to the floor with an enthusiastic clatter.

"Hurrah! Say, editor, you're a trump. You're a man with th' courage o' his convictions. You're a—what's that? Sign it! Sign it!!"

"Uncle" Zed arose hastily from his chair, his surprise paramount:

"Me sign it!!!"

"You certainly don't want me to assume responsibility for it, Mr. Hopkins. My dog hasn't been killed," expostulated the editor with a smile in his eye that "Uncle" Zed did not see.

"Thunder in the winter time! Great horn spoons and little fishes! Of all the fool editors I ever see you are the wust!" shouted "Uncle" Zed, waving his cane, his bandana and his whiskers all at one and the same time, as he stumped away.

And the next day Editor Richard Harding Davison was notified by mail to stop "Uncle" Zed's paper.

But he didn't do it. A country editor knows a thing or two about human nature. "Uncle" Zed would have been really angry had he complied with the order.—Western Publisher.

Rescued from Suffering and Death by PAINE'S Celery Compound

THE GREAT MEDICINE.

MR. ALFRED BROWN,

A Prominent and Popular Citizen, Says.

"After the Use of Paine's Celery Compound I Am Now in the Best of Health."

The greatest of modern physicians, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., after years of long practice and close scientific study, gave to suffering and diseased men and women his marvelous, life giving prescription, with the conviction and positive knowledge that it had peculiar virtues and ample powers to cure.

Thousands of the strongest testimonials from the best known and most reliable men and women of our country fully sustain the claims made by Dr. Phelps regarding his incomparable Paine's Celery Compound.

One of the most convincing proofs furnished, comes recently from a gentleman widely known in the capital city of the Dominion of Canada. We refer to Mr. Alfred Brown, 91 O'Connor St., Ottawa, Ont. Mr. Brown's letter fully demonstrates the fact that the greatest sufferer may cast off his or her burden of disease and become well, strong, and happy. It proves, too, that the great medicine maintains more fully than ever before its unrivaled place in the estimation of people of wealth and social standing as well as with the masses. Mr. Brown says:—

"I acknowledge with thankfulness and pleasure the fact that I have been cured of a very painful illness of eight years' standing by use of Paine's Celery Compound. I had, during the years of my illness, tried almost all the advertised medicines without deriving any good results. I was also treated by several of the best doctors of this city, hoping to find that one of them, at least, would understand my case.

"I was getting worse, and was told I was incurable. I was indeed in a critical condition. I could not go from the house alone as I was liable to sudden collapse. I tried hospital treatment, but no relief or good results came to me. I could not sleep; anything that I ate increased my agonies; I was extremely weak, restless, tired, and despondent; was obliged to walk about with my hands pressed firmly into my left side to ease my pains; my feet and hands were cold continually; had inclination to vomit, had profuse, cold sweats, quick breathing, and would be racked with pain for hours at a time.

"After the regular use of Paine's Celery Compound for a time, I am now in the best of health, have good appetite, and can use any kind of food. Thank God I am my old self once more, all through the use of Paine's Celery Compound."

But the ache will return shortly,

Unless the kidneys are relieved.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Tecumseh people endorse them.

Mr. Henry Keyser, retired farmer and capitalist, residence in the southwestern section of Tecumseh, says: "I am thoroughly convinced of the superior merits of this popular remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. They deserve naught save the highest praise. Before going to C. A. Wright's drug store for a box I had a dull aching pain in my back which had annoyed me for some time and the secretions from the kidneys were unnatural and irregular. To say that I was surprised at the effect is putting it very mildly. In a very short time the trouble disappeared. I never knew a medicine that worked so quickly and satisfactorily."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

ICE IN YOUR RIVERS

Ice Congests and Stops Commerce—So Uric Acid Makes Rheumatic Pains.

Imagine how your bones would feel if they were bumped and buffeted by a river of floating ice. If you have Rheumatism you know the twinges and spasms of pain in your body.

Uric acid is the cause of it—it floats in your blood like ice in a river, clogging and poisoning your entire system. You cannot be freed from Rheumatism until you dispel the Uric acid. Athlophoros will dissolve it, and you will note immediate lessening of pain.

Your entire system will feel better, and if you have had kidney trouble or any organic difficulty you will note a marked improvement at once—one bottle will prove if it is helping you, and you will find the dollar to be your best investment if Athlophoros works on you as it does on others. If your druggist doesn't keep it send $1 to The Athlophoros Co., New Haven, Conn. If your case is peculiar, write us about it.

Watch the Kidneys.

"When they are affected life is in danger," says Dr. Abernethy, the great English physician. Foley's Kidney cure makes sound kidneys. J. J. Orr.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

HEALTH
"I don't think we could keep house without Thedford's Black-Draught. We have used it in the family for over two years with the best of results. I have not had a doctor in the house for that length of time. It is a doctor in itself and always ready to make a person well and happy."—JAMES HALL, Jacksonville, Ill.
Because this great medicine relieves stomach pains, frees the constipated bowels and invigorates the torpid liver and weakened kidneys is necessary in the home where Thedford's Black-Draught is kept. Families living in the country, miles from any physician, have been kept in health for years with this medicine as their only doctor. Thedford's Black-Draught cures biliousness, dyspepsia, colds, chills and fever, bad blood, headaches, diarrhoea, constipation, colic and almost every other ailment because the stomach, bowels liver and kidneys so nearly control the health.
No DOCTOR

NEGOTIATING.

Bulgaria and Turkey Settling Their Difficulties.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 12.—Negotiations are proceeding between the Bulgarian and Turkish governments for the repatriation of the 20,000 fugitives from Macedonia now in Bulgarian territory. The Porte offers to take all the refugees back under the joint supervision of the Bulgarian and Turkish functionaries, but there are many difficulties in the way, owing to the destruction of their homes and means of subsistence and the doubt whether they will be willing to return.

Constantinople, Oct. 12.—Two more claims of the American legation have been satisfactorily settled, the more important being the issue of a firman granting to Dr. Banks permission to excavate the ruins of Busmah, in Mesopotamia. The claim has been pending for three years, its settlement being constantly thwarted by German professors engaged in similar work.

The second question settled concerns property belonging to the wife of the American consul at Smyrna, upon which immigrants have established themselves and which the government now agrees to purchase. The negotiations regarding the other questions beteen Turkey and the United States are also making progress.

Some powers are showing irritation at the prolonged stay of the American warships at Beirut, but United States Minister Leishman maintains an attitude of patient and steady pressure and is obtaining satisfaction for his demands without any unnecessary bluster, such as would be calculated to trouble his friendly relations with the Ottoman government.

Noted Author and Soldier Dead.

New York, Oct. 12.—Richard Henry Savage, the author and soldier, died in Roosevelt hospital last night as the result of injuries received on Oct. 3, when he was run over by a wagon in this city. Richard Henry Savage was born in Utica in 1846. Among his writings are "My Official Wife," "After Many Years and Other Poems," "A Daughter of Judas," "In the Shadow of the Pyramids," and "The Masked Venus." He was graduated from the United States military academy in 1868. He served in the Egyptian army in 1871 and later served through the war with Spain, being senior major of the Second United States volunteer engineers. He personally hoisted the first American flag in Havana.

Mistook Him For Burglar.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 12.—Henry Brown, a retired hotelkeeper and a man of considerable means, was mistaken for a burglar early Sunday morning and was shot by Peter Kotz, into whose house Brown had forced an entrance. Brown was shot twice in the head and his physicians have no hope for his recovery. Brown't act in breaking into Kotz's house is unexplained except on the ground of insanity. Brown was acting strangely in the early part of the evening and is said to have been drinking quite heavily. Kotz lives in a suburb remote from Brown's home, and the two men and their families were entirely unacquainted.

Found Marriage a Failure.

Paris, Oct. 12.—Mrs. Hokum Skattum's romance is ending in a way common enough with American women who marry foreigners. She was the beautiful Elizabeth Dempsey, an orphan heiress of New York. Three years ago she married Hokum Skattum, the Norwegian consul in New York. The marriage has been a failure. Mrs. Skattum has been a belle of the Riviera for years. Skattum has left his post and gone to Norway. His wife, after settling with her husband's creditors, has sailed for New York, and it is reported may go to North Dakota to begin proceedings for divorce.

Socialist Demonstration In Madrid.

Madrid, Oct. 12.—A socialist demonstration of 20,000 workmen took place at Bilbao Sunday, during which a serious collision occurred between the demonstrators and the clericals, with the result that four persons were killed and twenty-nine injured.

Dangerous to Public Health.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 12.—Under authority of a new law passed at the last session of the legislature, the state board of health has designated the following diseases as dangerous to the public health, and they must be reported. The diseases are consumption pneumonia, cerebro spinal meningitis, typhoid fever, diphtheria, whooping cough, measles, scarlet fever, smallpox, glanders and rabies. Circulars giving information to health officers regarding the action of the board will be published.

Students Heavily Fined.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 12.—Four university freshmen, arrested Friday night after the class rush, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and were fined $15 each and costs. Besides this, they will have to pay some damages and their attorneys, making an estimated expense of $50 each for their fun. Roy Boker, another student implicated in the rowdyism, is accused of the assault on Patrolman Isbell and has been held for examination. The officer's condition is serious.

Alleged Conspiracy.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12.—Thomas W. Fitzsimmons, a well known attorney of Detroit, was arrested at his residence, where $5,000 worth of furs were found. It is alleged that there was a conspiracy to extort blood money from George W. Zanger, whose fur establishment was robbed last Friday night.

Fatal Accident at Owosso.

Owosso, Mich., Oct. 12.—Edward Coombs, head machinist at the Owosso Sugar Company's new plant, fell from an iron beam two stories, breaking his neck.

BACK FROM SOUTH

Soldier Boys Arrive Home From Strenuous Campaign.

ALL GLAD TO GET BACK

Two Battalions Reach Detroit—Monroe, Port Huron, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti Troops Return—Colonel Harrah Comments.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12.—It was a worn and tired crowd of brown-clad soldier boys that piled off the train Sunday morning, stretched their arms and legs and thanked their lucky stars that they were home once more, away from the deluge of rain, the red mud of Kentucky and the moonshine whisky.

The Third battalion was the first to arrive over the Lake Shore railroad. There wasn't much of a crowd on hand to greet any of the boys except just a few of the wives and sweethearts, but they were very glad to see them, and the big brawny soldier boys weren't ashamed to be kissed in public. The troops fell in and with the band at their head playing cheering music, they waited until the First battalion arrived one hour later over the Wabash railroad.

The two battalions, nearly 600 strong, then formed ranks and marched to the armories, where the soldier clothes were discarded, that is by those that were lucky enough to have others in their lockers. Some of the boys scrambled for barber shops to rid themselves of beautiful crops of whiskers. Others dashed for the bath tubs to get the mud of old "Kentuck" from their ears and other parts of their persons. There wasn't a single one that wasn't glad to get home again.

The second battalion, composed of the troops from Monroe, Port Huron, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, went right on home, as did Generals McGurrin and Brown.

Colonel Harrah's Remarks.

Speaking of the maneuvers, Colonel Harrah said that in some ways the men had been very much benefited. It gave them a taste of the real thing.

"Our lads felt rather depressed after the deluge of rain and the long 'hikes' in the mud, but felt fully recompensed by the glory that they earned in the battles. In some ways the encampment did much more than the usual state encampment and in other ways it did not."

Colonel Harrah was unable to venture any criticisms at the present, but will make his report public in a few days.

The streets were filled all afternoon with brown-clad soldiers, some of whom, according to official reports, ought to be resting in hospitals and others beneath six feet of blue grass. Heroes and annihilated walked side by side and for a year at least the most severe experience that the Michigan National Guard ever had outside of the war will be forgotten.

ONLY REGULARS IN CAMP.

Cost About $320,000 to Move the National Guardsmen.

Camp Young, West Point, Ky., Oct. 12.—Sunday at Camp Young found all the national guardsmen speeding homeward, the Kentucky and Wisconsin regiments being the last to leave. The 3,000 regulars remaining spent a quiet day with nothing between roll calls save divine service and band concerts. Today the regulars will begin the first of the final series of maneuvers, involving the attack and defense of a wagon train. The work left to be done is deemed of sufficient interest to hold General Bates, Colonel Wagner, the chief umpire, and the senior umpires, Colonel Dorst and Colonel Treat, here until Wednesday.

A comprehensive estimate of the cost of the present series of maneuvers is not available at present, but it is known that it cost something like $320,000 to move the national guard regiments, feed them and pay them.

Saginaw Boys in Trouble.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 12.—James B. Preston and Peter B. Hax, formerly from Saginaw, pleaded guilty in Chicago to stealing jewelry from their employers. Preston's sweetheart gave back diamonds he had presented her with when she found from what source they came. When he told her in jail what he had done the young lady fainted.

Raised Price of Bread.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12.—Today the price of bread was raised 1 cent a loaf by the bakers of the east side, this decision having been made final at a meeting of twenty-five master bakers Saturday night. No definite prices were fixed except that a level raise of 1 cent will go into effect.

Jaw Broken by Horse's Kick.

Potterville, Mich., Oct. 12.—George, the 15-year-old son of Charles Weaver, a prominent farmer, was kicked in the face by a horse, almost destroying his lower jaw and breaking the upper just below the nose. He is in a very critical condition.

Two Years for Horse Stealing.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 12.—Judge Kinno has sentenced Roy W. Hall to Jackson prison for two years. He had pleaded guilty to horse stealing.

Fatal Row at Jackson.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 12.—Jerry Shumway, a carpenter, 50 years old, is at the hospital in this city, fatally injured as the result of an altercation with Joseph Welden, a team driver, aged 40. The men had a difference Saturday evening while drinking, it is said, and Sunday about noon, when Welden met Shumway on the street in the tenderloin district, he at once rushed at him and struck him twice in the face. Shumway fell backwards, striking his head upon the cement walk and fracturing his skull. The physicians at the hospital say he will die. Welden ran away, but was subsequently arrested by the police.

HOMELESS PEOPLE

Floods Drive New Jersey People From Their Houses.

OTHER DISTRICTS AFFECTED

Delaware Avenue in Philadelphia Completely Inundated For a Time—Four-fifths of Burlington, N. J. Under Water.

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 12.—For over two days Paterson has been at the mercy of the Passaic river. The waters have maintained a height sufficient to cut the western half of the city from the eastern, and almost all means of communication by bridges have been destroyed. Two bridges above the falls remain, but approach to them is impossible. The bridges below the valley of the rocks still stand, but it is impossible to live in reaching them. Seven other bridges in the city have been carried away, and their loss alone is half a million dollars. The inundation of the low lying districts of the city has resulted in inconceivable damage to property.

The flood, however, is beginning to recede. A number of buildings fell Sunday and many others have been undermined. If they do not fall they will be at least untenantable. Spruce Street hill is falling away piecemeal, and only a little more than two feet of dirt and stone separate the falls basin from the big black race through which millions of gallons of water are rushing every hour. The gatehouse is in a very weakened condition and is liable to go if Spruce hill breaks much further.

All day Sunday boatmen were at work rescuing people from the flooded districts. The suffering in the first and second wards has been intense, as it was almost impossible to reach the residents here. Several hundred persons were removed from houses completely surrounded by the flood and ready to collapse at any moment. A dozen more of these houses later did collapse and floated down the stream.

Mill Properties Suffer.

The damage to mill property is chiefly from the submersion of portions of the plants and great quantities of products. Thousands of men, women and children will be out of employment for a long time, and it seems altogether probable that this flood will cause to the city of Paterson a greater direct loss of money and property than the fire of nearly two years ago. Five hundred families are homeless. Of these about 150 families are being sheltered in the Apollo hall, while others are in the armory, Governor Murphy having issued orders that the armory be thrown open for this purpose.

Passaic is a greater sufferer from the flood than even Paterson.

Twenty mills in Passaic alone are under water and 8,000 workers are out of employment. Ten thousand persons have left their homes. Eight hundred houses are flooded to the eaves, and in all 1,000 acres are covered with water from a depth of a few inches to twenty feet.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—Delaware avenue, which runs along the Delaware river in this city, was again flooded for a distance of two miles at high tide Sunday afternoon. The cellars of most of the business houses on Delaware avenue in the flooded district were filled with water, and goods valued at many thousands of dollars were either entirely ruined or damaged. The water in the avenue receded with the tide, but it is feared that the next high tide will send the water up into the thoroughfare again, as the river is still far above normal.

Much damage was done along both banks of the river all the way to Delaware bay. The flood did some damage in the League Island navy yard and flooded industrial establishments at Chester and other points.

Burlington, N. J., Oct. 12.—This town is suffering from the worst flood in its history, approximately four fifths of the place being under water, caused by the tremendous flood in the Delaware river. The highest point of the town is only three feet above the flood in some of the streets, and as the river is still rising it is feared that the situation will become more serious. The southern section of the town is flooded to a depth of from two to six feet and much of the surrounding country is also under water. In East Burlington it is estimated 9 per cent of the houses are inundated. Many families are in want for food, and Sunday afternoon the mayor and chief of police made a tour of some streets in a batteau and furnished food to those in need.

The water is rushing down the main street so rapidly that people who are navigating through the town in boats are having a difficult time of it. Some buildings have become undermined and unless promptly repaired will probably collapse.

Won't Permit Borrowing of Money.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 12.—Judge Wanty has refused to allow Receiver Frackenthal to borrow money to pay the men formerly employed by the Michigan Lake Superior Power Company. His reason for doing this, as he announced here, is that the first mortgagees have not expressed themselves as consenting to this arrangement, and it is they who have first say on the matter. The announcement has aroused an ugly feeling among the men employed on the American side of the river, and various threats are heard, which have resulted in the police department of the city carefully guarding all the works of the company.

MAY CALL STRIKE

Miners Union Not Recognized In the West.

DEMANDS ARE MADE

Miners in Colorado, Utah and New Mexico May Be Called Out Within a Week—Full Power Given to the Officers.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10.—A strike of coal miners in Colorado, New Mexico and Utah will follow failure to adjust differences within a week, according to a statement issued by President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson of the United Mineworkers Friday.

The national committee of mineworkers adjourned at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. No other meeting will be held until the national convention in January. Immediately after the adjournment of the meeting President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson issued a statement, in part as follows:

"We have had under advisement since the executive board has been in session the application of district No. 15, composed of the coal mines in Colorado, New Mexico and Utah, to strike for an advance in wages, a reduction of the hours of labor, semi-monthly paydays, the right to employ check weighmen at their own expense, and the abolition of the scrip system of payment for labor done.

"The district, having exhausted all other means at its command to secure an adjustment of the disputed points, has made application to the national executive board to inaugurate a strike in accordance with the laws of the United Mineworkers of America.

"After a careful consideration of all the facts obtainable and with a view of securing an adjustment of the differences existing between the miners and their employers, the board instructed President Mitchell to communicate with the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. and the Victor Fuel Company, which are the controlling interests in that field.

"Replies have been received from both companies, refusing to meet our representatives to adjust, or consider the grievances complained of. These replies were reported to the national executive board for consideration and the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the national executive officers are hereby given full power to inaugurate a strike in district No. 15 in the week after the adjournment of the national executive board, if a conference cannot be arranged or an adjustment made of Colorado situation."

Venezuela Paying Her Debts.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Robert C. Morris, agent for the United States in claim cases against Venezuelt, made a verbal report to the state department Friday. A number of the claims of United States citizens have been settled, but some of the most important cases are yet pending. So far as settlement has been made, Mr. Morris seems satisfied. He reported, however, that all foreigners representing claimants in Venezuelt have been subjected to general abuse and criticism by the papers of that country, which seem inspired to make it unpleasant for the agents, attorneys and umpires.

Disgrace Was Too Much.

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—The coroner's jury in the case of Tom Kim Yung, the acting secretary of the local Chinese consulate, who was found dead in his room at the Chinese consulate on Sept. 14, brought in a verdict of suicide Friday. They found that the deceased came to his death from gas asphyxiation. Yung committed suicide on account of the disgrace which followed his arrest on a charge of assault and battery. Yung secretly left a note, asserting that his arrest was unwarranted and he could not bear up under the stigma which would attach to one in his position being hauled in court to answer such a charge.

Editors In Annual Session.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 10.—A new set of officers have been povided by the Eastern Michigan Press club. The club met in annual session Friday afternoon at the Fellowcraft club and an interesting program of addresses and speeches was on tap. President Frank S. Neal of Northville stepped down and out after serving five years and George H. Mitchell of the Birmingham Eccentric was elected president. Mitchell is head of the firm of Mitchell & Whitehead, which operates half the industries in Birmingham. Theodore Quinby of the Detroit Free Press was elected vice-president and Fred S. Elmer of the Monroe Commercial as treasurer.

His Neck Broken In Runaway.

Caro, Mich., Oct. 10.—Friday afternoon as William Moreland, a prominent farmer living a few miles southwest of town, was driving to Caro to attend the fair, one of the bridles became loosened, frightening the team, and they started to run. Moreland tried to pull them into the fence by the roadside, and in doing so the wagon was ditched, throwing him violently to the ground. A neighbor riding with him was also thrown out. Assistance soon arrived, but Moreland was found to be dead, his neck having been broken by the fall. He was about 63 years of age.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

German Syrup.

We want to impress on our readers that Boschee's German Syrug is positively the only preparation on the market to-day that does relieve and cure consumption. It contains the specifics, such as pure tar, extracts of gums, etc., which have been so highly endorsed for the cure of coughs, colds and consumption by the great medical congresses. The consumptive, whether his disease is in the throat or lungs, must have rest at night, and be free from the spasm of dry and racking cough in the morning. The diseased parts want rest, healing and soothing treatment, and the patient needs fresh air, good food, etc. German Syrup will give free and easy expectoration in the morning with speedy and permanent relief. Small bottles, 25 cents; regular size, containing four times as much, 75 cents. At all druggists. G. G. GREEN, Woodbury, N. J.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

Bread For the Poor.

Every night about 6 o'clock a lively scene is enacted at Eighteenth street and Wabash avenue, when stale cakes and loaves of bread are sold at a nominal price. Children of all ages flock to the place and wait patiently for the dole. During the period of waiting the children engage in games and thoroughly enjoy the little meeting. At times, however, the scene is rough and tumble when belligerent boys begin strife for the best places in line and fist fights are indulged in, and many of the youngsters go home not only with baskets of cake, but blackened eyes and torn clothing. Sometimes tramps who have in some manner scraped up a few pennies find the locality and mingle with the children in an endeavor to procure stale delicacies. Many of the children are of the poorer class, and they carry market baskets which are filled with tempting though rather dry cakes, cookies and other articles of pastry. The usual price for a basketful is 5 cents. During the daytime people with baskets call at all hours for stale bread, which is doled out at the same small price. After the baskets have been filled the children trudge homeward, usually munching on a piece of cake or nibbling sparingly at a cooky or gingersnap.—Chicago Chronicle.

Travels of Miss Mary Green.

Miss Mary Green is a rubber doll who appeared one day late last fall in the postoffice at Winchester, Mass. On her dress was fastened a slip of paper which read: "The climate of New England is too severe for this child. Please pass her to the Pacific coast for the winter." Some friendly clerk put a stamp on her dress and sent her to Montana. From there she went to California, then to British Columbia and from there to Ottawa. Each postoffice clerk seems to have enjoyed her society as long as he pleased, then pasted a stamp to her gown and sent her on.

At Denver she evidently attended a banquet of the mailing clerks and had some new traveling garments given her. Her dress is said to be covered with postage stamps from various offices in the United States, and around her neck are tied several "poems" written in her honor. She also wears newspaper badges from many different states, showing the honor with which she was received at the various literary banquets which she had attended. From Ottawa she brought back a tag which proved to be a pass to the gallery of the house of commons.—Chicago Post.

Teaching Him How to Charge.

A cabinet officer who not very long ago retired to private life started to build up anew his law practice. A corporation case was sent to him by a brother lawyer. Meeting that lawyer later, the ex-cabinet minister asked what he ought to charge.

"What did you think of charging?" asked his friend.

"Well," the reply was, "I thought $1,000 would be about right."

"My dear fellow," the other lawyer responded, "if you do that you will never get another case. Ex-cabinet ministers are a luxury if they are worth anything. Send a bill for $5,000 retaining fee, and you will get a check tomorrow. Then adjust your regular charges at your leisure."

The thing was done, with the result predicted. It is said that the gentleman in question made in a month as much as the sum of his salary during his entire official term.—New York Post.

Traveling In Siberia.

"My first purchase in Siberia," writes Frederic Palmer, who recently made the transcontinental journey, "was a postage stamp, and, living in a country where officials are public servants, it seemed strange to me to stand with hat removed before a counter behind which a man sat with his cap on, dressed like a major general, who graciously consented to sell me one five cent stamp. Great as the postmaster is, he is nothing compared to an army officer. On one extremely hot day on the Amur a wealthy merchant was lying on a sofa in the cabin. He had removed his coat. A lieutenant in the army, traveling third class as a deck passenger, happening to see him in his shirt sleeves and just above his head a picture of the emperor, ordered him to put on his coat in the presence of the emperor. The merchant appealed to the captain of the steamboat, but to no effect."

Land of Hidden Gold.

Mysterious forests surround the unmapped headwaters of the Amazon river, where hidden gold mines are thought to be, guarded by a large tribe of Indians known as the Napos, who still cling to the ancient rites of the children of the sun. These Napo Indians have brought out significant evidence of the richness of the placer mines. In Quito gold dust is the standard currency, which they bring in hollow bamboo joints heavy with grains and dust of the precious metal, which is washed out by the most primitive methods.

Castellane's Political Difficulties.

Count Jean de Castellane, one of the three brothers who were elected to the French chamber of deputies at the last election, is having no little trouble at the outstart of his political career. An inquiry into the election resulted in a vote by the investigation committee of sixteen for its invalidation and sixteen for its validation. The question will be brought before the chamber of deputies. The chances are said to be in favor of the count.

The Growth of the Acorn.

The acorn is the fruit of the oak. The seed germ is a very small object at the pointed end of the acorn, with the future root uppermost. The acorn drops, and its contents doubtless undergo important molecular and chemical changes while it lies under winter covering of leaves or snow. In the mild warmth of spring the acorn swells, the little root elongates, emerges from the end of the shell and, no matter what the position of the acorn, turns downward. The root penetrates the soil two or three inches before the stalk begins to show itself and grow upward. The "meat" of the acorn nourishes both root and stalk, and two years may pass before its store of food is entirely exhausted.

At the end of a year the young oak has a root twelve to eighteen inches long, with numerous shorter rootlets, the stalk being from six to eight inches high. In this stage it differs from the tree. To watch these transformations under the lens is a fascinating occupation.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial.

It causes bunches in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." MRS. K. T. SNYDER, Troy, Ohio.

Some of Jerrold's Wit.

Douglas Jerrold, the playwright, once complained of the inferior company that was performing one of his plays at the Haymarket theater, in London. "Why, there's V.," said the manager, protesting. "He was bred on these boards." "He looks as if he had been cut out of them," growled Jerrold.

The playwright was always very nervous on a "first night." Another dramatist, popularly supposed to "lift" his plots and situations from the French, assured him that he did not know the meaning of nervousness on such an occasion. "I can quite understand that," the wit said pleasantly; "your pieces have always been tried before."

"Call that a kind man," said an actor, speaking of an acquaintance who was abroad—"a man who is away from his family and never sends them a farthing! Call that kindness!" "Certainly," said Jerrold; "unremitting kindness!"

Where Ruth Got Her Information.

"How did Columbus get the money to equip his ships and pay other expenses of his expedition?" asked the teacher.

A little girl raised her hand, and the teacher, noting the eager, animated face, said, "Tell us, Ruth." And Ruth arose and answered in loud, clear tones:

"Queen Isabella of Spain hocked her jewels, and her husband, King Ferdinand, stopped smoking for a week!"

With twitching lips and a twinkle in her eye the teacher said:

"Where did you get your information, Ruth?" And the small maiden replied:

"From Bill Nye's 'History of the United States.'"—New York Tribune.

Ant Strength.

An English scientist recently weighed a small ant and a dead grasshopper which it was dragging to its nest. The weight of the grasshopper was found to be sixty times greater than that of the ant. The force exerted by the ant in dragging the grasshopper along the road was therefore proportionately equal to that of a man weighing 150 pounds pulling a load of four and one-half tons or a horse of 1,200 pounds a load of thirty-six tons.

Caste In England.

The millstone hanging to the neck of English industry is labeled "Caste." Caste frowns upon work as a vulgar necessity; caste bars trade from the occupations a gentleman may follow; caste places birth above ability; caste holds the world's prizes out of reach of the lowly born.—London Magazine of Commerce.

The Real Need.

"I'd like to have some good old fashioned home cooking," said the man with a permanent sour expression.

"What you mean," said the physician, "is that you would like to have the digestion that you had when you were a boy."—Washington Star.

Didn't Need It.

"Have you given Mr. Staleight any encouragement?" asked the impatient mother.

"No, mamma," replied the confident daughter. "So far I haven't found it necessary."

Charged With Perjury.

Niles, Mich., Oct. 7.—Joseph S. Tuttle, the reform alderman, caused a warrant to be issued for the arrest of Henry Jordan, Sr., whom Tuttle charged with perjury. Jordan qualified as a saloonist's bondsman and Tuttle claims he has not $800 worth of real estate, as he swore.

Your Chest Should Be Breezy.

The doctor hears some curious noises when he places his stethoscope against your chest. When the lungs are in a healthy condition, the medical gentleman hears a pleasant, breezy sound, soft in tone, as you draw in the breath and expel it. Should the instrument convey to his ear a gurgling or bubbling sound he makes a mental note of the fact that you are in what is known as the moist stage of bronchitis. In the dry stage of the same complaint the sound is a whistling, wheezy one.

One of the signs of pneumonia is the crackling note that comes through the stethoscope. It is not unlike the sound that can be heard when your fingers and thumb have touched a sticky substance and you first place them together and then part them, holding them close to your ear.

Doctors occasionally hear a dripping sound, and that indicates that air and water have got into some part of the chest where they have no right to be. Blow across a bottle and you will produce a sound which is actually to be heard in your chest. It is caused in the same way—that is, by air passing over a cavity.

SEPTEMBER CROP REPORT.

Wet Weather Has Damaged Beans and Potatoes.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 10.—The Michigan crop report for September, issued last night, says the temperature during September was slightly above the normal, while the average precipitation was considerably greater than usual. These conditions were favorable for pastures and for preparing ground for wheat. They were not wholly unfavorable for corn and sugar beets. Considerable damage resulted to beans and potatoes. Stock throughout the state is healthy and in good condition on account of abundant pasture.

The acreage of wheat sown this fall as compared with the average is 82 per cent for the state.

The estimated average yield per acre of oats is 30 bushels for the entire state.

The present prospect is for a good crop of corn, in spite of the fact that conditions have been adverse throughout most of the season. The estimated average yield per acre is 33 bushels for the state.

The potato crop has been badly damaged by wet weather and the blight. On heavy soil and on low ground many potatoes have rotted. The extent of this damage cannot be determined until later in the season. The estimated average yield per acre is [illegible]1 bushels.

The bean crop made a great growth this year, and only fair weather was necessary to insure a good yield. This one condition has been lacking and as a result there will be many damaged beans again this year. The estimated average yield per acre for the state 's 13 bushels.

The average yield per acre of buckwheat is 16 bushels.

About a week ago Milton Clark discovered a "bee" tree on what is known as the old Woodward farm, now owned by W. H. Hack, one-fourth mile east of town. Last evening several men and boys took their lunch and went down and had a sort of honey celebration. Some were stung several times but persisted and chopped down the tree which was a large hollow basswood. They brought home several pails full of honey and say there is at least a washtub full still remaining. They report the comb being four or five feet long and immense in size.—Milan cor. Sunday night a travelling optician, named Slayter was taken in custody at Riga by Constable Shaw and brought to the Blissfield lockup; he had apparently been on a long drunk and was generally unstrung and mentally off his balance. He was left alone in the cage and evidently became wild during the night as he repeatedly butted his head against the sharp corners of the bars of the cell. In the morning there was a large pool of blood on the floor and blood had been spattered for three feet through the bars on the floor of the engine house. The top of the man's head was badly ridged and cut when he was looked after in the morning. Deputy Holt took him to Adrian Monday. Letters in his pockets located his relatives [illegible]ton, O., and he was later sent there.—Blissfield Advance.

A Chicago man has observed that "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. The first paper was read by Mrs. Eugene Harris on "Territorial Development of the United States." Mrs. Holdridge wrote upon the lives of Edward Everett, Wendel Phillips and Wm. Garrison. Mrs. Ingersoll gave a fine description of the planning and development of the City of Washington. Mrs. Tefft supplied for Miss Smeltzer writing a good paper about Geo. Ticknor. There has been a big second crop of strawberries this year, and now the second crop of raspberries are coming in. If this thing keeps on there will be two crops of everything each year, and the farmer will be kept so busy making money he will never have time to spend any.—Detroit Free Press.

The University of Michigan will break all records this year in point of number. Never before has there been such a crowd on the campus and never have the faculty been so rushed at the beginning of the year as they are now. Various estimates place the number of students already here at between 4,000 and 5,000.—Union Record.

At the prison a bookbindery has been installed. Following is the amended marriage law: "No man shall marry his mother, grandmother, daughter, granddaughter, stepmother, grandfather's wife, son's wife, grandson's wife, wife's mother, wife's grandmother, wife's daughter, wife's granddaughter, nor his sister, brother's daughter, sister's daughter, father's sister or mother's sister, or cousins of the first degree."

It is reported that some of the girls employed in a West Side factory, have been in the habit of securing ice cream or candy from a certain man by promising him a kiss or two when the goods were delivered, and then when payment was due they would hustle to work, saying the proprietor was coming. This is not a square deal, and if it was our case they would pay up or there would be things "doin" when the proprietor did look in.

George P. Hannon, who was at one time mourned as dead (because of the fact that it was supposed that he had been murdered while on his way home from SanFrancisco after arriving there from the Philippines), has been heard from again. One day last week his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hannon, of Medina, received a letter from him, dated at Douglass Island, Alaska, where he has a profitable gold-bearing claim and is doing well.—Hudson Gazette.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Oct. 12, 1903.

President Roosevelt has just received a preliminary report of the international monetary commission which has returned from a six months journey throughout Europe where it has been receiving suggestions from the European governments for the establishment of a uniform rate of exchange between the gold and silver using countries of the world. The commission is composed of Hugh H. Hanna, Charles A. Conant and Jeremiah W. Jenks. Mr. Conant says that the report will be made public in about two weeks and that it shows that the leading governments of Europe are agreed upon a plan by which the gold standard will be established in China. He said also that the plan agreed upon would create an increased demand for silver. To further the project Professor Jenks will leave in about two weeks for China where he will confer with the Chinese officials on the subject under consideration. The report is awaited with much interest and is expected to give suggestions which will be valuable especially in trade with Mexico and China, where the use of silver has very much embarrassed the merchants of gold-using countries, by introducing the speculative question of the rate of exchange in every commercial transaction.

Our trade with China will be greatly facilitated by a commercial treaty which United States Minister Conger has just signed at Peking. The terms of the treaty provide for the abolishment of the liken, or internal tariff which has made trade with China so difficult; the recognition of Americans' right to reside in the Empire for missionary work; the protection of patents, trade marks and copyrights; the granting of mining rights to American capital; the opening of two ports in Manchuria; and permission to carry on trade, industries and manufactures in all the open ports of China. The United States agrees, provided other countries do likewise, to pay at the port of entry one and one half times the tariff import duty, and also to consent to the prohibition of the importation into China of morphine and of instruments for its injection. China agrees further to establish a uniform coinage system which will be legal tender throughout the Empire. This together with the abolition of the likin, will remove the two greatest obstacles to our trade with China which is now expected to increase very rapidly.

The Washington grand jury completed, last week, its investigation of the Post Office scandals and just before adjourning, it announced thirteen new indictments. The list of accused contained the name of James N. Tyner, who was until his recent dismissal, Assistant Attorney General for the Post Office. There are now thirty persons waiting trial for defrauding the government through the Post Office Department. Many of them have several indictments, Machen has fourteen and Beavers six. The list includes besides a former postmaster general, four chiefs of division in the department, an ex-congressman and a state senator from New York, a Pennsylvania mayor and a number of business men who have been selling supplies to the department. Most of the trials will take place in Washington and will begin with the present term of the court. They are expected to continue through next summer. After Fourth Assistant Eristow hands in his report, which will be completed in about ten days, the present investigation of the Post Office may be said to be finished.

The republicans are still discussing a congressional investigation of the department. The position of chairman of the House committee on post offices and post roads has thus become an important one politically, and it is believed that Speaker-to-be Cannon will appoint Representative Overstreet of Indiana. He is secretary of the national republican congressional committee and is regarded as an experienced politician and skillful party leader. He is thought to be a good man with whom to intrust the postal investigation.

Prospects of financial legislation during the coming winter are very slight. Representative Hill of Connecticut, who was the ranking member of the last House committee on banking and currency, admits that the republicans are considering a plan of appointing a joint committee which will investigate the need of currency legislation and make recommendations to Congress. It is not known whether the committees would be chosen by Congress or appointed by the President, from the members of each house. The investigation would be thorough and would postpone any congressional action on the subject of finance until a good political move, for the party is divided both on the necessity for, and kind of financial legislation, and it is better that the several factions should submit their difference to this committee, than discuss them in Congress. With tariff revision and financial legislation postponed the republicans claim that they could enter the campaign without betraying any lack of harmony in the party. Secretary Shaw will in the meantime continue to provide against a possible money stringency by depositing government funds in the national banks and by redeeming or refunding national bonds. By these methods he has placed over twenty-two millions in circulation since the first of September. It is believed that he can in this way prevent any evil effects from the postponement of currency legislation.

Last Sunday the Christian Science people of Jonesville, tried to solve this question: "Are sin, disease and death real." Oh no, of course they are not. They are simply imaginary—"all in your eye" as it were. If a man swipes the Christian Scientist's horse or his pocketbook or burns his barn, that's no real sin. If he has the small-pox or consumption, that's no real disease. If he ceases to breathe and is buried out of sight in the cemetery, that's no real death. The many friends of Deward B. Boland were shocked to learn of his death, which occurred at 3 o'clock yesterday morning at his home in Adrian. Mr. Boland has been very ill for the past two weeks of kidney trouble. He is survived by a wife, formerly Minnie Glasgow of this place, and she has the heart felt sympathy of the community. He also leaves a father, mother, brother and sister. The funeral will be held at his late residence, 74 South Winter street Wednesday afternoon, interment in Tecumseh cemetery.

John V. Housman, of Petersburg, the head sawyer at Stone's saw mill at that place, was instantly killed while at work Friday, October 2.

Blissfield young people (married or single) should note carefully that the city council of Toledo has lately passed an anti-flirting ordinance: $3.00 or 10 days in the "works"; goo goo eyes $2.00. Now will you be good?—Blissfield Advance.

Nelson Day, injured in the accident at Blissfield, being struck by the fast train at the time Mrs. Lena Schwinghamer was killed, Sept. 19, was taken to Dr. Jones' sanitarium, Adrian, Sunday night for examination under the X-rays. It was found that two ribs had been torn from the spine, and the lower portion of the spine injured.

The Commercial hotel at Adrian has been purchased by the Citizens Light & Power company of that city. The purchase comprises 2½ acres of land upon which a new building will be erected for the company's plant. This site gives them access to water and a side track to the Detroit Southern railroad. The first floor of the hotel building will be fitted up for their offices, shop, stock room, etc., while the two upper stories will be fitted up for rental.

THE THIEF OF BEAUTY

Is Captured by Bradfield's Regulator.

Thousands of young women are awaking to the fact that inherited comliness has been stolen, and instead of glowing cheeks and bright eyes, the tell-tale wrinkles of pain have taken their place.

These are the warning feelings! Weak and tired in the morning, no life to enter upon their former pleasures, irritable, cross, dull headaches, general dispirited feeling, sleepless nights, cold feet, "bearing down" pains. All these symptoms indicate deranged and weakened organs, and exhausted energies follow the weakened condition of the female organs as surely as night follows day. Save yourself from worse results by taking

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator

The most invigorating menstrual regulator in the world. It relieves painful, profuse, obstructed or suppressed menstruation, nervousness, headaches, et cetera. Beauty of face and symmetry of form are the results of its use. Of druggists $1. Our book, "Perfect Health for Women." free.

HARKEN YE

To the voice of Tecumseh people.

If you will but listen to your friends and neighbors, they will tell you how the pains and aches of a bad back, the annoyance of urinary troubles, the nervousness, the restlessness that come from kidney ills, can be relieved and cured. Read what one Tecumseh citizen says:

Mr. George Merritt, the well known proprietor of the cigar manufactory, says: "I can testify to the honesty and worth of Doan's Kidney Pills. There is no humbug about them. I was annoyed for some time with a dull aching pain in my back at times quite severe. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I procured a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and after taking them a short time I found they were helping me. Finally the pain in my back disappeared entirely. Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy for all kidney ailments."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

SOPHS WON THE RUSH.

Officer Wounded and Five U. of M. Students Arrested.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 10.—The annual Fresh-Soph rush came off last night at the Spanish cannon in front of the library. After half an hour's severe rushing the sophs were in possession of the cannon and claiming the victory. The rush was advertised for 7:30 o'clock and occurred on time.

After a good deal of preliminary yelling the sophs, 400 strong, started on a run for the big crowd of freshmen, 600 in number, bunched at the cannon. The two sides came together with a shock that threw the leaders into the air. The sophomores finally won their way to the cannon and held it against all opposition.

A big bunch of fresh laws, starting in to build a bonfire on the corner of the campus in front of the law building, got into trouble with the town policemen. Officer Isbell was wounded on his head and arm by rocks. Five students were arrested and jailed, but will probably be let off by paying the costs.

Dropped Dead at His Post.

Coldwater, Mich., Oct. 10.—James W. King, court stenographer for the Fifteenth judicial circuit, dropped dead Friday afternoon, while at work as court stenographer. He was apparently well a moment before he fell from his chair. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause. Mr. King resided in Three Rivers. He was for several years city editor of the Lansing Republican, and a well-known newspaper writer. He was about 60 years of age and served in the Eleventh Michigan infantry.

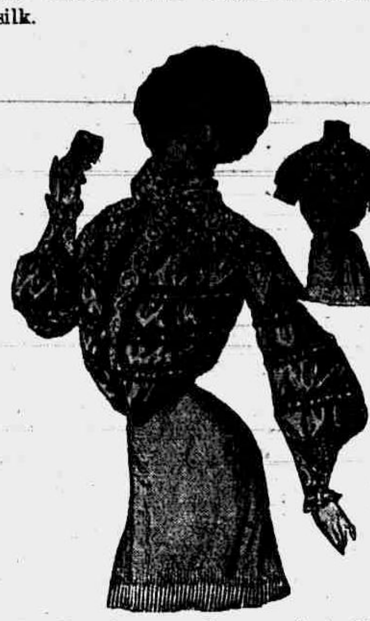
To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed". For sale by all druggists.

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

A BEAUTIFUL BODICE OF PEAU DE SOIE.

Peau de soie was the material of which this pretty little waist was made. It is shirred over cords on both the sleeves and the waist. The heavy lace collar extends well over the shoulders and appears on both the front and back. There is also a narrow strip of the lace down the front reaching to the belt. The collar and belt are outlined with bands of peau de soie, stitched through the middle with Corticelli stitching silk.



Small girls generally wear their skirts quite short, reaching usually to the knees and made very full. The waists are variously trimmed, hem stitching, feather stitching, lace fronts and lace undersleeves being favorite methods of adorning these small garments. Almost all materials are considered suitable for little girls, from muslin to silk, but nothing can be prettier or more simple when they cannot wear wash materials, than the soft wool frocks. Young girls always are delighted with a coat and skirt to match and fashion decrees that they may wear them this year. The skirts are short, made with narrow tucks around the belt and sometimes a flounce, while the jackets often have two or three capes giving them a very smart appearance.

An Artist's Privations.

Lough, an English sculptor, had an imaginative enthusiasm so vivid that he once said timidly to a friend, as if fearing ridicule, "I fancy myself in the Acropolis sometimes and hear a roaring noise like the tide."

The sculptor's early privations were terrible. Says a writer, "During Lough's first year in London, when engaged on his 'Milo,' he went without meat for three months, had only one bushel and a half of coal during the whole winter, tore up his shirts to make rags in which to keep his clay figure moist and slept beside it—when the cold would allow him to sleep—on the ground."

Never Ask Advice.

When you have a cough or cold don't ask what is good for it and get some medicine with little or no merit and perhaps dangerous. Ask for Foley's honey and tar, the greatest throat and lung remedy, it cures coughs and colds quickly. J. J. Orr.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

How About Your Heart

LOHRSTORFER DIVORCED.

But Will Carry His Case to the Supreme Court.

Flint, Mich., Oct. 10.—Judge Wisner Friday granted Mrs. Lohrstorfer a decree of divorce and $6,000 alimony with $200 solicitors' fee. Half the alimony is to be paid within six months and the rest within a year, with interest at 5 per cent. The judgment is made a lien of the $21,000 worth of property claimed to belong to the defendant's brother. Costs of suit also allowed.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 10.—The verdict of Judge Wisner in the sensational Lohrstorfer divorce suit is as big a surprise in this city as was the announcement that Mrs. Lohrstorfer had begun her suit a year ago. From the triviality of the testimony, those acquainted with the mismated couple were inclined to regard the case in the light of a joke. Hence the astonishment at the serious view taken by Judge Wisner.

Dr. Lohrstorfer says he will appeal the case to the supreme court and fight to the last ditch. The general opinion in this city is that the decision of the judge is too sweeping.

His Sins Were Too Heavy.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 10.—Haunted by his sins, Dick Tallia, 22 years old, came to the county jail and gave himself up, confessing to a hold-up of Arthur Fasher on Water street some months ago, when he relieved Fasher of $45. Tallia came back from Graves Lake, Ill. Officers had long since given up search for him. "Lock me up," said Sallia. "I'm a different man from what I was a year ago. I've reformed, and am going to pay the penalty for my crime."

For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

LIFE PLANT Renews Life.

The Very Best TONIC Ever Discovered.

The blood is a great source of health or disease in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy; if the blood is impure or diseased then there is sickness and disease in the whole system.

Impure blood causes such diseases as Eczema, and Scrofula. LIFE PLANT effects its wonderful cures by acting through the blood. It is impossible for that blood poison, uric acid, or any other blood impurity to exist in the presence of our harmless medicine. The phenomenal success of LIFE PLANT in the many forms of blood diseases, warrants us in stating that it is a positive cure for Eczema and Scrofula. Read what Mr. M. P. Hobbs says of LIFE PLANT:

Wilmot, O., Jan. 9, 1903.
The Life Plant Co., Canton, Ohio.
Gentlemen:

Two years ago I contracted a very aggravated case of Eczema. I tried many kinds of medicine called sure cures, but all failed. I was pursuaded by a friend to give LIFE PLANT a trial, and by taking two bottles was cured. To get the real truth of this statement try LIFE PLANT and be convinced.

Yours truly,
M. P. HOBBS.

Better get LIFE PLANT next time. It's a wonder.

A NOTABLE TREATY

Signatures Attached to the Great Britain-France Agreement.

SOME OPPOSITION IN FRANCE

Likely to Exert Important Influence Throughout Europe—Loubet Banquets King and Queen of Italy—Italian Pledge Friendship.

London, Oct. 15.—The arbitration treaty between Great Britain and France was signed here Wednesday by Foreign Secretary Lansdowne and the French ambassador, M. Cambon.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The signing of the Anglo-French arbitration treaty in London divided attention with the visit of the king and queen of Italy to Paris. Since the French and English papers received the Associated Press exclusive Paris dispatch from New York, announcing the agreement on the terms of the treaty, the matter has been much discussed and considerable feeling has been shown for and against the treaty.

The government regards the treaty as one of the most important achievements of Foreign Minister Delcasse and as likely to exert far-reaching political influence upon the relations between France and Great Britain and to indirectly influence favorably the relations of all the European powers. The serious journals congratulate the French and British diplomatists, but some of the anti-government newspapers criticise the treaty. The prevailing public sentiment, however, is favorable to it.

The fact that the treaty was signed the day of the arrival here of King Victor Emmanuel is considered to be significant, as it is believed that King Victor Emmanuel's visit to President Loubet and the latter's projected visit to the Italian king at Rome may have similar treaty results in the visit of King Edward to President Loubet and the president's return visit to the British sovereign in London.

President Loubet last evening gave a banquet at the Elysee palace in honor of the royal visitors. It was a brilliant function and was an occasion for toasts, in which host and guest alike expressed their pleasure at the rapprochement between the two nations and dwelt on the happy effect that the Franco-Italian friendship would have on the relations [illegible]

Russia Parades Her Army.

Port Arthur, Oct. 15.—The review by the viceroy, Admiral Alexieff, on Sunday, of 76,000 soldiers participating in the maneuvers, was the final act of last week's "war game." This force, the greatest Russia has ever concentrated in the far east, was massed on the plains outside this city. It included infantry, cavalry and artillery. Every infantry regiment is partly mounted in accordance with the recent regulations. Foreigners were given every opportunity to witness the display, and the statements of officers regarding the total force were verified by count of the visiting experts. It was also officially announced that the entire force within easy operating distance of Port Arthur numbers 100,000 men. Two months ago it was 60,000.

Fugitives Turned and Fought.

Manila, Oct. 15.—The crew of the boat in which Johnston and Herman, the runaway constabulary officers, accompanied by one constable, started from Cebu for Cagayan island, turned on their captors and attacked them on nearing the latter place, killing Johnston and wounding Herman and the constable. Herman killed four of the crew and the other two jumped overboard. He then put back to Negros, where he sent guns and ammunition to the police and abandoned the boat off Nabalva, Bayauan, where he was in hiding when the last was heard of them. On Saturday night last police captured the boat.

Miss Wood Will Not Sue Platt.

New York, Oct. 15.—Miss Mae C. Wood, to whom has been attributed the purpose of instituting a suit for breach of promise of marriage against Senator T. C. Platt on the eve of his marriage with Mrs. Janeway of Washington, arrived at the Manhattan hotel Wednesday afternoon from Ontario county, New York. Miss Wood expressed herself in terms of indignation regarding the published rumors, and said she was not interested in any person's matrimonial affairs. The only persons who are apt to get into trouble, she added, are those who are at the bottom of these silly remarks.

Over 100 Persons Drowned.

Victoria, B. The steamer On [illegible], 150 tons, was capsized during a heavy breeze, and of the large crew on board few were saved. FIXING LAND VALUE

Tax Commission Fieldman Simply Used His Judgement.

OTHER THINGS OVERLOOKED

No Attention Paid to Prices Land Brought at Sales—Pere Marquette Traffic Manager Makes Unusual Statements.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 15.—A. H. Rolfe of Escanaba, employed as fieldman by the state tax commission, took the stand Wednesday morning when the hearing in the railroad assessment case was returned. He was examined by Attorney Butterfield, representing the Michigan Central, regarding his work last year in Delta county. The witness stated that, in conjunction with Mr. Davidson, another fieldman, he went over the various townships and fixed the value of the county. Actual sales of property and the fieldman's valuation of other descriptions were compared with assessed values, and the latter were found to run from 35 to 84 per cent of the actual value. The average percentage was slightly in excess of 57.

The cross-examination was conducted by Congressman Townsend. The witness admitted the sheet from which he gave the above percentages was not prepared by him and that he knew nothing of its origin. He also admitted that the matter of determining these values was purely one of judgment, as evidenced by the fact that the value he placed upon certain property did not agree with that fixed by either the local assessing officer or the state tax commission, and he gave it as his opinion that if a fourth party had been commissioner to fix the value he would probably reported still another figure.

Didn't Have Enough Time.

The cross-examination brought out the fact that very few sales were considered, compared with the number of descriptions, the number in one township representing only one-fourth of 1 per cent of the property. The witness agreed with Townsend's conclusion that a person could not fairly determine value without examining every description, and that would be impossible in less than six months' time. The average time devoted to a township was less than four days.

In one township witness was unable to get much information from the tax roll for the reason that the supervisor [illegible] at the time of his visit and had not extended the roll.

In the afternoon Attorney Townsend for the state challenged the statement of Witness Rolfe, that the local assessing officers, in his judgment, conscientiously sought to treat all property alike in making their assessments. The examination developed the fact that the descriptions were not assessed at the same ratio, the ratio in one instance being 62 per cent, in another 94 per cent, and so on. The witness, however, insisted that he believed the supervisors endeavored to treat all property alike, and on the whole assessed at a like ratio.

New Kind of Testimony.

An entirely different phase of the case was entered upon by the railroads when A. F. Patriarch, general traffic manager of the Pere Marquette system, was sworn. Mr. Patriarch was questioned as to the operation of electric roads, and sleeping and chair car companies. He testified that the interurban roads were doing practically the same business, except through business, as the steam roads, and that between competing points the local passenger and package freight business has been practically absorbed by the interurban lines. Mr. Patriarch also testified as to the operation of independent sleeping and chair car companies in competition with steam roads which operate their own sleeping and chair cars.

The object of this testimony was to establish the railroad's claims of the violation of the rule of uniformity in assessment of railroad property in view of the fact that the property of electric, sleeping and chair car companies is not assessed by the state board of assessors.

Had More Than One Wife.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 15.—Lyman Mann was arrested here by Deputy Sheriff Dwan charged with bigamy. A years ago he married Amanda Moore, a widow of Sodus, as the result of a matrimonial advertisement. They lived together only a few months, separating on July 25 last. Mann then, under the name of Alonzo A. Mann, married Mrs. Wealthy Amond, residing in this city. Later a charge of bigamy was filed against him and he fled, keeping out of the way of the officers until today.

Insane Farmer's Deeds.

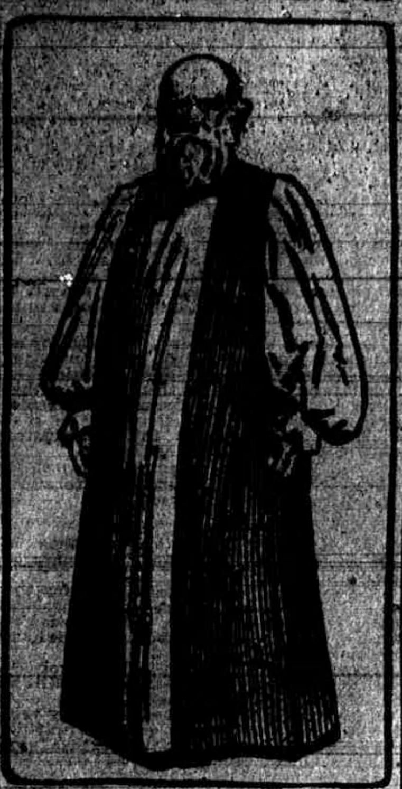
Army of Cumberland Reunion.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The thirty-first reunion of the society of the Army of the Cumberland was held at the Shoreham hotel Wednesday. The reunion is one of the events preliminary to the unveiling of the Sherman statue this afternoon, and veterans from many states are in attendance.

MOVE ON NEW YORK.

Dowie and "Crusaders" Leave Zion City.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The restoration host from Zion City began its movement on New York city Wednesday. At intervals of one-half hour trainloads of the followers of John Alexander Dowie left the North Shore city, eight trains in all, bearing over 3,000 "crusaders." Over 7,000 men, women and children gathered at the railway station to listen to the final instructions of their leader.



JOHN ALEXANDER DOWIE, Leader of the Zionists who, with hundreds of his followers, goes forth to convert New York City.

The trains proceed over various lines, passing around Chicago. The band and choir trains were the last to leave, the latter including Dowie's private car, the Arcadian.

Dowie's plans contemplate the arrival in New York of all the trains at the same time. Upon leaving the train sthe crusaders will spread themselves over the city in search of the quarters which were assigned several weeks ago.

Once established, the work of proselyting will begin, in preparation for next Sunday's meeting in Madison Square Garden. In bands of ten, commanded by captains, the host will endeavor to carry the teachings of Dowie into every household, while the leaders hold street corner meetings.

CLEVELAND'S SOLUTION.

He Addresses the Commercial Club at Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—"Give to our people something that will concentrate their common affection and solicitous care—and let that be their country's good; give them a purpose that stimulates them to unite in lofty endeavor—and let that purpose be a demonstration of the efficiency and beneficence of our popular rule."

This was the solution offered by former President Grover Cleveland as a remedy for corrupt politics, in a speech before the members of the Commercial club at their annual banquet given at the Auditorium hotel last night. The subject discussed by Mr. Cleveland was "American good citizenship," and he dwelt at length on the necessity of every citizen doing his part to make his political association what it should be.

This is the first time in eight years that Mr. Cleveland has visited Chicago, and he received an enthusiastic ovation by the banqueters when he entered at the speaker's table.

TOO MUCH ABUSE

By Venezuelan Newspapers Drove Spanish Minister From Caracas.

Willemstad, Island of Curacoa, Oct. 15.—Passengers arriving here from Caracas, Venezuela, confirm the reports of attacks made by the government newspapers on the umpires of the mixed tribunals who have given decisions adverse to Venezuela. The passengers add that the conduct of President Castro and the official press shows that Venezuela does not understand the respect due to the mixed tribunals' umpires and say it was a mistake to select Caracas as the seat of the tribunal.

When Minister Bowen's Mexican protocol was signed the king of Spain, as requested, appointed Senor Gaytam de Ayala, the Spanish minister to Venezuela, as Mexican umpire, and Venezuela was pleased, but the newspapers of Caracas have recently insulted him, owing to his having rendered a verdict in favor of Mexico. Senor Ayala, who is rich and independent, could not be suspected of partiality, but in spite of this the Caracas press, when he rendered his verdict, caricatured him, representing the minister with bags of silver in his hands and saying that "the balance of justice went to the side of Mexico in consequence of the weight of money which Mexico gave him."

Another paper represented the Spanish minister as an ass sitting in an umpire's chair.

Finally the Spanish minister became so incensed that he decided to leave Caracas. On Oct. 9 he turned over the Spanish legation to the secretary, Senor J. Gildelgado, and has made preparations to embark for Spain Oct. 18.

One of the passengers from Caracas said that as a result of President Castro's policy trade in Venezuela was stagnant, the people having no confidence in his administration.

Prices on the stock exchange are daily falling and complications are feared after the closing of the mixed tribunals.

Will Aid Macedonia to Rebuild and Return of Refugees.

Sofia, Oct. 15.—After correspondence with the Macedonian refugees, through the Bulgarian government, the sultan has promised a general amnesty and funds in aid of rebuilding their homesteads if the fugitives return to Macedonia. The refugees have consented on condition of their repatriation being under foreign control. The authorities in Roumelia are now estimating the amount necessary to carry out the arrangement. This news has made a favorable impression here. The government has decided to dismiss several classes of reserves as soon as the Porte begins to fulfill its promises.

Salonica, European Turkey, Oct. 15.—Orders have been received here to disband certain classes of reserves.

Foreigners Hold Most of Them.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The annual report of the register of the treasury shows that an aggregate of $15,065,750 of the registered bonds are held by foreigners. The latter amount is all on deposit in this country under the law which requires all foreign insurance companies to deposit with the insurance commissioner of the particular state in which it does business a certain amount of bonds, in proportion to the business done, to secure its policy holders.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollors for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Confessions of a Priest.

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from Yellow Jaundice. I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for Liver and Kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guarateed by C. A. Wright. Only 50c.

Pawnbrokers have never been described as the pioneers of progress, although it must be admitted that they are always ready to make an advance.

A school inspector visiting a school said, "Now, children, who loves all men?" The question was hardly put before a little girl, not four years old, answered, "All women."

Spent more than $1000.

W. W. Baker of Plainview, Neb., writes: My wife suffered from lung trouble for fifteen years. She tried a number of doctors and spent over $1000 without relief, she became very low and lost all hope. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and thanks to this great remedy it saved her life. She enjoys better health than she has known in ten years. Refuse substitutes. J. J. Orr.

He Learned a Great Truth.

It is said of John Wesley that he once said to Mistress Wesley: "Why do you tell that child the same thing over and over again?" "John Wesley, because once telling is not enough." It is for this same reason that you are told again and again that Chamberlain's Cough remedy cures colds and grip: that it counteracts any tendency of these diseases to result in pneumonia, and that it is pleasant and safe to take. About the only thing a man can borrow in these suspicious days without giving security is trouble.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. At all druggists.

A MONSTER VERDICT.

Almost Million Awarded Ruggles in Suit Against Buckley.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 15.—Charles F. Ruggles, the former Manistee lumberman, was Wednesday afternoon granted the accounting of the affairs of the Ruggles-Buckley combination, Buckley & Douglas, the Manistee & Northeastern Railway Co., and the Douglas Land company, for which he asked in the United States circuit court.

Judge Wing, who was called here to sit in the case, filed his written findings in the suit with the clerk, and besides granting the accounting of the extensive land, lumber and railway interests, in which the complainant and defendant were associated, the court stated in his findings that the estimate of $881,252 05 as the amount due Ruggles in 1895, as capital and advances, represents a valid adjustment of Ruggles' claim before there is a division of the surplus profits of the combination.

This, with other items which will doubtless be brought out in the accounting, will make the final verdict for Ruggles reach nearly $1,000,000.

Women In Convention Appropriate Four Hundred Dollars.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 15.—Michigan Federation of Woman's Clubs took a fall out of the government and legislature Wednesday afternoon in a report rendered by Mrs. Lula A. Pound of Lansing and Mrs. Frances E. Burns of Ann Arbor of the committee on legislature and industrials. They told of discouragement which attended an effort to get legislation which women desired, and attributed it to the fact that women do not vote. Mrs. Burns declared public charities would never be properly administered until the merit system prevails instead of the system of graft.

The morning session of the convention was devoted to routine business. In the afternoon the various committees reported, and $400 was raised in pledges for the Lucinda H. Stone memorial fund. Mrs. Emma A. Fox of Detroit gave an address on parliamentary law last night. Addresses were made by Prof. Isaac N. Demman of Michigan university and Mrs. Robert J. Burdette. The convention will close today.

Alleged Boy Wreckers Arrested.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 15.—The handcar wreck on the Grand Trunk here Sunday evening, in which several Italian laborers were seriously hurt, it is now alleged to have been caused by Charles and Leo Alden, aged 16 and 13 respectively, placing a brake shoe on the rail. The boys have been arrested. They are said to have been angry because the Italians would not let them ride.

Arrested on Serious Charge.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 15.—Thomas Stubbs, foreman in the locomotive shops here, has been arrested on the charge of murderously assaulting his wife and mother-in-law, the latter 70 years of age. Stubbs is said to have been drunk at the time. His wife is in a serious condition, and her statement has been taken. Stubbs was, it is alleged, jealous of her.

Job For Game Wardens.

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 15.—Deputy Game Warden Van Buskirk is receiving letters from farmers living near Upper and Lower Straits lake, stating that the fish in these lakes are fast disappearing, owing to the constant depredations of spearing parties. They claim that the game laws, which make the spearing of fish illegal, are disregarded daily.

To Stay In Port Huron.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. B. HICKMAN, W.Chester, Pa.

POPE PIUS MAY TRAVEL IN STATE.

Though the pope never travels, he owns a sleeping car which was constructed in 1868, when the line from Rome to Naples was opened. It will be exhibited at the Milan exhibition in 1905 to inaugurate the Simplon tunnel.

There are three compartments—a throne room, a car for the guard of honor, and a bedroom. The throne room is richly furnished and has a cupola engraved with the papal arms and the twelve apostles.

The carriage is so arranged that the pope, when seated on his throne, is plainly visible and can give his benediction to the crowds at the stations.

The sleeping car is divided into three parts—bed, bath and dressing rooms—which are hung with yellow and white, the papal colors. The bed is of ebony and white.

HOW CONAN DOYLE IS PAID.

Literary statisticians have been computing that Sir A. Conan Doyle would be the most richly rewarded author in history, had all his works been paid at the rate quoted for his new Sherlock Holmes stories, "The Adventures of Gerard," two dollars a word. Up to and including "The Hound of the Baskervilles," and without counting the new book, which is now running serially, his takings would have come to something like $1,500,000, but the author has not always received two dollars a word, or even the hundredth part of that. There is an interesting letter in the possession of an American publisher embodying a proposition from the creator of Sherlock Holmes for a contract on the basis of a cent and a half a word. An interesting feature is that the contract was declined.

GEORGE ADE'S PALE COWS.

George Ade is exceedingly prosperous nowadays, and all of his friends are glad of it, for he is the same George Ade he used to be when he worked on a newspaper in Chicago.

Recently one of Ade's friends was talking to him on the subject of wealth and asked suddenly:

"George, what do you do with all your money?"

Ade looked for a minute at the ceiling, made a computation on his fingers, and replied:

"Charley, out in Indiana there are 180 acres of green grass, surrounded by a fence. I own them. In the middle of that 180 acres there is a bunch of calm, solemn, white-faced cows. Now, it doesn't matter what the money kings of Wall street may do to the country, nor does it avail whether we have domestic or international complications to vex us, those cows out there in Indiana will go on eating that grass just the same."

"CHEWIN' WITH HER NOSE."

Dr. L. O. Howard, the goverment's mosquito expert, was born in Rockford, Ill. They are proud of his fame in Rockford, and they still tell their stories of his childhood.

"When Leland Howard was a little boy," a Rockford old resident said the other day, "he stopped on the street one afternoon to watch an old woman take snuff. Snuff taking was a thing he had never seen before, and he didn't know what to make of it. When he got home he said:

"'I seen a funny thing today.'

"'What did you see?' some one asked

"'Why,' said the boy, 'I seen an old woman chewin' tobacco with her nose.'"

OUTPOINTED.

Bishop Mallalieu, the famous Methodist divine, tells the following:

"I always take an interest in men's lives and pursuits. The other day in Boston I was talking with a sailor. I asked him how old he was, what pay he received, whether he drank, whether he was married. Then getting technical, I questioned him about his work—about sails and ropes and winds. Finally I said:

"'Can you box the compass?'

"'Yes, sir,' returned the sailor, and he boxed it.

"'Now reverse it,' said I.

"Smiling, the sailor reversed it.

"'Good, good,' said I, and I was about to depart.

"But the sailor detained me, and began to ask questions in his turn. First they were personal questions regarding my age, salary and tastes; then they became technical questions, regarding the number of pages in the Bible, the shortest verse, the longest verse and all those other things that to a sailor would seem necessary to a bishop's education. I replied to every question fully.

"'Now,' said the seaman at the end, 'repeat the Lord's prayer.'

"'I did.

"'Now reverse it.'

"'I'm afraid I can't.'

"'I reversed the compass,' muttered the sailor in a reproachful voice."

A NYE AND RILEY STORY.

James Whitcomb Riley went to Philadelphia recently to sit to John S. Sergeant for his portrait. The sittings were in John Lambert's studio on South Seventh street. Mr. Riley during one of them said:

"Bill Nye and I once played a good trick on a New York millionaire, Twemlow was the fellow's name, and he was an insufferable snob—insufferable. All over his house hung family trees, ancestral portraits, crests and coats-of-arms. You'd have thought him descended in a direct line from at least a hundred earls.

It happened in New York one day that Nye was upset by a dray, and rolled about in the mud. When he got up he was a sight; his clothes were in rags, his shirt and face black and his hat without a rim.

"'Let's go and see Twemlow,' he said suddenly. 'Think how disgusted he'll be to see me in this rig.'

"We went to Twemlow's house and a flunkey in knee breeches answered our ring.

"'Mr. Twemlow is not at home,' he said.

"'Oh, very well,' said Nye. 'Just tell him that his uncle from the workhouse called.'"

Bread is Rising.

Owing to the increased price of all the material entering into the manufacture of bread, viz. lard, sugar and flour, also the fuel for baking, in fact everything that enters into the manufacture and sale of bread has increased in price—some kinds of bread are now made at a loss—the time has come when we must either cheapen the quality of our bread or increase the price.

Our reputation will not allow the first plan, so we have determined to increase the price of our one-pound loaf to 6c and our 2 pound loaf to 11c, these prices to take effect Monday, Oct. 19.

We trust you will see the necessity of this action. Thanking you for your patronage in the past and hoping for its continuance, we remain,

Yours respectfully,

BOWEN - FINCH

The Beautiful Home Wedding of

MISS ORA BOWEN AND DELMAR FINCH

Took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother.

As we watch the onward march of events we are convinced that October is the ideal month for wedding festivities and many are wishing for about sixty more beautiful days of Indian summer. In selecting the 14th, no mistake was made for conditions were perfect to allow about 80 guests to assemble in the twilight at the home of Mrs. J. F. N. Bowen, where they were received by the high contracting parties, Miss Ora L. Bowen and Mr. Delmar Finch.

The house was tastefully decorated with ferns, carnations and autumn leaves, presenting a very attractive appearance as the guests mingled together in social intercourse until the appointed hour arrived. Promptly at 8 o'clock the happy couple, unattended, stationed themselves beneath an archway of autumn leaves and ferns as Rev. Leslie Bower performed the brief and impressive ceremony.

The bride was beautifully attired in white China silk and carried bride's roses, while the groom, in customary black, conducted himself in a most gentlemanly manner. At the conclusion of the ceremony a delightful supper was served. Considerable excitement prevailed when the bride threw her roses, and the scrimmage which ensued reminded one of a Michigan—Chicago foot ball game more than a dignified wedding celebration.

The usual notions of dreams and wishes were adhered to as one can testify, who saw the bride's cake cut into fragments and carried away in napkins. The rooms presented the appearance of a convention lobby as little groups of conspirators gathered here and there to plan their mischievous work, while the charming bride, in fear, sought the promised protection from the groom, whose troubled countenance indicated that instead of carrying roses he bore a load of responsibility.

To relate details might be tedious, but through malice of forethought, some young people effected an entrance to the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Finch on Union street and prepared for them such a breakfast as would cause the youth to see visions and others to dream dreams. By dexterous movements all this and something more was accomplished and the crowd escaped before they were interrupted by the approaching bride and groom.

Although the latest intelligence is extremely interesting, it is not to be made public, for there are some things which will never be revealed. That Mr. and Mrs. Finch are held in high esteem by a host of friends is evidenced by the large number of beautiful and valuable presents which they received.

The guests from out of town were: [illegible] Young, of North Adams; Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Armstrong, of Coldwater; Mrs. Zellers and son, of Detroit; Mrs. Geo. Chatfield, South Haven; Miss Agnes Eaton, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Mather, Mason; Albert Matthews, Clinton.

The "Sweet" Concert Company.

Manager Bradley is pleased to announce to the people that the above named company will occupy the opera house Tuesday evening, Oct. 20.

The company consists of: Reader, Alice De Wolfe Viets; Manager, Mr. Leonard J. Sweet; Assistant Manager, Mr. C. Martin Groty; Piano Accompanist and Harpist, Bertini Morgan Sweet; Character Artist, Reba Marguerite Morehouse; Solo Cornetist, Miss Bartlett; Piano Soloist, Miss Morgan; The Prince of Jugglers and Battonists, Master Artie Crowell, age 11.

The admission has been placed at 25, 35 and 50c, and the house should be well filled.

Deward B. Boland.

The funeral of Deward B. Boland was conducted from the late home, 74 South Winter street, at 1 o'clock this afternoon and was largely attended. The Lamb fence machine factory, where Mr. Boland was employed, shut down for the funeral and members of the A. O. U. W., of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body. The remains were taken to Tecumseh for interment.—Wednesday's Adrian Telegram.

The deceased was 44 years of age and besides the wife he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Boland, of Raisin Center, one brother, John Boland, of Tecumseh, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Wooster, of San Francisco, Cal. He was a former resident here from boyhood and known and liked by all. His wife, better known to us as Minnie Glasgow, has the deep sympathy of the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Mat Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. John Boland and Miss Hattie Boland of this place were in attendance.

"The Biggest Little Shoot on Earth."

On account of the bad weather yesterday and today the shoot at Athletic park is but poorly attended, only about 15 strangers being present. Nevertheless there was some good shooting yesterday. Ralph Trimble, of the Winchester Cartridge Co., won first high average; C. R. Wilson, of the Peters Cartridge Co., second high average; and C. W. Phillis, of the DuPont Powder Co., third high average; while Mark Mills won the high average for amateurs.

A good feature was the shooting of Kirby Wilson, a lad but 13 years old, who could compete with the best of them. A full report of the shoot, prizes, competitors and visitors will be given in Tuesday's paper.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes and Keeps the Children Well and Strong.

Mothers Make It the Home Medicine For the Little Ones.

The children, God bless them, are the buds and flowers of our homes. Without their prattle and hearty laughter, our homes would be desolate. They should ever be carefully tended in childhood and youth, if we expect them to ripen into perfect men and women.

In the home and at school, the children have their times of ill health and suffering. We often note the pallid and bloodless cheeks, heavy eyes, nervous movements, and twitchings of limbs and muscles. They complain of headache, drowsiness, weariness, dyspepsia, and indigestion. All such symptoms and ailments mean that the seeds of disease will have a fast and firm hold, unless proper measures are taken to restore a perfect condition of health.

Thousands of wise and prudent parents have made their children happy, healthy, and vigorous by giving them nature's medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. In many severe and complicated cases, Paine's Celery Compound has restored health when the little ones were given up by physicians.

If your dear ones are not as hearty, strong, and rugged as they should be, try the health giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. It makes and keeps the children well.

HARKEN YE

To the voice of Tecumseh people.

If you will but listen to your friends and neighbors, they will tell you how the pains and aches of a bad back, the annoyance of urinary troubles, the nervousness, the restlessness that come from kidney ills, can be relieved and cured. Read what one Tecumseh citizen says:

Mr. George Merritt, the well known proprietor of the cigar manufactory, says: "I can testify to the honesty and worth of Doan's Kidney Pills. There is no humbug about them. I was annoyed for some time with a dull aching pain in my back at times quite severe. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I procured a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and after taking them a short time I found they were helping me. Finally the pain in my back disappeared entirely. Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy for all kidney ailments."

Ran a Ten Penny Nail Through His Hand.

While opening a box, J. C. Mount of Three Mile Bay, N. Y. ran a ten penny nail through the fleshy part of his hand. "I thought at once of all the pain and soreness this would cause me, he says, and immediately applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and occasionally afterwards. To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed". For sale by all druggists.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 22, 1902.

For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

SERMON TO THE MISSIONARIES

Well-Known Chicago Professor Speaks Sharp Truths to Them—Declares Bible Less Read Today Than In Days of Old.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 19.—Pulpits of nearly all the churches throughout the city were filled Sunday by ministers and prominent delegates in attendance at the Christian missionary convention.

Of the many sermons delivered probably none bear a more significant relation to the work which this vast body of delegates has in hand than that preached by Professor Herbert L. Willett of Chicago university and dean of the Disciples of Christ publishing house, from the pulpit of the North Woodward Avenue Congregational church. He began by saying:

"It is too easy to be a Christian nowadays. It is too fashionable to be a church-goer at the present time. You, the sworn defenders of the Bible, desert it in fact and know not the book containing your belief."

With an outstretched finger, which seemed to point to the very depths of the souls of his audience, with a stare which evidently penetrated to the innermost parts of their conscience, he made his listeners perceptibly ill at ease as he attacked their ignorance and neglect of the Bible.

Continuing, he said: "As our only means of salvation, the great book is too sacred to be hampered by the suspicions and divisions of sectarianism. It must be believed in a universal sense, in an omnipotent spirit and a universal sphere.

"But I ask of you, 'Do you know the book containing your belief?' You would take up arms and sacrifice your life for it. You would cast out the man who believes not in it. But do you know it?

"You feel guilty if you are asked if you have read some of the current authors and you must confess, apologetically, that you have not. Did it ever occur to you that you have read nothing, or such an insignificant part, of the book which you profess by being a Christian to be the light of your life and the guide for your effort? If there are untruths in the Bible it is pretty near time that we should know them. The Bible should be submitted to literary criticism. But, fortunately, it can stand the most minute scrutiny. Were it not time it should be removed from the shelf where it has laid for centuries 'too holy to be read?'

"The difficulty caused by persecution, or perhaps ridicule, were nothing to the ordeals of higher or lower criticism. It has come out without a blemish as the greatest of all books, and yet you do not read it.

"In England, in Scotland, in all the motherlands our forefathers read the Bible to their families. Those who do that in this country are considered old-fashioned. I should tremble if a census was taken of those who have read the Bible beyond the couple first books of Moses in patches and a few things necessary to pass a grammar-school-like examination. And those few passages are soon forgotten. Yet it is the book you swear by."

Then followed one of the most unique scenes perhaps ever witnessed within the walls of the pretty little edifice. Maintaining his quiet, convincing attitude, the speaker asked the congregation if they really could say they read the Bible anywhere as much as ordinary works of literature, or read it at all.

Audience Embarrassed.

A wave of embarrassment went over the assembly and the men looked uncomfortable and the women blushed and tried to look away from the steel gray stare of the preacher.

"I can read the answer in your silence and your expressions," he cried. "It is everywhere thus. Did you ever see a Christian apologize for not having read the Bible? My test here has shown a serious delinquency.

"I wonder what would happen if I asked you where to find even some of the best known passages from the Bible. Can any one give me an idea of the vein of thought, the substance of the test or the general purport of the Book of Hosea?"

Again the congregation was silent.

"During the scholastic seclusion of the middle ages it was hard to be a Christian, the Bible was chained to the shelf and only the wealthy could get, if they dared. Today it is found in every home. But yet I believe it was more closely read in the medieval ages than nowadays.

"My friends, let us think in a wider manner than that of congregationalism, or any sectarianism, let us ignore the small differences which create sects and read in an intelligent manner, with the enhancing light of higher criticism thrown upon it, the book which to you should be as sacred as the religion you profess."

Jewelry Store Robbed.

Carsonville, Mich., Oct. 19.—Burglars entered W. C. Vivian's jewelry and drug store about 3 o'clock Sunday morning by forcing the front entrance. They blew the door from the safe, which was badly wrecked. They got $140 in cash, $100 worth of rings and $15 worth of chains. Mr. Weinburg, a clothing merchant, who was sleeping in an adjoining store, heard the explosion and gave the alarm. He saw two men leave the building. No arrests have been made.

UNFAIR DECISION

Canadian Papers Make Protests Against Tribunal's Action.

LORD AVERSTONE ARRAIGMED

Le Canada Declares He has Decided Favorable to Americans All Along Line—"Chamberlain Has Given It to Us In the Neck."

Montreal, Oct. 19.—Commenting ipo nthe decision of the Alaska boundary commission, the Gazette today says: "Canadians generally did not expect much from the arbitration commission. The commission was not a tribunal such as could be expected to decide the weight of evidence, no matter which side suffered. The three representatives of the United States were hardly open to conviction."

Under the heading "Canada is sacrificed, Le Journal will say in part: 'This result had been seen from the beginning. In accepting the decision of a commission named equally by the two parties to the case, England plainly indicated a disposition to no longer sustain the contentions of Canada but to sacrifice them in the hope of securing the disappearance of a cause of continual friction with the United States.

"Today we find ourselves contemplating, not the decision of an arbitration commission, but a diplomatic arrangement wherein our clear rights have been sacrificed, without any return."

Le Canada, which is the personal organ of the Canadian minister of marine and fisheries, says: "Lord Alverstone, the representative of Great Britain, has ranged himself on the side of the Americans and decided favorably to the Americans all along the line, save for one little concession, through the grace of which it is hoped to excuse this shameful capitulation. Through the treaty Mr. Chamberlain signed with Mr. Hay, Canada is compelled to accept the decision of the tribunal and to submit to the voice of the majority. In a word, Chamberlain has given it to us in the neck. He was the whole machine. He issued his instructions before he left the colonial office; he refused to heed the protests of Canada against the personality of the American commissioners; he gave Lord Alverstone his lesson, and Canada was condemned before the case was heard. We have one more instance of the betrayal of our interests to add to the long list of British defections. The decision of the Alaska commission is a rude blow to the cause of imperialism in Canada."

AMERICA WINS.

Claims in Alaska Sustained by the Commission.

London, Oct. 19.—The Alaskan boundary commission has reached an agreement whereby all the American contentions are sustained, with the exception of those in relation to the Portland canal, which Canada wins. All that now remains to be done is for the commissioners to affix their signatures to the decision and complete the map which will accompany it. On the map will be marked the boundary line definitely fixing the division of American and British territory, on such a basis that no American citizen will lose a foot of land he already believed he held, while the United States will get all the waterways to the rich Alaskan territory, with the exception of the Portland canal, which gives Canada the one outlet she so much needed.

The long standing dispute was only settled after a week of keen, trying, secret deliberation between the arbitrators. Even up to the last moment there was an acute possibility that a disagreement might result and the whole proceedings fall to the ground.

Miller—Johns Jury Disagree.

Cincinnati, Oct. 19.—The jury in the case of Daniel Voorhees Miller and Joseph M. Johns, on trial in the federal court here all week on the charge of an alleged conspiracy to extort a bribe, reported shortly before midnight Saturday night that it was unable to agree and was discharged by Judge Thompson. The trial attracted unusual attention, as it was the first one under the many recent indictments for alleged frauds in the postoffice department. Four days were devoted to the taking of evidence and the fifth day to arguments. The defendants renewed their bonds for a new trial and District Attorney McPherson was unable to state whether there would be another hearing of the case set for the present term of court.

Took Poison; Died In Church.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 19.—Miss Pansy Ballard, daughter of E. E. Ballard of Fort Dodge, Kan., who formerly was a banker at Wilbur, Neb., a student in the University of Nebraska, took a large dose of poison while standing in front of St. Theresa's pro-cathedral. She then staggered into the church and, trying to kneel in a pew, died while in the act of muttering a prayer.

Gas Tank Explosion.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 19.—The gas holder at the Elk Rapids Iron Works exploded about 11 o'clock at night, badly damaging the works and breaking window glass for half a mile around. Nobody was hurt except the engineer, who was cut by broken glass.

Embezzlers Return For Trial.

Montreal, Oct. 19.—E. J. Edelson, Joseph H. Edelson, Robert Edelson and Mrs. E. J. Edelson of Chicago, arrested here on a charge of defrauding their creditors in Chicago of about $20,000, have consented to waive extradition proceedings and will return to Chicago this evening. They have given up all that remains of the cash they brought into Canada, $13,345. Fourteen hundred dollars had been paid by the quartet for a bakery in the north end of the city and $1,000 had been expended in purchasing a half interest in a real estate agency.

ALASKAN RAILROAD

Government Encourages Its Early Completion.

POSTOFFICE AT SEWARD

Town to Be Made Sub-Port of Entry—Cable to Be Laid—Country to Be Accessible at All Times of Year.

Washington, Oct. 17.—John E. Ballaine, chairman of the finance committee of the Alaska Central railway, who has been before the departments for the last week on work connected with the construction of the road, has been successful in his efforts.

The projected road will extend from Seward, on the southern coast of Alaska, north to the Tanana river 420 miles, and will open when completed all of central Alaska to daily communication throughout the year. It is being built at the rate of 125 miles a year. President Roosevelt personally recommended to the heads of departments the expediting of the business Mr. Ballaine had with them, owing to the public importance of the enterprise in the development of the resources of Alaska. The postoffice department established a postoffice at Seward, the ocean terminus, and appointed Lillie N. Gordon postmaster. The treasury department ordered immediate action taken looking to the designating of Seward as a sub-port of entry.

The war department promised to include in its estimate for the extension of the government cable along the southern coast of Alaska an appropriation sufficient to make Seward one of the cable's objective points. The interior department gave final approval to the surveys of the road. The department of commerce and labor has requested the lighthouse board to provide a lighthouse at the entrance to the Seward harbor.

That the commission now sitting in London will decide in favor of the contention of the United States in the Alaskan boundary dispute is freely predicted by officials of the government and others here who have followed the reports of the arguments of counsel on both sides since Sept. 15.

DOWIE IN NEW YORK.

Thief Stole Valuable Brooch and Diamond From Mrs. Dowie.

New York, Oct. 17.—The "Restoration Host," under the leadership of John Alexander Dowie, garrisoned Madison Square Garden today and completed preparations to sally on the works of the "enemy." The first detachment, numbering about 400, arrived early Friday morning and the remaining trains followed during the day and evening. Leaving the ferry boats, the crusaders boarded special cars, which were waiting, and proceeded direct to the garden to the music of their bands and the singing of hymns.

The general overseer himself, accompanied by his family and staff, arrived in his special train at the Grand Central station where, owing to a misunderstanding, his private carriage failed to meet him, and he was compelled to go to the Plaza hotel in a hack. During the confusion of leaving the train a thief slipped into Mrs. Dowie's reception room on the car and stole a $1,500 diamond and pearl brooch.

From the Plaza Dr. Dowie went to the garden, where he restored order out of the general confusion that prevailed and outlined his plans in an interview with the newspapermen. He denied that he intended to raise a fund of $50,000,000 while here and declined to say whether he was going to found another Zion City here.

It is intended to begin the house to house visitations today, and the first public service will be held in the garden on Sunday.

STATUES OF RULERS.

To the Memory of Emperor and Empress Frederick Unveiled.

Berlin, Oct. 19.—The statues of the Emperor and Empress Frederick, opposite the Brandenburg gate, were unveiled Sunday in the presence of Emperer William and his empress, the crown prince and other imperial personages and a large assemblage of ministers, officers and officials.

In spite of the wet and cold weather a large crowd gathered to witness the ceremonies. Their majesties deposited wreathes at the bases of both statues and then drove to the castle, where lunch was served to the members of the imperial family and their foreign guests. This statue of Emperor Frederick is the first to be erected in Berlin and is the work of a sculptor named Bruett. Upon either side of it are busts of Field Marshal Blumenthal and Professor Helmholz. The statue of the empress, which is done in white marble, is by Herr Gerth, and represents her wearing a robe of ermine, a crown upon her head and adorned with the sash of the order of the Black Eagle, in accordance with the late empress' own wishes.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, blood must have blood food and so on through the list.

Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment for soft bones in children. Little doses every day give the stiffness and shape that healthy bones should have. Bow legs become straighter, loose joints grow stronger and firmness comes to the soft heads.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it. In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood.

A nervous looking man went into a Fairgrove store the other day and sat down for a half hour or so, when a clerk asked if there was anything she could do for him. He said no, he didn't want anything. She went away and he sat an hour longer, when the proprietor went to him and asked if he wanted to be shown anything. "No, said the nervous man, I just want to sit around. My physician has recommended perfect quiet for me, and says above all things, I should avoid being in crowds. Noticing that you did not advertise in your home paper, the Enterprise, I thought that this would be as quiet a place as I could find, so I just dropped in for a few hours isolation." The merchant seized a bolt of paper cambric to brain him, but the nervous man made good his escape out of the door, saying, all he wanted was a quiet life.—Reese Review.

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic.

"I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.

A Chicago man has observed that "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. A few doses of Chamberlain's cough remedy will rid you of your cold, and there is no danger whatever from pneumonia when you use that medicine. It always cures. ANOTHER WEEKLY PAPER.

Likely to be in Adrian so says the Telegram, but John C. Howell thinks differently.

The Telegram understands that John C. Howell of the Blissfield Advance, is likely to locate in Adrian about the first of the year to establish a new Democratic paper in opposition to the Weekly Press. Mr. Howell and Walter Goff have a partnership contract in the conduct of the Advance which will expire at that time and it is understood that Mr. Howell will voluntarily retire from the Advance and Mr. Goff continue it after the expiration of the contract.

S. F. Finch of this city, who runs a prosperous job office, it is said has for some time wanted to have a Democratic paper connected with his office. So as the matter comes to the Telegram, Mr. Howell is expected to unite his forces with the Finch job office and start a Democratic weekly in opposition to the Weekly Press.—Adrian Telegram.

In an interview with Mr. Howell last summer the HERALD learned that he had decided to retire from the management of the Advance, and that he expected to spend the winter in Macon. We are informed that he has made no change in his plans and the article in the Telegram was the creation of someone's overworked imagination.

Young Men's Christian Association Convention.

In order that the people of Tecumseh may more fully appreciate the character of the principal speakers at the coming convention, the following is published;

Robert Weidensell of Chicago, was one of the first student secretaries of the International committee of the Young Men's Christian Association and later inaugurated the county work which has grown rapidly during the past few years under his supervision.

Karl A. Shumaker, also from Chicago, is a young man of vigor and attractiveness. Having been brought up on the farm he is well prepared for the position he now occupies, viz., the Country Department Secretary of the State of Illinois. Mr. Shumaker will speak at the men's meeting Sunday afternoon.

L. E. Buell of Ann Arbor, is State Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association work of Michigan. He has had over fifteen years experience in this work in several different states.

T. A. Garrison of Grand Rapids, is assistant Secretary and has had a very successful experience in association work in Iowa and Michigan.

It is hardly necessary to inform the people of Tecumseh that Jas. Schermerhorn is general manager of the Detroit Times and formerly resided at Hudson.

Hon. Thomas Farkworth of Jackson, is well known as a public man, being one of the leading attorneys of the state. [illegible]

We are glad that Tecumseh is to be honored by a visit from such men and we feel confident that no one will miss the opportunity of hearing them.

Tecumseh holds the medal in Lenawee county for fires. On Thursday of last week the fire department of that village was called out three times to put three fires out of business and the fire laddies did a good job in each instance. They didn't allow much damage to be done by the fires because they know how to stop them, and they did the same good work on this occasion that Tecumseh's fire department has always been capable of doing.—Hudson Gazette.

The melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year, but pumpkin pies will soon be ripe and therefore I don't keer. The rustling corn must hurry up, the frost is on its track, and soon we'll feel the chilling breeze, so says the almanac. The frightened rabbit scurries off and hides down in the stubble, for when he hears the sportsman's gun he knows there'll soon be trouble. The wary quail has timid grown and pipes her gently warning, the winds from misty dells begin to chill up in the morning. The land is lit with golden red and there is purple glory, the regal asters lift their heads and tell the wind their story. The canned fruit has been put away and packed down in the cellar; the good old summer time is past, the year is growing meller.—Ex.

GRANDPA WILSON'S SHOOT

Was held on the Tecumseh Ball Grounds

LAST THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

Owing to the Weather the Shoot was not a Success.

The biggest little shoot on earth which is held in Tecumseh annually was brought off on the splendid grounds of Tecumseh ball club on Oct. 15 and 16. The weather being very bad both days, the crowd was not as large as at former shoots. There were about 15 shooters each day and some good scores were made. Ralph Trimble, of Winchester Cartridge Co., won first high average for both days; and C. R. Wilson, of Peters Cartridge Co., won second high average for both days. C. W. Phyllis, of the Dupont Powder Co., won third high average for both days; Mark Mills won high average for amateurs the first day, and Mr. Keef of Kalamazoo, won high average for second day.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Oct. 19, 1903.

Amid impressive ceremonies a bronze equestrian statue of William Tecumseh Sherman was unveiled here last Thursday. The statue stands at the head of Pennsylvania Avenue, directly south of, and facing the Treasury. It was on this spot that General Sherman watched, in 1865, the grand review of the troops who marched from Atlanta to [illegible] the sea. The unveiling was preceded by a parade and a review of all the regular troops stationed in or near Washington and of the District of Columbia National Guard. The President accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, several members of the Cabinet, and all members of the Diplomatic Corps who were in Washington, attended the ceremony. As the two large flags which covered the statue were drawn aside by William Tecumseh Sherman Thorndyke, the nine year old grandson of the General, the Fourth Artillery fired a salute of seventeen guns, the Marine Band played the Star Spangled Banner and the veterans who surrounded the statue cheered. Addresses were delivered by the President, by General David B. Henderson for the Army of the Cumberland, General Daniel E. Sickles for the Army of the Potomac, General Charles H. Grosvenor for the Army of the Tennessee and General Thomas J. Henderson for the Army of the Ohio. The President made an appeal for the upbuilding of the army and navy, condemned dishonesty in public service and expressed a hope that there would soon be an appropriate statue of Lincoln at the national capitol. Speaking of dishonesty in public service he said, "We can as little afford to tolerate a dishonest man in the public service as a coward in the army. The murderer takes a single life; the corruptionist in public life, whether he be bribe giver or bribe taker, strikes at the heart of the commonwealth. In every public service, as in every army, there will be wrong doers, there will be misdeeds. This cannot be avoided; but vigilant watch must be kept, and as soon as discovered the wrong doing must be stopped and the wrong doers punished."

Maryland politics have virtually monopolized the attention of the politicians during the last week. This is due in part to the efforts of President Roosevelt to bring about harmony between the republican factions of the state and to Senator Gorman's resentment of this alleged interference of the Chief Executive in state politics. The followers of Senator McComas and Representative Mudd have carried on a long and bitter struggle and these factional differences seemed to benefit the democrats who are carrying on an aggressive campaign, with the race question as the issue, and conscious of the fact that the outcome of the election will have a marked influence upon the political fortunes of Senator Gorman, the state's candidate for the democratic presidential nomination. In raising the negro problem to an issue, the Maryland democrats have virtually made a direct attack on President Roosevelt, and his attitude on this question is continually mentioned and condemned. This gives more than usual importance to the fact that the President has made earnest appeals to the two republican govenor and legislature. He declares that he occupies an absolutely neutral position between the factions and that he is interested solely in the success of the party without any reference to the persons involved. Friends of the President believe that if Maryland should go republican it would serve as an indorsement, by a state with southern sympathies, of his attitude on the negro question, and would lessen adverse criticism on this subject by people in the north and west. Senator Gorman was very severe in his criticism of the President, saying, "The President has assumed to himself the title of chairman of the state committee, so active is he looking after the details of the campaign. Every federal office holder and every occupant of a state or municipal place whom the President believes he can control has been ordered by him to get out and "hustle" for the republican ticket. When he was a civil service commissioner under the Harrison and Cleveland administrations it was Roosevelt's habit to demand that a federal office holder who was a member of a state, city, or other political committee should resign one or the other place. Now that he is president, however, he permits federal office holders, appointed either by him or by his subordinates to engage as actively in a campaign as those who follow private vocations. Every occupant of a federal place in Maryland is openly at work for the republican ticket presumably under specific orders from the President."

Prominent members of the House have assured the President that the Cuban reciprocity resolution would be passed at the extra session of Congress. Representative Jones of Washington, who was one of the strongest opponents of the Cuban reciprocity treaty in the last Congress, told the President that although he still opposed the measure personally, he would vote for it when it came up in the house. The best sugar interests have withdrawn their opposition to the treaty. The discussion will give the democrats an opportunity to talk against the tariff and it is expected that they will take advantage of it. Many speeches denouncing the tariff will be useful at home during the coming presidential campaign, so they will be delivered in spite of the fact that there is no hope of stopping the pas[illegible] of the resolution which will [illegible] treaty effective.

to most women is a term of anxiety, serious thought and sweet anticipation.

With the cessation of pain necessary to childbirth, there comes calm nerves, sleep and recuperation.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

does diminish the pain accompanying maternity. With its aid mothers can and do bring healthy, sweet dispositioned and ideal babies into the world.

Morning sickness, sore breasts and excruciating pains caused by the gradually expanding organs, are relieved by this penetrating and relaxing liniment.

Among the manifold aids to childbirth Mother's Friend has grown in popularity and gained a prestige among rich women as well as poor; it is found and welcomed in the mansion as well as in the cabin.

By lessening the mother's agony of mind and diminishing pain a beautiful influence is wrought upon the child, and instead of peevish, ill-tempered and sickly forms you have healthy, laughing humanity, remaining a blessing ever to you and its country.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Hundreds of Tecumseh Citizens can tell you all about it.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Tecumseh people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Tecumseh reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far-away places. Read the following:

Mr. S. Erskin, proprietor of the well-known barber shop, says: For ten years off and on I had a dull pain in my back, imperfect action of the kidneys, and often I could hardly stoop or get up again. I think it was caused by standing so much at my work. Be that as it may I was in bad shape. I used a great many medicines, but without receiving much benefit until Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice and I got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store. I must confess that I was agreeably surprised, for after using one box I was much relieved. After the use of two boxes my back is stronger and better than it has been for a long time. Doan's Kidney Pills are the best medicine I have ever used and I have such faith in them. I believe I will be conferring a kindness on those suffering from kidney trouble in making known their merits."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Perhaps it takes several larks to make a summer, but it doesn't take many swallows to bring a fall.

It's a mistake to imagine that itching piles can't be cured; a mistake to suffer a day longer than you can help. Doan's Ointment brings instant relief and permanent cure. At any drug store, 50 cents.

SPAFFORD'S PARDON

Judge Chittenden Denies Motion For His Discharge.

Frankfort, Mich., Oct. 17.—Judge Chittenden Friday convened the circuit court for the purpose of making a final disposition of the Deputy Game Warden Spafford case.

When the pardon issued by Governor Bliss was presented to the court the judge discovered the document granting executive clemency was directed to no person in particular, but was left blank where the name should appear. The court denied the motion for the discharge of the prisoner and today will file his written opinion with Governor Bliss.

Judge Chittenden said in an interview that in the event he was not properly served with a pardon from the governor, he would have Spafford summoned into court for sentence.

Spafford was convicted of shooting a man alleged to have been engaged in violating the state game laws.

Love From a Photograph.

Grand Haven, Mich., Oct. 17.—Six months ago William Bosch, a prominent and wealthy young farmer living at Bass river, while visiting at the home of a neighbor, came across the picture of a young lady in a family album. It was a case of love at first sight, and upon making inquiry Mr. Bosch learned that the girl was a niece of the family, and that her home was in Kilarney, Ireland. He secured her address and a correspondence followed, with the result that the young lady has forsaken her native Ireland and this week arrived at the home of her kinfolks here, where she was met by her ardent young lover, and the wedding will take place in a few weeks.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

A FATAL MISTAKE.

Young Hunter Drew Gun Toward Him and Was Killed.

Holly, Mich., Oct. 19.—George Dobson, aged 20, while returning last evening from duck hunting at Bush lake, within the village limits, stepped out of his boat and pulled his gun toward him, muzzle first. The gun was discharged and the charge entered his breast, killing him instantly.

Dobson came here from North Baltimore, O., a few weeks ago. His father there was notified of the accident and is coming today. A coroner's jury viewed the remains and adjourned until Tuesday.

Old Man Dying Alone.

Grosse Pointe, Mich., Oct. 19.—Ill for four days and almost starved, an 82-year-old man, Harry Cosnoble, was found in a house at Grosse Pointe Sunday afternoon when friends went to see what caused his absence from the usual haunts. The man was on the brink of death when his friends arrived and caused his removal to St. Mary's hospital, Detroit. The old man has for some time been employed as a helper about the Clairview barn. He had a little house he lived in and was in the habit of going to a nearby tavern regularly for his little sip of spirits. Yesterday his absence was remarked upon and friends went to his home, only to find him almost starved and in a dying condition.

Soo Works to Resume.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 19.—The Canadian Soo is in a fever of excitement and the American Soo is, to a certain extent, affected by the news from Toronto that some of the plants, at least of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, are soon to be opened. These reports in full could not be confirmed at the offices of the company here, but Mr. Coyne did say that men were to be sent into the woods soon to take out what lumber had already been cut and if affairs were settled before this work was done these men and others would be kept in the woods. The provincial government is to guarantee the wages of these men.

Well-Known Beet Raiser.

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 19.—William H. Gilbert, one of the best known raisers of sugar beets in Michigan, died at an early hour Sunday morning as a result of blood clot on the brain. Mr. Gilbert was taken sick at Au Sable Tuesday and came home immediately. He was born in Oswego county, New York, and came to Bay City before the war. He was the builder of the first bridge connecting the east and west sides of the river at this point. He was also engaged in the early lumbering trade.

Five Life Convicts.

Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 17.—All five leaders of the Fort Leavenworth prison mutiny of November, 1901, charged with killing Guard Waldrupe, were found guilty of murder by a jury in the United States circuit court here Friday without capital punishment, and will be given life sentences. The prisoners are Gilbert Mullins, Turner Barnes, Frank Thompson, Fred Robinson and Robert Clark, all desperate men. Mullins and Robinson had practically finished their terms at the time of the outbreak and the others were short-term men. All are from the Indian Territory.

Berrien People Go South.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 17.—Imbued with the idea from railroad advertisements that Lawrence county, Tennessee, is the land of milk and honey, fifteen families from the Baroda district have sold their homes and gone there. The section in which they are to settle is said to be infested with malaria and the natives to be a hopelessly ignorant and shiftless class. Cheap land is the drawing card, much of it selling for less than $10 an acre.

IT'S JUST

THE THING

Every person should see to it that their blood is in order each Spring. Nature must purify the blood. That is the only way it can be purified. In order that nature may do its part in cleansing the blood from the Winter's accumulation of impurities the

KIDNEYS AND LIVER MUST BE ACTIVE

so that they may carry off the impurities; there is no remedy that will do this quicker and better than

and the reason this remedy is so much more successful than all others is because it strengthens the kidneys and liver and puts these organs in shape to berform their natural functions.

IT STRENGTHENS THE STOMACH

so that the food may be properly digested and the body is consequently nourished and all the organs strengthened, this then means a strong body and health.

PROOF

J. Koerner, Agent Grand Union Tea Company at Niles, Mich., writes: I use Kinyon's Blood and Kidney Remedy in my family every year. I find it the greatest blood purifier and tonic. It regulates the kidneys and liver and purifies the blood, and with this simple remedy I always keep my family well.

LIFE PLANT Renews Life.
The Very Best TONIC Ever Discovered.

The kidneys are the blood filters intended to remove the waste, and most of these diseases result from overtaxing them with excessive waste. The most frequent cause of kidney trouble is indigestion. LIFE PLANT aids digestion, relieving the kidneys from the very start. Kidney diseases cause more deaths than any other human affliction. They are usually painless at first, the only warnings are shown in the Urine, being cloudy or of high color. It is by neglecting these symptoms that kidney diseases are allowed to progress. An improper treatment is worse than none. LIFE PLANT is the only sure cure for kidney trouble.

Read what a cured one says.

Rev. J. H. Merchant, Pastor M. E. church at Freeport, O., writes:

"I take great pleasure, and do not hesitate to recommend Life Plant as an excellent remedy for Liver and Kidney difficulties. Mrs. Merchant desires to bear testimony to the healing virtues of Life Plant, as a sure and certain remedy for Rheumatism."

The cure of all Kidney trouble must come through the use of LIFE PLANT. GET SOME NOW.

LIVER TROUBLES

"I find Thedford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cured my son after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine I take."—MRS. CAROLINE MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Thedford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

"I used Thedford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to excel it."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Marblehead, Ill.

IS WALTZ GUILTY?

Evidence Not Clear in the Welmes Murder Case.

WALTZ MAY BE FREED

Judge Phelan Will Decide Today Whether Waltz Should Be Held For the Crime—Police Are Confident He Is the Guilty Man.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—Probably no criminal case before a Detroit court in years has attracted the widespread interest that the whole state is paying to the trial of Emil Waltz, charged with the brutal murder of little Adolph Wilmes. The testimony thus far against Waltz has been wholly circumstantial, and many doubt if it is sufficient to hold him for trial in the higher court. Judge Phelan will decide that point today. There is little doubt that Waltz is a dangerous brute, but he stoutly protests that he would not be guilty of disemboweling a little boy.

The morning and afternoon sessions of the case Tuesday were uneventful, the evidence being of the same stamp as that heard a week ago. Arthur Allen of 616 Jefferson avenue swore that on the evening before the murdered boy was discovered he had seen Alphonse Wilmes with a tall, slender man, who he thought was Waltz.

Lem Everett of 525 Vinewood avenue declared that at 3 o'clock on the morning of the day the boy was found he had seen Waltz striding down the railroad tracks in the vicinity of Champlain and Dequindre streets. Walt seemed greatly excited at the time.

Charles Collins was again placed on the stand and gave evidence that he had worked with Waltz on paving in this city. His evidence was very contradictory.

Detective George Larkins and Prosecutor Bumps declare they are sure that Waltz will be held, as a number of witnesses have positively identified him as having been seen with the boy or in the vicinity of the place where the murder was committed.

The object of this morning's session is to take the evidence of a witness who is a railroad engineer and who could not be present yesterday.

THE BAKER-ADAMS CASE

Some of the Most Obscene Letters Yet Read In Court.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 21.—The Adams-Baker breach of promise trial Tuesday afternoon was marked by some of the most obscene letters ever read in court. They were from Baker to Miss Adams. During the reading the plaintiff occupied a seat beside her father and sister, and most of the time her head was bowed on the table. Some of her letters to him were also read, and while some of them were indelicate, in general they showed she was deeply in love with Baker.

Miss Adams testified as to her student life at Olivet. She went there when 16 years old and remained for five years. She stated that she had never received instructions about the relations of married life. She declared she had always been honest and loved Baker truly.

An estrangement occurred in the early summer of 1900, which greatly affected her. A reconciliation followed, but she had doubts as to his intentions. He made advances to her at Reed City and she was shocked at his attempt to enter her room at night when she visited at his home. In telling of Baker's advances she constantly dwelt upon her trust in him.

Two ladies' clubs adopted resolutions that papers ought not to publish the letters in evidence or dwell upon the details, and also deplored the publicity given to the scandal.

Wakefield In Danger.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—An interesting fight is on between two well-known Detroit men for the appointment of tally clerk of the house at Washington. Frank H. Wakefield wishes a reappointment, while Winthrop C. Jones, ex-locksmith at the capitol, is also after the job. When Wakefield was first appointed he was on the staff of the Republican organ and John B. Corliss was the representative in congress. Now this district is represented by a Democrat, and Jones' friends claim that for this reason, among others, the job should go to some man in another district. Jones lives in the twelfth ward, which is in the second district. He has for years been political manager for Congressman Sam Smith and chairman of the district committee.

Took His Own Life.

Coloma, Mich., Oct. 21.—Michael Siver, a picturesque old resident of Covert, died from paris green, taken Sunday evening with suicidal intent. He was 72 years old, owned the Thunder Mountain summer resort, and was well known to all Chicago visitors at Paw Paw lake.

The Soo Reorganization.

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—The formal announcement of the reorganization of the Consolidated Lake Superior company is announced by the reorganization committee. It does not differ from the details of the plan which has been given out from time to time. The new company will be capitalized at $40,000,000. Forty-year 5 per cent gold bonds will be issued to the amount of $10,000,000 and an issue of 5 per cent twenty-year gold income bonds to the amount of $8,000,000 will also be made. The plan also provides for the raising of the $8,000,000 needed by the company, the details of which have already been made public.

SCRAP WITH CARRIE

Dowie and Mrs. Nation in a Hot Controversy.

WANTED TO ASK QUESTIONS

But Dowie Tried to Choke Her Off—End of the Fantastic Farce Is Near—Mrs. Dowie and Son Have Left the Country.

New York, Oct. 21.—It is predicted that the campaign of Dowie and his hosts will come to an early and inglorious close. His wife and son have taken passage for Australia, and Dowie is said to have prepared to move as soon as his lease of Madison Square Garden expires. Meantime he seems determined to abuse everybody and everything, to relieve his mind from the keen disappointment of his failure to either convert New York or milk its people of their gold. The Tuesday night meeting was both fantastic and vituperative.

Dr. Dowie, arrayed in evening clothes, talked for two hours before a great throng, the burden of his talk being denunciation of the clergy and the press. When he began the huge garden was crowded and the police say 6,000 persons who could not gain entrance were turned away. In half an hour, however, the crowd began to surge out, and then the police refused to admit any new comers, saying they feared a riot.

It was with some difficulty that any semblance of order was kept. The speaker was repeatedly interrupted with hisses and shouts of disapproval. At one point Dowie ordered the police to arrest two men in different parts of the building who had interrupted him.

Carrie Nation, who occupied a seat near the front, asked "Elijah" to answer some questions. He refused and ordered her to sit down.

Dowie then praised the spirit in which Mrs. Nation had warred on the saloon, but said she used wrong methods. Mrs. Nation again demanded the privilege of asking questions.

At once the Zion guards surrounded her and, with the help of several policemen, ejected her.

At this several hundred persons at the back of the garden made a rush to get out. The entrance was blocked in a moment and Dowie, shouting that the way had been blocked by the crowd outside, brought there for the purpose of creating a disturbance, ordered the Zionites to keep their places. He then requested the audience to be seated, and after having the side exits opened he directed the audience to rise in sections and go out at the sides.

The meeting was one of continuous disorder.

Dowie had announced that he would reply to an attack by the Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, published in a magazine last year. But he only referred to this subject casually. He attacked the Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson, the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, J. P. Morgan and others.

Is Dowie a Minister?

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The Transcontinental Passenger association is unable to decide what to do with regard to John Alexander Dowie, his elders and his missionaries. An application was received by the association, requesting that Zion City be given the privilege of clergy rates, such as is accorded to the ministers and missionaries. A refusal to grant this privilege, according to Dowie, would be a plain violation of the Elkins law, which prohibits discrimination. The application was finally referred to a committee.

PULL DON'T GO

Government Employes Must Stand on Their Merits Only.

Washington, Oct. 21.—About forty clerks employed in the pension office have received promotions, and after the announcement was made Commissioner Ware called them to his office for a lecture. He told them that they had been promoted on their respective records and upon the recommendation of their immediate superiors in office only. He advised the clerks to seek the commendation of only their chiefs and added that any recommendation for the advancement of an employe put in by an outsider and with the knowledge of the employe would have the effect of debarring the employe from advancement. "I am determined," he said, "that promotions shall be on merit only and not because this person may be the brother-in-law of a governor or that the nephew of a senator. No man can be loaded on to the office because he can't make a living on the outside."

RECEIVER IN POSSESSION

The Soo Saw Mills and Other Industries to Start Soon.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 22.—B. F. Fackenthal has taken possession of the plant of the Consolidated Lake Superior company on the Canadian side of the river, so that now the entire subsidiary companies of the parent company are now in the hands of the representative of Speyer & Co.

Mr. Fackenthal will leave his brother, J. S. Fackenthal, in charge of the works when he returns to Philadelphia. Incident upon taking possession Mr. Fackenthal asked the resignation of all the heads of the departments, but has since begun to re-engage them. He says it is likely he will operate the saw mills, veneer mill and pulp mills, although not prepared to state so definitely.

Creamery Gives Up Ghost.

Corunna, Mich., Oct. 22.—The second creamery run by farmers on the co-operative plan to give up the ghost within the past few months is the Caledonia Butter company, which has asked the circuit court for permission to dissolve and sell its property to pay debts.

SCATTERED DEATH

Locomotive Boiler Exploded With Fatal Results.

DYNAMITE ALSO HEARD FROM

Several Were Killed and Many Injured by the Boiler Explosion—One Woman Was Killed 500 Feet From Scene of the Accident.

Elkins, W. Va., Oct. 22.—Four persons were killed and several injured by the explosion of the boiler of a West Virginia Central railroad freight locomotive in the yards here. The dead:

WILLIAM H. LITTLE, engineer.
HENRY COLLETT, fireman.
J. T. HARPER, machinist.
MRS. KATE BABBETT.

John Doherty, a brakeman, and an unknown Italian were severely and perhaps fatally injured.

Mrs. Babbett was in her home, 500 feet from the scene of the explosion. A piece of flying iron struck her. The bodies of the dead workmen were hurled many feet, Little's body being torn to shreds. Telegraph wires were prostrated, tracks torn up and two freight cars were wrecked by the force of the explosion. It is not known what caused the explosion.

Another In Missouri.

Aurora, Mo., Oct. 22.—Two men were killed and eighteen seriously injured by an explosion of dynamite, used for blasting on the construction work of the White River road, in Stone county, thirty-five miles east of here. The dead:

JOHN HEALEY, Kansas City.

An AUSTRIAN, whose name is not known.

All the injured will live.

A telephone message from Stone county, the scene of the explosion, says that a second explosion occurred at tunnel C, ten miles below there, killing the foreman of the works and injuring seven others. There are no details.

ITALIAN CABINET RESIGNS

But No Serious Danger Threatens the King.

Rome, Oct. 22.—The cabinet has resigned. The decision to take this step was reached unanimously at a ministerial council, held Wednesday, and after Premier Canardelli had announced that he had sent in his resignation in consequence of failing health.

The resignation of the premier was tendered to King Victor Emmanuel, and it is in no way connected with the political situation. This was clearly set forth at the ministerial council. Signor Zanardelli's health is daily becoming worse. Other members of the cabinet essayed in vain to dissuade the premier from resigning, but his decision so to do was supported by Signor Bacelli, minister of agriculture, who is a famous physician.

Prospect of War.

London, Oct. 22.—A report is in circulation on the stock exchange that the negotiations between Russia and Japan had been broken off, but the foreign office officials here said they had not heard anything confirmatory of the rumor. This statement was made subsequent to a visit paid by Baron Hayashi to Foreign Minister Lansdowne Wednesday afternoon. The officials of the foreign office added that the report was contrary to the general trend of its information. A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from Tokio says: "Russian military activity on the Korean frontiers is unabated. Important newspapers take a gloomy view. They are inclined to believe Russia does not intend to fulfill her repeated promises and declarations, in which case it will be incumbent on Japan to take decisive steps for the sake of her very existence.

A Sensible Arrangement.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—The Associated Teaming interests, an organization composed of some of the largest employers in Chicago, has definitely adopted a policy which, it is said, will prevent sympathetic strikes, and the Chicago board of arbitration, in connection with the association, will not take up any labor disputes except those between teamsters and team owners. The effect of this move of the employers, it is said, will be to keep the teamsters at peace while the other labor bodies may be dealt with through the employers' association.

Bankers at the Coast.

San Francisco, Oct. 21.—The hotels are rapidly filling up with delegates to the convention of the American Bankers' association. Fully 1,500 persons came in on a special train sent across the continent by the leading railroads. In addition to those there are other thousands who have reached California over the regular routes of travel on regular trains. It is the consensus of opinion among the delegates that the arrangements for the convention are most complete, and they are pleased with the welcome extended by California and San Francisco.

Fire at Freeport.

Freeport, Mich., Oct. 21.—The Freeport Buggy & Cutter plant was destroyed by fire Tuesday evening, together with its contents, there being no fire protection to check the flames. The loss will aggregate $50,000. The origin of the fire is not known. Forty employes are thrown out of work.

A Love Letter.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns or Piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best Salve on earth. 25c at C. A. Wright's drug store.

AN OLD SWINDLE

Bold Confidence Game In the Upper Peninsula.

MANY THOUSANDS LOST

Deer Park Had a Brilliant Prospectus, but Was a Mythical Town on Lake Superior—The Officials Now In the Clutches of the Law.

Newberry, Mich., Oct. 22.—The details of the "Deer Park" swindle, by which an aggregate of many thousand dollars have been lost by small investors all over the country, and which involved the selling of lots in the mythical town of Deer Park, on the shore of Lake Superior, near this place, have just been made public, and two of the alleged promoters are now under indictment at Chicago. E. R. Marden and Oscar Lewis, who are said to have operated under the name of "The Deer Park Improvement association," are the men against whom true bills have been returned, and three other men are under suspicion.

Samuel T. Reardon of New York, who became interested in the project, from an investor's standpoint, through the receipt of an elaborate prospectus, is the principal complainant. The prospectus contained illustrations of churches, school houses, manufactories, fine dwellings and business blocks along paved streets, also a harbor containing a government pier and steam and sailboats. A large map, purporting to give a birdseye view of Deer Park and incidentally making the place a considerable railroad center, also was given.

Reardon invested $250 in a lot in the town, and after a conference with the "association" officials in Chicago he induced a number of friends to also put money in the venture. Then, in company with a Chicago surveyor, he made a trip to Luce county, stopping off at Newberry, the nearest railroad point to "Deer Park." Reardon found that the only building located on or near the site of the imaginary town was an empty hut, while about the only bit of life was a swarm of sand flies.

Later on the party returned to Newberry and ascertained that the entire acreage owned by the Deer Park Improvement association had been taxed for exactly 73 cents. Armed with tax records and photographs of the "paper town," Reardon and the surveyor returned to Chicago, accompanied by Sheriff Cyr, and placed their information before the grand jury, and indictments followed. It had been known in the upper peninsula for some time that the swindle was being perpetrated and it had been given some currency by the press.

THE ROMULUS ROBBERY

Blew Up the Bank Safe but Failed to Get the Coin.

Romulus, Mich., Oct. 22.—A most peculiar attempt at bank robbery took place here at about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, when a party of thieves broke into the Bank of Romulus, owned by Peter C. Bird, and tried to get at the contents of the vault. They forced the door to the vault, but here their run of luck ended, for the charge of dynamite they used in trying to break open the safe door was too large and turned the safe completely over so that the combination rested on the floor. They couldn't tip it over to get at the contents and were lucky to make their escape after the alarm was given.

It is supposed that about $900 in currency was in the safe, and up to a late hour last night it was there yet, as an expert who came out from Detroit hadn't been able to get the thing open. In fact, it took several hours for a gang of men to tip the safe over so the expert could get at work.

There was no definite clue to the cracksmen, but it is believed they were amateurs or they could never have bungled the job so. Some suspicious characters were seen about town Tuesday.

Traveling Man Suicides.

Cleveland, Oct. 22.—William B. Wallace, a traveling salesman from St. Louis, jumped into the lake from a pier at the foot of Erie street late Wednesday afternoon, to end his life. He was taken from the water within a few moments after his plunge. At the hospital to which Wallace was taken it is said he will die.

Killed Himself and Sweetheart.

Stephen, Minn., Oct. 22.—The dead bodies of Albert Jensen, aged 30, and Josie Johnson, aged 19, were found in Jensen's house on his farm near the village of Roseau Wednesday. It was evident that Jensen had killed the girl, who was his sweetheart, with the butt of a revolver, and then shot himself.

Michigan Man Honored.

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—The nominating committee of the Bankers' association, composed of state representatives, decided to report the following nominations to the convention: President, F. J. Bigelow, Milwaukee; first vice-president, E. F. Swinney, Kansas City. Executive committee: J. D. Powers, Kentucky; J. R. Mitchell, Minnesota; James K. Wilson, California; J. B. Finley, Pennsylvania; Stephen M. Griswold, New York; H. R. Dennis, South Dakota; W. K. Coffey, Wisconsin; Miller B. Lane, Georgia; William Livingstone, Detroit, Mich.; Charles M. Sawyer, Kansas.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

YOUNG ELOPERS CAUGHL

They Had Walked From Ypsilanti to Jackson.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 22.—Roy H. Lawson and Edna Hopper, the children alleged to have eloped from Ypsilanti Sunday night, were in the custody of the officers here and taken home Wednesday afternoon by Chief Warner of Ypsilanti. A family by the name of Robinson, residing west of this city, with whom they had taken refuge, read of their escapade in the newspapers and notified the officers here; this led to the capture.

The boy and girl said they had not intended to elope, but the girl was afraid of her aunt and the two planned to run away, the boy to join his father in Montgomery, Mich., and the girl to go to her father in Dansville, Wis. They walked all the way to the Robinson house, as they had only 15 cents between them. The boy took Mrs. Dailey's cape, he said, because the girl had nothing warm to wear.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Oct. 22.—Complaints have been sworn to against Roy Lawson and Edna Hopper, one charging the boy with the theft of the coat, and the other accusing the girl of being a youthful disorderly. County Agent Childs will probably appear in their behalf.

THE NEW GAME LAW

Receives Its First Test In Oceana County.

Hart, Mich., Oct. 22.—The new game law, making it a crime for one hunter to carelessly shoot another while hunting, had no sooner gone into effect than a test case arose in this county. Oscar Deitz, aged 30, thought he saw a squirrel and fired, but the charge went into the face of a boy named George Riffle. He was badly hurt, but is thought to be out of danger. Deitz was arrested and will be tried in the circuit court.

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Sufferers dread to move, especially after sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in wet weather.

"It has been a long time since we have been without Hood's Sarsaparilla. My father thinks he could not do without it. He has been troubled with rheumatism since he was a boy, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine he can take that will enable him to take his place in the field." MISS ADA DOTY, Sidney, Iowa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove the cause of rheumatism—no outward application can. Take them.

HIS BEQUEST.

Senator Hoar's most recent anecdote is as follows:

Among the guests at the house on the banks of the Potomac where a party of friends are spending the warm weather, is a dear little woman whose sole thought is the "betterment" of a home for poor children that is located but a stone's throw from her summer abode.

One evening, her husband, who delights to tease, remarked:

"By the way, Agnes, I read in the paper today that a Mr. Fell had died and left all he possessed to the Bell home."

"Oh, how lovely!" exclaimed his spouse. "How much was it?"

And that shamless fooler of trusting women said impressively. "Twelve children!"

MIGHT STAY ON PERCH.

Ex-President Cleveland used to fish and hunt a good deal in the Barnegat bay district. John Camburn, a Waretown guide, says that one cold, wet night Mr. Cleveland got lost. He wandered through the mud and rain and dark for more than two hours, but not a thing could he see, not a light, not a road.

Finally, however, he struck a narrow lane, and in due time a house appeared. Mr. Cleveland was cold and tired; he thought he would go no farther. So he banged at the door till a window on the second floor went up and a gruff voice said:

"Who are you?"

"A friend," said Mr. Cleveland meekly.

"What do you want?"

"To stay here all night."

"Stay there, then."

And the window descended with a bang, and Mr. Cleveland, shouldering his gun, again resumed his journey wearily.

SUFFICIENT CAUSE.

Sir Edward Clarke, the noted English barrister, tells with glee how a young lawyer once scored off him. Late one afternoon a case in which Sir Edward was interested was called, whereupon he asked that it be put off until the following morning, as he had been arguing a case in another court all day and was much exhausted. The request was granted and the next case called. The young lawyer then asked for postponement of this case also, saying he, too, was exhausted. The court asked what he had been doing. "If it please the court," was the reply, "I have been listening to Sir Edward Clarke."

SONG WRITER'S SAD ROMANCE.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 10.—W. Wesley Wells, formerly of Kansas City, is dead of consumption in Danville, Ill. Wells was the composer of "I Wait Alone for Thee," a song that was very popular. The story of how he came to write the song is as follows: He and a young woman of Danville were engaged to be married. Shortly before the time set for the wedding doctors told Mr. Wells that he had consumption and could live only a year or two. His fiance wished to marry him in spite of his affliction, but he left her and went to Los Angeles. There he wrote the song, dedicated to his lost love, and the income from it paid his expenses in his last days.

MARK TWAIN'S CAP AND BELLS.

Mark Twain has not yet occupied the house at Tarrytown which he purchased a year and a half ago—the one the astute village tax collectors assessed at three times what he paid for it—but he runs up from Riverdale occasionally to look at it and see that no local Huck Finn has broken out the windows.

There were no cabs at the station one hot day recently when he arrived, so he essayed to walk up the Main street hill. The Tarrytown hill is exceeded in steepness by the Newburg mill alone. When half-way up he sat down on a stone carriage block to rest, holding his hat in one hand. A street piano man struck up a tune in his immediate neighborhood, but the humorist sat unmoved. An elderly lady happening along conceived him to be the musician's helper, and dropped a penny in his hat. Mr. Twain rose and bowed solemnly with a stately "thank you." The lady took a backward step, apparently vaguely suspicious that she had made a mistake.

"Don't be frightened, madam," went on Mark. "It's true the man doesn't keep a string on me, but I'm very well trained—very well trained—perfectly safe."

WITHOUT A CENT IN HIS POCKET.

Sir Thomas Lipton never has a cent in his pocket. One day last week he was talking to a man in the Erie Basin. He turned to a friend and asked for five dollars. When he got it, he slipped it into the hand of the man and then went aboard to get a bill and refund the loan. When in the city, he is always accompanied by his secretary or financial man who has to carry the money and defray Sir Thomas' bills, even to carfare.

Some time ago Sir Thomas was walking along Regent street, in London, with his secretary, John Westwood.

"It is very hot and I am very thirsty, Mr. Westwood," said he. "Won't you buy me a cup of tea?"

"I was just about to suggest that," replied Mr. Westwood, and they turned into Blanchard's. Mr. Westwood had a big roll of English bank notes, and when he pulled them out to pay the check, Sir Thomas looked at it and asked "Is that yours or ours, Mr. Westwood?"

"Ours, Sir Thomas," was the reply.

"That's very nice," remarked the baronet. "Then we can have more to drink."

AND WARE IS WIGGINS?

Eugene F. Ware, who runs the pension bureau when he is not writing poetry, has been absent from his desk in Washington five and a half months since his appointment 18 months ago. Mr. Ware advanced the immortal Wiggins over the heads of an entire division of clerks as a reward for not taking a vacation for five years and the thoughtless are now jeering the commissioner for not practicing as he promotes.

The truth is that, since the advancement of Wiggins, the pension bureau clerks have unanimously abstained from vacations. Not even in the height of the baseball season were any of them ill enough to get to the ball field. The result was that the bureau got far ahead of its work, months, years ahead of it. It seemed almost necessary to close it for a time to let the government and the pensioners catch up.

Then Mr. Ware, inspired by genius, stepped to the front and took on his own shoulders all the vacations.

During a visit of F. Marion Crawford to New York last year, he met at a social function Miss Mary E. Wilkins. The lady said something pleasant about a recent novel of his. Smiling and owing, he asked: "And do you write, Miss Wilkins?" They do say she was absolutely too surprised to reply.

Monsieur Bienstock, an old friend of Count Leo Tolstoi, who has translated all the works of the famous Russian philosopher into the French language, has just returned from his visit to Cashala-Poliana, where he had been nvited to be present at the 75th birthday of the count.

Countess Tolstoi and the children of the old philosopher were the only other persons present, but from all over the world telegrams arrived congratulating the count and wishing him many more years of life and happiness.

Monsieur Bienstock declares that he has never seen Tolstoi looking so well for twenty years. He has absolutely recovered after last year's illness, and it seems that neither sickness nor age has any power over him.

He works from twelve to fourteen hours every day and is ready to die, he says, at any moment, as he says that for him death is only an explanation of life; but he goes on living.

During the last few months he has given up riding a wheel, of which he was formerly very fond. This is the only concession he has ever made, and not without much persuasion from his wife and children.

Rose Coghlan tells a story of a beggar who was certainly ready with an answer: "I was on my way to the theater," said Miss Coghlan, "when I was stopped by a street beggar, who told me that he had just lost his family in a railroad wreck, and asked me for help.

"But aren't you the same man who told me the other day that you had lost your family in a fire?" I asked.

"'I know it, mum,' he replied. 'I am one of the most unfortunate gintlemen on the face of the earth.'"

Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is in a terrible funk. He has changed his palace into a fortress. It is filled with guards. The windows of his private apartments are barricaded. An expert analyzes his food lest he be poisoned.

NINE TIMES A KING.

Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, is the most betitled monarch in the world. Without his imperial crown, which is the identical tiara of Charlemagne, he is nine times a king, twice a grand duke, once a grand prince, twice a prince, four times a margrave and the multitude of his titles as count and so forth is past enumeration. The total of his titles of sovereignty and nobility exceeds a hundred. In addition, as king of Hungary, he bears the title of "most apostolic," which is one of the four honors bestowed by the pope. Were the sovereigns of Europe to meet in council there is no doubt that the premier place would be conceded to Emperor Francis Joseph, alike by reason of his hereditary prestige and of his representation of the ancient holy Roman empire.

Lady Curzon's jewels are superb beyond description. She had a casket of the usual modern things in jewels, such as all women of millions have nowadays but since she has been in India she has added the most dazzling things. She has been a great favorite in India, for she is exceedingly gracious and lovely, and the princes have laid their finest treasures at her feet. And these Indian princes own the rarest gems on earth. There are no European royalties, not even the czar and czarima, who possesses such hugh perfect stones. They have been in their family jewel caskets for hundreds of years and Lady Curzon has had the pick of many of these caskets. She has necklaces of sapphires, emeralds and rubies of such size that they appear almost like imitation, it is so incredible that they should be genuine and of such prodigious size.

A ROYAL CENSOR.

The German empress has expressed the desire that for the future all pieces intended for representation at the court theater shall be submitted to her first, so that nothing may be played of doubtful morality or likely to shock the audience. Her majesty reserves the right of vetoing any play she may choose.

SECRETARY SHAW TELLS THIS.

The good wife who, venturing on a change in wearing her hair, timidly asked her husband if he thought it unbecoming.

"Bless you, no!" he exclaimed, trying his best to be complimentary, "any change would be an improvement to you."

Mrs. Cortelyou will make her first official appearance as the wife of a cabinet minister at the public reception on New Year's day.

BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, blood must have blood food and so on through the list.

Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment for soft bones in children. Little doses every day give the stiffness and shape that healthy bones should have.

Bow legs become straighter, loose joints grow stronger and firmness comes to the soft heads.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it.

In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood.

Bread is the staff of life, but most men are looking for a "puddin'."

IT'S JUST THE THING

Every person should see to it that their blood is in order each Spring. Nature must purify the blood. That is the only way it can be purified. In order that nature may do its part in cleansing the blood from the Winter's accumulation of impurities the

KIDNEYS AND LIVER MUST BE ACTIVE

so that they may carry off the impurities; there is no remedy that will do this quicker and better than

and the reason this remedy is so much more successful than all others is because it strengthens the kidneys and liver and puts these organs in shape to perform their natural functions.

IT STRENGTHENS THE STOMACH

so that the food may be properly digested and the body is consequently nourished and all the organs strengthened, this then means a strong body and health.

PROOF

J. Koerner, Agent Grand Union Tea Company at Niles, Mich., writes: I use Kinyon's Blood and Kidney Remedy in my family every year. I find it the greatest blood purifier and tonic. It regulates the kidneys and liver and purifies the blood, and with this simple remedy I always keep my family well.

Do Good—It Pays.

A Chicago man has observed that "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. You cannot possibly lose by it." Most men appreciate a kind word and encouragement more than substantial help. There are persons in this community who might truthfully say: My good friend, cheer up. A few doses of Chamberlain's cough remedy will rid you of your cold, and there is no danger whatever from pneumonia when you use that medicine It always cures. I know it for it has helped me out many a time." Sold by all druggists.

The Roberts will case was argued yesterday before the supreme court by Attorneys John E. Bird, of this city, and Fred B Wood, of Tecumseh, who appeared for Brant Roberts, the son who carried the matter up, while Attorney Grant Fellows, of Hudson, appeared for the will. Prof. Sturgis' dancing school and assembly held the boards Tuesday night at the armory. These very enjoyable occasions are with us weekly and have become exceedingly popular with our local lovers of the terpsichore. The professor's efforts in our locality are augmented by work of the young and talented pianist and vocalist, Miss Kathryn Bostetter The occasion was graced by the presence of members of the concert troup and the popularity of Prof. Sturgis and his assistants is a fixture with Tecumsehites. Fifty couples attended the assembly.

Myron Billmeyer, who lives southeast of town, owns a 50 acre apple orchard which presents a wonderful appearance. The trees are so heavily laden with fruit that many of them are broken off at the roots. Scarcely a tree in the orchard that is not propped. Mr. Billmeyer says that the trees are yielding from 5 to 12 barrels per tree, in all there will be between 3000 and 4,000 barrels. The apples are perfect in shape, due, probably to the spraying, as the orchard has never before borne so well. He has sold the orchard to Indianopolis parties, who have 34 men at work now picking and packing and it will take from 2 to 3 weeks more before the work will be completed.

A FINE FOUNTAIN

Is now nearly completed in BROOKSIDE CEMETERY

Built of cement and stone, the work being done by Samuel Mobbs.

The cemetery board, which this year consists of Messrs. Frank Avery, Theo. Harris and Chauncey Vedder, have made a great improvement to the already beautiful Brookside Cemetery, in causing to be placed near the gate entrance, a fine fountain.

It is of circular shape, 16 feet in diameter and will be surrounded with cement walk which will connect with the main drive. The improvement will be beautiful in every detail and add much to the general look of the cemetery, which is said to be the nicest and best kept of any in the state, in any town near the size of Tecumseh.

This fountain will be one of much beauty, besides there will be a drinking fountain and this makes it necessary to connect the cemetery with the water works, bringing the water pipes to a central location in the cemetery which will make it convenient for all who wish to keep alive flowers in the summer.

The money for this improvement comes from an accumulation of the cemetery fund which grows from year to year by the sale of lots and the careful management of the cemetery. The expense of this fountain and walks will be about $500.

REV. HAIGHT

Former Pastor of Tecumseh Universalist church

WILL BECOME PASTOR

Of First Universalist church at Benton Harbor.

At an informal meeting of the trustees of the First Universalist church, held after the services last night, it was decided to employ Rev. Louise Haight as pastor. The board was unanimous in the choice.

Rev. Haight occupied the pulpit at both the morning and the evening hours yesterday and impressed the congregation so favorably that it was thought advisable to engage her. Since the resignation several months ago of Mr. W. A. Williams, who has given up the ministry and entered the profession of law, the church has been without a pastor and no services have been held with the exception of Sunday school, and it is with a feeling of real pleasure that the congregation again has a leader.

Rev. Haight comes here from Charlotte, Mich. She has been engaged in the ministry for some years and is said to be an earnest, faithful laborer. The congregation of her church, as well as other Christian people in the community will cordially welcome her to Benton Harbor.

The trustees of the church and Rev. Haight will meet this morning and close a contract.—Benton Harbor Daily Post.

James Kimball.

James Kimball, one of the oldest settlers and representative farmers of the township of Franklin, died Monday, Oct. 19, at the age of 97 years, 9 months, 13 days. He was born in Stoddard township, Cheshire Co., N. H., Jan. 4, 1806, and was the son of Darius Kimball who was a native of Massachuettes, and came of Scotch ancestry.

Mr. Kimball came to Michigan in 1844, his parents following two years later, where they died at the home of their son, the father was 95 years of age and the mother a few months over a hundred. Jas. Kimball was the sixth of a family of four sons and three daughters, all of whom are now dead. He was reared in York State, where he was first married to Miss Eliza Case, a native of that state. She had no children and died soon after coming to this country.

Mr. Kimball was married the second time to Miss Sarah Greytrax. Four children were born to them, Mrs. Andrew Wilson, of this place; Jas. Kimball of Devils lake; Eugene and Sidney, who reside at the homestead. The funeral was held from the home Wednesday at two o'clock, Rev. Dose officiating. Interment in the Mills cemetery. The floral pieces were many and beautiful.

Those from away who attended the funeral were W. S. Kimball, L. W. Kimball and M. D. Alexander of Clinton; Morris Kimball of Jackson; W. J. Hampton of Devils lake; Andrew Wilson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Abner Wilson and Dr. Wilson, Henry Wilson and wife of Tecumseh.

JENKINS—LOCKWOOD.

Wednesday, the home of Dr. and Mrs. J.F. Jenkins was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings of the season, when their daughter, Florence Elizabeth, became the wife of Dr. Francis W. Lockwood, of South Bend, in the presence of about 50 friends and relatives. Miss Genevieve Halladay rendered Lohengrin's wedding march, at the first strains of which the wedding party, consisting of Rev. W. F. Jones, who was followed by the ring bearer, Miss Gladys Jones, Milton Jenkins as best man, and Miss Julia Lowry as bridesmaid, and the bride and groom, took their places beneath a canopy of yellow autumn leaves.

The bride was attired in white silk mull over white silk, and carried bride's roses, and her maid, Miss Lowry, in white mull trimmed with white insertion. The parlor was decorated in yellow autumn leaves and palms. The hall and stairs were decorated in willow. A three course wedding dinner was served in the dining room which was decorated in red autumn leaves.

The guests were served by the Misses Vera Heesen, Florence Rosacrans, Ruth Keeney and Stella Zimmerman and Arnie and Otti Garlinghouse. The bride and groom left on the 6:50 train for South Bend, where a furnished house awaits them. They were the recipents of many beautiful presents, among them being $100 in gold from the bride's parents, who also furnished her house, while the groom's mother bought the house and lot.

The bride was one of the most popular young ladies of this village and was well liked by all who knew her. Dr. Lockwood is to be congratulated on his choice of a life partner. The groom is a graduate of the U. of M. and formerly a resident of Port Jarvis, N. Y., and has established a fine practice in South Bend in the short time he has been there.

WATERS—ANDERSON.

A simple, yet beautiful, home wedding was solemnized at three o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Waters yesterday, when their daughter, Miss Vevia, became the bride of Albert Anderson, Rev. Leslie Bower performing the ceremony, in the presence of only the immediate families of both young people. The bride wore a travelling dress of caster cloth, and was unattended.

After the ceremony ice cream and cake were served to the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left on the four o'clock train for Jackson, and after a short wedding trip will be at home to their friends in the S. W. Temple house. They were the recipients of some beautiful presents.

The bride is one of Tecumseh's brightest young ladies and is well liked by every one. The groom has always resided in Tecumseh, clerking in Anderson Bros. grocery store, and needs no introduction to Tecumseh people.

RICE—TREAT.

The nuptials of Miss Georgia Marie Rice, only daughter of S. B. Rice, and Dr. David Leroy Treat in Adrian were celebrated Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at the family home, 23 College avenue, in the presence of about sixty-five guests, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Franklin W. Sweet, pastor of the First Baptist church, the high contracting parties themselves receiving the guests.

The house had been prettily decorated with green and white predominating, chrysanthemums, potted plants and smilax, with salvia and bitter sweet adding to the beauty. Prof. T. E. Rinehart executed in his characteristic way the wedding march from Lohengrin, following with Rubenstein's melody in F, through the ceremony, concluding with Mendelssohn's march. The ceremony was performed in the back parlor, and the principals were unattended. The bride was most beautiful in her gown of Paris muslin, over white silk, with trimmings of Valenciennes lace, and wore an elegant diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. Her flowers were bride's roses.

Mrs. Peter Miller catered for the two course supper which was served by the Misses Lorena Lyon, Katherine Dryden, Jessie Whaley, Beatrice Seger, Bernice Merwin and Katherine Baker. Dr. and Mrs. Treat departed on the 9:15 Wabash for Detroit and will take an eastern trip before returning to Adrian where they will be at home at the Rice home. Her going away gown was of navy blue. They were handsomely remembered with presents.

ROUND ABOUT US.

The most absurd laws on our statute books today are the fish and game laws. A man is a sucker, who will bear with them, and not put up a kick. He cannot fish with any kind of safety, unless he baits his hook with a copy of the law, and that would kill more fish than a charge of dynamite. Why, down at Coldwater, the boys decline to sing bass, and dare not hunt a dear, just through fear of the game warden. A Saginaw man who saw an aunt elope, did not dare shoot, because he feared he would be arrested.—Adrian Press.

Tecumseh is certainly the banner cigar town, both in making and smoking. There are three busy factories there and each makes high grade cigars and their annual out-put is astonishing. Not only do they supply outside places with the aromatic weed but Tecumseh herself consumes probably more cigars than any other town of her size in the country. We have noticed on our visits there that nearly every youth and man betwee the ages of 14 and 100 years smokes cigars. The usual blackened pipe of the old smoker is replaced by the cigar. —Onsted News.

Here is something that will make us all weep: "Tenderly she laid the silent white form beside those that had gone before. She made no outcry, she did not weep. Such a moment was too precious to be spent in idle tears. But soon there came a time when it seemed as if nature must give way. She lifted her voice and cried loud and long. Her cry was taken up by others who were near and it echoed and re-echoed over the grounds. Then suddenly all was still. What was the use of it all? She would lay another egg tomorrow.—Onsted News.

A big strapping hobo blew into our office the other day, introduced himself with all the dignity of a lord and began in a plaintive voice the hobo's tale of woe. After listening to his demands for money enough to buy a "cup of coffee" and to the statement that he had walked 38 miles the day before we gave him a royal turn down. We have no sympathy with this sort of fellow and we told him so right from the shoulder. Grumblingly he turned away to play on some kind housewife's feelings for a breakfast. Ten minutes before he had been offered $1.50 a day and board to cut corn—but horrors! that would have been work. Dollars for the deserving and unfortunate but not one cent for the support of a dirty, broad shouldered beggar.—Onsted News.

Other people's money continues to pay for a deal of sumptuous living.

You Will Be Happy if Well.

Paine's Celery Compound

Bestows that Health and Vigor that Makes Living a Pleasure.

If you are sick and out-of-sorts, it is in your power to make yourself healthy, strong, and happy.

There is not the slightest reason why you should go through life feeling sickly, miserable, languid, and melancholic. To be well and strong, means happiness and true joy.

If you are sleepless, rheumatic, neuralgic, dyspeptic, or have the shadows of disease hovering over you; if you are not as bright, energetic, and strong as you were some weeks ago, the use of Paine's Celery Compound will tone up and fortify your whole system, cleanse the blood, correct digestion, sharpen the appetite, and conduce to restful sleep. Thousands once in a half-dead condition owe their present good health to the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Mr. Wm. S. Gibson, of Pleasureville, Ky., who, through sickness and suffering, was brought near the dark grave, writes as follows, regarding his marvelous cure:—

"I have been broken down in health and strength, nervous system shattered, kidneys out of order, had nervous and trembling spells off and on for the last ten years. I have taken three bottles of your Paine's Celery Compound and all of the above-mentioned troubles have left me, and I can now do a good day's work. I go about my business all day long and it don't worry me, and I now feel better than I have in ten years. I have a good appetite, and can eat and get around on foot as active as when I was a boy. My age is 65 years."

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Hundreds of Tecumseh Citizens can tell you all about it.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Tecumseh people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Tecumseh reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far-away places. Read the following:

Mr. S. Erskin, proprietor of the well-known barber shop, says: For ten years off and on I had a dull pain in my back, imperfect action of the kidneys, and often I could hardly stoop or get up again. I think it was caused by standing so much at my work. Be that as it may I was in bad shape. I used a great many medicines, but without receiving much benefit until Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice and I got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store. I must confess that I was agreeably surprised, for after using one box I was much relieved. After the use of two boxes my back is stronger and better than it has been for a long time. Doan's Kidney Pills are the best medicine I have ever used and I have such faith in them. I believe I will be conferring a kindness on those suffering from kidney trouble in making known their merits."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Perhaps it takes several larks to make a summer, but it doesn't take many swallows to bring a fall.

It's a mistake to imagine that itching piles can't be cured; a mistake to suffer a day longer than you can help. Doan's Ointment brings instant relief and permanent cure. At any drug store, 50 cents.

TWENTY-ONE STILL MISSING

Life Raft With Survivors Lost In the Heavy Fog.

Port Orford, Ore., Oct. 22.—The life raft, to which it is supposed six people from the ill-fated South Portland are clinging, has not been seen today, and hope of rescue is growing less.

A tug from Coos bay has been cruising along the shore in an attempt to locate the missing raft. The fog has been a great hindrance in the search. With the esas continually sweeping over the raft, there seems little hope that any one on it will survive. Although the beach has been carefully patrolled for miles during the past twenty-four hours, no bodies have been washed ashore.

According to the latest reports the missing number twenty-one, the dead one and the saved seventeen.

COURAGE OF AMERICANS

By Not Giving in to Rheumatism They Find Relief from Pain.

Americans do not sit down and cry over their troubles, but look around for a way out; that was the way Athlophoros was created—to drive the Uric acid from the blood—the cause of Rheumatism.

Uric acid in the blood is likened to floating ice in a river—we all know how ice congests commerce and retards progress—Uric acid is the same—it prevents proper circulation of the blood, besides poisoning it, and brings on complications with the stomach, kidneys and heart.

Many people think they have Dyspepsia, Bright's Disease and Heart Trouble, whereas once rid of the Uric acid they are freed from all, as well as their Rheumatism. Athlophoros goes to the seat of the trouble and quickly forces out the Uric acid—improvement is noted at once and the cure is sure—one bottle will prove if you are being helped—it only costs you the price of one bottle to test it—All druggists sell it—if not, send $1 to The Athlophoros Co., New Haven, Conn. Don't sit still and suffer.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

LIFE PLANT

Renews Life.

The Very Best TONIC Ever Discovered.

The blood is a great source of health or disease in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy; if the blood is impure or diseased then there is sickness and disease in the whole system.

Impure blood causes such diseases as Eczema, and Scrofula. LIFE PLANT effects its wonderful cures by acting through the blood. It is impossible for that blood poison, uric acid, or any other blood impurity to exist in the presence of our harmless medicine. The phenomenal success of LIFE PLANT in the many forms of blood diseases, warrants us in stating that it is a positive cure for Eczema and Scrofula. Read what Mr. M. P. Hobbs says of LIFE PLANT:

Wilmot, O., Jan. 9, 1903.

The Life Plant Co., Canton, Ohio.

Gentlemen:

Two years ago I contracted a very aggravated case of Eczema. I tried many kinds of medicine called sure cures, but all failed. I was persuaded by a friend to give LIFE PLANT a trial, and by taking two bottles was cured. To get the real truth of this statement try LIFE PLANT and be convinced.

Yours truly,
M. P. HOBBS.

Better get LIFE PLANT next time. It's a wonder.

LIVER TROUBLES

"I find Thedford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cured my son after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine I take."—MRS. CAROLINE MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Thedford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

"I used Thedford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to excel it."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Marblehead, Ill.

Auditor General Powers On Collection of Taxes.

COMMISSION TOO EXPENSIVE

Says It Was Created to Aid Governor Pingree Get Even With Railroads and Entails Great Expense—Should Be Reduced to Three Members.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 24.—In an interview with Hon. Perry F. Powers, auditor-general of Michigan, that official, referring to the flood of criticism poured on the state tax commission, and after referring to the fact that the commission was the outgrowth of Governor Pingree's idea that certain large interests were being favorably dealt with and that the railroads were escaping their proper share of taxation, said:

"In my judgement, it was a mistake to change the method of railroad taxation. Under the old system railroad taxes could be collected with a brief letter and a two-cent stamp after the report of the railroad commissioner reached the auditor-general's office. Now it requires the employment of a large force of clerks and the expenditure of thousands of dollars annually, and even then the results are not so satisfactory as they could have been made under the former system. The same net income to the state could have been secured through the taxation of railroads under the old law, with a saving of annoyance to both the railroad companies and the state, as well as the very large amount now paid for the expenses of the state board of assessors.

Reduce the Commission.

"With this part of the work taken out of the hands of the state tax commission, and with the membership of the commission reduced to three, I think compensating value could be gained. All through the state there are large industries that control the assessing officers of their respective territories. If an intelligent and persistent effort had been made in the direction of correcting glaring inequalities, and if the commission had been willing to gradually work toward the desired valuation rather than to go by leaps it would have been better.

Limit the Power.

"It would be unfortunate to let temporary disappointment with the state tax commission deprive the people of the state of whatever value a commission with power to equalize taxes in all sections of the state may possess. Such a commission should not cost one-fourth as much as maintaining the organization we now have, and I think its results could be made more satisfactory if its duties were more limited and it were content to move gradually in the direction of a satisfactory attainment as far as state valuations and state assessments are concerned."

GOBBLING LITTLE FISH

Automobile Trust Starts to Crush a Detroit Maker.

New York, Oct. 24.—War has been begun by the Licensed Association of Automobile Manufacturers on the "unlicensed" makers and agents. The Ford Motor company of Detroit and C. A. Duer & Co., the agents in this city, are selected as the first objects of attack.

Papers have been served in the suit in the United States circuit court for the southern district of New York. The complainants are the Electric Vehicle company, which controls the patent, and George B. Selden, the patentee.

That Ford and Duer were selected for the first suit is no surprise. The Ford company advertised that it would protect all agents and users and was most prominent in defiance of the patent. Other suits will quickly follow.

Important Point Argued.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 24.—In the supreme court an important point in the case of the people vs. Lant K. Salsbury was argued and submitted. This case was submitted some time ago. Salsbury, who will, on Nov. 5, be released from the Detroit house of correction, where he is serving a two years' sentence for a federal offense, was convicted of bribery in connection with the Grand Rapids water deal. The latter case was appealed to the supreme court, and the argument yesterday afternoon was as to whether Salsbury was a judicial officer, as charged in the indictment. The defense insisted that he was not, and that in so charging him the indictment is fatally defective and he should be discharged.

Many Convicts Hopeful.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 24.—The decision of the supreme court in the Horney case will mean freedom for several other prisoners. "We have no way of knowing just how many cases the decision will effect in Jackson prison," said Warden Vincent. "We simply know that they have served time on previous occasions. From the stir the decision has ade among the prisoners, I should imagine there were several others here who believe they have a case, hoping to prove illegal sentences by justices of the peace to Ionia reformatory. These cases will undoubtedly come to light soon."

LIVES SACRIFICED

Great Subway Disaster Due To Insecure Props.

WORST IN SUBWAY HISTORY

Victims Lay For Hours Pinioned With Heavy Rocks—One Man's Leg Amputated While His Body Was Still Fast in the Debris.

New York, Oct. 26.—Ten lives were lost by the cave-in of the roof and walls of the subway tunnel at 195th street Saturday night and four persons were badly injured. All of the dead and injured were workmen and most of them Italians.

The accident was the most disastrous that has occurred in the construction of the subway. At the point where the cave-in occurred a gang of twenty men were at work in the tunnel, which is about 110 feet below the surface. Rufus Chant, general superintendent of the tunnel work, said that two converging seams had appeared in the roof of the tunnel during the day work on Saturday. The presence of these seams, however, was not believd to indicate any more dangerous character of the rock than had previously been encountered, although it was thought necessary to prop the roof with a number of upright timber braces. The tunnel was being bored by opening a perpendicular embrasure in the face of the bore and blasting the sides to the right and left of this embrasure. Three blasts were arranged by the drillers, the holes being charged well toward the roof. The drillers then withdrew and the three blasts were set off by electricity, loosening large quantities of earth and rock. The drillers say that about ten minutes elapsed to allow the smoke to clear away before Timothy Sullivan, the foreman, and Electrician Schuette advanced, the latter intending to string wires and hang electric lamps to light the way. They were followed by sixteen workmen. The vanguard of the gang had reached the broken stone when a rumbling sound was heard. It grew in volume with lightning-like rapidity. Those in the rear had just time to turn about and run when, with a deaftening crash, hundreds of tons of rock fell on the men at the face of the basing.

When the roar had ceased the

echoed through the tunnel. Two negroes, in charge of a tram car, which they were pushing along the track to be loaded with the blasted rock, rushed to the opening at 200th street and to the speedway livery stable, a block away, and there telephoned an alarm to police headquarters. Reserves were immediately ordered to the scene, while ambulances were sent from several hospitals.

The first victim found, an Italian laborer, was pinioned on a shelf of the excavation by one leg, a boulder of about ten tons in weight having fallen on the limb. He was hanging head down groaning in semi-consciousness. The rock which held him was restrained from falling further by a piece of stone insecurely wedged under it. An examination showed that an effort to move the boulder would cause the Italian to be completely crushed. The doctors then determined to amputate the pinioned leg, and this was done in the light of the ambulance lamp. The man, who was not identified, died later at a hospital.

The work of further rescue was delayed for some little time owing to the threatening position of this boulder. Meantime the cries and groans from under themass of stone wrought such excitement among the rescuers that they were prepared to undertake any danger to render assistance to the imprisoned injured. The cave-in released a natural spring in the earth above the tunnel and in a few moments a stream of water was gushing in and trickling about the feet of the workers and to some extent interfering with the work of rescue. The firemen cleared away the pieces of rock and managed to get near Juno Pasquale and Batasto Valantio, who were in the back and legs. Both men were taken to the hospital. As soon as the injured were removed, the big stone was blown up with powder and taken away piece by piece. Back of this rock was a 50-ton block which had dropped from the roof of the tunnel. In a crevice beneath it the bodies of two men, one lying across the other, were found. The upper man had been crushed to death, while the one underneath was alive, though his legs and body were bruised and crushed. It was an hour before he was extricated. The big stone was partly blasted away while it lay over him and a hydraulic jack then elevated the remaining portion of it sufficiently to permit of the man's removal. He was Juno Baski. He had been pinned under the body of his dead fellow workman for hours, part of the time conscious. Four feet beyond the place where Baski lay, the crushed form of Alphonse Armatello was discovered under a quantity of small rock and shale. He was quickly extricated and sent to hospital. Then were found the bodies of several unidentified Italians, some of them crushed beyond recognition.

Later the body of William Schuette, the electrician, was found. It lay within ten feet of the face of the tunnel, and he had been killed instantly. The most pathetic incident in connection with the accident was the finding of the body of Timothy Sullivan. It was wedged and jammed far beneath the stone and was not recovered until long after daylight.

The heads of themen, in most cases, were toward the exit, indicating that they had plunged to the north when the rush of stone was heard, in an effort to escape. Each body was removed only by the lifting of tons of rock. The last two bodies found were taken out at 10 Sunday morning. Rufus C. Hunt, superintendent, and Richard Beyers, general foreman for John McDonald, the contractor who is building the tunnel, were arrested as soon as they reached the scene of the disaster, but being experts in tunnel work and blasting, were permitted to direct the work of rescue. Later a magistrate remanded them to the coroner, who held them in $10,000 bail each. Coroner Jackson said he believed the accident was caused by criminal negligence. The seams which appeared Saturday are believed to have been about the [illegible] rock which fell directly in the center of the excavation. As soon as this boulder, acting as a keystone, was released the stones on both sides which had been crushed loose followed it. The fall of stone continued some minutes until all the dislodged pieces had fallen into the tunnel.

From men who worked in the tunnel it was learned that props had been used to hold up the roof. The heavy timbers, 12 by 12 inches, were crumbled like toothpicks beneath the tremendous weight of the cave-in.

INSANE MOTHER'S CRIME

Murders Her Children While Her Mind Was Deranged.

Monterey, Cal., Oct. 26.—While temporarily deranged, Mrs. Louis Iverson, wife of a machinist, murdered three of her children Sunday at Pacific Grove, at the dictation, she said later, of a supreme power. She first strangled her eldest daughter, Louisa, aged 12 years. She then attempted teh life of her eldest son, aged 11, but the boy broke away from her and took a train for his home in Salinas. She then strangled her son Harold, aged 6, and securing an ax, struck him a blow on the head. Later in the evening she killed her seven-months-old baby by strangling.

The murder of her children was related by Mrs. Iverson to Sheriff Nesbitt. She added that during the night she had walked about the house, lying down for a short time on the floor. She said she realized now that she had done wrong, but believed she was doing right at the time she committed the deed. She persisted, however, in stating that the children were not dead.

LIVES WERE IN PERIL

Naptha Launch In Heavy Seas Narrowly Escapes Wrecking.

St. Joseph, Mich., Oct. 26.—For many hours Sunday a party of six people in the small naptha launch Reynard drifted helplessly on Lake Michigan off this port, with heavy seas threatening to engulf their frail craft.

Late in the afternoon the schooner Forrester, driven from her course to seek shelter at this port, passed close enough to the disabled craft to learn its plight, and brought the news here. The lifesaving crew, in town of the tug Bonita, immediately hastened to their rescue, and brought the Reynard and her crew safe to port. Those on board were: C. R. Cory, South Haven; A. Usher, South Haven; W. B. Clark, Cleveland, O.; F. G. Warner, Cleveland, O.; J. S. Marshall and James Shaw, Owosso, Mich.

HARRY R. ANDREWS' TRIAL

Charged With Helping Loot a Detroit Savings Bank.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 26.—Frank C. Andrews, who with the collusion of Harry R. Andrews, wrecked the City Savings bank, has been in Jackson penitentiary more than a year, but Harry Andrews, who was cashier of the defunct bank, has never been brought to trial. It is now known, however, that his case will soon come up for trial in the recorder's court before Judge Alfred J. Murphy. The case is to be one of the first on the docket for the November term of court. Prosecutor Hunt declares that Andrews will stand charged with the same offense for which the chief operator, Frank C. Andrews, is now serving a 15-year term at Jackson prison.

That the case will be fought to a bitter finish is indicated by the array of legal talent secured to contest the points at issue. Byron S. Waite, ex-assistant prosecuting attorney, and Thomas E. Barkworth of Jackson will defend Harry Andrews, while Prosecuting Attorney Ormund F. Hunt will be assisted in the interests of the people by Seward L. Merriam, the ex-assistant prosecutor, who made such a brilliant record in the conviction of Frank C. Andrews about two years ago.

The technical charge to be preferred against the prisoner will be that of wilfully and fraudulently misusing the funds of the City Savings bank The trial will be watched with interest by hundreds of depositors.

On the morning of Feb. 10, 1902, the banking commissioner swooped down upon the City Savings bank and announced that it had been mercilessly looted of nearly two million dollars by several of those in authority. Harry R. Andrews, the cashier, was then taken into custody, but owing to a physical collapse he was released on bail. His friends have since succeeded in keeping him out of jail by depositing a $25,000 bond. His health is ruined and he is said to be a nervous wreck. It is due to this fact that the trial has not occurred before this late date.

Summer Hotel Burned.

AN AWFUL TRAGEDY

Indiana Farm Hand Murders His Children.

NARROWLY ESCAPED LYNCHING

Fiendish Deed Committed For Revenge on His Wife, Who Refused to See Him—Cowardly Man Reached Sheriff Before He Could Be Lynched.

Marion, Ind., Oct. 26.—Jesse McClure, a farmhand, murdered his two sons, aged 5 and 7 years, Sunday afternoon, leaving their bodies in a fence corner. While a mob was forming to capture and lynch him, McClure drove on a run to this city and gave himself up. He has been secreted by the authorities, who fear attempted violence.

McClure lived near Frankton and had separated from his wife a year ago, she refusing to live with him, and returning with her children to her father's home. At noon Sunday McClure hired a rig at Elwood and drove to the Kilgore farm, the owner being Mrs. McClure's father. He found the children playing in the front yard and induced them, with candy, to take a ride with him. He drove a mile up the road, carried the children to a fence corner and shot them with a revolver. The older one was found dead a few minutes later and the younger was dying, a piece of the candy being still in his mouth. McClure fled and was pursued by a crowd of young farmers, bent on deadly vengeance. The alarm was given, and from all surrounding towns pursuers started. McClure succeeded in reaching the jail in safety.

To the jail turnkey McClure admitted the murder of his two children and said he killed them because his wife had left him and refused to see him. He said:

"When she refused to see me, I decided to be revenged and drove down the road to a little clump of small trees. My two children were asleep in the buggy. When I stopped the jolt awoke my little boy, Dee. He looked up to me and said: 'Papa, what are you going to do?'

"I put my hand over his eyes and took my gun [illegible] him in the forehead, killing him instantly. The shot awoke little Homer, and I took him by the shoulder and fired a shot into his head. They both fell to the bottom of the buggy. I drove the horse to the side of the road and lifted both bodies out and laid them out on the withered grass. I then drove directly to Marion to the jail and am here to give myself up.

"The neighbors will lynch me when they find out what I have done. I do not care what you do with me. I am ready to die and expect to hang for this crime. All I ask is to see my dear little ones buried."

Late last evening it was learned that a mob was being formed to come to Marion and lynch McClure. Deputy Sheriff Williams then spirited the murderer away from the jail and started with him to Indianapolis.

Mysterious Crime.

New York, Oct. 26.—Guarded so closely that not even the police knew the case, Corona Ricardo, an actress, with a bullet wound an inch above her heart, lies critically ill at her home in this city. She was shot late Friday afternoon, and the examination made last night shows that the bullet must have been fired by a mysterious stranger, who had followed her home from the theater repeatedly, or that she was hit by a stray shot from a street brawl. All she knows, it was declared, was that she had approached an open window and was peering out through the dusk and rain, when, from one of the two men talking at a fence had come the flash of a pistol, followed by unconsciousness.

Short of Funds.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 26.—State Game Warden Chapman was in the city last week trying to arrange for some method of paying deputy game wardens for watching out for violations of the game laws, particularly in the Upper Peninsula, until such time as the money available from the deer licenses is received, there being at present no money in the fund for the payment of deputy wardens. The auditor-general states that the fund will not be replenished until January, and Game Warden Chapman says it is absolutely necessary that game be protected during the next two months. Deputies may be employed by the department if the officials feel that they can wait until January for their pay.

Government Employes Drowned.

Portland, Me., Oct. 26.—Three men from the United States transport Kilpatrick and a Portland man were drowned in the outer harbor Sunday night. The victims were a sergeant of one of the companies on board the ship, the captain's cabin boy, a ship's carpenter and Fred Staniford of this city. The names of the Kilpatrick's men could not be learned.

Barkeeper Ran Amuck.

New York, Oct. 26.—John B. Dorwegan, proprietor of a boarding house in Harlem, was fatally stabbed Sunday night by John Eaton a barkeeper, who formerly boarded with him and whom Dorwegan disposed a few days ago. Eaton called at the boarding house and abused the wife of Dorwegan. The woman called her husband for protection and Dorwegan ordered Eaton from the house. Instead of leaving, however, he plunged a knife into the landlord's side and also badly stabbed John Miller, a boarder, who tried to wrest the knife from him. Eaton escaped.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Oct 26, 1903.

The method employed by our State Department to obtain from Mexico the extradition of the alleged boodler, Charles Kratz, who is wanted for trial in St. Louis, involves and interesting point in international law and may establish an important precedent in extradition proceedings. About a year ago we signed an extradition treaty with Mexico which included for the first time the crime of bribery. When, however, we requested Kratz's arrest, the Mexican government was obliged to inform us that under its constitution the fact that the alleged crime was committed prior to the signing of the treaty, would make the prosecution retroactive and expost facto and consequently in violation of Mexican law. Although such a law does not hold in the United States with reference to extradition treaties, the State Department recognized that it was binding upon Mexico, and finally resorted to the very unusual proceeding of asking the Mexican government to surrender the man as an act of comity. Mexico has a law which allows fugatives to be surrendered upon such a call, even though the crime charged may not be extraditable under treaty; the only condition being that the government making the request shall grant any similar one made by Mexico. The State Department is willing to enter into such an agreement and Kratz will no doubt soon be returned to St. Louis. He is now held in Mexico under "provisional detention;" that is, he remains in prison awaiting orders from the Mexican government. It is believed that this method of obtaining Kratz was adopted at the suggestion of Circuit Attorney Folk, who is so determined that none of the St. Louis boodlers shall escape.

Opinion has been rendered by Attorney General Knox in the Lictauer glove case. He informed the Secratary of Wsr that as the contrct in which Congressman Littauer is said to have an interest, in violation of the federal law which forbids a member ofCongress being interested in any contract with the government, was properly executed, and the goods delivered, the government cannot bring action to recover the money and furthermore as the statutory period of limitaion has elapsed, no criminal prosecution is possible. In conclusion Mr. Knox said that, no useful purpcse would be subserved by the Department of Justice.

The presentation, by our minister to Santo Domingo, of an autograph letter from President Roosevelt to General Wos Gil, congratulating him upon his election as constitutional president of the republic, was made the occasion of conveying to this small country a veiled warning, together with the well wishes and assurances of protecting on the part of the United States. Minister Powell pointed out that Washington government did not seek to destroy the autonomy of Santo Domingo, and was even ready to guarantee its territoiial integrity, but at the same time it would not interfere to protect the republic against its lawful creditors. President Gil accepted the advice in the spirit in which it was given and assured Mr, Powell that Santo Domingo would act in accord with its powerful neighbor and intended to settle all differences amicably.

President Roosevelt has taken personal interest in the welfare of the Porto Rican coffee growers, and assures them not only that he uses their coffee on his own table, but that he will do what he can to bring about reciprocity treaties with European countries to have Porto Rican coffee entered there free of duty. At present France imposes a duty of 18 per cent and other countries tax it so high that it is practically excluded. Resolutions from the coffee growers asking the President's aid were presented by Charles Hartzell, Secretary of the Territory and Dr. Samuel M. Lindsay, Porto Rican commissioner of education. While waiting for the reciprocity treaties, the President has given the St. Louis World's Commission of Porto Rico a letter saying that he has tried Porto Rico coffee and uses no other. Perhaps this valuable "advertisement" will make the treaties unnecessary, as this country ought to be able to use all the coffee the Porto Ricans can grow.

Although public men here never had the slightest apprehension that we should loose our case before the Alaskan Boundary Commission, they hardly believe that we should win it. The Commission was composed of three Americans, two Canadians and one Englishman, and unless either side convinced at least one member of the other, there would be no decision and the question would remain to irritate the relations of this country with Great Britain. Lord Alyerstone, the British commissioner, became convinced of the validity of the greater part of our claim and thus a decision was rendered which gave the United States nearly all the territory in dispute. The refusal of the Canadian Commissioners to sign the award will have not the slightest effect upon the decision, which is final. The boundary line decided upon runs east of of all the bay inlets or other means of access to the sea, from the Portland canal northward to Mount St. Elias. The Portland Canal is given to Canada as are also the two largest of the four islands at its mouth. The two islands retained by the United States, Sitlian and Kannaghunut, are the farther outward and are of great strategic value, as they command the entrance to the canal, and also Port Simpson which is to be the terminus of the proposed transcontinental railroad. One of the most important questions in dispute was the ownership of the Lynn Canal which is the main entrance to the Klondike regions and at the head of which are situated the towns of Dyea and Skagway. This entire territory is given to the United States and Canada is thus shut off from the sea by a complete land barrier. The Canadians resent the award bitterly and do not hesitate to impugn the sincerity of Lord Alverstone and of the British government. They claim that Canada's interests have been sacrificed to a diplomatic expedient and that the mother country has demonstrated that she values the friendship of the United States above the good will of her first colony. It is interesting in this connection to recall that when the American commissioners were chosen the Canadians objected to them on the ground that they were not jurists of repute; yet the deciding vote against the Canadian claim was cast by the Lord Chief Justice of England, the one man in all England whose impartiality should be unquestioned.

IS NATION'S ANTHEM

"Star-Spangled Banner Selected by Order of Navy Department

RECALLS HISTORIC SEIGE

Officers and men on War Vessels must stand at attention when it is heard.

Eighty-nine years after the seige of Baltimore, when Francis Scott Key composed the "Star Spangled Banner," it is made the national anthem by order of the United States Navy Department. Within a day of the anniversary of the memorable storming of the city which furnished the inspiration for the song that has been heard around the world the government at last pays official tribute to Key's masterpiece.

The order has gone forth from the Navy Department at Washington. It directs that whenever the anthem is played all officers and men shall stand at attention unless they be engaged on duty which will not permit them to do so. It is required also that the same respect shall be observed toward the national air of any other country when played in the presence of official representatives of such country.

PUTS END TO CONFUSION.

By this order the United States navy is given an official anthem which will receive recognition in every port where the Stars and Stripes which Key saw "by the dawn's early light" may float. Hitherto the fleets of other nations have heard "America," the "Star Spangled banner" and "Dixie" without knowing which really was recognized by this country as its national anthem.

France had its "Marsellaise," England its "God Save the King," and Germany its "Wacht am Rhein," but the American sailor had no official anthem which he could sing and know he was voicing the words dearest to his countymen. Henceforth he may demand that proper respect be shown not only to the American flag itself, but also to it as described in Key's "Star Spangled Banner."

WRITTEN UNDER STRESS.

The "Star Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key on the night of Sept. 13, 1814, while he and his comrades on board the cartel ship Minden were watching the storming of Baltimore by Admiral Cockrane. Key had been sent with John S. Skinner of Baltimore to Admiral Cockrane to request the release of Dr. Beanes of Upper Marlboro, who had been captured at Washington. The British admiral consented to release Dr. Beanes, but would not let the Americans leave the harbor, as he intended to attack Baltimore, and did not want the information to reach the city ahead of him.

The Minden, on which Key and his friends were, was anchored within sight of Fort McHenry. From its decks the three friends watched the bombardment. It ceased before dawn, but it was impossible for the anxious Americans to see whether or not the fort had fallen. They awaited daylight with painful suspense. In the dim light of the morning they saw through their glasses the star-spangled banner yet waving in triumph over the fort, and soon learned of the defeat of the British. When the fleet was ready to sail Key and his friends were released and returned to Baltimore.

WRITES AS GUNS BOOM.

It was during the bombardment, while pacing the deck between midnight and dawn, that Key composed the popular song, the first stanza of which expressed the feeling of thousands of eye witnesses to the scene. The rude substance of the song was written on the back of a letter. On the night after his return to Baltimore Key wrote it out in full and read it to his uncle, Judge Nicholson, one of the defenders of the fort. The pleased judge had it printed by Captain Benjamin Edes. Samuel Sands set the type and distriouted the first copies. It was sung by Charles Durang at a restaurant next door to the Holiday street theater, Baltimore, to an assemblage of patriotic defenders of the city after that nightly in the theater and everywhere in public and private.

Since its publication it has been heard throughout the world. It has been played by American bands in three wars. Efforts have repeatedly been made to have the anthem nationalized, but for some reason they always were futile. This order from the Navy Department was the first official notice given to it.

WORDS OF THE SONG.

Oh, say, can you see by the dawn' early light
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming—
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there;
Oh, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On that shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breezes, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, now conceals, now discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines on the stream;
'Tis the star-spangled banner; oh, long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

And where are the foes that so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has washed out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge can save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight, or the gloom of the grave;
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave
O'er the home of the free and the home of the brave.

Oh, thus be it ever, when freeman shall stand
Between their loved home and the war's desolation!
Blest with victory and peace, may the Heaven-rescued land,
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation;
Then conquer we must, for our cause it is just;
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust";
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Opinions of the music to which the words were set differ, some musicians contending that another inspiration were required to make the music as majestic as the song.

"From a musicians standpoint the music is not bad," said Dr. Florence Ziegfeld, "but it seems inappropriate inasmuch as it orginally was an old English drinking song entitled "To Anacreon in Heaven." It is not so majestic as 'America' and yet appears hardly simple enough to become as familiar to the American people as the national anthem should be. One cannot help regretting that we have not a national anthem written by an American. Some day perhaps we may have the words set to music with which will be inspired by some great event as were the words. An offer for a national anthem was made in 1862 which brought thousands of songs, but none was good enough. I believe this offer was ahead of its time and that soon we will have the words set to music that will be as soul-stirring as Key's immortal words."

"I think the anthem compares favorably with the national airs of other countries," said Emil Liebling. "I do not think a better selection could have been made from hymns that are available. It is a representative air, not sectional, and is acceptable to the nation at large. It is simple in composition and I believe the majority of the people can whistle the tune. National airs cannot be written to order as we have learned in the past, and unfortunately the inspiration has been lacking to cause musicians to pen a masterpiece that would be a fit setting for Key's words. I think the Star-Spangled Banner has outgrown its origin and the objection that might have been urged to it at first would not be found potent now."

ROUND ABOUT US.

Leroy Meade was shot through the hand at Sauk Creek last Monday. He was loading a revolver for the purpose of shooting a cat when the gun was accidentally discharged. The cat still enjoys good health.—Hudson Post.

Carrie Nation's play is to be called 'War on Drink." It will be a melodrama in four acts, three of which are already completed. Mrs. Nation has the role of the "Home Defender." In the second act there is a scene resembling one in "Drink," and it is in this act that Mrs. Nation begins her saloon crusade. The play ends with her complete triumph and that of prohibition in Kansas.—Adrian Times.

The U. of M. continues in hard luck. After Dr. Taft's death within twenty-four hours came Prof. Green, who died Friday of paralysis of the heart. He was second oldest of the professors and stood at the head of the mechanical and engineering apartments. Next came Prof. George Hempl, who lost an eye in a game of golf, Saturday. Thus two professors are dead and another seriously injured within four days time.—Saline Observer.

Fred Zimmerman of Union City, has an industrious flock of hens that have dug his entire crop of potatoes for him this fall. While their enterprise is commendable, there is one drawback. They have not only dug the tubers, but they have conscientiously eaten them as fast as dug. It is a queer freak on the part of the fowls. They are given plenty of grain, but appear to prefer potatoes as a diet, in spite of the fact that they have to work hard to secure them.—Kalamazoo Telegram.

The following story was brought to town by a traveling man: A preacher at the conclusion of one of his sermons said: "Let all in the house who are paying their debts stand up." Instantly every man, woman and child, with one exception rose to their feet. The preacher seated them and said: "Now every man not paying his debts stand up." The exception noted a care-worn, hungry-looking individual, clothed in his last summer's suit, slowly assumed a perpendicular position, "How is it, my friend," asked the minister, "that you are the only man not able to meet his obligations?" "I run a newspaper," he meekly answered, "and the brethern here who just stood up are my subscribers, and—" "Let us pray," exclaimed the minister.—Deerfield Times Journal.

"Little Freddie, aged four, was visiting his grandpa, who always asked a blessing at the table. They were walking together through the schoolhouse yard the other evening and she was looking up at him as sweet as a quart of sorghum molasses. "I would kiss you if I dared." he said. A party of ladies and gentlemen riding in from Sand Lake a few evenings ago were held up along the road. Something was seen to jump out from the bushes and run across the buggey track A wheel struck it and there is where the trouble came in. Why? Because it was not a masked robber, but just a common skunk. A rubber-tired surrey and a harness have been noticed airing out in front of the Gibson barn on North Winter street for some days, and several clothes lines have been filled with outer garments, in various places about the city. —Telegram.

A Chicago man has observed that "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. Mr. Howard has a mother, two sisters and a brother, all of whom reside in Morenci. His fellow workmen speak of him in highest terms. He gives no reason for shooting himself. Dr. Seager, who dressed the wound, gives some hopes of his recovery.

Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by C. A. Wright. W. T. Lawrence.

W. T. Lawrence, the well-known retired hotel proprietor of Adrian, passed away very suddenly at an early hour Sunday morning at his beautiful home, Lawrence Villa, just south of the city. He had not been feeling well for some time, but was down town yesterday as usual and his demise was unexpected. For years he conducted the hotel bearing his name and he is well known all over the state as a successful man in that line of work. He retired a few years ago and has since been enjoying the quiet of home life.

Willis T. Lawrence was born in West Bloomfield, N. Y., October 12, 1819, and had lived in Adrian since 1863, when he purchased what was then known as the Brackett house. He had been twice married and the second wife, Marion Wadsworth, whom he married May 25, 1847, together with one daughter, Mrs. Marion Sela Whitney, wife of D. A. Whitney, proprietor of the Lenawee hotel of Adrian, survives Mr. Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence was very well-to-do, though most of his wealth is tied up in extensive real estate holdings.

Funeral will be conducted from the home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock under the auspices of the Knight Templars. His daughter is away from home and will be unable to get home for the funeral. The remains will be placed in the vault at Oakwood, until Mrs. Whitney returns, when they will be taken to Rochester, N. Y., for burial.

First County Convention

IN MICHIGAN.

Report of Proceedings at Tecumseh Oct. 25 and 26.

The first county convention in Michigan was a decided success. All day Sunday the people of Tecumseh and vicinity filled the churches eager to learn more of this important work. At nine o'clock a short devotional service was held preparatory for the afternoon men's meeting. Convention speakers occupied, the various pulpits as follows: M. E. church, C. H. Haas, Ann Arbor; Presbyterian, H. G. VanTuyl, member of State Committee, Detroit; L. E. Buell, State Secretary, AnnArbor; and K. A. Shumaker, State Secretary of County work in Illinois, Chicago; Baptist, Robert Weidensall, International Secretary, Chicago; Friends, F. A. Garrison, Assistant State Secretary, Grand Rapids.

At 3:30 200 men gathered at the armory to participate in the inspiring song service and listen to the simple truth so ably presented by Mr. Shumaker. At the same hour 50 boys under 16 years of age met at the Methodist church to hear short talks from C. L. Rowe, ex-captain of Hillsdale College foot ball team and State Student Secretary Hurrey. While these meetings were in session about 250 women attended a meeting at the Baptist church addressed by Mr. Weidensall.

The meetings of the Young People's societies were lead by visiting speakers. At 7 o'clock the Presbyterian church was well filled and all were edified and inspired by the earnest addresses of Messrs. VanTuyl, Weidensall, Shumaker and Haas, State Secretary Buell presiding.

Monday morning the convention proper opened. After devotional service conducted by Rev. W. F. Jones, the convention elected E. B. Rorick, Morenci, President; and E. C. Richardson, Palmyra, Secretary.

Mr. Buell then spoke of the reasons why Lenawee county was the first in Michigan to undertake this work, showing how through a succession of events the way had opened for the convention to assemble at Tecumseh. This was followed by an exceptionally strong presentation of the topic, "The Church's need of trained Laymen," by Rev. H. C. Colvin of Clinton.

The following committees were then appointed:

Organization—H. C. Colvin, chairman; B. Hurrey, Edward Mott, Mr. Griffith, Medina.

Credentials—E. C. Richardson, Palmyra, chairman; Mr. Teachout, Onsted; T. A. Lowry.

Resolutions—L. W. Stephenson, Onsted, chairman; Geo. Westerman, Adrian; Mr. Grandon.

The practical question, "How to organize work for young men in Lenawee county," was next presented by Mr. Weidensall, who spoke with convincing power out of a rich experience.

The last topic of the morning, "The Place and Value of young men in a community," was presented by Dr. Frost, who emphasized the importance of pushing young men to the front. Mr. Edward Mott followed with some forceful statements saying that for the sake of our homes, our business and our community this work should be supported by every business man. Mr. Buell then presented some statistics which showed the small per cent of men in our churches and the crying need of purity among men.

The convention adjourned for dinner.

At 2 o'clock the convention was called to order by President Rorick. Rev. Bower conducted the devotions, after which Mr. Geo. Fleming, General Secretary of the Coldwater Association, gave some valuable information regarding the conducting of large meetings for men. Geo. Westerman, General Secretary of Adrian Association, then told of the things that can be done in the social, physical and educational work for young men.

The important theme, "Boys' Clubs," was discussed by F. A. Garrison, who opened the eyes of many concerning this work. Mr. Weidensall then emphasized the fundamental importance of bible study and personal work, saying that the proper spirit is of far greater consequence than numbers at the beginning of this enterprise.

A technical presentation was made by Mr. Shumaker explaining the relation of county secretary and county committee.

The committee on organization then reported as follows:

1. That Lenawee county be organized for the prosecution of the county work of the Young Men's Christian Association as suggested by the State and International committees. For this purpose we recommend the adoption of the rules etc. suggested in the international pamphlet on "The County Work" with such minor changes as the county committee may find necessary to adopt it to local conditions.

2. That Tecumseh be selected as the place for the headquarters of the county committee.

3. That a county committee of twenty-one be selected, among whom shall be the following: Dr. W. A. Frost, C. A. Slayton, Dr. L. G. North, J. N. Satterthwaite, F. J. Temple, S. W. Anderson and Edward Mott of Tecumseh; W. S. Kimball of Clinton; E. B. Rorick and J. M. Triggs of Morenci; G. J. Perkins and Oren Howes of Hudson; Chas. Foote of Ridgeway; L. W. Stephenson of Onsted; and Edward Rawson of Rollin.

That the state committee be asked to co-operate with the county committee in the immediate raising of at least $1200 for the expense budget for the first year.

Mr. Buell offered prayer.

The banquet was well attended and James Schermerhorn of Detroit, demonstrated his right to be counted one of the best toastmasters in the state. The following was the order of toasts:

1. The Proposition—Robert Weidensall.
2. The importance of our undertaking from the pastor's standpoint—Rev. E. Sedweek.
3. An investment, business man's view—Geo. Bennett, Adrian.
4. Why do this thing in Lenawee county?—K. A. Shumaker.

At eight o'clock the people gathered at the Presbyterian church to listen to the Hon. T. A. Barkworth of Jackson. The subject of the address was "The Country Boy's Chance" and the speaker held the closest attention of the audience for an hour as he told in simple, but beautiful language his experience as a country boy in England and urged young men to invest their time and money in things that are durable.

At the conclusion of this excellent address, Mr. Weidensall spoke a few farewell words, Rev. Jones offered prayer and President Rorick declared the first county convention of Y. M. C. A. in Lenawee county adjourned, sine die.

The "Brownies in the Philippines" and "Buster Brown," funny features, have always been popular. Taken as a whole, the colored supplement of the Detroit Free Press has no equal. The Sunday Detroit Free Press is the greatest newspaper published in Michigan and should be taken in every home. Order it for next Sunday. If you give it a trial you will always want it.

MARRIED MONDAY

At the home of the bride's uncle I. P. Keyser. A large number of relatives and friends witness the ceremony.

A very pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Keyser last evening when their neice, Adah J. Erskine, became the wife of Myron Hughes. They received their guests at the door and at the proper time took their places beneath a canopy of autumn leaves. Rev. W. F. Jones pronounced the words which made them man and wife. Mrs. John Murphy played during the ceremony. The house was tastefully decorated throughout, the dining room in oak leaves and smilax and the other rooms in maple leaves.

The bride wore, with becoming grace, a handsome dress of white Swiss mull trimmed with cluny lace, and carried bride's roses. Her travelling dress was brown zibeline trimmed with brown silk.

After congratulations, the guests were invited to the dining room, where a supper was served by Misses Floy Freeman, Lena Smith, Lotie and Grace Erskine and Wade Jones, each of whom Mrs. Hughes presented with a silver souvenir. Mrs. Mary Cook catered. They received many beautiful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes left on the 6:50 train for Chicago where they will spend a week, after which they will be at home in the Hughes residence on Maiden Lane.

The bride and groom are both well and favorably known to Tecumseh people, having spent their entire lives in this village. Mr. Hughes has secured for his life partner a most charming lady, modest, dignified and womanly, with a grace of manner and kindliness of disposition that have won for her a large circle of friends. The groom is in the employ of the Lake Shore, as assistant freight agent and is well liked by every one.

Those present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Pond, Harry Pond, wife and daughter, and Miss Ella Belmey of Jackson; Miss Rice, of Adrian; Mr. and Mrs. Mangus, son and daughter of Milan; Mr. and Mrs. Hamm, Napoleon; Roy Hughes of Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Josenhans of Blissfield.

Beautiful Thoughts

The sweet, pure breath of the babe is suggestive of innocence and health.

A mother's yearning for children is inseparable from a love of the beautiful, and it behooves every woman to bring the sweetest and best influence to bear on the subject of her maternity.

To relieve pain and make easy that period when life is born again, is popularly used. It is a liniment easily administered and for external use only.

Mother's Friend

Pregnant women should try this remedy, it being undeniably a friend to her during nature's term of suspense and anticipation.

Mother's Friend, if used throughout gestation, will soften the breasts, thereby preventing cracked and sore nipples. All muscles straining with the burden will relax, become supple and elastic from its continued application.

All fibres in the abdominal region will respond readily to the expanding cover containing the embryo if Mother's Friend is applied externally during pregnancy. Of all reliable druggists $1.00 per bottle. Write for free book on "Motherhood."

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Tecumseh people fail to realize the seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back,
The weariness, the tired feeling,
The pains and aches of kidney ills
Are serious—if neglected.
Dangerous urinary troubles follow.

A Tecumseh citizen shows you how to avoid them.

Mr. F. A. Ferguson, tinsmith, residing in the north western section of Tecumseh, says: "I had symptoms of kidney trouble. The kidney secretions were very irregular and at times too frequent and highly colored. Having seen so many cases of severe kidney trouble I thought it wise to do something at once, so I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at C. A. Wright's drug store and took them. I began to improve from the very start and continued to do so. I emphatically declare Doan's Kidney Pills to be up to the representations made for them."

Michigan is Liberal In Educating Her Children.

VERY INTERESTING REPORT

The Superintendent of Public Instruction Shows What Is Being Done With the People's Money to Educate the People's Children.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 26.—The report of Superintendent of Public Instruction Fall, which has just come from the state printer, shows that Michigan has a school population of 738,182, with an enrollment in the public schools of 513,668, being an increase of 3,637 over last year.

There are in the state 7,204 districts, 8,104 school houses. The total number of teachers employed last year was 16,252, and the total wages paid to them was $4,997,758 69. The average monthly wage of male teachers in ungraded schools was $49 45, and in graded schools $84 76; for female teachers in ungraded schools $26 99, and in graded schools $45 94. This is an increase for male teachers in graded schools of $10 82 and a decrease in ungraded schools of $1 67, and for female teachers in ungraded schools of $1 03 and in graded schools 95 cents.

The report shows that the money for the support of the public school system of the state was derived from the following sources:

Balance carried over from the preceding year, $1,844,362 34; primary school interest fund distributed, $1,792,243 92; one mill tax, $928,541 43; from district tax, $5,060,058 18; nonresident utition, $92,792 11; library moneys, $135,992 22; loans, $1,061,316 61; all other sources, $456,946 15; total receipts, $11,372,252 96. Of this amount $2,165,146 60 remained unexpended at the close of the year, making the actual expenses for rural and graded schools for the year $9,207,106 36. This sum of money represents an expenditure of $11 11 per capita for the total school population of the state, or $17 92 per pupil enrolled.

To this should be added the money expended by the state for the support of higher educational institutions and for special education, which for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, is as follows:

U. of ....M..................	$450,006 32
State Normal college......	102,129 54
Central Normal school....	80,000 00
Northern Normal school...	62,630 00
Mich. Agricultural college.	129,000 00
College of Mines...........	91,300 03
Total	$915,065 89
School for the Blind.......	$ 42,070 17
Ind. School for Boys.......	103,450 00
Ind. School for Girls......	85,925 00
School for the Deaf........	115,428 80
State Public school........	61,591 63
Total	$408,465 60

The sums expended for these educational institutions, added to the sum expended for the public schools, gives a grand total of $10,266,827 76 spent for educational purposes in Michigan during the year 1902. Of course, in this vast sum is included the amount expended for the erection of buildings and the care of the same. To show that the people intend to continue this line of work, the reports from the school districts state that 133 new school houses are to be erected during the year 1903, at an estimated cost of $544,063 76.

Dowie's Quiet Day.

New York, Oct. 26.—Sunday was the most quiet one that Dowie and his host have passed since their invasion of New York. Three services were held, in the morning, afternoon and evening, at the two latter of which the garden was fairly well filled. The proceedings were marked by the absence of any attempt at disturbance. The afternoon sermon presented no novel features, being devoted to Dowie's denunciations of Masonry and Roman Catholicism.

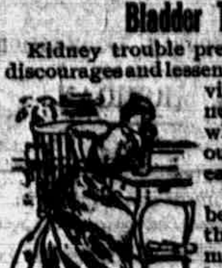
Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.



Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed". For sale by all druggists.

Wrecked in a Gale.

Highland Light, Mass., Oct. 26.—During the strength of the northeast gale Saturday night, the fishing schooner Dawson City, Captain Dennis O'Neil, bound from Gloucester on a fishing voyage, mistook her bearings and went ashore on the outer line of breakers off Race oint. Captain Fisher and his crew of lifesavers succeeded in landing nine of the crew of eighteen in the lifesaving boat, but in an attempt to board the vessel the second time for the rest of her crew, the boat was swamped. Captain Fisher was knocked overboard, but was rescued, and the steering gear was carried away. Fortunately, theapparatus of the humane society was near at hand and the others of the schooner's crew were brought ashore by means of the breeches buoy. Four men who left the schooner in one of the vessel's dories early in the night succeeded in making a landing at Providencetown, after considerable hardship. The Dawson City has been driven well up on the beach. This morning tugs tried to float her, but were unsuccessful.

Try for Health

222 South Peoria St.,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Conviction of Salsbury Confirmed By Supreme Court.

OPINION IS UNANIMOUS

Upholds Lower Court In Every Particular—He Will Be Sentenced Upon His Release From Detroit House of Correction.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 28.—In a unanimous opinion, written by Chief Justice Hooker, the supreme court has affirmed the conviction of Lant K. Salsbury, the former city attorney of Grand Rapids, who was convicted of receiving a bribe, and who will next week complete a sentence of two years in the Detroit house of correction, under a sentence imposed by the federal court on his plea of guilty of a charge growing out of his connection with the Grand Rapids water deal.

The opinion is very long, covering twenty-five typewritten pages. The questions discussed by the court are as follows: The validity of the indictment; the effect of the proceedings relating to the alleged attempt to bribe a witness during the trial; failure to prove the charge; error alleged upon the charge; questions arising upon rulings relating to the introduction of evidence, and the remarks of counsel.

Numerous questions as to the validity of the indictment were raised and all were thoroughly discussed, the court concluding that the indictment was valid.

Investigation Made.

It will be recalled that during the progress of the trial the prosecuting attorney declared that he had evidence in his possession of an attempt to bribe a witness for the people with a view to falsifying his testimony, or suppressing it altogether. Against the protest of the defense an investigation was entered upon, the trial being temporarily suspended.

The question which the supreme court considered in connection with this investigation was whether the course taken was improper in that the rights of Salsbury were not sufficiently guarded, whereby he suffered injury. The court says in effect that the court acted properly, and that doubtless the court would have made the order to confine the jury earlier had counsel asked it, and he had considered it necessary.

The charge of the court is declared to be full and clear, and to have carefully guarded the rights of defendant

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 28.—The decision of the supreme court, affirming the conviction of former City Attorney Lant K. Salsbury for bribery, caused no great surprise here, but is giving rise to much speculation as to what Salsbury will do.

He is now serving a two-year sentence in the Detroit house of correction for being a party to issue of a fraudulent certificate of deposit. His term will expire next Thursday and immediately upon his return here a motion will be made for his sentence.

The question now is whether he will make a clean breast of the whole crooked deal, giving the names of all who had a hand in it and the part that each played, or face the music for sentence under his conviction. It is believed if he would confess and appear in court against the others the court would deal leniently with him.

Church Against Unions.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 28.—The general conference of the Wesleyan Methodist Church of America, in session here, passed resolutions Tuesday stating that the church was not in favor of labor unions because they were secret societies. The resolutions also state that the church is against the use of the boycott and the calling out of men by unions when they are working on contract. The church took a more definite stand on the matter of admission of the negro to the church by reaffirming the old discipline, saying that he shall not be barred from membership, and adding a note to the effect that this shall not be construed to mean social equality. The action was taken at the request of Rev. Eber Teter, president of the conference, and its missionary secretary.

Hon. Arthur M. Clark Dead.

Lexington, Mich., Oct. 28.—Hon. Arthur M. Clark, past grand master of the grand lodge of Michigan, F. & A. M., and for twenty-five years grand lecturer of the same body, passed away Tuesday morning. Mr. Clark was born Aug. 4, 1833, in Landaff, Grafton county, New Hampshire. He came to Lexington in 1854. He was one of the regents of the University of Michigan, being elected in 1883 by 8,000 majority on the Democratic ticket. He was United States consul to Sarnia during the second administration of President Cleveland.

Grange In Session.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 28.—The executive committee of the State Grange is holding a session preliminary to the annual meeting of the state body some six weeks hence. Master Horton said that one of the actions of the State Grange at its coming meeting would be to take a strong stand in favor of a primary election law to apply to the entire state, the grange being a pioneer in this reform.

Love is Never Old.

Caro, Mich., Oct. 29.—George Hoagland, aged 75, of Cass City, and Mrs. Olive Dayton, aged 74, of Caro, were married at the home of the bride, one mile north of this place. Mr. Hoagland has been married once and his wife twice before.

DIAZ WAS SHOT AT

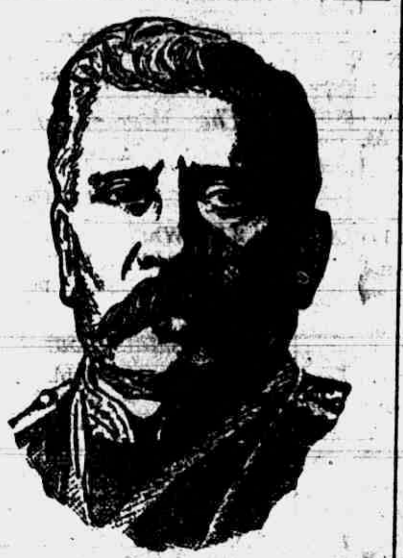
Attempt Made to Assassinate Mexico's President.

FIVE TIMES FIRED UPON

Was Attending Festivities in Town of Guhaljamo—Assailed by Man With Criminal Record—Second Attempt Made Upon His Life.

Gunaljamo, Mexico, Oct. 28.—Great excitement was caused here Tuesday by an attempt on the life of President Diaz, who was a guest of the state government during the festivities here. The president, his staff and guests were passing by the Cantagor Garden in a street car when a man of the lower class named Ellis Toscano approached the car shouting, and fired five shots from a revolver at the car. None of the shots took effect.

Paklo Escandon of the president's staff rushed out of the car and caught the man, wrenching the revolver from his grasp. The police took Toscano to prison. He is a man with a bad criminal record and was but recently released from prison at Greanditas, where he had served a term for homicide. The matter will be investigated.



PRESIDENT DIAS OF MEXICO.

The president remained perfectly cool and was acclaimed by the crowd of citizens, who showed their joy at his escape.

An attempt was made on the life of President Diaz on the 16th of December, 1897. He attended on that date the public celebrations in the City of Mexico of the anniversary of Mexican independence. During the festivities a man rushed toward him and evading all efforts made to check his progress, reached the president's side and attempted to kill him. Great excitement prevailed, but it was soon seen that the efforts of the murderer had been futile. President Diaz was not hurt. The assassin was at once arrested and thrown into prison. This attempted murder created much excitement and subsequently the assassin was dragged from prison by a mob and lynched.

KILLED ON HIS DOORSTEP.

Leader of Armenian Revolutionists In London Is Shot Down.

London, Oct. 28.—Sagatel Sagouni, president of the American revolutionary society, was murdered at the doorstep of his lodgings in Nunhead, an unpretentious little suburb of London, Monday evening.

The murder presumably was committed by a fellow Armenian recently from the United States. The assassination had a political move and was characterized by a boldness to which London has seldom been treated. It created an unusual sensation here, since it appears to have been only an incident in a long and bitter vandetta between factions of Armenian revolutionists.

The attempted murder of Kuregian in Boston, the recent killing in Switzerland and the assassination of the most prominent Armenian in London are so far achievements credited to the Armenian radicals here. It is said that two members of the opposition party have already been killed in Russia, though the London Armenian revolutionary committee denies both knowledge of and responsibility for the crime. It is generally expected that Sagouni's death is only the prelude to other chapters in the story of a bitter feud.

The murderer, who has not yet been apprehended, left in the hands of the police two clues—a soft felt hat bearing the name of an American clothing firm, and an automatic pistol of a recent American make.

President's Birthday.

Washington, Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt Tuesday celebrated the forty-fifth anniversary of his birth. Many beautiful and touching reminders of the event came to him from every part of the country. Hundreds of telegrams and letters of congratulation were received. When the members of the cabinet assembled for the usual semi-weekly meeting they joined in extending cordial congratulations to the president. The cabinet room and the president's private office were filled with exquisite floral offerings.

Has Alice a Beau?

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Alice Roosevelt had an unexpected caller yesterday at the north shore home of Mrs. Preston Gibson. The unexpected caller was John C. Greenway, former lieutenant in the rough rider regiment that brought fame to its leaders in the Spanish-American war. "Why, I came to eet my father, don't y' know," he said, while blushes danced from his chin to his hair. "Have you called on Miss Roosevelt?" was asked. "No—that is to say, yes. I called on her, of course. Why shouldn't I? We have been good friends for years." Miss Roosevelt declined to say anything.

VIGOROUS KICKING

Spreading of Taxes Causing No End of Trouble.

TRICK TURNED IN DETROIT

City Supervisors Got the Start of Country Coworkers—Assessing and Equalizing in Lenawee Are Separate Functions.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 29.—The battle of the taxes is over and the townships lie prone on the gory field with the knife broken off at the hilt. The city members of the board of county supervisors put the country fellows to the bad and the manner of the doing is more than interesting. By sopping the powerful inside townships with a reduction in their assessed valuations to the amount of $5,000,000, a vote of 34 to 16 was gained for the report of the equalization committee, equalizing the state and county taxes between city and country at a ratio of 75 to 25.

The board yesterday established these finalities:

The inside ring of townships were relieved of slices of their assessed valuations to the amount of $5,000,000.

A horizontal cut of 15 per cent was made on the tax commission's aggregate valuation of county property at $345,744,987, leaving the officially recognized valuation of Wayne county $302,386,944.

A tax levy of $343,730 for county purposes was ordered spread. This, with the state tax of $753,373, makes a total state and county levy of $1,097,003.

Detroit is called upon to pay 75 per cent of the state and county tax, the other 25 per cent coming from the country districts.

Adrian, Mich., Oct. 29.—Application was made Wednesday in the Lenawee circuit court by B. J. Garlinhouse for a writ of mandamus to compel the board of supervisors to equalize assessing districts and apportion state and county tax upon the assessed values as fixed by the tax commissioners.

Prosecuting Attorney Joslyn and ex Senator Helme gave the answer of the board of supervisors and Judge Harry Lockwood of the Monroe circuit dismissed the petition, holding that the board of supervisors has authority to equalize, that the functions of assessing and equalizing are separate and distinct, that the assessing powers of the tax commission do not conflict with the equalizing functions of the board of supervisors and that the latter's powers are not abridged or modified.

Flint, Mich., Oct. 29.—The board of supervisors Wednesday morning equalized the real estate in the county at $19,632,426, making the value of real and personal property $26,188,814. All towns were given a deduction of from 6 to 8 per cent on the assessed valuation of the real estate, but the city's assessment stands as made. The city supervisors charged conspiracy and tried to have the city reduced, but by a vote of 18 to 6 they were turned down. Legal action may be taken if possible, as threatened by one of the city representatives.

Sold Cloverseed and Eloped.

Niles, Mich., Oct. 29.—George Feltz a wealthy farmer, is searching for Charles Miller, a neighbor's son, aged 22, who eloped with Feltz's 15-year-old daughter, to whom he has been paying clandestine attentions for some time. With a view to providing for his future household, young Miller is said to have stolen about $40 worth of cloverseed, which he marketed in the absence of his father, and Tuesday night the young Lothario hitched a horse to a buggy and, meeting his juvenile lady love at a place previously agreed upon, sped away by the light of the moon.

Will Sell College Lands.

Agricultural College, Mich., Oct. 29—Among other items recently attended to by the state board of agriculture was the appointment of a committee to arrange a plan for the disposal of certain college lands in Oscoda county.

The lands comprise about 3,000 acres and were originally set aside as a forestry reserve, but they consist of relatively small tracts in two townships and are so intermingled with private holdings that their value for forestry purposes has decreased, so that it is now deemed advisable to dispose of them.

Joins Dowie's Band.

Flint, Mich., Oct. 29.—Mrs. M. E. Stockwell, who owns and operates an extensive fruit farm near Frankfort, and who is the divorced wife of Joseph W. Stockwell, formerly court stenographer here, and now serving eight years as a result of his blackmailing schemes, has disposed of her land interests and joined the Dowieites in Zion City, Ill.

Federal Charge Awaits Him.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 28.—G. W. Rollins was sentenced Tuesday morning to fifty-five days in the county jail after being allowed to plead to the charge of assault and battery in Justice Batdorf's court. He is accused of trying to shoot his wife. When his term is ended he will probably be held for the United States authorities on the charge of desertion, and prossibly the more serious one of shooting an army officer during an engagement. Rollins was a soldier in the Philippines and is alleged to have told his wife that he had done the shooting just before his desertion.

CITY UNDER GUARD

Bilbao, Spain, Protected By Five Thousand Troops.

FIGHTING IN THE STREETS

Strike Is Assuming Proportions of Social Revolution—Cavalry Charged Rioters and Many Killed—Reign of Terror.

Bilbao, Spain, Oct. 29.—During a fight which took place in the streets with troops Wednesday afternoon five strikers were killed and a large number were wounded.

The troops are guarding the banks and public buildings, and are occupying strategic positions throughout the city, in order to prevent the massing of strikers.

Madrid, Oct. 29.—General Velasco, the military commandant at Bilbao, telegraphs the government that at daybreak Wednesday morning the garrison occupied all strategic positions with the view of protecting the banks, public buildings, factories and markets, and especially the Jesuit and other religious houses, which the rioters seem determined to attack.

General Velasco reports that cavalry repeatedly charged the rioters in the old part of the city. Some of the rioters were killed and many wounded. Revolvers and stones and other missiles, General Valasco adds, were used by the rioters in their struggle with the soldiers. The principal railways are under the protection of the troops. Trains continue to run, though with extreme caution. All other traffic in and outside Bilbao has been stopped.

It is believed here that the movement in and around Bilbao is assuming the proportions of a social revolution, long planned by socialists and anarchists, as was done in Barcelona two years ago. Premier Villaverdo has determined to establish order at any cost.

Newspaper reports of the disorder in Bilbao represent the strikers as having established a reign of terror. In the morning they attacked and pillaged market stalls and shops and gorged themselves with food and drink. After destroying what they were unable to consume they proceeded to erect barricades in the streets. As there were only 5,000 troops in Bilbao reinforcements were urgently summoned. The infantry charged a number of the barricades; the strikers defended them with reckless courage, and desperate fighting ensued. Five rioters were killed and many were wounded.

According to the latest accounts received here, the rioters have again started to pillage shops and are endeavoring to raise new barricades. Some fears are entertained that the rioters will unite in force and attack the troops before reinforcements arrive.

All work in Bilbao is at a standstill and the government has prohibited telephonic communication with the city.

Detroit Means to Investigate.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 28.—The great number of deaths and serious accidents caused by the excessive speed with which electric cars and automobiles traverse the streets of the city are at last bringing the city officials to a realization of what is taking place. So thoroughly alarmed have they become that the common council has appointed a committee to at once begin a careful investigation into the methods of the city and suburban railroads in the handling of its great horde of patrons; the reasons for retaining such a high speed and as to how the service compares with that of other cities. An ordinance restricting the speed of autos in downtown districts to six miles an hour has also been passed by the council.

Four Trainmen Killed In Wreck.

Charlotte, Mich., Oct. 29.—Four men were killed and two hurt Wednesday when a freight train on the Southern railroad ran into a new switch near Bessemer City, N. C. Those killed were Engineer T. J. Pettus of Charlotte, Marion McComb of Gastonia, and J. B. Higgins and John Thompson, negro fireman.

Engine Cut Him In Two.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 28.—Nicholas J. Powers, a switchman of the Pere Marquette, fell from the footboard of a switcher and was cut in two by the engine passing over him. No one saw the accident, which occurred while shunting box cars in the south yard. He was 42 years old and leaves a widow and two sons.

To Guard on the Lakes.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—A Washington special to the Record-Herald says: A formidable fleet of revenue cutters is to be maintained upon the great lakes. Not long ago the old Michigan was the only government vessel upon those waters. Now, however, the United States has the Tuscarora, the Morrill and the Dallas upon the lakes, and to this fleet will soon be added the Mackinaw.

Into Receiver's Hands.

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 29.—The Hecla Belt Line Railroad company has been turned over to the Detroit Trust company as receiver for the Hecla Cement & Coal Co. The stock was practically owned by the cement company. The road was bonded for $200,000 to the trust company, the Hecla company guaranteeing them.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. WHO KILLED HER?

Murder of Mabel Bechtel Still Surrounded With Mystery.

HER LOVERS ARE ARRESTED

Indications Point to Family Row, In Which One Lover Was Implicated—Police Give Little Credit to Mother's Stories.

Allentown, Pa., Oct. 29.—With David Weisenberg, under $500 bail, supplied by Congressman Kline, and with Thomas Bechtel, her brother, and Alfred Eckstein, her accredited lover, locked up in a police station cell, the Allentown police are resting in their work on the Mabel H. Bechtel murder case of Monday morning until Coroner Scheirer's jury meets this evening.

The mystery is still practically unsolved except that indications point to a family row, in which Eckstein may have figured, as he admits he was at Miss Bechtel's home on Monday evening for an hour and a half.

In the front room of the house the police yesterday, on thorough search found blood stains on the carpet and on the wall paper, and it looked as if vigorous efforts had been made to wipe them out. There were no blood stains in Thomas' room. His bloody overalls were found in a neighbor's yard. He acknowledges that they are his. In a closet in the third story was found part of a hatchet such as slaters use, slate roofing being his trade. The blade and a small part of the handle were found there with marks on the blade, which Coroner Scheirer says are blood stains. The rest of the handle was found in a drawer some distance away. The break in the handle looks new and fresh. A bloody apron was also found in the house.

Wedding Was Postponed.

Eckstein was Miss Bechtel's accepted lover, though she also received attentions from Weisenberg. Eckstein and the girl were to have been married Nov. 22, but the date was recently postponed until Christmas. They had frequent quarrels over Weisenberg's attentions, Eckstein being jealous of him. He had expressed threats to several persons that he would kill both.

The police do not credit Mrs. Bechtel's story that she saw a team drive up to the rear of the house at 1 a. m. Tuesday and that two men carried a dark object into an adjoining yard, nor her story that the girl left for a drive with Weisenberg Monday morning. They incline to the belief that the girl was not away from home on Monday; that a family row occurred over the girl's supposed duplicity to Eckstein and her attachment for Weisenberg; that the blow was struck in anger, which may have been more severe than was intended, and the girl's murder was thus accomplished and the body disposed of as found, the story being concocted as related by the mother. Who struck the fatal blow or blows is only conjecture and may develop at the inquest this evening.

The murder of Mabel H. Bechtel took place some time Monday night, the young woman being found slain in the subway alley adjoining her parents' home, 627 Cedar street, early Tuesday morning.

The murder is strikingly similar to the Bosscheiter tragedy in Paterson N. J., two years ago. Mabel H. Bechtel was 21 years old, pretty, and an employe in a silk mill. Her head was crushed in and her clothing was disordered. In the sitting-room of the home at 627 Cedar street was found the girl's hat, coat and shoes.

Not a Dagger.

Some strolling Thespians were once playing "Macbeth" in a country town. Their properties were not kept in very systematic order, for when the hero of Shakespeare's drama exclaimed, "Is that a dagger that I see before me?" a shrill voice responded from the "flies." "No, sir. It's the putty knife. The dagger's lost."

ONE LIFE LOST.

Pontiac Buggy Factory to Be Rebuilt at Once.

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 28.—For the second time in two years the carriage body works plant of O. J. Beaudetto & Co. was visited by a disastrous fire, causing a loss estimated at $80,000. The fire was first noticed about 6:30, after most of the employes had left the building. It spread rapidly and the machine room was soon a mass of flame. The buildings destroyed were the machine room, a structure 250x75 feet; the body room, 275x75 feet, and the gear room, 30x75 feet. The immense stock of lumber was saved. Harry Bartlet, who was employed in the machine room, was one of the first of the employes to reach the scene. He at once rushed into the burning building to save his tools. In the confusion it was thought that Bartlet had managed to get out. However, when he did not come home the firemen concluded that he had been overcome and was still in the burning building. Rescuing parties were at work and Bartlet's roasted body was found by his fellow workmen.

At a mass meeting of over 600 citizens, held in the Lyceum theater last evening, it was definitely decided that the Beaudette buggy factory should be rebuilt at once. At this meeting it was announced that a private meeting had been held during the afternoon, at which a new company was formed, to be incorporated at $100,000. Of this amount of stock, C. J. Beaudette & Co. will take $50,000, and the carriage manufacturers of the city $25,000. The remaining $25,000, all preferred stock which is to pay 6 per cent annually and be redeemable within five years, will be sold to citizens of the city. At the meeting last night $1,550 worth of stock was taken.

A Pleasant Surprise.

The morning of Oct. 22nd being perfect, about thirty people met at the home of Martin Wheelan of Franklin, and from there proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Love, where the innocent pair were the victims of a surprise. The occasion was the 67th birthday of the former. The ladies at once repaired to the kitchen with baskets and pans of chicken pie and very soon there were two long tables spread in the dining room loaded with good things to which all did justice.

After dinner all retired to the parlor and sang America and Nearer my God to Thee, after which Mr. Lane, in his witty manner, presented the host and hostess with a beautiful plush robe as a token of friendship from all present. As the day was drawing to a close all took their departure, each one declaring that they had had a most delightful time and wishing them many happy returns of the day.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames S. Land, E. Louis of Holloway; Fred Fuller, of Adrian; J. A. DeSpelder, John Heesen, Geo. Kay, Tecumseh; M. D. Alexander, Clinton; O. A. Alexander, Martin Whelan, Archie Edwards and Mrs. Pawson of Franklin.

Velvet a Mighty Factor. The Cult of the Corset.

After visiting some of the great manufactories of England, and calling on the leading modistes and drapers in the Regent and Bond Street regions, where I found a goodly display, I will write you my impressions of the coming Autumn fashions.

Many of the modes are, as it were, only in the bud, but velvet is unquestionably a fabric that must be taken into account in any discussion of the subject of Milady's fall costumes. It has assumed an importance most unusual, not only with regard to evening and calling gowns, but is constantly growing in popularity for tailor frocks.

One of the handsomest velvet gowns I have seen and which I have been enabled to illustrate for you is one made by Ernest for Julia Marlowe, of black Nonpareil velvet magnificently appliqued in cream lace outlined with black and gold sequins.

Luckily for her whose dress allowance is not lavish Nonpareil velvet is not an evtravagance but, owing to the increasing skill of the famous dyers J. & J. M. Worrall, through whose kindness I had a peep at the newest designs before they were seen in the shops, velvet has become a thoroughly practical and comparatively inexpensive fabric. One of the most beautiful designs was in polka dot of Imperial blue—a revival of the shade so much admired by Napoleon, and univ ersaly worn during the time of his prosperity. Particularly suited to this fabric is the Empire model so much affected by the English women for evening wear, and while no two nations are enough alike individually or collectively for all the modes of one to suit the modes of another, yet there is no pretty style that the well dressed American woman cannot gracefully make her own.

The cult of the corset is a much studied one here at the present time, and justly so as its importance is paramount where the fit of a frock or the symmetry of the figure is considered. I was much interested to find the C B A la Spirite, as popular here as it is in America, which is one of the many successes of the American Invasion.

Among the various notes I made of coming modes, feather hat shapes form one distinct item. They are made entirely of the short body border of black feathers round the brim, and a strap of the same jauntily holding up one side.

Another charming model was a cream lace blouse over white silk, daintily cross-barred with cream velvet ribbon.

The Monte Carlo coat will still be popular this Autumn and Winter. The length here is three-quarters, the proportions 'roomy.' The sleeves are also roomy, with deep cuffs.

I leave London for Paris tomorrow, and in my next letter will give you my impressions of the Parisian fashions.

SHULL-ANDERSON

The celebration of the wedding of

MISS VIOLA SHULL TO FARON SEATON ANDERSON

At the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Shull Wednesday evening was a grand affair.

Never was there a more beautiful Michigan day than that of Wednesday. Never a more completely appointed or more beautiful wedding than that of Miss Viola Shull to Faron Anderson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Shull on the evening of that day, the 28th of October. For weeks the preparation for the event in the lives of these two young people has been preceeding and on this day, all was complete to make the affair pleasurable in every detail.

Miss Shull is one of Tecumseh's most popular young ladies, having spent her life here and is loved and cared for by a large circle of friends. She is the eldest daughter of John D. Shull, one of the firm of H. Brewer & Co., who has been known over the state as a Lenawee county politician. Faron Anderson is a young business man of Tecumseh, well known and respected by every one. He is the son of Seaton W. Anderson, one of Tecumseh's most prominent merchants.

At precisely six o'clock the ribbon bearers, Misses Florence Brewer and Winnifred DeWolfe, took their places and at the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Mary Anderson, marched the Rev. C. M. Brown, D. D. of Jacksonville, Ill.; Miss Edith Shull, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, Raynor Brewer, best man, and the bride and groom. The ceremony was preformed, using the Presbyterian ring service in an impressive manner by the Rev. Brown, and in five minutes Tecumseh's sixth Mrs. Anderson was being congratulated by the assembled guests.

The house decoration was simply a dream. The living room was completely covered with asparagus branches, dotted with white chrysanthemums; parlor, oak leaves and chrysanthemums; dining room, maple leaves and chrysanthemums; while every doorway was draped with smilax. The remembrances were numerous and beautiful, showing the esteem in which the couple are held. Over 100 guests were present, in fact the relatives on both sides of the house would more than comprise a large wedding party. The guests were all seated at luncheon at one time, tables being placed both up and down stairs.

The bride was gowned in silk muslin over white taffetta, trimmed with Valencinnes lace. Miss Edith Shull, maid of honor, wore white silk grenadine over white taffeta. Florence Brewer, white net over white silk. Winnifred DeWolfe, pink silk mull. Mrs. Shull, blue voile over blue silk, trimmed with silk cluny lace. Mrs. S. W. Anderson, spangled net over white silk. Helen Anderson, grey crepe de chene. Mrs. P. W. A. Fitzsimmons, light blue voile with taffeta and lace.

The following entertainments were given in honor of the bride before the wedding: Mrs. J. Q. Look entertained at cards; Miss Florence Brewer entertained at progressive hearts; Mrs. P. W. A. Fitzsimmons entertained at dinner; Miss Helen Anderson entertained at luncheon; the Misses May and Winnifred DeWolf and Miss Harriett Whittier gave an informal kitchen shower.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will be at home at their residence on Oneida street.

The guests from out of town were M. A. O. Packard, Wm. Brezie, of Chicago; Charlie Donahue, Cleveland; Miss Emma Farnum, Flint; Mr. and Miss Hill and Earl Mann, Richmond, Ind.; Cynthia Bailey, Chas. Burtless, Manchester; Mr. and Mrs. Tate, Clinton; Perry Shorts, Ann Arbor; Mrs. A. W. Clark and Herbert Clark, Detroit; Wm. Walker, Grand Rapids; Jessie Fee, Adrian.

Osburn—Taylor.

Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Osburn, of Adrian township, was solemnized the wedding of Maud Elizabeth Osburn to William John Taylor, of Britton. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor went to Charlotte for their wedding trip, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Lyons.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Bolton, of Britton, in the presence of about 90 friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The wedding march was played by Miss Olive Mills, of Clinton, while the bride was attended by Miss Lora Robinson and Leon Kniffen. Little Mildred Osburn, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and her brother, Verle Osburn, was the ring bearer. The bride was becomingly gowned in white Louisine silk and carried white roses, while the bridesmaid carried pink roses and wore a pretty creation of white silk mull. After the ceremony an elaborate four course wedding supper was served.

The bride and groom are well and favorably known, both being graduates of the Tecumseh high school, the groom graduating in 1899 and the bride in 1900. Miss Osburn has since taught school in Adrian township with the exception of one year when she taught in the Britton high school. The groom has a host of friends in his home town and has recently received the appointment of mail clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor received many elegant presents and in addition two substantial checks, one of $100 from her parents, one of $50 from his parents and a five dollar gold piece from Grandfather Taylor. They will be at home to their many friends in Britton after December 1.

Those from away who attended the wedding are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bowen of Ramona, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Lyons of Charlotte; Mr. and Mrs. James Osburn of Rome; Miss Olive Mills of Clinton; Miss Todd of Samaria.

Little Clippings about persons we all of us know

SELECTED

From different Newspapers.

When George Ade takes on a sour look at some of the quisby rehearsals of his stage pieces it is the fashion of the witty maidens of the chorus to speak of him as Lemon Ade.

Rose Hartwick Thorpe, author of the famous poem "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," is living at present in Lajolla, Cal. She was born in Indiana, in 1850. The poem was first published in the Detroit Commercial Advertiser in 1870.

WHAT HE THINKS OF THEM.

Mark Twain gives the following as a sample of a boy's composition on Girls.

"Girls are very stuck up and dignified in their manner and behaveyour. They think more of dress than anything and like to play with dolls and rags. They cry if they see a cow in the far distance and are afraid of guns. They stay at home all the time and go to church every Sunday. They are al-ways sick. They are always funy and making fun of boys hands and say how dirty. They can't play marbles. I pity them, poor things. They make fun of boys and then turn around and love them. I don't believe they ever killed a cat or anything. They look out every nite and say: 'O, a'nt the moon lovely!' Thir is one thing I have not told and that is they al-ways now their lessons bettern boys."

TYRANNICAL GIRLS.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox says: "It is a sad commentary on American society and American manners that so many bright and otherwise charming young girls are allowed to tyranize over their fathers and mothers and that the parents seem to feel a sort of servile pride in being eclipsed by their own offspring. I know an almost innumerable number of girls still under twenty who monopolize the conversation, reprove their parents publicly for any careless or old fashioned form of speech, and whose opinions are law and gospel in the household; while the parents stand humbly in the background, half in awe and half in wondering admiration, upon the brilliancy of their own progency. This thoroughly American system of educating young girls does not conduce to their early wisdom or discretion. It permits them to gain a sort of premature chaotic idea of the surface things of life far beyond their years and gives them an exaggerated impression of their own importance. It requires time and experience to enable them to rightly estimate their own worth or understand their own needs."

OUR WIVES.

Ruskin, in speaking of the wife says: "A judicious wife is always nipping off from her husband's moral nature little twigs that are growing in the wrong direction. If you say anything silly, she will affectionately style you so. If you declare that you will do some absurd thing, she will find some way of preventing you from doing it. And by far the chief part of all the common sense there is in the world belongs unquestionably to women. The wisest things a man commonly does are those which his wife counsels him to do. A wife is a grand wielder of the moral pruning knife. If Johnson's wife had lived there would have been no hoarding up of orange peel, no touching all the posts in walking along the street, no eating and drinking with disgusting velocity. If Oliver Goldsmith had been married he never would have worn that memorable and ridiculous coat. Whenever you find a man whom you know little about oddily dressed, talking absurdly, or exhibiting eccentricity of manner, you may be sure that he is not a married man; for the corners are rounded off, the little shoots pared away in married men. Wives have much more sense than their husbands. The wife's advice is like the ballast that keeps the ship steady."

WHISTLER'S MASTERPIECE CANNOT BE FOUND.

In art circles there has been much discussion during the past few months about a lost picture by Whistler. The Academy this week gives some facts about the painting by many who had seen it. The work was regarded as Whistler's masterpiece, and the artist himself had referred to it as one which would greatly add to his reputation.

No trace of the picture, however, can be found, although an active search is being made. It is the portrait of little Miss Barr, a dainty child almost idolized by the artist. The painting went on slowly, for often on the occasions arranged for sittings the artist was in no mood for work. It was nearly finished when Whistler was summoned to Paris. He insisted on taking the painting with him, and since that time, the story goes, nothing has been heard of it, though an American millionaire has expressed a strong desire to possess it.

When Whistler died an artist who was a close friend of his told me his latest work was at an art exhibition in Italy, and that his heirs feared that if this were known they would never be able to get the picture to London.

OUR PRESIDENTS WEIGHTY MEN.

Abraham Lincoln was tall, bony, and lean almost to the limit. His tasks were heavy, and he did not grow stout while he was president. But since his day we have not had a lean president. The recent statement that Mr. Roosevelt's weight had risen to 220 pounds recalls the fact that the long line since the civil war has consisted without a break of fat men. This was particularly true of Mr. Garfield and Mr. Cleveland, and the rest were not far behind them.

Mr. Roosevelt's friends deny that he weighs 220 pounds, insisting that he weighs but 196 pounds, which is about the proper weight for a man of his height and years. Mr. McKinley was much inclined to stoutness, and so was Mr. Arthur. Gen. Grant and Mr. Harrison were reasonably fat, as were Andy Johnson and Mr Hayes.

All American presidents have been men of moderation both in food and drink, and many of them have resorted to exercise in an effort to preserve health and strength. Not another one of them, however, has been a practicer of athletics and strenous exercise to the extent that Mr. Roosevelt carries it at every opportunity, and probably not one of his predecessors had such physical vigor as Mr. Roosevelt enjoys.

CLUB NOTES.

The Researchers were out in full force Tuesday afternoon at their regular meeting time, in anticipation of the first chapter of the original story by Mrs. J. J. Freeman. She gave a very interesting preface dedicating the first products of her pen as novelist to the President, Mrs. Adel Hurrey. This was as compensation for the trying ordeal she was obliged to undergo in listening with a composed countenance to the "orginal" efforts of the authors. The title of the story is "Carlossa," a storette. Mrs. Kennedy gave a very interesting paper on the "Empire of Brazil," and the roll call was heartily responded to by quotations from Kipling.

The program for next week is:

Music.

The forests of the Amazon—Christine Wilson.

Original story, chapter 2—Dr. Pauline Wilson.

Leader—Mrs. Freeman.

The meeting of the Wit and Wisdom Club will be held at the Rector home on Monday evening, Nov. 2. The following program is arranged with Mrs. Rector as leader.

Roll call—Quotations from Hiawatha.

Paper—"The American Indian."

Discussion—"Have we dealt fairly with the Indian?"

All members wishing transportation will meet at Miss Dingman's at 7 o'clock sharp.

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Tecumseh people fail to realize the seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back,
The weariness, the tired feeling,
The pains and aches of kidney ills
Are serious—if neglected.
Dangerous urinary troubles follow.

A Tecumseh citizen shows you how to avoid them.

Mr. F. A. Ferguson, tinsmith, residing in the north western section of Tecumseh, says: "I had symptoms of kidney trouble. The kidney secretions were very irregular and at times too frequent and highly colored. Having seen so many cases of severe kidney trouble I thought it wise to do something at once, so I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at C. A. Wright's drug store and took them. I began to improve from the very start and continued to do so. I emphatically declare Doan's Kidney Pills to be up to the representations made for them."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Try for Health

222 South Peoria St.,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Georgia Dunbar

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

What the Editor Advised.

An authoress of some note in her day once asked a famous editor to give his opinion on a book which she intended to publish. In her letter she said:

"If the work is not up to the mark, I beg you will tell me so, as I have other irons in the fire, and should you think this not likely to succeed I can bring out something else."

Having read over several pages of the manuscript, the editor returned it with the following brief remark:

"Madam, I would advise you to put this where your irons are."

Bodies Choked Passage Way to Fire Escape.

TWENTY-FIVE LIVES LOST

Frightful Loss of Life in New York Tenement House Fire—Believed to Have Been of Incendiary Origin.

New York, Nov. 2.—Twenty-one men, three women and a ten-months-old babe were burned to death or suffocated in a fire that started early Sunday morning in the House of All Nations, a five-story tenement house at No. 426 Eleventh avenue, and which the police and coroner believe to have been of incendiary origin.

Some of the peculiar features of the disaster, in addition to the startling loss of life, are that the fire was practically extinguished in twenty minutes, that the police could learn of but one person being injured, other than those who lost their lives, and that the property loss was only $7,000.

The dead are mostly Italians.

In several apartments in the tenement Hallowe'en parties were in progress and the guests at these added greatly to the number of persons in the house and made the crush and jam to escape more than it ordinarily would have been. Although plentifully provided with fire escapes, front and rear, escape here was cut off a few minutes after the fire started by the bodies of the dead becoming wedged in the openings leading to the ladders.

The fire had been burning for some minutes before it was discovered. It had started in the basement and, rushing upward, had attacked the stairway leading to the apartments. In a short space of time the flames had so enveloped the stairway that egress from the building by it was impossible. The house from the third to the fifth floor was entirely destroyed.

At the windows, front and rear, bodies of men and women were jammed, showing that a desperate struggle to get free had resulted in the complete choking of these exits to the fire escapes and had been the cause of a number of the inmates being suffocated.

When the firemen reached the scene there was a mass of flame bursting through the middle of the roof, while the air was filled with heartrending screams of the women and the curses of men. Many daring rescues were made by the firemen, who attempted to use violence to disentangle the mass of writhing human beings struggling in vain efforts to reach safety from the crowded fire escapes. One fireman climbed to the fourth floor, where a window was filled with a mass of people jammed in and fighting to get out. He struck the heads of all the men he could see with his fist, and they fell back. He then handed down to the firemen on ladders below three women and a baby. Another fireman performed a similar feat and rescued two girls from the fourth floor.

Life nets played a prominent part in the work of rescue. The firemen dropped men and women, dead and alive, from one floor to another, and finally the men standing on ladders on the first floor let them fall into the nets held by policemen and firemen in the street.

The building was known as "The House of All Nations" because of the different nationalities of its tenants.

POLICEMAN STABBED.

A Tragedy the Result of Hallowe'en Prank in Chicago Suburb.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—The celebration of Hallowe'en was responsible for the killing of the chief of police of Morgan Park, a suburb of Chicago, in a threatened race war, early Sunday.

A woman's Hallowe'en prank started the trouble, which ended in the killing of George Airie, chief of police of Morgan Park by Mack Wiley, a young negro. Mrs. James Payne, who is a sister of Wiley, and three friends started out for a lark, and while they were overturning a lumber pile, it is said, the woman was struck by Chief of Police Airie. The negroes went for reinforcements and upon their return a second meeting with Airie resulted in a fight in which he was stabbed in the neck by Wiley.

The news of the tragedy spread through the suburb and soon a crowd of half a hundred men and boys marched to the Morgan Park jail, where four of the negroes had been locked up. When the officers took the prisoners to a carriage a fierce fight followed, in which the negroes were severely cut and bruised with sticks and stones, but the officers finally managed to get the negroes in the carriage and drove off under a shower of missiles. The prisoners were taken to Englewood jail, where Wiley confessed to having killed Airie.

Great Strike Ends.

Bilbao, Nov. 2.—Never in the history of Milbao has there been a strike of such momentous consequences to the ironworkers of Spain as that which terminated Sunday. The miners will no longer be compelled to live cooped up in the barracks provided by the mining companies, and they will no longer be forced to purchase food from the company stores, which has often been declared unfit to eat; instead of being paid by the month, they will hereafter be paid every week. They have been refused, however, the right to organize a union, and it is believed that this will lead to trouble in the future.

A runaway bicycle.

Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. It developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured. It's just as good for burns, scalds, skin eruptions and piles. 25c at C. A. Wright's drug store.

DRUGGED ON TRAIN

Chicago Man Given Knockout Drops and Robbed.

ASSAILANT UNDER ARREST

Indian Saw the Affair and Captured the Robber—Placed in Jail at Cassopolis—Little Girl With Him as a Blind.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 31.—Reports have reached here of a robbery which took place upon Michigan Central passenger train No. 8, just west of Dowagiac at 1:15 Friday morning. It is alleged that Henry H. Tagney of Chicago, about 35 years of age, gave knockout drops to William J. Coulter, while both were in the smoking car, and succeeded in getting hold of his pocketbook containing $260. An Indian named Lett, who was on the train, saw the affair and pounced upon the robber like a wild beast, and now Tagney is in jail at Cassopolis awaiting trial at the next term of court.

Michigan Central Detective Herbst of this city said regarding the matter: "William J. Coulter, a saloonkeeper in Chicago, about 45 years of age, was on his way from Chicago to Detroit on business. Tagney, his assailant, had a little girl traveling with him for a blind."

Coulter was able to continue his journey in the afternoon, going to Detroit upon train No. 10.

PAPA GOT LEFT.

Owosso Elopers Moved Too Swiftly For Daddy.

Owosso, Mich., Oct. 31.—J. M. Smith of Perry attempted in vain to break up the marriage Friday of his 17-year-old daughter, Mrs. Edith Williams, a widow, and Henry Whitman. When he arose in the morning he found that she had disappeared. She had been seen with Whitman, but Smith lost much valuable time before he discovered their destination, which was Corunna.

On arriving there Smith found that a marriage license had been issued to the couple, who had returned to Perry, traveling over another road to avoid the angry father. He immediately whipped up his horse and reached Perry just as the Grand Trunk westbound train was pulling out with the couple he sought standing on the back platform, hand in hand.

"Good-bye, papa; we're off for California," they cried. And this was true, for Whitman had married Mrs. Williams at Corunna and was bound for the west, where he will go into fruit farming on a large scale.

Sought Death in River.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 31.—A state of mind resulting from worry and loss of sleep for seven weeks impelled Miss Helen Decke, daughter of Henry Decke, to plan her own death. She left home Thursday morning, leaving a letter in which she bade good-bye to her friends and mentioned the place in the river where her body would be found. Miss Decke was 22 years of age and expected a position as teacher, but in this she was disappointed, and the fact is supposed to be the cause for her worry and despondency. Members of the family and officers have been dragging the river and searching for her since the letter revealing her design was found, but as yet nothing but her tracks near the river have been found.

Killed Himself With Shotgun.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 31.—Sam Knowles, living about six miles out on the Mackinaw road, shot and killed himself. Knowles had been engaged in a lawsuit with a neighbor over a small piece of land and the fight had been very bitter, even to personal enmity. Knowles had worried considerably over the affair, and in the morning soon after rising took his rifle and went to the barn. His mother found him dead a short time later, lying upon his back, with the muzzle of the rifle against his heart. It is supposed that Knowles fired the gun with his foot.

Dog Saved Child's Life.

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 31.—A little girl, about five years old, living in Essexville, owes her life to the intelligence of a fox terrier dog, which was the child's pet. She was playing in the street and stopped in the middle of a track which crosses the road and runs to one of the big factories in the village, just as a switch engine rounded a curve. The dog evidently understood the child's danger, grabbed hold of her skirts and tugged at her viciously, fairly pulling her off the track and just in time for her to escape the engine.

Knowing Dogs.

Big Rapids, Mich., Oct. 31.—Barking of dogs led a search party at night to a high piece of woods in Wheatland township, where they found the dead body of a boy named W. H. Lenon, who on the previous day had taken his gun and two dogs and gone to visit a sister. The boy lived at Remus and when one of the dogs returned home covered with blood a search was instituted. The gun had exploded, the charge passing through his heart, evidently causing instant death.

Struck by a Train.

Galesburg, Mich., Oct. 31.—Manly Vosburg, a well-known farmer engaged in grading a double track for the Michigan Central, two miles east, was struck by a fast train and probably fatally injured. He was driving a team and one horse was killed outright, the other being crippled.

State Lands Brought $14,000.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 31.—About $14,000 was realized by the state in the sale of Missaukee and Newaygo county state tax homesteads. The average was better than $1 an acre, the prices ranging from 50 cents to $10.25.

TWO AWFUL CRIMES

Young Man in Detroit Stabbed Eleven Times.

REFUSED TO TREAT AT BAR

Attacked After He Left Saloon—Woman Assaulted on Streets of Howard City—Brute Tore Clothes From Her Body.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 2.—A brutal assault, which will probably result in murder, took place about 1 o'clock yesterday in a saloon at Russell and Superior streets, when Gus Hollatz, aged 21, boarding at 1124 Twelfth street, was stabbed eleven times about the body and kicked about the head in such a serious manner that it is believed he cannot live. Two men, who are said to be his assailants, are locked up on suspicion of the crime.

A short time after midnight Hollatz, with a friend, William Hunt, of 1059 Thirteenth street, went into the saloon at Superior and Russell streets. Hunt declares that he and Hollatz had just emerged from the saloon when they were set upon by three men who had accosted them inside, asking them for a drink. Both were thrown to the sidewalk. Hollatz was kicked about the head and repeatedly stabbed about the head and chest with some instrument in the hands of their assailants. The trio then decamped, leaving the two battered men lying upon the walk.

Patrolmen A. Melcnman and Bialk saw the two men lying on the sidewalk. Boyd's ambulance was called and Hollatz was sent to St. Mary's hospital.

Hunt in the meantime gave the officers descriptions of the men who had assaulted them, and the policemen instantly started. Two men who are suspected as being part of the trio were arrested by the patrolmen and locked up at the Chene street police station.

They declared their names were Paul Palack, aged 20, residence 95 Leland street, and William Lekoski, aged 19, living at no particular address.

Howard City, Mich., Nov. 2.—William Lovelass of this place was arrested early Sunday morning for criminal assault on Mrs. Abram Hamlet of Kalamazoo, who came here on the late G. R. & I. train Saturday night to visit her father, Ezra Barton. Lovelass met her on Main street near the depot and asked her if she wished to hire a livery rig, giving his name, it is alleged, as Edward Thon, whose father previously had a livery barn here.

Refusing to take a rig, she consented to let Lovelass carry some parcels she had and escort her home. When nearing her father's home it is charged that Lovelass threw her to the ground and choked her. In her struggles to resist she had nearly all her clothing torn off and her face and hands were cut and bruised terribly. Lovelass, becoming frightened, ran away and Mrs. Hamlet dragged herself to the house and told her story.

Sheriff Underhill was notified and after a hunt of three hours found Lovelass, who was hiding in the back of the high school building. Lovelass' reputation is not the best. A heavy guard has been placed around the jail as there are threats of lynching. He will be taken to Stanton for a hearing.

Bad Boys at Bay City.

Bay City, Mich., Nov. 2.—Two big boys, bent on mischief, led John Leith's eight-year-old son away from home Saturday, making him believe that they intended to rob his father's store. They got into an imaginary fight in which one was supposed to have been killed, and after thoroughly frightening the little lad took him back home, after an absence of an hour. Mr. Leith offered a reward of $25 for the kidnapers and they were ferreted out, being found to be sons of very prominent families. The affair is being settled in the police court.

Killed Near Ann Arbor.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 2.—Joseph Wagner, a prosperous farmer and well-known cider mill man living one and a half miles west of Ann Arbor, was instantly killed in a runaway accident. He was driving a colt toward the city. The animal shied and the buggy was overturned. Mr. Wagner was thrown against a fencepost and his neck was broken.

Lansing Doctor Dropped Dead.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 2.—Dr. J. B. Weaver, a well-known physician of this city and formerly a resident of Eaton county, dropped dead in the city hall Saturday while waiting for a case in which he was interested to be called in the justice court. He was about 50 years of age. Death is supposed to have been due to rheumatism of the heart.

Slander and Libel Suits.

Paw Paw, Mich., Oct. 31.—Two $10,000 damage suits have just been commenced in the circuit court here that bid fair to be the most sensational Van Buren county has had for some time, and both come from Bloomingdale. The first, that of Edgar H. Smith vs. Joseph Fritch, is an action for slander. The second is a libel case in which Rev. Israel Konkle is plaintiff and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Haven defendants. Mr. Konkle was formerly a pastor at Bloomingdale, and the defendants are his former parishioners. The action grows out of a letter written by the Havens to the elders of the church.

Doesn't respect old age.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, jaundice, fever, constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. 25c at C. A. Wright's drug store.

GIGANTIC SWINDLE

Charges Made By Receiver of U. S. Shipbuilding Company.

SAYS TO SUE STOCKHOLDERS

Who Received Stock Without Paying Full Value Therefor — Implicates Schwab—Found Misleading Statements in Reports and Prospectus.

New York, Nov. 2.—Sensational allegations of wilful misstatement, falsification, swindling and fraud in the organization and flotation of United States Shipbuilding company of attempts to mislead and deceive the investing public by erroneous prospectus statements and of a deliberate plan to wreck the company by withholding the earnings of the Bethlehem Steel company are contained in the report of Receiver James Smith, Jr., of the United States Shipbuilding company, just made public here.

The report concludes with the recommendation that suit be brought against all persons who received stock of the company without paying full value therefor, including the promoters of the consolidation, the vendors of the constituent plants, and C. M. Schwab, to recover from them such amount as necessary to pay the debts of the company in full.

Receiver Smith also recommends the sale of the Crescent shipyard plant at Wilmington, Del., subsidiary plants not now in operation, to avoid further loss by depreciation, and the enforcement of a receivership for the Bethlehem Steel company to ensure the payment of dividends in the Bethlehem stock held by the United States Shipbuilding company.

In the words of the report, the organization of the company is characterized as an "artistic swindle," Receiver Smith stating that the value of the plants, their earnings and working capital, given in alleged thorough reports of expert accountants, vary so much from actual figures "as to impel the belief that the figures were wilfully misstated"; that it is extremely doubtful if such accountants' reports were submitted at the organization of the company; that the organization was affected by "dummy" stockholders, directors and officers; that statements in the prospectus issued on June 14, 1902, were incorrect; that for property worth $12,441,516 the shipbuilding company paid in stock and bonds $67,997,000; that "the accommodating directors of the United States Shipbuilding company in acquiring these companies deliberately gave away many million dollars in the stock and bonds of their company"; "wholesale plunder," the receiver terms it, to a few persons and that, so far as the Bethlehem Steel company is concerned, "its earnings have been withheld in a deliberate attempt to wreck the United States Shipbuilding company."

The report deals fully with the name of Charles M. Schwab and the nature of the Bethlehem transaction, says Mr. Smith, is such as "to justify him (Mr. Schwab) in saying that he did not sell the Bethlehem Steel company, but took over the United States Shipbuilding company, the directors of that company giving him $30,000,000 in stock and bonds for taking it off their hands."

Engineer's Daring Act Saved Train.

Gallipolis, O., Nov. 2.—The regular Kanawha & Michigan passenger train between Charleston, W. Va., and Gallipolis was wrecked Sunday at Red House, W. Va. The engineer discovered a burning trestle and, putting on all steam, got his train safely across, but the heat had caused the rails to spread and the engine, baggage car and smoker turned over on their sides together with the chair car on the rear of the train. The engineer, William Tourney of Charleston, W. Va., was killed, and John Baker White, former secretary to Governor McCorkle of West Virginia, suffered a broken leg and three fractured ribs, with serious internal injuries. Other passengers on the train were injured.

Laid the Cornerstone.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 2.—The fiftieth anniversary of the consecration of Bishop Baraga, deceased, first bishop of the diocese of Marquette, was marked here Sunday by the laying of the cornerstone of the new parochial school here, named in honor of Bishop Baraga, and to cost when completed $50,000. Bishop Katzer of Milwaukee delivered the sermon.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 31.—The Grand Rapids Furniture association has called a meeting for next Tuesday night at the Board of Trade rooms, when some action will be taken with reference to making an exhibit of furniture at the St. Louis exposition next year. This will be the first united exhibit ever made by Grand Rapids furniture manufacturers at a world's fair.

Deafness cannot be cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial.

It causes bunches in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." MRS. K. T. SNYDER, Troy, Ohio.

A Wonderful Air City.

Many stories have been written about mirages and delusions, but none has been more interesting and curious than that of the Silent City mirage which makes its appearance near the Pacific glacier in Alaska. The discovery of this wonderful mirage was made by the Indians, who would tell of the city which was built in the clouds. The mirage can be seen in the early part of July from 5 to 6 p. m. It rises from the side of the Pacific glacier. It first appears like a heavy mist and soon becomes clearer, and one can distinctly see the specter city, well defined streets and trees, tall spires and huge and odd shaped buildings which appear to be ancient mosques or cathedrals. It is a city which would seem to contain at least 25,000 or 30,000 inhabitants.

As yet no one has been able to identify it, although several have claimed to recognize the place. There is no city like it in Alaska, nor in any country about it for thousands of miles. Some claim it is a city in Russia, others say it is a city in England, but none can tell where and what it is. The mirage was given the name of Silent City, as it appears to one like a dead city. There is nothing that would indicate that it is inhabited.

Good Breeding.

The most potent factor of good breeding, the prime element, the first principle, is nothing more or less than a condensation of the Golden Rule—unselfishness, kindness of heart. Nothing else can ever gain superiority over this great and noble trait of character, and without this no person can possess real refinement, perfect dignity and truly good breeding. Nothing can supply its loss, and nothing can buy its possession. Unselfishness is inherent, innate and inborn. It is a mysterious something that cannot well be defined and yet may be found in the poorest and humblest as well as in the loftiest and noblest of all God's creatures.

Good breeding is plainly a matter of instinct, an inborn possession that is one of the greatest of treasures. Many possess it, but a great many more fail to attain it through lack of the necessary qualities essential to its acquisition.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

A Foible of the Great Rachel.

"Look at the presents Rachel, the great actress, made to every one," say the panegyrists. They forget to mention that an hour afterward she regretted her generosity, and from that moment she never left off scheming how to get the thing back. Every one knew this. Beauvallet, to whom she gave a magnificent sword one day, instead of thanking her said: "I'll have a chain put to it, mademoiselle, so as to fasten it to the wall of my dressing room. In that way I shall be sure that it will not disappear during my absence."

Alexandre Dumas the younger, to whom she made a present of a ring, bowed low and placed it back on her finger at once. "Allow me to present it to you in my turn, mademoiselle, so as to prevent you asking for it." She did not say nay, but carried the matter with one of her fascinating smiles.—"An Englishman In Paris."

Sacred Teeth.

Teeth of all kinds have been worshiped and are, in fact, venerated as relics in some religious shrines. Buddha's tooth is preserved in an Indian temple, the Cingalese worship the tooth of a monkey, while the elephant's and shark's teeth serve a similar purpose among the Malabar and Tonga islanders respectively. The Siamese were formerly the possessors of the tooth of a sacred monkey, which they valued very highly, but in a war with the Portuguese they lost the holy grinder and had to pay $3,500,000 to get it back again. It is now kept in a small gold box, inclosed in six other boxes, in one of the many temples of the Siamese capital.

A Remarkable Race of People.

In Sumatra there is a very singular race of human beings called the Kubus. They are the most timid and bashful people in the world, being too shy to mingle with the other races of the island. They dwell in the darkest recesses of the mountain forests and have seldom been seen by white men. One has never been known to willingly face a stranger. This being the case, their trade with the Malayans is carried on in a very strange way. The trader announces his arrival by beating a gong and then retires from the place of rendezvous. The shy Kubus then approach, put their forest treasures on the ground, beat the trader's gong and retreat. The trader then returns and lays his commodities down in quantities sufficient to pay the purchase price of the goods on sale.

He then disappears for a second time, this to give the Kubus a chance to return and consider the bargain. After many withdrawals, approaches, gong beatings, etc., an understanding is arrived at, and each party carries away its bargain. This remarkable race knows nothing of a supreme being, heaven, hell or evil demons. They have no system of marriage and never bury their dead. They live on snakes, ants, bugs, grubs, etc.

The Creation of the Camel.

There is an Arab tradition cited in Burton's "Gold Mines of Midian" regarding the creation of the camel which illustrates the popular but erroneous opinion that this animal is ugly in form and temper.

The story goes that when Allah determined to create the horse he called the south wind and said, "I desire to draw from thee a new being; condense thyself by parting with thy fluidity." The Creator then took a handful of this element, blew upon it the breath of life and the noble quadruped appeared. But the horse complained against his Maker. His neck was too short to reach the distant grass blades on the march; his back had no hump to steady a saddle; his hoofs were sharp and sank deep into the sand, and he added many similar grievances.

Whereupon Allah created the camel to prove the foolishness of his complaint. The horse shuddered at the sight of what he wanted to become, and this is the reason that every horse starts when meeting its caricature for the first time.

Embarrassing.

A newly married couple sauntered leisurely around statuary hall in the capitol at Washington trying hard to appear unconscious. Stopping on one of the echo stones to gaze at a new statue they were spied by two youthful pages looking for a joke. One of the pages hurried to another echo stone and in a whisper asked, "When did you get married?" The couple looked at each other and then all around the hall, but could discern no one. The bride blushed and the young man looked miserable. Presently again came the mysterious question, "When did you get married?" Awe stricken and looking extremely foolish, they fled from the hall, to the intense amusement of the mischievous pages.—Argonaut.

Don't forget the old man with the fish on his back.

For nearly thirty years he has been traveling around the world, and is still traveling, bringing health and comfort wherever he goes.

To the consumptive he brings the strength and flesh he so much needs.

To all weak and sickly children he gives rich and strengthening food.

To thin and pale persons he gives new firm flesh and rich red blood.

Children who first saw the old man with the fish are now grown up and have children of their own.

He stands for Scott's Emulsion of pure cod liver oil—a delightful food and a natural tonic for children, for old folks and for all who need flesh and strength.

MISS ADAMS GETS $30,000

Jury Gave Plaintiff Big Judgment Against R. Stuart Baker.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 31.—The sealed verdict in the Baker-Adams breach of promise case, which was reached at 9 o'clock Thursday night, was opened and read in court at 10 o'clock Friday morning. It gives Miss Adams $30,000 damages.

The court room was jammed to suffocation when the jury came in and took their seats. Hundreds were in the vestibule of the courthouse and scores more were waiting on the outside to hear the result. When Officer Logie handed to Clerk Lyle the sealed verdict the silence in the court room was intense.

After affirming the verdict the jury answered both of the special questions in the affirmative, holding that Baker had fraudulently made a marriage contract for the preconceived purpose of seducing the girl, and that he ratified it for the same purpose. This is said to be the heaviest judgment ever given in this state in an action for breach of promise.

Neither plaintiff nor defendant was in the court room when the verdict was announced.

The suit was brought to a close late Thursday afternoon by a definite charge from Judge Wolcott to the jury that the plaintiff must be given damages. He stated that there was no question of a marriage contract, or of its breach, and hence plaintiff is entitled to recover on the grounds that she would have shared the property of the defendant.

Sad Romance Hinted At.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 31.—At the coroner's inquest over Pauline Gaddis, the Texas girl found dead at the Adventist sanitarium, which has begun, not one word was introduced concerning the secret autopsy held the day after the girl's mysterious death. Dr. Heald of the sanitarium testified to giving the girl chloroform for a headache, at her request, leaving her asleep at 4 o'clock in the morning. The story of a romance was hinted at in part of the testimony, as well as the possibility of suicide. Dr. Mary Dryden testified that Miss Gaddis had told her once that she was tempted to take her life if it were not wrong. She was to have wedded a young southerner, but he died three days before she came to the sanitarium.

Roman Sausages.

The Romans were very much addicted to sausages made at Lucania. The meat used was pork and a good quantity of bacon, pounded in a mortar, with pepper, cumin, winter savory and moistened with garum, to which were added a few pine nuts. It has been pointed out that the Romans when they used breadcrumbs took care that the bread should be of the very finest kind and that before it was mingled with the sausage meat it should be soaked in wine. This was a most sensible precaution against the contingency of the bread passing through a sour stage of fermentation, in which case it would be undeniably unwholesome.

Flaw in the Reasoning.

Mr. and Mrs. Chuckster were engaged in one of their frequent arguments.

"Now, Amanda, see here"—

"Get that right, Oliver," she interrupted. "The proper form, as you will see if you think a moment, is 'look here.'"

"What's the difference?" he demanded. "You can't look without seeing, can you?"

"Oh, yes, you can. Everybody says you and I look alike, but it's a notorious fact that we don't see alike."—Chicago Tribune.

Polo boasts of a man, who, though married 15 years, kisses his wife every time he leaves home. Oregon has a man who can beat that all hollow. Though married 20 years he kisses his wife every time he leaves home, besides kissing the hired girl every time his wife leaves home.—Mt. Morris Index.

A neighbor's bird dog was going up the alley in the rear of the Gazette office a few days ago, and being attracted by the snipping noise caused by the gasoline engine, became curious and stuck his nose into the end of the exhaust pipe just as the explosion was making its way out, and the doings that took place immediately would make a tin-canned canine look like he was only fooling.—North Branch Gazette.

A little lad picked up some words on the street that he had never heard in the family vocabulary. He used one of them in the house one day and his mama said to him, "Harry, I will give you ten cents if you will never repeat that word again." As he slipped the dime into his pocket he called out, "Say mama!" "What my son?" she queried. "If that word was worth ten cents, I know a lot of them worth fifty cents apiece."—Chelsea Herald.

A man who was too economical to subscribe for a paper sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance, and failing to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into that, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $4 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, the wife ran and upset a four-gallon churn of cream into a basket of kittens, dropping a $25 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled milk and into the parlor, ruining a brand-new $20 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up eleven setting hens and the calves chewed the tails of four fine shirts.—Petersburg Sun.

One morning recently Miss Hattie Smith went into Evan's grocery to do a little trading. Uncle Joe Fletcher waited upon her and when she was leaving he said, "Don't you want something else, Hattie? There's a pumpkin I'll give you if you will carry it home," pointed out a 28-pounder, the largest pumpkin in the store. To his astonishment Hattie said "thank you," put her arms around the pumpkin and walked off with it. It was about five minutes before Joe could move and then he concluded the joke and the pumpkin had gone far enough. Hastily mounting his wheel he overtook Miss Smith down near the flour mill and offered to relieve her of her burden. She politely declined however, and he rode back in sober thoughtfulness.—Decatur Republican.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Several Clever and Original Parties given by both

OLD AND YOUNG

Friday and Saturday nights.

Mrs. Cleo Hall was hostess to a very unique and original party last Friday evening. The invitations to which about 30 responded, were in the form of a tent decorated with flags and read—You are invited to "hard tack" at 7:30 Friday evening, Oct. 30. The house was handsomely decorated with flags. On entering the house each lady was weighed, after which they were asked to guess the combined weight. Mrs. Baker of Detroit, guessed 3950, the nearest, as the correct weight was 3946, for which she received a handsome bouquet of carnations.

They were then invited to a four course lunch, which was carried out as nearly as possible in the military colors. The tables were spread with blue lunch clothes, decorated with flags, the work of Mrs. Hall. After lunch Military flinch was in order, which was won by Fort 3, consisting of Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Coller, Mrs. Stacy, May Garlinghouse, Anna Williamson and Ruby Paisley. The prizes were very handsome vases.

The members of the T. T. C. gave a Hallowe'en party at the home of Miss Mable Church, last Saturday night to about 40 of their friends. They played a different game at every table, such as cards, anagrams, and flinch and etc., the winning ones at each table progressing. There were four prizes, Leona Beebe won the lady's first prize, and Gladys Darling the second, Arnie Garlinghouse won gentlemen's first prize, and Paul Rowland second. Refreshments were served and every one reports a pleasant time. Jay Gibson and Mr. Gillen of Clinton were the only out of town guests.

A very unique and pleasant Hallowe'en party and dinner was given on Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. James L. Hamilton, 203 North Division street, Grand Rapids, Mich. for Miss Blanche E. Roberts of this place, who is spending the winter with them. Word games were played followed by cards. Prizes were awarded Miss Florence Hilton and Mr. Trumble also to Miss Huntington and Dr. W. A. Moreland. The decorations in the parlor were white chrysanthemums, in the siting room pink carnations, with appropriate hallowe'en decorations in the dining room. The guests departed at the stroke of twelve.

About 30 friends of Mrs. Fannie Rector and son Fred enjoyed a Hallowe'en party at their beautiful country home Friday evening. The party was the jolliest celebration of Hallowe'en in this vicinity and every weird feature was a success.

Noticeable among the usual pranks was a ghost walk beheld by the guests as the procession went by the window. Each guest was labeled. There were the specter of "Political Aspiration," the apparitions of "Mutilated English Language," "Murdered Composition," "Kisses of the Hollow," "Wasted Opportunities," etc., and the muffled beat of the drum and groaning would make one's hair rise sure. But the ghosts were captured by some brave men and brought to light where as usual the ghost story was proven a fake and the leader who beat the drum was found to be none other than Mrs. Joe Eaton.

Then the crowd was led to the witch's booth where was found a figure, draped in black with the usual adornments of a gipsy queen, and stirring her horrible concoctions in a regular witch's kettle, all the while repeating in a spectral voice her charms. She read the fortunes of those who dared know their fate and by the appearance of some of the victims upon leaving the hut, some of her shafts must have struck home. Upon the close of this most uncanny scene the witch turned out to be Miss Lucy Train. For giving good fortunes she can be highly recommended by the crowd.

Then the crowd tried their luck at catching in their mouth a suspended apple and some floating in water. In the former event John Ladd ate more than his share of the apple and in the latter John Reinche proved far the best diver. A regular Hallowe'en lunch was served and the evening was finished with a little dancing and merry good nights.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

The powerful drama of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which comes to the New Bradley is rightfully placed in that catalogue of plays which, once having seen, is ever after to be remembered, and when one knows that it originates from the skillful pen of so brilliant a story teller as Robert Louis Stevenson, the builder of a host of successes, one is assured that its development embraces all that comes within the scope of a dramatic classic.

Mr. Russell is eminently qualified by natural ability and artistic temperament, to portray the strong dramatic characters of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. An exceptionally strong cast ably second his artistic efforts and the play is staged in a magnificent manner. And everything needed to perfect a finished performance has been carefully attended to.

To late for last week, we accidentally came into possession of a rich account of how O. T. Mallory came in from chores and churned for three hours after supper while his wife slept on the sofa. She finally awoke as the clock struck ten to tell him that she had churned after dinner and it was doubtful if he could get any more butter out of that butter-milk. She promised not to "tell" and so did we but printing isn't telling. Blissfield Advance.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Nov. 2, 1903.

Politicians here are discussing seriously the creation of a new department of insular affairs. The need of such a department to consider matters relating to insular or colonial affairs of the United States is apparent to every one who has anything to do with the constantly increasing problems which arise in the Government of our outlying possessions. The Bureau of Insular Affairs in the War Department has a staff of 100 clerks and is not able to do nearly all that many people expect of it. If all the work relating to the insular affairs of the government were brought together under a single department, its amount, as well as its importance, would be equal to that of the other great departments of the government. A definite representation of the islands in the President's cabinet would bring about more unity in colonial relations and would permit a more systematic supervision from the capital. The name "insular" is preferred to "colonial" and it would apply literally to all our possessions except Alaska. It is hardly in keeping with our political ideas that the government of the Philippines should be represented at the capital by a bureau in the War Department. Porto Rico on the other hand has no administrative headquarters here. Not a day passes but that many persons call at the insular bureau to inquire something about Porto Rico, only to be informed that the bureau has had nothing to do with Porto Rico since May 1, 1900. There is nobody in Washington to answer inquiries of this sort and those seeking information are referred to Governor Hunt. If a cablegram comes here from Porto Rico there is no one to whom it can go except the President and he has not time to attend to the questions which it may raise. It is believed that the Danish West Indies will soon belong to the United States, and Guam and Tutuila are already dependencies, although they have no definite relations to the national government. We have these islands and we intend, to keep them, so we might as well face the issue squarely, define their status and government systematically. Nothing would bring this about quicker than to establish a department whose duty it would be to look after the interests and welfare of our outlying territory.

Orders have been issued by the acting Secretary of War to the commanding officer of Jefferson barracks, Mo., to send regular troops armed with leaded rifles to act as an escort to $3,000,000 in gold and paper money which has been shipped from here to the United States Sub-Treasury in St. Louis. The money is to be hauled in army wagons and not, as is customary, in express wagons. This unusual action of the War Department was taken at the instance of the Treasury Department, and was the outcome of conditions produced by the run on St. Louis banks and a general strike of teamsters there. The run on the banks produced an urgent call for cash and when the Treasury Department notified the express companies, which have contracts to ship money, the companies declared that they could not deliver it on account of the teamsters strike. In this extremity the Treasury called on the War Department for army wagons to haul the money and for troops to guard them. Although the request was unusual and liable to bring criticism on the War Department, Acting Secretary of War Oliver did not hesitate to grant it. It is probable that his acting will bring violent denunciation from the teamsters, and perhaps from labor unions generally; but there is no fear of any interference with the drivers of the army wagons, as they will be protected by an escort of cavalry.

General George L. Gillespie, chief of engineers, has asked for an appropriation of more than $10,000,000 for fortifications and defenses in 1905. The report has just been made public and includes estimates for the defence of the Philippines and Hawaii. It asks for $2,000,000 for defenses in the insular possessions. The other millions are asked for the construction of gun and and mortar batteries, range and position finders, searchlights for harbor defenses, sea walls and embankments, torpedo boats, etc. It says that the sea coast defenses of the United States are somewhat more than 50 per cent. completed. Twenty-five of the principal harbors have a sufficient number of heavy guns and mortars to enable an effective defense against naval attacks. Our island possessions are however practically defenseless as far as fortifications are concerned.

President Roosevelt has had the report of Mr. Bristow on the postal for about a week. He is going over it as it is a very bulky document, about 2,000 pages of an ordinary government report it will be some time before he will finish considering it, before it is given to the public. It has been declared by some that he held it back so that the democrats could not use it in the campaign. However Mr. Roosevelt is making no effort to conceal the magnitude of the postal frauds and has just ordered Mr. Bristow's inspector to proceed to New York to submit that office to a most rigid investigation.

A "Jack the hugger" has made his appearance in Menominee, and while there is a pretended consternation among the girls and married ladies, every old maid and widow in the place slips out for nightly strolls. Several married ladies from Trenton and Ypsilanti have gone to Menominee on a visit. Adrian Press.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lawrence of Hillsdale, had a nerve-trying experience a few nights ago. They were crossing the railroad track as a car was slowly approaching. The lady stepped back and thought her husband would do likewise, but he was not warned in time, and had only time to grasp the car which was backing up, and run along till he could leave the track. When his wife saw he was safe she fainted and fell on the track just as an engine was approaching, which Mr. L. signaled and caused to stop before it reached her.—Hudson Post.

WHAT A FEMALE REGULATOR IS

A vegetable liquid for governing or equalizing the flow of women's menses which occur once in every lunar month.

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator

is the essential quality of powerful herbs. It is a concentrated essence best adapted for women's delicate organism, and put in such form that it is always properly assimilated and taken into the system.

Stoppages, suppression, painful or other irregularity of the menses and sickly flows are corrected and cured by the regular use of this superior emmenagogue.

Menstruation, or periodic flows, necessitate a breaking down of cells lining the mucous membrane and a reconstruction after every sickness, which is accompanied with marked congestion and loss of blood. Such changes are very apt to produce chronic catarrh. Leucorrhea or Whites is the result of these irritating discharges. Regulator cures these troubles and restores to perfect health the patient who suffered the debilitating losses.

A FITTING TRIBUTE.

A citizen of Tecumseh pays a well-earned tribute.

The following public statement of a respected citizen adds one more emphatic endorsement of merit to the scores that have appeared before.

Mrs. E. D. Fryer, who lives in the northwestern section of Tecumseh, says: "I suffered from my kidneys off and on for about two years. During an attack the pain was worse along in the afternoon and I often felt like giving up but I kept on working in misery, for stooping or straightening made my back feel as if it were breaking in two. If I took a slight cold it always settled in my back and in spite of all the remedies I used I could not get relief. Procuring Doan's Kidney Pills at C. A. Wright's drug store I took a couse of the treatment. It did more good than all the other medicine I ever used. The pain in my back was quickly relieved. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

ITALIAN MURDERED.

Shot Down by Countryman at Ishpeming.

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 2.—Mike Savant, an Italian, was murdered here Sunday afternoon by Dominick Papa a countryman. The men quarreled in the yard at the rear of Savant's boarding house and Papa fired, sending a ball through Savant's heart. He was captured by Marshall Fandrem half an hour later in a swamp near Carp river, one mile from where the shooting occurred.

Savant was out on parole, having been released from Marquette branch state prison less than tyo years ago, where he was sent after being convicted of killing a Finn at Bessemer seven years ago.

A Murder In Lawrence.

Lawrence, Mich., Nov. 2.—Arba Martin, a fruit grower, 30 years old, was murdered in the main street of this village at 9 o'clock Saturday night, being killed by a shot fired from a rifle in the hands of Harry Fairbanks. The ball pierced the heart of Martin, causing instant death. Martin and Fairbanks had never quarreled until Friday night, when the two men met and engaged in a heated discussion over some trifling matter. Fairbanks became enraged, it is said, and throwing a rifle which he carried to his shoulder, deliberately fired at Martin. Fairbanks at the time was accompanied by Jay Smith, his stepfather. Both were immediately placed under arrest and taken to jail.

He was cleaning the machinery while the engine was in operation and lost his balance and fell between the revolving gear wheels. He is survived by a wife and three young children.

A Good Hearted Man, or in other words, men with good sound hearts, are not very numerous. The increasing number of sudden deaths from heart disease daily chronicled by the press, is proof of the alarming prevalence of this dangerous complaint, and as no one can foretell just when a fatal collapse will occur, the danger of neglecting treatment is certainly a very risky matter. If you are short of breath, have pain in left side, smothering spells, palpitation, unable to lie on side, especially the left, you should begin taking

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

The best remedy for croup.

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup and tolu, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all druggists.

LIFE PLANT Renews Life.
The Very Best TONIC Ever Discovered.

The blood is a great source of health or disease in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy; if the blood is impure or diseased then there is sickness and disease in the whole system.

Impure blood causes such diseases as Eczema, and Scrofula. LIFE PLANT effects its wonderful cures by acting through the blood. It is impossible for that blood poison, uric acid, or any other blood impurity to exist in the presence of our harmless medicine. The phenomenal success of LIFE PLANT in the many forms of blood diseases, warrants us in stating that it is a positive cure for Eczema and Scrofula. Read what Mr. M. P. Hobbs says of LIFE PLANT:

Wilmot, O., Jan. 9, 1903.
The Life Plant Co., Canton, Ohio.

Gentlemen:
Two years ago I contracted a very aggravated case of Eczema. I tried many kinds of medicine called sure cures, but all failed. I was persuaded by a friend to give LIFE PLANT a trial, and by taking two bottles was cured. To get the real truth of this statement try LIFE PLANT and be convinced.
Yours truly,
M. P. HOBBS.

Better get LIFE PLANT next time. It's a wonder.

SIX MEN KILLED

Magazines at Arsenal on Iona Island Blew Up.

TEN OTHERS BADLY HURT

Shells Exploded While Men Were Engaged in Drawing Explosives From Them—Three Shell Houses Destroyed.

Iona Island, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Six men were killed and ten slightly injured Wednesday afternoon by an explosion at the United States naval arsenal, one of the largest magazines in the United States, which is located here. The explosion occurred while men were drawing the explosive charges from a consignment of old shells recently sent here from the battleship Massachusetts.

Three massive shell houses were completely destroyed and a rain of fragments of projectiles of all sizes was scattered in every direction. The force of the explosion, or series of explosions, broke windows at Peekskill, three miles below on the opposite side of the Hudson, and the detonation was heard for many miles. Adjacent buildings, including two storehouses for fixed ammunition, were riddled with the fragments and the quarters of the eleven marines composing the garrison were completely demolished. The dead, all of whom were workmen employed by the naval ordnance department, are Fred Ward, Stony Point; George Morehead, Tomkins Cove; Fred A. Locke, Peekskill; Patrick Curran, West Haverstraw; Fred Brown, Haverstraw; James Connolly, Peekskill.

The bodies were frightfully mangled, fragments being hurled for hundreds of feet.

The island, which has been used as an arsenal for a year, is in the Hudson river, forty miles from New York, and shells and ammunition of all kinds were stored there. The detonation of part of the charge of a shell being unloaded in shellhouse No. 1 exploded all the other shells in the house and the fragments of shells driven into the adjoining houses exploded their contents.

There were two main explosions, with an interval of several minutes between, and a succession of minor ones as individual shells went off.

Fire followed and for several hours the marines fought the flames in imminent danger from constantly exploding shells.

Washington, Nov. 5.—A brief dispatch regarding the disaster on Ionia island, by which a number of men lost their lives, was received by Acting Secretary Darling last night. A board of investigation or court of inquiry will be appointed to determine the cause of the accident.

On hearing of the disaster, Rear Admiral O'Neil, chief of the ordnance department, immediately wired the navy yard and response was received that the men were engaged in unloading 300 or 400 13-inch shells, which were to be sent to the factory for rebanding with copper. It is assumed here that in extracting the fuse one of these shells blew up.

Eighteen Million Pupils.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The report of the commissioner of education for the last fiscal year places the total number of pupils enrolled in the common schools during the year at 15,925,887, or over 20 per cent of the entire population. The average daily attendance for 1902 was 10,999,273, being 69 per cent of the total number enrolled. This is the largest average attendance on the number enrolled ever reported in the United States. The total enrollment for the year, including public and private, elementary, secondary and higher education, was 17,460,000 pupils, and to this there should be an addition made for evening schools, business schools, private kindergartens, Indian schools, state schools for defectives, orphans, etc., 620,840, making a grand total of 18,080,840 in general and special schools.

Parks Resigned to His Fate.

New York, Nov. 5.—Samuel Parks, from his cell in the city prison, announces that he will resign as walking delegate and as a member of the housesmiths and bridgemen's union at its meeting Friday night. He says he is out of the labor movement forever, and declares he will not appeal from his conviction in the extortion cases, for which he recently was tried. He is eager to serve his prison term, and is not seeking bail. "I am done," said Parks. "Nothing can save me from Sing Sing. If I did get a new trial I would be convicted as regularly as I came up before a jury. I am not ashamed of my labor career. I thought I was right, and followed my best judgment."

Hundreds Killed.

New York, Nov. 5.—A special cable to the Sun from Simla, India, says: A terrible earthquake has practically demolished the town of Turshiz, Persia. Three hundred and fifty of the inhabitants were killed and many injured. One hundred and eighty-four carpet factories were destroyed. Turshiz, or Toorsheez, is in the province of Khorassan, seventy-six miles southwest of Meshed, on the route from Herat to Astrabad.

Fell to His Death.

West Bay City, Mich., Nov. 5.—F. R. Williams, for years foreman of the joiner shop at the Davidson shipyard, fell into the hold of the steamer John Craig and was instantly killed.

A runaway bicycle.

TAMMANY MAYOR

Greater New York Elects George McClellan to the Seat.

PLURALITY OF ABOUT 70,000

Massachusetts, Kentucky, Iowa and Rhode Island Re-elect Their Governors—Mayor Johnson Defeated by Herrick in Ohio.

New York, Nov. 4.—After a remarkable campaign, in which there was united against him nearly all of the newspapers and practically every minister of religion in the city, George B. McClellan, son of the civil war general, was Tuesday elected third mayor of the Greater New York over Seth Low, fusionist, the present mayor, by a plurality of about 70,000.

Edward M. Grout was elected comptroller and Charles V. Fornes president of the board of aldermen. These two men were originally on the fusion ticket and were endorsed by Tammany, whereupon the fusionists took their names from the Low ballots and nominated other candidates.

It was the nomination of Grout and Fornes by Tammany that caused Hugh McLaughlin, the veteran leader of Kings county Democracy, to bolt and declare that he would not support men who were not Democrats. In spite of his defection, however, McClellan, Grout and Fornes carried Kings county, the management of their campaign there being taken over by State Senator Patrick H. McCarren when McLaughlin refused his aid.

A surprise was the low vote for William S. Devery, former chief of police, who ran on an independent ticket, which was given practically no support. This result shows a tremendous change of public sentiment since Mayor Low's election two years ago, when he won by 31,632. At that time he carried all the boroughs but Queens, his plurality in Manhattan and the Bronx being 5,663, in Brooklyn 25,767, and in Richmond 763. In Queens, Shepard, Dem., had a plurality of 561.

Yesterday McClellan carried Manhattan and the Bronx by about 58,000, a gain of 63,000; Brooklyn by about 6,000, a gain of 31,000, and Queens by about 5,000, a gain of more than 4,000. This makes total net gain for McClellan of about 103,000, as compared with Shepard's vote of two years ago.

Low carried only one borough—Richmond—by about 200 votes.

The result was known early, and at 8:15 Mayor Low sent a telegram of congratulation to Colonel McClellan.

Columbus, O., Nov. 4.—The Republicans broke their record in Ohio Tuesday in pluralities for governor by electing Myron T. Herrick, Rep., over Mayor Tom L. Johnson, Dem., by considerably over a hundred thousand. The plurality on joint ballot of over 100 in the legislature for the re-election of Senator Hanna more than doubles any previous record.

Chairman Dick of the Republican committee said the result was due to "the remarkable personality of Hanna, popularity of Herrick, endorsement of Roosevelt and the state administration," and that these conditions brought about harmony among the Republicans.

Ohio has exceeded 100,000 plurality only twice before.

Boston, Nov. 4.—Although somewhat pushed by the exertions of their opponents, the Republicans in the state election re-elected Governor John L. Bates by practically the same plurality as last year. The rest of the state ticket was also elected and the party will have the usual proportion of two to one in the legislature of 1903. The weather was fine and the vote remarkably large for an off year.

In addition to electing their state ticket and holding the legislature, the Republicans were also successful in retaining control of the governor's council, which will be composed of seven Republicans and one Democrat.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4.—The re-election of Governor Beckham, the Democratic candidate, over Colonel Morris B. Belknap, Republican, by a majority of fully 15,000 seems assured. The Republicans concede the election of Governor Beckham.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 4.—Returns received up to midnight indicate the re-election of Governor Cummins by a plurality of 60,000 and of his associates on the Republican ticket by substantially the same pluralities.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 4.—At midnight the returns indicate the re-election of Governor Garvin, Dem., by a greatly reduced plurality. The vote is very close, however, and the result will probably be in doubt until the last district is heard from.

Baltimore, Nov. 4.—At 1 o'clock this morning the returns are meager. Indications, however, point to the election of Edwin Warfield, Dem., as governor over Stevenson A. Williams, Rep., and that the legislature, which will elect a United States senator, will also be Democratic.

Dowieites Reach Zion City.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—The first trainload of returning Dowie "Restorationists" arrived at Zion City Tuesday. Later at intervals of an hour or two train after train deposited its travel-stained crusaders. The day was devoted to prayer and thanksgiving.

Noted Horsethief Captured.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 5.—John Cummins, a noted horsethief, who stole a horse and buggy from Durham's livery in Vassar Oct. 28, was locked up here Wednesday. Officer Cunningham and Constable Burgess of Vassar found the rig at Bridgeport, where it had been sold for $15. Cummins was sent from here in 1897 to Jackson for five years for horse stealing.

Farmer Killed by a Fall.

Lawton, Mich., Nov. 5.—Robert Lamereaux, about 70 years old, fell from the barn on his farm east of this village and died shortly afterward.

WHO OWN THE FISH?

State Game Warden After Government Fishermen.

SEVERAL ARRESTS ARE MADE

Trouble Arose Over Disposition of Fish After Spawn is Secured For Government Hatcheries—Will Make a Test Case.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 5.—The Michigan game warden's department and the United States fish commission have clashed, and as a result of the first encounter several employes of the fish commission are under arrest and other and more important arrests will probably be made.

The trouble between the Michigan officials and the federal officers arose over the disposition of the fish taken by the fishermen in the employ of the commission for the purpose of securing spawn for the United States hatcheries at Northville and Duluth. It has been the practice of the fish commission fishermen to use gill nets and to sell all the fish taken after the stripping process had been completed, the proceeds from this source making the contract for securing spawn for the hatcheries a very profitable one, especially as this work is invariably undertaken in the closed season when the price of fish is high and the only fresh fish that can be shipped to the market are those taken in this manner.

Law Is Specific.

State Game Warden Chapman, after a careful investigation of the subject, came to the conclusion that the law only gave the United States commission employes the right to sell the fish actually stripped, and that all other fish taken were the property of the state and should be turned over to the game warden's department to be sold, the proceeds going into the state treasury. The law is specific on this point, and it also places the operations under the supervision of the state game warden.

Some few days ago Game Warden Chapman notified the fish commission superintendents of his decision in the matter, advising them that he proposed to place a deputy on every fishing tug employed, whose duty it should be to take possession of all fish which under the law were the property of the state.

In pursuance of this policy, Chief Deputy Game and Fish Warden Brewster went to Marquette and Wednesday when he attempted to board one of the tugs employed by the commission he was peremptorily ordered off. He at once placed the captains and crews of three fishing tugs, which were operating out of Marquette, under arrest and they were arraigned, the trial being set for next Wednesday.

The captains in refusing Brewster permission to board the tugs were acting under orders from Superintendent Wiers of the Duluth hatchery, and the fish commission proposes to make a fight, setting up the claim that the waters of the great lakes are under the jurisdiction of the federal government.

In the event of any further attempts being made to carry on operations the game warden announces that he will seize every tug and net employed and place under arrest the members of all crews engaged in the work.

WHAT AILS WARDENS?

Gross Violations of Law Said to Be Ignored at Bay City.

Bay City, Mich., Nov. 5.—This city has a lot of high-toned sportsmen who in years past have offered big rewards for the conviction of persons violating the game laws, and who made an especial effort to get after the farmers and the so-called pot-hunters, who couldn't afford private hunting grounds and high-priced dogs.

This year, however, conditions are reversed. It is alleged that even on the private marshes in this vicinity duck shooting was carried on by the owners before the season opened, while several hunters have admitted, privately, that they secured nice strings of quail and partridge several days ahead of the season. And now, to cap it all, the men are slaughtering ducks by the wholesale from their naphtha launches. So far this year the local deputy game wardens have paid not the slightest attention to the enforcement of the game laws.

Found Skeleton in Mound.

Dryden, Mich., Nov. 5.—Dr. C. M. Braidwood and J. Merritt Lamb are making investigations of prehistoric, or Indian, mounds in this neighborhood. In a mound southwest of the village they discovered the skeleton of a man of gigantic proportions, the bones being much larger than ordinary. The skull, which was large, indicated a low order of intelligence with its thick walls and slanting forehead. The mound was about thirty feet long and half as wide, the earth being piled up about four feet. There are several similar mounds in this vicinity.

Bay Wants $250,000 Courthouse.

Bay City, Mich., Nov. 5.—The question of building a new courthouse for this county is up before an adjourned meeting of the board of supervisors. It is proposed to spend about $250,000 on the building, and the matter of submitting the question to a vote of the county was made a special order of business for consideration by the board today.

Doesn't respect old age.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, jaundice, fever, constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. 25c at C. A. Wright's, druggist.

CONFERENCE OVER.

Unitarians Will Meet Next Time in Mt. Pleasant.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 4.—The main topic of discussion at the Michigan conference of Unitarian and other Christian churches here Tuesday was "Church extension." The discussion was led by Rev. C. S. Udell of Grand Rapids. He personally pledged $100 toward maintaining a missionary in the state of Michigan. J. D. Kemp of Dowagiac is meeting with much encouragement in the movement at Dowagiac for a people's church, and the conference will assist the best it can. The attendance was larger than at any previous session.

Mt. Pleasant was selected as the place for the conference next autumn. The president of the conference, Dr. Byrnes, was selected as the Michigan delegate to the Western association conference and the following officers were elected: President, Rev. Thomas P. Accidentally Killed Himself.

Millersburg, Mich., Nov. 4.—Frank Ringle, the 13-year-old son of John Ringle of Case, accidentally killed himself. He was carrying a rifle out of the house when the trigger caught in the door, discharging the gun. The bullet passed through the boy's neck. Death was instantaneous.

Shot by Companion.

Lawton, Mich., Nov. 4.—While hunting, Colvin Kinney, a young business man of this village, was accidentally shot in the face and shoulder by his companion, Orlando Hall. He will probably lose the sight of one eye, even if his wounds do not prove fatal.

Coal at Culver.

West Branch, Mich., Nov. 4.—As workmen were drilling for water on John Dunn's farm at Culver they struck a fine vein of soft coal at seventy feet. It is believed coal can be found in paying quantities in that locality.

Complaint Against Railroads.

Washington, Nov. 4.—A complaint was filed with the interstate commerce commission Tuesday by Edward J. Ader of Boston, Mass., against a number of anthracite coal carrying roads, alleging that their rates for transportation of anthracite coal in car loads from the anthracite region in Pennsylvania to New York, New England, Maryland and the District of Columbia are unreasonable, unjust and discriminative against the independent coal purchasers. The defendants named are the Philadelphia & Reading, Lehigh Valley, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Central of New Jersey, New York, Susquehanna & Western, Erie, New York, Ontario & Western, Delaware & Hudson, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, and Boston & Albany.

Woman Golf Champion Weds.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Miss Bessie Anthony, the golf champion, was married last night at Evanston to Bernard Shea Herne of Pittsburg. The ceremony, which was held in the First Presbyterian church, was attended by over 1,000 invited guests. The bride, who has been widely known for a number of years as an expert golfer, won both the western and national woman's golf championships this year.

Dead Man's Odd Request.

Quincy, Ill., Nov. 4.—The will of John Moore, filed for probate yesterday, is a remarkable document. After bequeathing $1,000 each to Blessing hospital and Woodland home the testator says: "My remains are to be cremated, and for that purpose taken to Davenport, Iowa. My pet dog, Honey, who loves me, is to be cremated at the same time, that our ashes may mingle."

Millionaire Kicks on Taxes.

Buchanan, Mich., Nov. 5.—Charles A. Chapin filed a protest with the common council against the amount of taxes he paid to the village—over $2,000—and threatens to begin suit to recover excess unless the council settles. The council granted a franchise to Bascom Parker of Niles to pipe gas from that place to Buchanan in three weeks.

Deafness cannot be cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. B. HICKMAN, W. Chester, Pa.

TWO OTHERS MURDERED.

Armenians Shot Down In Streets of London.

London, Nov. 5.—The dramatic murder of Sagatel Sagouni, president of the Armenian revolutionary society in London, on the night of Oct. 26 was followed Wednesday by the assassination of two more delegates to the Armenian convention here. The suicide of the assassin, though he has not yet been identified, gives good reason to believe that he also was the slayer of Sagouni.

The murders were carried out in the most daring manner, more so than was the assassination of Sagouni. They took place in the early afternoon close to the Armenian headquarters at Peckham Rye. The two victims were shot down from behind at close range. The murderer fired twice at a third member of the group, but missed him, and then attempted to flee. Seeing that his escape was cut off, he drew another revolver and shot himself with his left hand. It is considered a significant fact that the assassin of Sagouni was also left-handed.

The names of the murdered Armenians were Aram Grigorian and Sigran Samician, and their companion who escaped assassination was Rouben Giabertian.

It is believed that the identity of the assassin may remain unsolved unless he has been previously in the hands of the police, when the scars on his face may render identification easy.

Czar and Emperor.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—The court train, bearing the czar, Prince Henry of Prussia, the Grand Duke of Hesse, Count Lamsdorff and the czar's suite arrived at Wiesbaden from Darmstadt at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday. Under an improvised tent the emperor and his suite were in waiting. The czar and emperor kissed each other affectionately three times, when the czar arrived. As the royal guests left the depot they were cheered by the crowd. The way to the castle was lined by numerous regiments, whose bands played the Russian national hymn. The emperor and the czar were in the same carriage. At 5 o'clock a gala dinner was given at the castle. At 7 o'clock the royalties, amid the applause of the populace, left for a gala performance at the opera, where Weber's "Oberon" was performed.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED.

Governor Bliss Sends Out Annual Thanksgiving Document.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 5.—The following proclamation has been issued by Governor Bliss:

To the People of Michigan, Greeting:

Thursday, the twenty-sixth day of November, 1903, in pursuance of law and custom, is hereby designated as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, that the people of the state, assembling in their respective churches and as circumstances shall admit, may make suitable acknowledgment of their manifold blessings to the Most High through His Son, the Redeemer. God has most wonderfully prospered this great state; not an interest, not a cause has been neglected, and in the time of prosperity we must be grateful to Him. Before the altar every man, woman and child should bow the knee and pray that He will continue His infinite kindness unto this people. The church and the home make to the greatness and the permanency of the nation, and Thanksgiving day is a good day to devote to them.

A. T. BLISS, Governor.

WHIPPED HER IN STREET.

Battle Creek Woman Assaulted Lady Talking to Her Hubby.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 5.—Wednesday afternoon in front of the Post theater Mrs. Bert H. Peet, wife of a well-known citizen, jumped from her buggy and, with horsewhip in hand, assaulted Mrs. Crosby, the stunningly dressed wife of ex-Representative William A. Crosby, who was at the time standing on the corner of Jackson and McCamly streets conversing with Mr. Peet.

Mr. Peet, however, interfered before matters had gone very far and took the whip from his wife. She then attacked Mrs. Crosby with her hands and again secured possession of the whip and made matters pretty lively for a time, only desisting after many entreaties by her husband. She finally jumped into her carriage and drove away. The woman was jealous of Mrs. Crosby. Legal action may be taken.

An English Author Wrote:

No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves—November." Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula completely cures catarrh and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's greatest medicine for America's greatest disease—Catarrh.

Don't forget the old man with the fish on his back.

For nearly thirty years he has been traveling around the world, and is still traveling, bringing health and comfort wherever he goes.

To the consumptive he brings the strength and flesh he so much needs.

To all weak and sickly children he gives rich and strengthening food.

To thin and pale persons he gives new firm flesh and rich red blood.

John Hughes, who is employed as section hand on the Detroit Southern, had quite a serious attack of heart trouble Tuesday afternoon while at work. He was unconscious for some time, and, but for the timely arrival of a physician, it would undoubtedly have proven more serious. He is much better today and able to be back to work again.

The apple orchard of M. D. Billmeyer of Raisin, has yielded 3,500 barrels of first class apples, which he has sold to G. T. Schlotter of Indianapolis, at an average of $1 per barrel. There were 3,097 extra meals served in the Billmeyer home during the packing and their boarders have contributed to a little purse to buy suitable presents for Mr. and Mrs. Billmeyer and the two girls.

A neat folder has been received at the HERALD office, with the compliments of Lavern Francis Wheeler and Mary Mitchell Wheeler of Chicago. Mr. Wheeler calls attention to two of his latest portraits, one of Mrs. J. K. Bowes which was purchased by the Chicago Culture Club of which she was founder and of the late Wm. Donaldson, the Minneapolis millionaire.

Bion Hodges, while watching the foot ball game at Adrian Wednesday, was quite badly hurt. He was knocked down by the players and trampled on. When he was picked up and taken to the sanitarium it was found that his knee cap was broken, besides other bruises. Dr. Jones rendered the necessary surgical attention, after which the boys carried him to the train. This will probably lay him up for some time.

Adrian, Mich., Nov. 5—(Special.)—Officers have been looking all day for a couple of young fellows suspected of doing a job of burglary Sunday night in Monroe. Late this afternoon the two suspects who eluded the officers this morning were discovered by Officer Germon endeavoring to get out of town on a freight train in the Detroit Southern yards. They ran when the officer approached, but a couple of revolver shots made them halt. They gave the names of Ed Hastings and Lester White, and are tough-looking characters about 18 years old.—Detroit Free Press.

The boys were taken before Justice Vandegrift in Adrian, Wednesday, and pleaded not guilty. Upon recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Joslin they were sent here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Teachout entertained a number of friends at their home on Pottawatamie street Wednesday evening at 63. Prizes were won by Louis Jones, who captured first, and Miss Jennie Gillespie the consolation. Refreshments were served.

After the amusements of the evening, consisting of singing and dancing, the young people departed for their homes, bidding Miss Harrington an au revoir.—Adrian Telegram.

The game of foot ball between the Adrian Light Guard and Tecumseh team was played at Y. M. C. A. park Wednesday afternoon. It was a good game, but resulted in a score of 6 to 0 in Adrian's favor. Although Tecumseh has some good players they need more practice. Lineup as follows:

John Murphy.

John Murphy was born July 16, 1817, in Fullyney county, Antrim, Ireland, and died October 27, 1903, at his home about three and one half miles northeast of Tecumseh. He was the third son of John and Elizabeth Murphy, three sisters and three brothers having preceded him to that better land. Two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Rock of Ballymena, Ireland, and Mrs. Esther McKaig of Baltimore, Maryland, still survive him.

Deceased was married in June 1842 to Mary Semple of Cornlea, Ireland, who died January 2, 1903, and to whom nine children were born. Two daughters and one son have also gone to their last resting place. Those surviving to mourn his loss, two daughters, Mrs. James Johnson and Mrs. J. Vance Goheen, and four sons, Thomas, John, Andrew and William, all reside in the vicinity of Tecumseh.

Deceased came to America in June 1881, where he settled on the farm with his son. For over 20 years he was sexton, and a member of the Presbyterian church of Cloughwater, Ireland. During the last year of his life he was in very poor health, but displayed wonderful vitality for a man of his years.

He was buried in a very pretty spot in the Tecumseh cemetery along side of the wife and mother, who preceded him. Rev. J. A. DeSpelder officiated.

HERO WITHOUT HONOR.

An anecdote about Gen. Miles concerns an innocent professional. It was in an up-town hotel. A number of men were gathered around listening to the speaker, a slender and rather magnetic man.

"Yes," he was saying, "I was in the midst of it at Santiago!"

"Were the Spaniards good fighters?"

"Rather. But I took five of them unaided—officers, too—in Cuba, and two more in Porto Rico."

"May I ask who you are?" inquired the general.

"Yes indeed. I'm Mr. Clinedinst, the photographer, from Washington, and I took you, too in Porto Rico."

A LOST OPPORTUNITY.

John Fox, Jr., author and strummer on the gentle guitar, is also an athelete of no mean prowess, though he does not not look it. One day, in a train, with true Kentucky chivalry he called a drummer down for annoying a lady. The drummer resented the interference. "For half a cent," he said menacingly, "I would break your face." Fox looked him good and hard in the eye, went down into his pocket, came out with a cent and proffering it to the offender, said, "There's a cent break my face if you want to and keep the change."

Mr. Fox face remained intact.

A CABLEGRAM OF CONDOLENCE.

When the news of the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga reached the State Department at Washington there was some discussion about the propriety of sending a cablegram of condolence.

"No, no" said Third Assistant Secretary Adee, "nothing is to be done in a case of this kind. Besides, there's nobody to send it to. The King and Queen are dead and the government has no head."

"Why not send it addressed, 'To Whom It May Concern?'" asked a demure young stenographer.

It may sound a little singular, but it is nevertheless true, that the King of England regulates the length of the trains of the dresses of the woman who appear at his official functions. A duchess must have a train three yards long, a viscountess one and a half, and a baroness one yard. Peeresses by birth—not those by marriage—may have their trains borne by pages who must not be over 14 years of age.

OVERLOOKED MISS GOULD.

A New York woman who prides herself on her speaking acquaintance with a large number of notables and who openly admits the pleasure she derives from talking with such personages, came to grief a few weeks ago in the following manner:

She was at a large reception and her hostess, who knew her friend's peculiarities, introduced her to a little, brown-eyed woman, whose name the notable-loving guest did not catch.

"Well," said the hostess as the guest was going home an hour later, "I hope you had a pleasant talk with—"

"With that little woman you introduced me to?" interrupted the guest. "No, I just said a word or two to her and moved away in search of some one more important. Who was she, anyway? I didn't catch her name. Not that it matters."

"It was Miss Helen Gould," replied the hostess quietly.

Budd Doble, the veteran reinsman, used to attend frequently a queer little church on the outskirts of Philadelphia. His friends would hear from him a great many facts about this church, its people and its parson. Almost every Sunday he had some interesting news to tell. One Monday he said: "At last the meaning of eternity has been made clear to me. The parson at the little church explained eternity yesterday in such a way that everyone could understand.

"'Eternity,' said the parson 'is forever and forever and five or six everlastings on top of that. Why, brothers and sisters, after millions and billions of centuries had rolled away in eternity it would still be a hundred thousand years to breakfast time.'"

WHY HE DIDN'T MARRY.

One of the best of the Bulletin sketches hangs in the library of Joseph Chamberlain. It portrays a thin, hang-dog man in the prisoners' bar, talking to a very mild and sympathetic looking judge. Phil May's story of the sketch is that the prisoner had been dragged before the judge every few months for a number of years.

"Your face is familiar here," the latter now said.

"It is, your—worse] luck," returned the prisoner.

"Are you married yet?"

"Not yet, sir."

"Not yet, eh? How long is it now that you have been engaged?"

"Seven years, your honor."

"So long as that? Why in the world haven't you got married in all that time?"

"Because, your honor," the prisoner explained, "Ann and I haven't managed to be both out of jail at the same time."

A BEFUDDLED MEMORY.

An anecdote which has lately been going the rounds in British official circles concerns the memorable experience of a certain member of parliment during the last year of Queen Victoria's reign. The statesman in question is not one of those who are not most firmly convinced of total abstinence, and the evening of a certain public function at which royalty was to be present found him in a condition which would not have been edifying to the supporters of the movement. The late queen was receiving the guests of honor, and it was necessary that the convivial M. P. should be presented with the rest. As he approached his sovereign Victoria extended her hand for him to kiss. But he did not kiss it; instead, he grasped and shook it with vigorous enthusiasm, while he scrutinized her face with grave perplexity.

"Your face madam," he observed, "is perfectly familiar to me, but I'm blowed if I can remember your name!"

Disastrous Wrecks.

Carelessness is responsible for many a railway wreck and the same causes are making human wrecks of sufferers from throat and lung troubles. But since the advent of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds even the worst cases can be cured, and hopeless resignation is no longer necessary. Mrs. Lois Cragg of Dorchester, Mass., is one of many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. This great remedy is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by C. A. Wright, druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

LITERARY NOTES.

Radium, we had heard a lot about, but we had never seen anything understandable about it until we read about it in Cleveland Moffet's account in the November McClure's. Mr. Moffett interviewed its discoverers, M. and Mme. Curie in Paris, and learned from them all about it. It is a marveleus thing very costly, very beneficial in disease, very dangerous when not properly used, and an altogether unique substance. Mr. Moffett has written the clearest and most interesting article we have yet seen on the subject.

* * *

President Eliot of Harvard University opens the November Atlantic with an important article on The School, its characteristics, what its aims should be, and into what it should develop! Brooks Adams discusses The Economic Conditions of future Defence, maintaining that force is the only law among nations and that only the fittest survives; William Garrott Brown treats The Problem of the American Historian; and and Burton J. Hendricks, A Great Municipial Reform, the new tenement law in New York,—a group of notable and valuable papers upon as many different topics, all of which are of national importance.

* * *

Fashions for cold weather are effectively displayed in the November Designer, and the handsome illustrations are accompanied by descriptions which tell just what materials and trimmings to employ to obtain the best results. Those who must perforce select mourning outfits will find this a most valuable number, for it makes such garments and millinery a speciality. In Thanksgiving features the November Designer is wonderully strong, as witness "Harvest Festivals" by John De Morgan, "A Thanksgiving Celebration," L. O. L., and three excellent short stories, all of which have an appetizing scent of turkey and pumpkin pies about them.

* * *

The October maneuvers of regular troops and militia on the Fort Riley Military Reservations in Kansas are graphically described in an illustrated article contributed to the November Review of Reviews by Mr. Philip Eastman. Another article of interest to military men is contributed to the same magazine by Mr. Charles J. Leach on "The New Springfield Rifle and Improvement in Small Arms."

* * *

An uncommon novel by a new pen apears in Lippincott's Magazine for November. It is called "A House Divided" and is by Ella Middleton Tybout, hitherto known for a series of delightful negro parables. "A House Divided" introduces white characters on the shores of the Delaware, where a great dramatic flood furnishes a climax. It is a tender love story with two grim parents in the background who have not spoken to each other for years. A remarkable tale written with power and charm.

* * *

"Four Roads to Paradise" is the title of a novel by Mrs. Maud Wilder Goodwin which is to appear in The Century Magazine, beginning with the November number. The title was suggested by this passage from the Talmud: "Four men entered Paradise: one beheld and died; one lost his senses; one destroyed the young plants; one entered in peace." It is a love story of New York people, with the principal scenes in New York and Florence. In character drawing, observation of life, wit, and literary finish, the conductors of The Century confidently believe that this novel will place Mrs. Goodwin among the foremost story-writers of America.

* * *

The Critic for November has its customary wide variety of topics interspersed with an unusual number of articles of especial literary interest. A noteworthy paper by Grace Isabel Colbron, is upon "Women Writers of the New School in Germany." The writer calls attention to the remarkable leavening of grace and insight with which German literature is being enriched by the feminine element. The article is illustrated with new and interesting portraits.

CLUB NOTES.

The members of the Research Circle filled the rooms in good season eager to hear the continuation of the original story which was given by Dr. Pauline Wilson. She carried on the plot as given in the first chapter, but left it with such a startling closing that the two weeks before the third chapter will be given seems much too long to wait. The "Forests of the Amazon" proved a very entertaining paper given by Miss Christine Wilson, many interesting facts were given. The roll call was responded to by nearly all present with a quotation from Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

The subject for the next meeting Nov. 10 will be "Ceramics—Foreign and American."

A FITTING TRIBUTE.

A citizen of Tecumseh pays a well-earned tribute.

The following public statement of a respected citizen adds one more emphatic endorsement of merit to the scores that have appeared before.

Mrs. E. D. Fryer, who lives in the northwestern section of Tecumseh, says: "I suffered from my kidneys off and on for about two years During an attack the pain was worse along in the afternoon and I often felt like giving up but I kept on working in misery, for stooping or straightening made my back feel as if it were breaking in two. If I took a slight cold it always settled in my back and in spite of all the remedies I used I could not get relief. Procuring Doan's Kidney Pills at C. A. Wright's drug store I took a course of the treatment. It did more good than all the other medicine I ever used. The pain in my back was quickly relieved. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity."

NOT TRUE HEROISM

To "Grin and Bear" Rheumatism a Relic of the Past.

Grit your teeth a minute while you listen to this story. If you have Rheumatism it is because you have an excess of Uric acid, which has clogged your blood, the same as floating ice does a river, only the Uric acid poisons in addition. You cannot be freed from Rheumatism until this Uric acid is dispelled. It can be dispelled because we have done it and are doing it every day with Athlophoros.

We have found the action the quickest when the pain is the greatest.

With half a bottle and in twenty-four hours Athlophoros has enabled men to get out of bed and go to work. There is no need to stand pain.

We say it advisedly. One bottle of Athlophoros will show if it will act on you. If it does you good you will thank us for belittling your heroism. If it does not do you good we hold ourselves ready to give your case special consideration and advice without charge.

The Athlophoros Co., New Haven, Conn., will send a bottle for one dollar if your druggist doesn't keep it.

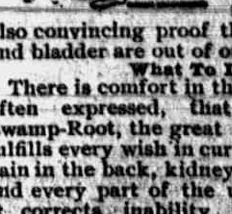
Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

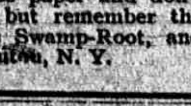
How To Find Out.



Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.



Home of Swamp-Root.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

The best remedy for croup.

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup and tolu, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all druggists.
